Foreword

Review of All Expenditures

This budget makes no reference to "mandates" or "expanded" and "normal" increases. All expenditures have been weighed in terms of available revenues. Every existing expenditure level has been questioned; the few increases provided are not deemed "normal", but rather "unavoidable".

The designation "mandated" has been used in prior budgets to describe programs or expenditures necessary to implement legislation previously enacted. Such a designation has not been applied this year since legislation establishing "mandates" can be revised and in some cases the recommendations in this budget require revisions.

There are no new programs in this budget. Several existing programs are not funded.

Statutory Changes

Due to the lack of funds, it has not been possible in certain cases to provide for the increases necessary to maintain existing subsidy formulas. Statutory changes will be necessary to revise those formulas established by law and also to utilize fully Federal funds that will be available in 1970-71. The statutory changes that will be required are as follows:

Basic Instruction Subsidy: Act 96 of the 1968 Session must be amended to make the basic instruction subsidy consistent with budget recommendations. The maximum reimbursable instruction base must be reduced from $550 to $467.

Nonpublic Elementary and Secondary Education Fund: Act No. 86 of 1970 which directed the transfer of 14 per cent of Cigarette Tax collections to this special fund as aid to Nonpublic Education, must be amended to reduce the percentage to 8.5. This change is deemed appropriate to keep this aid at the 1969-70 level since similar action has been recommended with respect to the public school Basic Instruction Subsidy.

Community Services for the Mentally Ill and the Mentally Retarded: The Mental Health Act of 1966 must be amended to increase the counties' share of community mental health costs from 10% to 20%. This should be regarded as a first step toward the goal of substantially increased local responsibility for this program.

Occupational Disease Compensation: Legislation already proposed would enable Pennsylvania's miners to participate fully in the Federal program. The Federal payments are higher than the Commonwealth's. As miners go on the Federal rolls, they can come off the Commonwealth's, thus saving substantial state tax moneys in 1970-71 and subsequent years.

Classification of Expenditures

This year's "Line" Budget reflects an attempt to delineate more precisely the way in which State funds are expended. Most important for this purpose, a "Program" Budget developed under the Commonwealth's Planning, Programming, Budgeting System will be issued shortly after publication of this "Line" Budget.

Previous budgets broke State expenditures into six broad categories of expenditure—General Government, Institutions, Grants and Subsidies, General State Authority Rentals, Interest and Sinking Fund Requirements, and Refunds.

This year, seven expenditure categories, defined below, have been developed, including two categories, Program Operations and Program Administration, established to improve definition of the costs of administering and operating the Executive Branch:

Program Administration provides the general executive and administrative direction, supervision, and staff support services for the program operations of state government.

Program Operations subsumes all those activities which provide services to the public through state-owned and operated institutions and colleges, the provision of state police protection, the operation of clinics, the maintenance of parks and other recreational facilities, and the many regulatory activities of the Commonwealth.

The other expenditure categories are:

Grants and Subsidies: This category contains all state support payments to individuals and to agencies and institutions not owned or operated by the Commonwealth. Basic education subsidies, public assistance grants, and grants to state-related and state-aided educational institutions are included in this category.

Refunds: The Commonwealth makes refund payments for approved claims of moneys collected as revenue to which the State is not entitled.

Debt Service Requirements: Principal and interest payments as well as authority rentals to support the Commonwealth's growing debt are found in this category.

Legislative and Judicial: This category covers the costs of the Legislative and Judicial Branches of Pennsylvania state government.

Fiscal Offices: The costs of operation of the elective and independent offices of the Auditor General and the State Treasurer are included in this category.

Complement Information

Detailed data on agency complements have not been included in this budget for three reasons.

1. No new positions have been allowed except for 300 state troopers previously authorized by law.
2. At the time the budget is published, the Governor will abolish all positions financed by the General Fund which have been vacant more than three months.
3. Agencies may have to respond to strict funding levels for Program Administration and Program Operations by further reductions in planned complement.

As soon as the Administration has satisfactorily accounted for these factors, it will furnish an addendum to the budget providing full complement information.

Five Year Commonwealth Program Plan

Article 18, Section 12 of the Commonwealth Constitution requires that the Governor submit a five-year financial plan projecting operating expenditures by agency and by program. In anticipation of this requirement and at the same time to provide a more effective decision process, the installation of a Planning, Programming, Budgeting System for the Commonwealth was begun in March 1968. Installation of the System is nearing completion for eleven large agencies and by the end of this calendar year all state agencies will be integrated within the system.

The PPB process has been employed to assemble the required Commonwealth Program Plan which is summarized here. The summaries include all General Fund agencies. The General Fund total is distributed by program among the several agencies. The projections are based upon "commitments" implied by the level of activity represented in the recommendations for 1970-71. Therefore, changes in actual appropriations from this recommended level of funding for 1970-71 will involve changes in the level of commitment, either upward or downward, for future years.

Following the summaries of the Commonwealth Program Plan are the appropriation requests for 1970-71 presented in the standard budget format. The PPB Budget Document will be published in the near future and will include program information for those agencies now incorporated within the PPB process for which detailed data are available and summary information for those agencies not yet fully integrated within the system. The separation of the documents this year is an interim step which permits side by side review of the traditional format along with the much more complete program information now being generated by the PPB process.

General Fund Revenues

FIVE-YEAR FORECAST

The economic outlook serving as a background for our forecasts of General Fund revenues over the next several years is that outlined in The Annual Report of the Council of Economic Advisors which was presented to the President on January 29, 1970. We have used this scenario as a point of reference in assessing the trends in the various General Fund revenue sources as presented herein.

As a result of federal policies designed to slow down inflation, the President's Council of Economic Advisors expect the output of the National economy to be below potential in 1970 and 1971. However, after that period, production of final goods should begin to show average annual increases at a rate approaching 4.5 per cent per year in real terms.

After an initial slowdown in 1970, the rate of growth of personal consumption in the Nation is estimated at an average annual rate of around 5 per cent over the next five years.

Business fixed investment between 1970 and 1971 is expected to experience a lower growth rate in real terms than has recently been experienced but is expected to resume a relatively normal rate of growth of about 4.5 per cent per year on the average after that period.

It is hoped that inflation can and will be brought under control with price rises moderating during 1970. It is not assumed, however, that price rises will be eliminated entirely but that they should be substantially less than those experienced between 1968 and 1969.

Pennsylvania's economy is expected to play a major part in setting the national trends as well as being influenced by them. It is expected that over the next few years the Commonwealth revenue will continue to relate to changes in the national economy as it has in the recent past.

The estimates are based upon existing law and thus, revenues from such sources, as Corporate Net Income, Capital Stock and Franchise, Utility Gross Receipts and Financial Institutions show the impact of the initial retroactive provisions of recent legislative changes. After these initial nonrecurring revenue increases occur in fiscal 1969-70 and 1970-71, the revenue flows are expected to continue their normal trends but at levels reflecting the higher tax rates.

The opposite page reflects a five-year projection of revenue collections by major category.

The executive power of the Commonwealth is vested in the Governor who shall take care that the laws are faithfully executed. He approves or disapproves all legislative bills, appoints all department and agency heads except those elected by the people, and is commander-in-chief of the Pennsylvania National Guard.

This program provides the Governor with the necessary staff to perform the legislative and political functions required of his office. It maintains the Governor's Residence and the office of the Special Representative of the Governor in Washington, D. C.

It also guides the development and use of the State's capital structures and coordinates all capital improvement planning.

The purpose of the major staff divisions are: To maintain an accurate and complete record of the Commonwealth finances through the application of modern accounting methods; to effect modern management methods and implement management improvement programs in the various agencies; and to apply sound policies and practices of personnel management throughout the State government.

Among the program activities receiving primary emphasis are the following: Administration of the classification and compensation plans of the Commonwealth in conjunction with the Civil Service Commission and the Governor's Personnel Secretary; the review of all legislative bills for fiscal and program implications; direction of the Governor's Cost Reduction Program which is aimed at efficient and economical state government; and the coordination and review of all activities involved in planning EDP systems and in the selection and utilization of EDP equipment.

Continued emphasis will be given to the implementation of a Planning-Programming-Budgeting System for the Commonwealth. Eleven departments have been brought into the Planning-Programming-Budgeting System during the past year, and the remaining departments will be brought into the system during 1970-71.

This is accomplished by extensive surveys, investigations and mapping programs.

Interest and principal requirements of notes and bonds issued by the Commonwealth are included in this program. Notes may be issued whenever the Governor, the Auditor General and the State Treasurer determine that the cash balance of the General Fund is insufficient to meet current obligations because of an irregular flow of revenue receipts.

Treasury

Bonds have been issued in the past for the construction of public buildings, anti-stream pollution projects and flood control projects. Debt service is also necessary for bonds issued for Project 70 and Land and Water Development.

The program now includes interest and principal requirements resulting from the issue of general obligation bonds for capital construction and transportation purposes. These issues became possible through the Constitutional Convention of 1968. In addition, funds are required for a Vietnam Veterans Bonus Bond issue approved by the Legislature and public referendum in 1968.

The purpose of this program is the prevention, control and eradication of communicable diseases of domestic animals and poultry.

To meet its responsibilities, the program maintains one central and five regional laboratories to diagnose poultry and livestock diseases; tests all cattle for tuberculosis; tests for brucellosis by administering milk ring tests; administers blood tests every three years to all herds not listed on milk ring tests projects; conducts a brucellosis vaccination program for bovine calves; and arranges tests for miscellaneous diseases by veterinarians and Department pathologists.

The program activities also include licensing and inspection of all livestock auction markets; training and licensing of technicians to supplement veterinary services for the control of poultry disease; licensing and bi-monthly inspection of garbage feed plants; and regulation of the reporting and quarantining of diseased animals.

All disease control and eradication programs are conducted in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The Federal Government augments the program for 50 percent of costs chargeable to the Meat and Poultry Inspection program.

The aim of this program is to safeguard the public health by insuring a pure and wholesome food supply.

To protect Pennsylvania consumers against adulterated, misbranded, harmful, or unwholesome food, the program responsibilities include analyzing food samples, inspection of food processing and handling establishments and, where warranted, institution of prosecution proceedings against violators.

The program inspects and supervises the operation of dairy plants and farm facilities used in the production of milk. It also inspects laboratories engaged in the bacteriological examination of milk and milk products.

In order to maintain standards of quality and to prevent deception or fraud, the program collects, analyzes and publishes annual reports concerning feed, fertilizer, lime and pesticide products.

The purpose of this program is to assist Pennsylvania farmers and processors in finding new markets for their agricultural products, to improve marketing practices, and to insure consumers that certain commodities comply with quality and grade standards.

Agriculture

In cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the program collects and disseminates statistical and other reports on prices, grades, and availability of poultry, eggs, fruits, vegetables, livestock and other farm and food products. It also assists farmers, processors and distributors in improving organized commodity marketing systems, marketing practices and sales.

Efforts to expand the demand for Pennsylvania eggs and chickens include establishment of a uniform egg grading program, licensing egg graders and inspection of liquid and frozen egg processing plants. Hatcheries and packing plants are inspected for poultry disease and air sanitation.

The program also establishes official grade standards for fresh fruits and vegetables so that product quality may be identified and market value established. Inspection and certification services are made available to fruit and vegetable processors, to shipping facilities, and to retail stores to prevent misgrading and to meet the requirements of intrastate, interstate and foreign commerce.

The Plant Industry program conserves plant life from insects and diseases and protects the consumer by assuring him of quality nursery and seed products.

To detect and control plant pests and diseases the program, in cooperation with the Federal Government, annually conducts aerial and ground inspections to determine the locations and extent of various pests and diseases. Based on the results of the surveys, appropriate control measures are applied to infested areas to control or eradicate the insect or disease involved.

The Federal Government shares in the cost of controlling Oak Wilt disease by means of aerial and ground inspection and corrective measures. Federal funds are received on a 25 percent Federal, 75 percent State basis up to a maximum of $12,500 under Agreement 12-11-007-9295 dated January 1, 1957.

This program helps to protect soil and water resources of the Commonwealth.

The State Soil and Water Conservation Commission provides both financial assistance and technical advice to the State's county soil and water conservation commissions.

Areas of concern include conservation of soil and water resources, control and prevention of soil erosion, flood control, maintenance of reservoirs to safeguard and conserve local water supplies, community drainage projects and protection of dams. The State Commission approves county soil and water conservation project plans, apportions funds allocated from State or Federal sources and takes responsibility for expenditures by county districts.

A county by county soil survey program is jointly supported by the following agencies and institutions: the U. S. Soil Conservation Service which performs field surveys and writes initial reports; the Agricultural Experiment Station at Penn State University which provides laboratory and field characterization testing services; Agricultural Extension Service, Penn State University which provides information on results of the surveys to the public; and the State Soil and Water Conservation Commission which provides coordination, financial support and technical assistance. A sedimentation and erosion control study is also conducted with the United States Geologic Survey.

This program is a cooperative endeavor with the United States Department of Agriculture, Consumer and Marketing Service. Federal funds are received on a 50 percent Federal, 50 percent State basis under provisions of the Wholesome Meat Act of December 15, 1967 (P. L. 90-201).

In order to stimulate the production and marketing of quality farm animals, funds are provided for the support of a Livestock Show.

Funds are provided to support, in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Dairy and Allied Industries Association, an annual Open Dairy Show to encourage the breeding of quality dairy cattle.

This program provides essential services and facilities during periods of emergency. This includes the coordination of state, county and local activities associated with warning, communications, shelter, radiological defense, fire, police, rescue, medical, welfare and other emergency services essential to the maximum practical degree of safety for all Pennsylvanians.

Civil Defense

The agency budget includes no funds for emergency operations or disaster relief activities necessitated by natural disasters or other emergencies of major proportions. Federal and/or Commonwealth funds may be made available for such emergencies through special appropriative action, or by other means legally prescribed.

When this is done, the funds "flow through" the agency, both to other Commonwealth departments and agencies and/or to political subdivisions of the state.

Program activities fall into two general classifications. One embraces those activities concerned with the mobilization and utilization of state emergency resources, including the maintenance of a Main Operations Center and three Area Emergency Operations Centers, operation of state-wide warning, communications and radiation monitoring networks, and stockpiling emergency supplies. The second activity is the coordination of county and local plans and programs in the mobilization and utilization of resources in emergencies.

Through this agency Federal "matching fund" assistance for personnel and administrative expenses, facilities, equipment and supplies, is extended to county and local civil defense organizations throughout the Commonwealth.

The Executive Office provides overall planning, policy guidance, and coordination for programs executed by the various bureaus of the Department. The public information officer, attached to the Secretary's Office, handles public relations and directs the industrial travel, and port promotion programs. Program activities of the Bureau of Administrative Services include budgeting, employe recruitment and training and general office services.

The Executive and Administrative program includes the operation of the comptroller's cluster which serves the Departments of Commerce and Community Affairs and the Civil Service and Public Utility Commissions. The cost of the operation is prorated among the four Departments and Commissions with reimbursements augmenting the program.

The Bureau of Industrial Development aids and fosters the growth and expansion of existing industries, and acquaints out-of-state industry with Pennsylvania's advantages. The program had concentrated on alleviating chronic, critical unemployment in generally depressed areas. Recently, it has focused on creating jobs in urban ghetto areas and on providing a diversified economic foundation.

The program includes two major activities. The Plant Location Unit staff of national salesmen solicits industrial prospects outside Pennsylvania, hosts prospective employers on Pennsylvania community inspection trips, responds to inquiries resulting from advertising, and maintains liaison with the various Pennsylvania organizations whose principal concern is industrial development.

The staff of the Research Unit concentrates on the problems of industrial marketing, engineering economics, plant location economics and area and regional studies. The staff provides prospect industries with special engineering and economic data on plant location factors. Industrial opportunity studies in specific product and industry fields are developed along with information on labor supply and wage ratio, production materials, and local and corporate taxation.

Activities of the Bureau of State and Federal Economic Aid are aimed at correcting physical and environmental deficiencies which inhibit the economic growth of the Commonwealth.

Foremost among these is the Federal-State Appalachian Regional Development program. To conform to Federal requirements, the bureau, assisted by the State Planning Board and the seven regional development districts prepares an investment plan for the economic development of the Appalachian region of Pennsylvania.

Tourism, the second largest industry in the Commonwealth, earned a gross income of $3.3 billion dollars in 1968. The Travel Development program seeks to increase the volume of tourists by advertising media, promotion, and assisting regional groups in developing tourist business.

Promotional advertising, as authorized by the Commerce Law, is aimed toward the out-of-state traveler. The Department of Commerce through this program conducts an extensive advertising and publicity campaign in many metropolitan newspapers and national magazines. The travel promotion program also includes the production of publications such as "Discover the New Pennsylvania" and of films for television and showings at expositions, conventions, and motion picture theaters.

The Department's tourist inquiry service answers an estimated 350,000 inquiries for travel information annually. More than 3 million pieces of literature are distributed annually, much of which is furnished by community organizations and trade organizations in the vacation and travel fields.

Assistance is provided in the promotion and development of Pennsylvania's growing ski industry, and a telegraphic ski reporting service will continue to be provided.

The second phase of the Department's travel promotion is focused on community organizations and associations. Professional staff members are provided to address meetings and encourage local participation in travel promotion.

The purpose of the Business Services program is the continued growth of Pennsylvania's economy through protection and promotion of business and industry.

This program provides information to regional clinics, forums and workshops, and maintains close liaison with the U. S. Departments of Commerce, State, Defense, and local chambers of commerce.

Information is offered on long and short term financing available to all business, especially new and expanding business. Fiscal problems relating to small business are analyzed.

The federal procurement activity establishes and maintains sources of information pertaining to the $50 billion annual Federal procurement market. Through seminars, solicitations and interviews, the manufacturers not presently profiting from this opportunity are being guided and encouraged to participate.

INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT ASSISTANCE: This program supports the cost of county industrial development groups in their endeavors to attract new or expanding industries to their respective areas. The funds granted are used for professional industrial location staff, advertising and promotion programs, and continuous location factor research. The program is designed to meet the continuing need for additional employment opportunities and to diversify the local industrial base to prevent over-dependence on single or extractive industries.

PENNSYLVANIA INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY: Through the Industrial Development Loan program, PIDA assists industries or research and development firms planning to locate new facilities or expand existing facilities in Pennsylvania. Loans are made through local industrial groups for up to 40 per cent of the cost of site acquisition and facility construction. This program attempts to provide for a diversified and stable economic base, including the need to locate industries in urban core areas to alleviate minority unemployment.

SITE DEVELOPMENT: This grant program assists local areas in eliminating physical deficiencies or lack of basic facilities which bear on the location of new or expanding industries. The grants are available for up to 50 per cent of the cost of extending municipal sewer and water lines or access roads to industrial sites or parks, or for diverting stream channels around industrial areas. In addition to site preparation, up to 25 per cent of the appropriation may be granted to industrial groups to assist in purchasing land for industrial location in ghetto areas.

TECHNICAL SERVICES: Funds appropriated for technical services are granted to The Pennsylvania State University to conduct projects designed to transmit the latest scientific and technological information to Pennsylvania industries.

LOCAL DEVELOPMENT DISTRICT GRANTS: This grant program supports regional efforts to improve or correct environmental deficiencies that inhibit economic growth. The developmental planning performed by the seven regions is used by the Department and the State Planning Board in preparing the overall "plan for investment" in the Appalachian region of Pennsylvania. The Federal Appalachia Regional Development Act requires a comprehensive development plan as a prerequisite for receiving Appalachia funds.

STATE'S PARTICIPATION—APPALACHIA ADMINISTRATION: To enable the Commonwealth to take advantage of the Federal funds available for improving environmental and human resources under the Appalachia program, the State must contribute a pro rata share of the cost of the Commission and the Office of States' Representative. The cost of the Commission is shared between the Federal Government and the 13 participating states. The states' share, plus the cost of the States' Representative, is prorated among the states on the basis of 1/3 equal, 1/3 portion of total land area, and 1/3 portion of total population.

PENNSYLVANIA SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING FOUNDATION:
 The Pennsylvania Science and Engineering Foundation is designed to promote, stimulate and encourage basic and applied scientific research and development and scientific and technological education as a tool in advancing the State's economic growth and capturing the industry of the future.

Grants are provided to various educational and research institutions to develop expertise in the fields of pollution control, materials, biomedicine and related disciplines, atomic energy, computer technology, oceanography, and transportation.

The Governor's Science Advisory Committee has illustrated the need for this program as a means of attracting industry that would diversify the State's economic base and prevent the massive economic dislocations which have resulted from the extractive and single industry dependency of the past. Nevertheless, lack of funds has dictated a 50 per cent reduction in 1970-71.

Port development assistance to Philadelphia and Erie in 1970-71 has been moved to the new Department of Transportation, as required by law.

HOUSING ASSISTANCE: The Housing Assistance program assists communities and local housing authorities in improving the quality and supply of housing occupied by low and middle income families presently living in sub-standard units.

The major components of the program are the sales program which provides single family units through new construction and/or rehabilitation of existing units which are structurally sound but in need of extensive improvement to meet code standards and the rental program which provides advance planning of multiple unit facilities to be constructed under FHA guaranteed financing. Both programs are financed primarily with State funds on a forgivable loan basis to be repaid from the proceeds of the sale or from private financing after it is approved by FHA.

PENNSYLVANIA HOUSING AGENCY: The purpose of this agency is to enhance the ability of families of moderate income, including the elderly, to purchase homes through a loan program at reduced interest rates. The agency's authorization to issue and sell bonds becomes effective when the Governor by proclamation declares that sufficient monies are available to secure the bonds.

The program will enable the agency to provide $50 million to finance program objectives.

REDEVELOPMENT ASSISTANCE: The Redevelopment Assistance program helps localities, with Federal Government aid, to eliminate and prevent slums and blight, both residential and non-residential. The major activities are:

1. Urban Renewal—State funds are provided on a 50-50 matching basis to local redevelopment authorities for advance planning prior to application for Federal funds for a renewal project. State contributions for execution of a renewal project including acquisition of the area, relocation of residents, and demolition of the existing structures is on the basis of 1/6 State, 1/6 local, and 2/3 Federal.

2. Model Cities—Funds are available within the Redevelopment Assistance appropriation for grants to cities which have applied for Federal Model Cities planning funds but have not been selected under the Federal program limitation. The model cities concept calls for a total concentration of local, State and Federal resources on the physical, social, and economic problems facing a major neighborhood area of the city.

3. Demolition—Limited funds are available in the appropriation for demolition projects and for repairs to public housing units constructed by the State in the mid 1950s.

CODE ENFORCEMENT: This program is designed to prevent blight and deterioration of an area or correct it in its early stages in order to 'save' the area. This is accomplished by joint Federal-State-local grants or loans to low income families in owner-occupied units for repairs or improvements to bring the unit to code standards. If the owner is unwilling to cooperate, the property may be taken by the local unit for rehabilitation. Funds are also available for demolition of buildings which cannot be salvaged.

MASS TRANSPORTATION ASSISTANCE: The Mass Transportation Assistance program will be transferred to the newly created Pennsylvania Department of Transportation in 1970-71. A description of this activity will be found with the programs listed for that department.

Community Affairs

Funds are used either directly by the Bureau of Human Resources or through local agencies to recruit unemployables, provide the minimum academic and attitude training necessary, place the trainees in on-the-job training situations, pay excess training and transportation costs, and, most important, entice industry to make training and jobs available.

ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITY ASSISTANCE: The Bureau of Human Resources also provides Economic Opportunity Assistance grants to thirty-nine Community Action agencies located throughout the Commonwealth. These funds are used to help localities meet matching share requirements for federal assistance.

CHARTER COMMISSION GRANTS: The purpose of the Charter Commission grant appropriation was to stimulate local governments to undertake studies of their existing governmental structures and adopt new and improved structures to meet the challenge of modern society. As a result of the recent constitutional revision, all units of local government will have the opportunity of selecting an optional form of government. Due to lack of funds, no appropriation is recommended for 1970-71.

PARTNER CITIES: The Partner Cities program is designed to enhance the capability of the target city to solve its social, economic and environmental problems. Services are specifically designed to help the community leadership improve its organizational capacity to marshal human and dollar resources and deliver needed services.

This program provides support for 13 State-owned colleges and one State-owned university. Their purpose is to serve as institutions and centers of higher education to develop the youth of Pennsylvania in the arts and sciences, to prepare teachers for the Commonwealth's elementary and secondary public schools, and to achieve such other goals as may be determined by the State Council of Education.

The number of degrees to be granted in 1969-70 is expected to be 11,000 Bachelor's Degrees and 1,700 Master's Degrees. In 1970-71 the number of degrees granted is expected to be 12,100 Bachelor's Degrees and 2,000 Master's Degrees. Although the State-owned institutions function as multi-purpose centers of higher education, they prepare approximately one-half of Pennsylvania's teachers for initial certification at the elementary and secondary level.

Due to the low level of revenues for 1970-71, the total recommended state funds for the State Colleges is held to the 1969-70 level. In order to more equitably distribute these funds, the amount for each college is calculated using a formula designed by the Department of Education. The recommended funding level does not provide for enrollment increases over 1969-70. Although augmentations for student fees for 1970-71 are shown at the current level, these can be raised by the colleges and university to maintain programs at desired levels.

This program provides State support to school districts. Subsidy payments are made for basic instruction, vocational education, manpower development, rentals and sinking fund requirements, pupil transportation, special education, instruction of students unable to attend school, financially handicapped districts, tuition for orphans and children placed in private homes, payments in lieu of taxes, and education of children of migrant laborers.

Due to the shortage of revenues available for 1970-71, it will be necessary to reduce the Commonwealth's public schools subsidies. In order to distribute equitably the additional burden among the school districts, it is recommended that only the basic instruction factor of the basic instruction subsidy be reduced. It will thus be necessary to amend Act 96 by reducing the maximum reimbursable instruction expense per weighted average daily membership from $550 to $467.

A deficiency appropriation of $10 million for basic instruction is necessary since 1968-69 school district subsidy claims had to be carried over into 1969-70 due to a shortage in the 1968-69 basic instruction subsidy. These claims, amounting to $10,125,000, were paid early in the 1969-70 fiscal year using 1969-70 funds. Since the magnitude of the 1969-70 basic instruction subsidy appropriation is approximately equivalent to 1969-70 claims for reimbursement, the alternative is to carry a similar amount of 1969-70 claims into 1970-71 if the deficiency appropriation is not passed.

The estimated payments are based on a formula, included in the law, which takes into account the districts' financial resources and allows higher payments to districts which are densely or sparsely populated or which are characterized by a high incidence of poverty.

Basic Subsidy Payment. This subsidy is designed to pay, on the average, 50% of a school district's basic instruction expenses. A sliding formula is used so that districts with the lowest real estate values per student receive the largest percentage of State aid.

Sparsity or Density Payment. This provides additional subsidy payments to districts with a population density of 10,000 or more people per square mile, or with a population density of 50 or less people per square mile.

Guarantee Payment. This allows school districts to receive the greater of their total subsidy calculated under the basic instruction subsidy Act 580 approved February 1, 1966 or their total subsidy calculated under the previous legislation which was replaced by Act 580.

Poverty Payment. This provides subsidy payments to districts on account of poverty at the rate of $120 for each child in the district, aged 5 through 17, from an impoverished family.

Low Instruction Expense. Payments are made to those districts which spend less than $400. Under provisions of Act 96, this payment will only be made in 1969-70.

Children of Migrant Laborers: The school districts receive $1 per day of attendance by children of migrant laborers.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION

1. State and Federal subsidies are paid to school districts for vocational curricula in agriculture, industrial arts, home economics, and distributive education, for pupils attending area vocational-technical schools, for programs and equipment, for a proportion of travel expenses of vocational education teachers and coordinators and a proportion of the salaries of supervisors of vocational extension courses.

2. State and Federal funds are provided for salaries and expenses of vocational teacher education programs at State-owned and State-related colleges and universities.

3. Federal funds are provided for construction of area vocational education facilities and for Federal Work Study programs.

4. Advance payments are made to county boards of school directors for current operations of area vocational-technical schools.

MANPOWER DEVELOPMENT

The purpose of the Manpower Development subsidy is to assist the school districts to meet matching requirements for Federal grants received for manpower development and training programs. The Federal government provides 90% of the funds for such programs under the Federal Manpower Development and Training Act of 1962. The objective of this act is to provide occupational training for unemployed and/or underemployed persons. Training programs are limited to 104 weeks in duration and may be provided in any non-professional occupation in which a trainee may reasonably expect to find employment. Basic education training, if required, is also included in these programs. This program is administered by the Department of Education because these funds are matched by the Federal Government to cover educational expenses only.

RENTALS AND SINKING FUND REQUIREMENTS

The Rentals and Sinking Fund Requirements appropriation provides reimbursement for a portion of school district capital expenses. These mandated payments are made by the Commonwealth for rentals paid to building authorities for approved leases, sinking fund obligations, building site costs and construction costs.

Pennsylvania Department of Education

The State reimburses school districts for a share of their annual approved rental charges if school buildings are financed and constructed by the State Public School Building Authority, a municipal or school district authority, a profit or nonprofit corporation, a partnership, an association, or an individual. Sinking fund charges on a school district's general obligation indebtedness are also eligible for inclusion in the State subsidy in certain cases. The approved cost of acquiring and grading the land and the interest on such costs in addition to the reimbursable cost of constructing the school building are included in this subsidy.

The Rentals and Sinking Fund Requirements subsidies are calculated through a sliding formula which provides smaller percentage reimbursements to richer districts (in terms of taxable real estate value).

PUPIL TRANSPORTATION

The Transportation appropriation provides reimbursement for a portion of school district pupil transportation costs.

Districts receive amounts for bussing costs which are computed by multiplying the approved costs (including the bussing of non-public students over established routes) times the district aid ratio, amounts for depreciation on school buses owned by districts, and payments made in lieu of transportation costs for the board and lodging costs of special pupils.

SPECIAL EDUCATION

The Special Education appropriation provides payments to school districts and county boards for the additional cost of educating exceptional children in special classes. Exceptional children are defined as children who differ from the "average" in physical, mental, emotional, or social characteristics, including all children in detention homes.

A deficiency appropriation of $3.5 million is recommended since the approved school district special education reimbursements were higher than had been provided for in the 1969-70 appropriation. Rising costs, chiefly salary increases resulting from the implementation of Act 96, are responsible.

HOMEBOUND INSTRUCTION

The Homebound Instruction appropriation provides payments to school districts on account of the instruction of homebound children.

AID TO FINANCIALLY HANDICAPPED SCHOOL DISTRICTS

The Aid to Financially Handicapped School Districts appropriation is to provide grants at the discretion of the Secretary of Education to financially insolvent school districts.

TUITION FOR ORPHANS AND CHILDREN PLACED IN PRIVATE HOMES

The Tuition for Orphans and Children Placed in Private Homes appropriation provides reimbursement to school districts for the education of nonresident orphans or foster children who are placed by the court in homes or institutions in the given district and attend school there.

A deficiency appropriation of $133 thousand for tuition of orphans and children placed in private homes is recommended since the claims for this purpose exceed the 1969-70 appropriation.

PAYMENTS IN LIEU OF TAXES

The Payments in Lieu of Taxes appropriation provides payments to school districts in lieu of taxes of which they are deprived due to purchase by the Commonwealth of land for water conservation or flood control.

EDUCATION OF MIGRANT LABORERS' CHILDREN

The Education of Migrant Laborers' Children appropriation provides reimbursements to the school districts for the cost of conducting summer classes for children of migrant workers.

This program provides aid to public libraries for the development of a state-wide system of libraries and library services in Pennsylvania. The maximum amounts are $.25 per capita for local libraries, $.125 for the college and university district library centers, and $.25 for the district library centers other than the colleges and universities. This is the maximum aid provided in the Library Code of 1961. The categories of aid are as follows:

State Aid to Local Libraries. The Library Code authorizes aid to local libraries on a per capita basis for service population.

State Aid to County Libraries. The Library Code provides for aid to each county library up to $8,000.

State Aid to District Library Centers. State aid is authorized for each of 30 district library centers at a rate of $.25 per capita for each person in each district outside of its local service area.

State Aid to Regional Library Resource Centers. State aid is authorized for each of four libraries designated as regional library resource centers in the maximum amount of $100,000 each. The regional library resource centers are the Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh, the Free Library of Philadelphia, the Pennsylvania State University Library, and the Pennsylvania State Library.

Equalization Aid. This provides additional aid to libraries located in areas with low real estate values. This aid is authorized to libraries in whose service area the product of 1/2 mill times per capita market value is less than $1.25.

Under this program, Federal funds for the construction of new libraries and improvement of library services are distributed to State-owned and State-aided institutions.

This program also provides State funds to the Free Library of Philadelphia and to the Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh to meet the costs of serving as regional libraries in the distribution of reading materials for the blind and talking books. It includes services to individuals who are unable to use books because of physical limitations other than blindness.

The purpose of this program is to enable the school districts to match Federal funds for programs to educate the disadvantaged. Under the Anti-Poverty Program, the Federal Government pays the school districts 80 per cent of the cost of community action programs for education of the disadvantaged. The funds are used for Head-Start, pre-school, Neighborhood Youth Corps, and other similar matching programs.

Under this program, financial assistance up to $500 per year is provided for blind or deaf students who are residents of Pennsylvania and who are enrolled in approved colleges, universities, or other institutions of higher learning. Grants are made on the basis of medical, scholarship, and financial data submitted by the applicants. The funds are used to defray expenses of tuition, maintenance, instructional fees, books, readers' services, and transportation.

Also under this program, funds are provided to nonsectarian institutions for the education of blind children under eight years of age. Payments are made up to a maximum of $3 per pupil per day.

Funds are provided to pay a portion of the tuition and maintenance costs of institutionalized residents of Pennsylvania who are deaf, blind, cerebral palsied, brain damaged, muscular dystrophied, or emotionally disturbed. These pupils are eligible if they attend approved schools within Pennsylvania or out-of-state. For children between 6 and 21 years of age, the Commonwealth pays 75% of the costs and the school district in which the child resides pays 25% of the costs. The Commonwealth pays all costs for children less than 6 and more than 21 years of age. In no case shall the Commonwealth's payment exceed 75% of $4,200 per individual per year. The maximum amount payable in the case of emotionally disturbed children is 75% of $2,310.

Under this program, the State pays one-half the employers' share of social security for public school employes.

This program also includes the State's portion of the annuity payable to school employes at the time of their retirement. The State guarantees sufficient interest on invested funds to provide the annuities as set up to the credit of the employes.

The State also provides a retirement allowance to former teachers, 62 years of age or older, who taught in the Commonwealth's public schools for at least 20 years prior to 1919 or for 14 years in the case of those retiring because of disability.

Supplemental retirement benefits are provided to certain annuitants of the Public School Employes' Retirement System, guaranteeing a minimum of $65 for each year of accredited service, not to exceed $2,600 for 40 years of service. These benefits were made permanent by Act No. 34 which also provided for a cost of living increase for those annuitants who retired prior to 1965.

The purpose of the State Competitive Scholarship program is to assist qualified high school graduates to obtain a higher education by providing scholarship grants of $200 and $250 per academic year for four years. These scholarships were awarded on a competitive basis by county and senatorial district. This program was terminated by law effective August 31, 1967. However, students presently receiving scholarships will remain eligible until graduation.

The Commonwealth's scholarship and loan program is administered through the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency. It provides scholarships to qualified students of the Commonwealth who need financial assistance to attend post-secondary institutions of higher learning, and guarantees loans made for the purpose of assisting residents in meeting their expenses of higher education. Matching funds are provided to assist students in securing grants and loans from the Federal government.

Due to low revenue levels, a reduction in recommended scholarship funds is required. To adequately meet the needs of students from families with lower incomes it is recommended that average awards remain at the 1969-70 level. This will necessitate lowering the maximum family income in determining eligibility for a scholarship award consistent with procedures established by the Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency.

This program provides state aid to community colleges in order to achieve the purpose of extending educational opportunity in response to community, or area, need. The Commonwealth pays one-third of each college's approved operating expenses (to one-third of a maximum of $1,000 per full-time equivalent student and to one-third of a maximum of $500 per full-time equivalent student for operating costs during a summer term). The Commonwealth also pays one-half of each college's approved capital expenses.

The long range goal of this program is to establish 25 to 30 institutions which would serve more than 76,000 youths and adults by 1978. At the present time there are 12 community colleges with a total of 14 campuses in Pennsylvania. It is anticipated that one to three community colleges will commence operation each year providing a steady but realistic growth pattern to a maximum of 25 to 30.

The recommended operating and capital appropriations provide the State's share of projected 1970-71 costs at the 12 community colleges now in operation and "start-up" costs for 4 new community colleges which will be sufficiently completed to enroll students beginning in 1970-71.

The 12 community colleges now in operation and the 4 new community colleges are as follows:

State aid is provided under this program to the state-related universities, Pennsylvania State University, University of Pittsburgh, and Temple University, and to non-state-related universities, colleges and other institutions of learning for maintenance, instructional programs, research, and extension services.

Because of a shortage of funds, the recommended 1970-71 appropriation to each state-related university is held to the total of 1969-70 appropriations and is recommended as a lump sum (except in the case of Pennsylvania State University retirement) so that each university can allocate this sum according to its own needs and priorities.

Because of a shortage of funds, aid to non-state-related universities, colleges and other institutions of learning is restricted in 1970-71 to 50 per cent of 1969-70 as an initial step in phasing out this aid.

PENNSYLVANIA STATE UNIVERSITY

The Pennsylvania State University receives state aid for academic services which provide resident education at the undergraduate and graduate levels leading to associate, baccalaureate, masters, doctors, and certain professional degrees; continuing and extension education; and research activities at University Park and twenty Commonwealth campuses and graduate centers throughout the state; and retirement cost contributions.

Under this program, the university enrolled 37,050 full-time equivalent graduate and undergraduate students in 1969-70.

UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURGH

This program provides general maintenance support for the University of Pittsburgh and for the School of Medicine, Dental Medicine, Jonas E. Salk Professorship of Experimental Medicine, and the Computer Center and Department of Computer Science.

Under this program the University of Pittsburgh enrolled 20,650 full-time equivalent undergraduate and graduate students in 1969-70. An estimated 3,923 degrees will be granted at the bachelors, masters, professional (law, medicine, dentistry), and doctorate levels.

TEMPLE UNIVERSITY

Temple University receives support through this program for instructional programs conducted through the following colleges and schools: Liberal Arts, Business Administration, Education, Music, Communications and Theater Arts, Law, Graduate School, Technical Institute, Medicine, Dentistry, Pharmacy, Nursing, Allied Health Professions, Tyler School of Art (at the Tyler campus and in Rome), and Social Administration; other component divisions, exclusive of auxiliary enterprises, are the Off-Campus

Pennsylvania Department of Education

Center for Community Studies, the Audio-Visual Center, the Speech and Hearing Clinic, the Summer Division, the Center for Inter-American Studies, and the Center for the Study of Higher Education.

The 1969-70 fall enrollment for the total University is 21,238 full-time equivalent students.

NON-STATE-RELATED UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES

Fifteen non-state-related colleges and universities currently receive aid from this program. These institutions offer degree and professional programs in the arts and sciences, technology, agriculture, law, medicine, optometry, osteopathy and podiatry.

OTHER NON-STATE-RELATED INSTITUTIONS OF LEARNING

This program provides assistance to four institutions of secondary and post-secondary education conducting programs in manual training, industrial arts, and agricultural science, and one institution for handicapped children.

This program develops systems for efficient use of the State's water resources and for the conservation and protection of these resources to assure adequate amounts of water for the present and future. It seeks to assure maximum possible protection of the lives and property of the people of Pennsylvania from loss or damage from water-related natural disasters such as floods or droughts, and from man-made problems created by misuse and abuse of these resources.

The program operates and maintains the Schuylkill River project, the George B. Stevenson Dam, Pymatuning Reservoir and the Delaware Canal. It provides construction supervision and design of flood control projects and dams. The program also includes dredging the Schuylkill River desilt-ing pools, inspecting existing water structures, and reviewing and granting approval of applications for permits for stream encroachments, dam construction and requests for water allocations. In addition, it participates in the Federal-State River Forecasting Service and completes stream clearance projects to eliminate potential flood conditions.

The program receives Federal funds authorized by the Water Resources Planning Act of July 22, 1965 (P. L. 89-89) to encourage the conservation, development, and utilization of water and related land resources of the United States on a comprehensive and coordinated basis by the Federal Government, states, localities, and private enterprise. The Federal funds represent up to 50 percent of the cost of the State's approved planning program, the eligibility of which depends on the extent of increases in State costs above those incurred during a "base period" of one (1) year ending June 30, 1965.

The aim of the Forest Services and Protection program is to provide management of forest lands on a multi-purpose basis.

The program provides management, control and regulation of the occupancy and use of State Forest land, technical assistance to private timberland owners and protection from forest fires. The program also supervises oil, gas and other mineral resource activities on State Forest land.

This program receives Federal funds for use in three areas of operation—Forest Protection, Blister Rust Control, and Forest Advisory Services.

Forest Protection. Funds are received under authorization of Section 901 of Weeks Law of 1911 (P. L. 797) and the Clarke-McNary Law of 1924 (P. L. 43-653) to prevent to the greatest possible degree the occurrence of forest fires in Pennsylvania. The State receives funds based on Congressional appropriation, acres of forest and appropriation by State.

Blister Rust Control. Funds are received for the control of White Pine Blister Rust disease under the Lea Act of April 26, 1940 (P. L. 486) through reimbursement of State funds spent.

Forests and Waters

Forest Advisory Services. This program receives Federal funds to provide technical assistance to private woodland owners in an effort to maintain high quality private holdings. Funds are received by authorization of the following statutes:

- Appalachian Regional Development Act of 1965.
- Section 4, Clark-McNary Act of January 16, 1925.
- Section 401, Title IV, Agricultural Act of 1956.
- Section 102, Food and Agricultural Act of 1962.
- Small Watershed Protection and Flood Protection Act, 83rd Congress.
- Cooperative Forest Management Act (P. L. 729) 81st Congress.

Other facilities include picnic areas, natural areas and historic sites. In conjunction with the Department of Justice, mobile forestry camps are operated. In cooperation with the Department of Welfare, Youth Forestry Camps and the Neighborhood Youth Corps projects are supported.

Users are charged for special services such as boat docking, family cabins, and swimming lockers.

This is the area where George Washington crossed the Delaware River on December 25, 1776.

The Valley Forge State Park program, through the Valley Forge Park Commission, preserves the site where the Continental Army, under Washington, was encamped in winter quarters at Valley Forge during the winter of 1777-1778. This 2,255 acre historical site, its fortifications and buildings, are maintained in their original condition.

The Presque Isle State Park program, through the Pennsylvania State Park and Harbor Commission, maintains the seven-mile beach area, buildings, grounds, monuments, picnic, recreational and instructional areas on the Presque Isle Peninsula, Lake Erie.

The Division of Vital Statistics includes the registration, compilation, and preservation of data pertaining to births, adoptions, deaths, fetal deaths and marital status. It is anticipated that during 1970-71 the Division will issue more than 1,025,000 certifications and verifications of records of birth and death. This is almost 100,000 more than were issued in 1969-70.

COMMUNICABLE DISEASES: Prevents the spread of communicable diseases; studies their epidemiological patterns; and promotes, encourages and assists communities in developing effective preventive activities and services.

ALCOHOLISM: Minimizes the impact of alcoholism on society and upon individuals suffering from the disease through education, casefinding, treatment, rehabilitation and research. This program will be transferred to the Community Mental Health Program in the Welfare Department in 1970-71.

DENTAL HEALTH: Encourages, promotes, and participates in the development of preventive community dental health services.

CHRONIC DISEASES: Encourages and assists in the development and expansion of local programs for improving health services for the chronically ill and aged through the use of multiphasic screening, diabetes control, and glaucoma detection.

MATERNAL AND CHILD HEALTH: Reduces fetal, infant, child, and maternal illness by mobilizing available resources of the Commonwealth. Clinics are conducted to provide immunization for children, education in prenatal care for mothers, and testing activities for the detection of phenylketonuria and other metabolic diseases. Orthopedic, hearing and speech diagnostic services are also provided.

CHRONIC RESPIRATORY DISEASES: Provides services designed to prevent the transmission of tuberculosis and other pulmonary diseases; provides treatment through 74 State tuberculosis clinics and conducts a tuberculosis case registry program.

PHYSICAL THERAPY: Encourages the development of and provides physical therapy services to orthopedically handicapped children and children with cystic fibrosis.

OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH: Establishes effective occupational health activities in places of employment in the Commonwealth and investigates occupational disease cases with the help of industrial physicians and union personnel.

ENVIRONMENTAL SAFETY: Seeks through education to lower accident potential, to prevent or lessen the severity of injury, and to assure a safe environment for all residents of the Commonwealth.

DRUG CONTROL: Protects the public consumer of drugs and cosmetics by registration and inspection to assure compliance of manufacturers, wholesalers, and such professional sources of distribution as pharmacies, hospitals and nursing homes.

SANITARY ENGINEERING: Seeks to prevent pollution of waters and to insure safe public water supplies and swimming facilities; to improve the State's more than 2,300 miles of streams adversely affected by mine drainage; and to advance water pollution control technology by establishing a research and development grant program.

AIR POLLUTION CONTROL: Provides enforcement of Commission regulations; establishes intensive control in air basins; and completes the registration of all air pollution sources.

RADIOLOGICAL HEALTH: Reduces or eliminates all unnecessary radiation exposure of both the general public and those occupationally exposed to ionizing radiation. There are three nuclear power reactors and nine other facilities discharging radioactive material to their environs. There are also over 9,500 registered users of radiation sources in the Commonwealth who must be licensed, regulated and periodically inspected.

The two State Tuberculosis Hospitals, Henry R. Landis in Philadelphia and C. Howard Marcy in Pittsburgh, provide for the care and treatment of hospitalized tuberculosis patients in an effort to control the disease and restore the patients to normal health. Both of the state tuberculosis hospitals are fully accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

The State Crippled Children's Hospital in Elizabethtown provides a comprehensive center for diagnosis, restoration and rehabilitation of physically disabled children and seeks to reduce or eliminate physical handicaps.

Health

This hospital provides both out-patient and in-patient diagnostic and treatment services to disabled children from infancy to age 21. Patients receive nursing care, physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy, braces and prosthetic devices, psychological evaluation, social service casework, laboratory and x-ray study, and education in the accredited school. There are 208 beds in the hospital.

An orthopedic clinic is held weekly for the diagnosis and treatment of out-patients, as well as follow-up care for discharged hospital patients. Specialty clinics are held at monthly or more frequent intervals for patients with amputations, cerebral palsy, hand dysfunction, rehabilitative urology problems, or neurological conditions.

It is the goal of the Health Department to provide health services to school children of a quality that will allow them to grow and develop their maximum potential and to secure the most of their educational opportunity.

To accomplish this goal the State reimburses school districts for health examinations of school children. This reimbursement for medical and nursing services amounts to $4.30 per child in average daily membership in public and private schools in the Commonwealth. The school districts are also reimbursed 40 cents per child in average daily membership for dental services or $1.00 per child receiving dental hygiene services. This program is currently under intensive review to determine whether it has any significant impact. No provision is now made to correct medical defects that are detected as a result of the examinations.

It is also the goal of the Health Department to insure maximum protection from environmental hazards. In order to eliminate public health hazards and water pollution resulting from inadequate individual sewage disposal facilities, the Department provides grants to communities for 50% of the cost of drawing up 10 year sewage disposal plans and for enforcing the provisions of the Sewage Facilities Act. In addition, funds are provided to municipalities for costs incurred in developing plans and programs regarding the storage and collection of solid wastes.

Grants are offered to municipalities to assist them in establishing vector control programs. These grants will pay for the salary costs of public assistance recipients who are employed to perform rat eradication tasks.

Funds are again provided for research in cancer, heart disease, cerebral palsy, and diseases of the chronically ill and aged at several specified institutes and hospitals, but amounts are reduced by 50 per cent as an initial step in the phasing out of this aspect of the program.

Toward meeting the goal of providing comprehensive health services to the citizens of the Commonwealth, the Department of Health encourages the establishment of local health departments through provision of State grants-in-aid to county or city departments of health on the basis of 75 cents per capita.

Currently, the counties of Allegheny, Bucks, Chester, Erie, and Philadelphia and the Allentown-Bethlehem Bi-city Health Departments receive grants.

The 1970-71 budget provides for the continuation of the present level of services. The amount for 1969-70 reflects the appropriation increase. Since the enabling legislation to increase these grants to $1.00 per capita failed of enactment, only $3,451,000 will be granted in 1969-70.

Through research, and collection and dissemination of information, this program conserves and promotes the history and heritage of Pennsylvania. The information program is increasing the awareness of Pennsylvania's heritage in schools, historical societies and other organizations within and outside the Commonwealth. The research library supplements historical and archival reference materials. The records program is directed and coordinated through this program.

Two major historical publications are produced annually in addition to many smaller brochures and leaflets. The publications of the museums, historic properties and archives are also part of this program.

Activities conducted in the program include the interpretation and presentation of Pennsylvania's history by procurement and display of period furnishings, artifacts, folk crafts, and relics at each site to authentically represent the historical and cultural aspects of the period. Historical markers are placed and maintained along major Pennsylvania highways to inform and acquaint the public with the historical significance of each locality and its relation to State and National history.

To protect the insurance public, all inquiries and complaints regarding insurance problems are evaluated and processed. The Department investigates alleged violations of law and regulations and recommends punitive action. Constant and continuous review and supervision of surplus lines insurance companies and agents and brokers is carried out through regional offices at Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Harrisburg. A complaints specialist sits regularly in other population centers of the Commonwealth to hear complaints and advise on insurance problems.

Rates are reviewed to assure that they are reasonable, adequate and not unfairly discriminatory. The Bureau of Rates and Policies reviews for approval or disapproval all insurance policy forms, contracts or certificates covering life, health, accident, personal liability, fire, inland marine, title and all forms of casualty insurance, contracts pertaining to pure endowments of annuities and any other contracts of insurance, applications, riders and endorsements. It reviews and regulates workmen's compensation policies and rates of insurance companies and administration of funds to provide security for the payment of benefits to persons entitled to compensation under the workmen's compensation laws in the event of insolvency of the carrier.

Whenever the business of any insurance company has been suspended by the Insurance Commissioner in accordance with law, the Commissioner may, after petition to and order of the court, be directed to liquidate the business of the suspended company. The Insurance Commissioner as liquidator, has the duty to convert the assets of the company into money, file a complete account with the court, and upon confirmation of the account distribute all assets to the creditors, policyholders or stockholders which are entitled to such funds.

The Division has developed data processing plans and procedures which will facilitate the processing of assessments, billings, financial records and distributions. It is anticipated that assessment computations, notifications and billings for approximately five (5) companies will be handled during 1970-71.

Insurance companies and similar organizations are examined and supervised for financial stability, compliance with the law, treatment of policyholders, income, disbursements and loss payments. Company failures are analyzed and company records are searched for escheatable items and other matters. Efforts are made to rehabilitate companies found to be in a precarious financial position.

Services provided by this program include the examination of domestic insurance companies, holding companies and affiliates, to determine that the insurance companies are conducting their business in the best interest of the public, policyholders and creditors; to test for solvency, and to ascertain whether the companies are complying with the insurance laws, regulations and bulletins of the Department.

The Division of Company Audits is responsible for the annual audit of approximately 1,200 domestic, foreign and alien insurance companies, and the quarterly audit of approximately 250 insurance companies. The Division of Company Admissions reviews applications for companies desiring to do business in the Commonwealth. The Bureau of Licenses processes mergers, reinsurance agreements, insider trading, management contracts and proxy regulations.

The Division of Agents and Brokers examines annually applicants for life, accident and health, property, casualty, title, surplus lines, public adjusters and brokers licenses. It also renews licenses for agents, brokers, public adjusters, surplus line agents, title agents and professional bondsmen.

Also, the Department is examining holding companies owning stock in insurance companies.

The primary purpose of this program is to supply efficient administrative coordination and support for all the programs of the Department of Justice. Executive and Administrative maintains the offices of the Attorney General and the Comptroller and provides budget, personnel and supply services.

It also provides for the Board of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws, which promotes uniformity of laws among states on subjects where it is deemed desirable.

The Attorney General is the head of the Department of Justice and the chief law enforcement officer of the Commonwealth. He is appointed by the Governor. By virtue of his office he also is a member of the Board of Pardons, the Board of Finance and Revenue, the Board of Property and the Board of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws. With the approval of the Governor, he has the power to appoint deputy attorneys general and other counsel to assist him in representing the Commonwealth in legal matters.

Out-of-court activity constitutes the bulk of the program's work. This includes drafting legislation, evaluating the constitutional, legal and other aspects of proposed legislation, and the preparation of legal opinions on existing statutes.

The purpose of the Criminal Justice program is to provide coordination for a concerted effort to reduce and prevent the spread of crime in Pennsylvania. Criminal Justice will concentrate on developing programs for the recruitment and training of law enforcement officers, developing new legislation, and coordinating law enforcement agencies at all governmental levels within the Commonwealth. Emphasis will also be placed on improving local crime prevention programs and assisting local agencies in making applications for Federal funds.

The program includes the Pennsylvania Criminal Justice Planning Board and the Pennsylvania Crime Commission.

The Crime Commission provides a reservoir of legal manpower to assist the 67 district attorneys of Pennsylvania in the control and reduction of crime.

The Criminal Justice Planning Board's major function is to serve as a research and planning unit to inquire into the causes of crime and delinquency and to suggest programs for the prevention and control of criminal activities in the Commonwealth. It also serves as the coordinating agency for the use of Federal funds under the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968 which is described under the Restricted Receipts section.

The Bureau of Corrections provides coordination and direction to the various correctional institutions and to other related programs. The Bureau inspects all county and state penal institutions and assures adequate management of record keeping, care, and custody of county and state institutional inmates.

It also collects and maintains the records and statistics required for overall planning and operation of the state correctional system.

The Bureau operates a training program for correctional personnel. This includes an orientation program for new officers conducted at the Training School which is also used to conduct a program of training for county prison personnel. In-service training programs are also held for correctional personnel.

The Bureau of Consumer Protection protects the citizens of the Commonwealth from fraudulent and dishonest business practices. The Bureau directs a major portion of its program to public education, using pamphlets, folders, television and radio programs to alert the consumer to fraudulent and deceptive practices. In addition, meetings, seminars and conferences are designed to reach the low-income areas that constitute the primary targets of fraudulent business activities.

In order to protect consumers, the Bureau of Standard Weights and Measures establishes standards and tolerances, examines and approves all commercial weighing and measuring meters, scales and devices, and ascertains that weights, measures, packages, labels and advertising meet legal requirements.

The program has responsibility for the state standards of mass, volume and length. In its laboratory, the program tests and calibrates field standards used by state and local inspectors and those employed in industry and commerce. In addition, it licenses public weighmasters who weigh bulk commodities other than solid fuel, check-weighs deliveries of bulk commodities, regulates the scale and metering of oil for home heating, and annually tests such meters.

Training programs for city and county inspectors are also conducted.

The state's correctional institutions protect society from the offender by providing custody and care for those committed to the institutions by the courts and by conducting programs for the rehabilitation of the offender intended to permit his return to society as a productive and socially adjusted member of the community.

The program operates seven correctional institutions, and one regional correctional facility. Pittsburgh is a maximum security institution and handles the older or habitual offender. Huntingdon, Rockview, Graterford and Dallas are utilized as maximum, medium and minimum security, as designated by the Commissioner of Corrections. Two specialized institutions are in operation—Muncy for female offenders, and Camp Hill for male juveniles.

The State Correctional Institution at Philadelphia was closed in the early part of 1970. This closing shifted the SCI-Philadelphia population to the remaining institutions. The diagnostic and classification program, which previously operated only at SCI-Philadelphia and SCI-Pittsburgh, was also transferred to several other institutions. All convicted adult offenders are initially sent to one of these diagnostic and classification centers where after diagnosis and evaluation, a program is recommended for each individual covering the educational, vocational and psychological treatment needed.

A problem common to the vast majority of the inmate population is a lack of adequate education and skilled work experience. It is in these two areas that the process of rehabilitation focuses initially, and programs are provided to upgrade the inmates capabilities, as far as possible, in these two areas.

Correctional Industries, financed from the Manufacturing Fund, provides manufacturing and farming work programs for the correctional institutions. There are 24 manufacturing centers, five food processing centers and six farms. An incentive or work recognition plan has been developed which entails basic job evaluations and progress increments for inmates as their skills increase.

Vocational training is also provided in maintenance, construction and service fields. These assignments augment training received in the Correctional Industries programs.

Medical, surgical and psychiatric care is provided by the institutions to correct physical and emotional defects that may hinder the ability of any inmate to participate fully in the institution's work and training programs. It also attempts to correct those defects which are disfiguring and may cause psychological maladjustments. The medical care program trains inmates as orderlies and as operating room, laboratory and X-ray technicians. The dental program in addition to providing for the dental care of inmates, provides similar training in dental technology at the Correctional Institution at Graterford.

The State Correctional Institution at Camp Hill provides an intensive program for rehabilitation of the youthful offender between the ages of 15 and 21. Extensive opportunities are provided for both elementary and secondary education and a few college courses are also offered occasionally. Vocational training programs are provided and include automobile repair, metal shop, printing, electrical repair, barbering, bricklaying, plumbing, welding, carpentry, furniture manufacture, coffee and tea preparation, typewriter repair, office practices and the use of office equipment.

Mobile forestry conservation camps are attached to the institutions at Camp Hill, Huntingdon, Rockview, and Graterford. These camps provide an alternative to institutional confinement and function to some degree as a prerelease program for those inmates whose progress in the institution shows that they are able to work in a less regimented environment.

The first Regional Correctional Facility at Greensburg opened in 1969, to provide treatment, care, maintenance, employment and rehabilitation for offenders formerly serving sentences of six months or more in county jails. Regional facilities will help to establish more integration and coordination of state and local service, and will permit the creation of more complete rehabilitation and training programs.

Prerelease centers have been established by Corrections as a method of providing a transition for its inmates between the institution and return to the community. They are centered in urban areas and will provide work-release and special treatment programs to aid the individual in the crucial period that usually follows upon release. Counseling and treatment are particularly effective in this situation because both the inmate and the correctional staff must deal with realities actually encountered. The institution still has control over the inmate and is able to review the inmate's reactions, deal with problems, and help the inmate in adjusting to a new environment. If the inmate shows inability to adjust, parole plans can be adjusted accordingly.

There are three centers, one each in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Harrisburg. Each houses approximately 15 inmates.

The institution populations as of January 31, 1970 were:

	Inmate Capacity	Population Jan. 1970	Per Centage of Capacity

State Funds	$ 269	$ 341	$ 331

The Apprenticeship Training Program promotes programs in the private industry sector which produce skills in the trades and mechanical arts. In meeting the long-term needs of highly skilled workers, private industry will be assisted to establish, conduct, expand and improve systematic training in federal and state recognized programs of apprenticeship in the more critical and highly skilled occupations.

The Prevailing Wage Act is designed to insure a wage of not less than the prevailing minimum wage of a given locality. This act relates to public works contracts where the estimated cost of the total projects is in excess of twenty-five thousand dollars.

Social Security

	(Dollar Amounts in Thousands)
	Available 1969-70	Departmental Request 1970-71	Budget 1970-71
State Funds	$ 283	$ 342	$ 302

Federal Social Security coverage for employes of the Commonwealth and its political subdivisions is provided for eligible employes through agreements with the Commonwealth and those political subdivisions which elect to extend coverage to their employes. Contributions by the political subdivisions and their employes are received for the Federal government. Contribution reports are filed and pertinent records are maintained. Administrators for political subdivisions are trained to maintain the program at the local level.

Labor Standards

	Available 1969-70	Departmental Request 1970-71	Budget 1970-71
State Funds	$ 483	$ 534	$ 494

The Labor Standards program protects women and children with respect to wages, hours and conditions of employment, prevents discrimination in employment, reduces working hazards, protects employes against unfair wage practices by means of promulgating and enforcing minimum wage orders, and represents employes in civil and criminal actions to collect unpaid wage claims.

Research and Statistics

	(Dollar Amounts in Thousands)
	Available 1969-70	Departmental Request 1970-71	Budget 1970-71
State Funds	$ 228	$ 274	$ 264

The Research and Statistics program provides information for industrial firms, for labor and for the general public. Statistical data gathered, processed and published deals with prices, cost-of-living indices, industrial injuries, construction activities and other pertinent economic data.

Nine comprehensive publications are issued which cover Pennsylvania's compensable work injuries and occupational disease cases, building operations, consumer's price index, injury rates, Workmen's Compensation petitions, occupational disease case payroll, wage predetermination for public project construction, and other special labor and industrial studies.

Workmen's Compensation

	(Dollar Amounts in Thousands)
	Available 1969-70	Departmental Request 1970-71	Budget 1970-71
State Funds	$ 2,837	$ 3,126	$ 3,033

Labor and Industry

This program is designed to alleviate economic hardship for individuals or families of individuals who have been disabled or fatally injured as the result of a job-incurred injury or disease.

Workmen's compensation referees conduct hearings and adjudicate petitions for workmen's compensation and occupational disease benefits except those petitions for commutations and petitions on agreed facts which must be directed to the Workmen's Compensation Board or one of its members.

Activities of this program include advising employers on the workmen's compensation law, processing self-insurance applications by industry, issuing orders of exemption, preparing insurance agreements, advising the disabled on the workmen's compensation law and occupational disease law, referring claim petitions to referees and advising claimants of referees' decisions, conducting investigations, undertaking legal defense of claims in which the Commonwealth is a defendant and evaluating proposed legislation.

Industrial Safety

	(Dollar Amounts in Thousands)

State Funds	$ 2,338	$ 2,639	$ 2,534

The Industrial Safety program serves to assure safe working conditions for employes in order to reduce the incidence of job-incurred accidents, assure public security from structural defects in places of public assembly, and guard the health, safety and welfare of the public with respect to the manufacture and sale of certain products.

Major activities of the program include compilation and maintenance of records of industrial accidents; inspection of industrial work sites for compliance with safety regulations; approval of plans for elevators and boilers, and the periodic inspection of same; regulation of the manufacture and storage of explosives including the licensing of blasters; routine inspection of all mines other than coal mines, quarries, tunnels, and sanitary sewers; routine inspection and registration of bedding and upholstery dealers and manufacturers; licensing of motion picture projectionists and employment agencies, and the inspection and analysis of toy stuffing materials, including tests for flammability level.

State Funds	$ 268	$ 412	$ 400

The Labor Mediation program, by promotion of negotiated settlements in labor disputes and by mediation in disputes when negotiators have reached an impasse, seeks to maintain continuous production and a high level of employment in Pennsylvania to the end that a favorable labor relations climate in the Commonwealth will encourage the establishment and growth of new business enterprises and the retention of existing enterprises.

The activities carried out by this program include the encouragement of parties in labor-management disputes to negotiate settlement of such disputes, provision of mediation services to aid in the settlement of dis-

Activities of this program include contact with employers and union and civic organizations to improve hiring practices. It conducts employment panels, provides job counseling for older workers, and conducts publicity programs using the media of press, radio and television on a public service basis.

Labor Relations

	(Dollar Amounts in Thousands)
	Available 1969-70	Departmental Request 1970-71	Budget 1970-71
State Funds	$ 274	$ 509	$ 277

This program is designed to provide a favorable labor relations climate in Pennsylvania through the promotion of industrial harmony by the continued encouragement of collective bargaining. The employer is also offered protection against unfair labor practices by unions.

The activities performed include hearings to determine complaints charging employers or labor unions with the commission of unfair labor practices, and hearings to determine petitions concerning representation for collective bargaining.

Through this grant, administered by the Workmen's Compensation program, the Commonwealth helps alleviate the economic hardships facing many citizens who are totally disabled due to certain occupational diseases, principally silicosis and silica-related diseases.

Under the Occupational Disease Act as amended, eligible claimants can receive regular payments up to $60 per week, not to exceed an aggregate sum of $12,750. Claimants who have exhausted regular benefits or were excluded from regular benefits by certain statutory time limitations are paid $100 per month for life retroactive to the date of disability or the effective date of the enabling legislation (December, 1965), whichever occurs later. Recent Federal legislation provides higher monthly benefits for disability caused by miners asthma than does the state program. It is anticipated that 75% or more of the miners now receiving the state monthly benefit can qualify to receive the higher Federal benefits, resulting in a substantial reduction in 1970-71 and later years in state funds required to support this program.

The Second Injury Reserve Fund provides additional compensation to partially disabled employes under the Workmen's Compensation Act who, through a subsequent injury, become totally disabled.

Mines and Mineral Industries

The Enforcement of the Bituminous Mine Laws program is designed to protect the health and safety of people working in or about the mines and to prevent further spoliation of the State's natural resources and land areas which could result from unregulated mining operations. The program activities include: (1) regular inspection of all active deep mining operations for various hazards which, if undetected, could result in loss of life or limb through explosions, cave-ins, or other mining accidents resulting from faulty equipment or techniques; (2) testing of the air in mines to determine if the ventilation systems comply with standards set to prevent silica-related lung diseases; (3) inspection of new electrical equipment or systems to be used in the mines; (4) inspection of active operations to determine if adequate roof support has been provided to prevent surface subsidence; (5) first aid and safety classes of miners and maintenance of first aid and mine rescue equipment for use in mine disasters. For 1970-71, funds have been included in this program for enforcement of the Bituminous Coal Open Pit Mining law. Previously, funds were appropriated for transfer to a special fund for this purpose.

For 1970-71, funds have been included in this program for enforcement of the Anthracite Coal Open Pit Mining law. Previously funds were appropriated for transfer to a special fund for this purpose. Additionally, funds are included for the Anthracite Mine Drainage program which previously had received a separate appropriation. The Anthracite Mine Drainage program is designed to protect the economic well-being of the anthracite area and the people working in anthracite mines by monitoring the water level in abandoned mines and conducting pumping operations if the water level reaches a point where it could flood active mining operations.

Mining Area Restoration

The Mining Area Restoration program is designed to allow for the economic regeneration and future growth of the coal producing areas of the State by removing the impediments to growth resulting from the unregulated mining of the past.

Mines and Mineral Industries

Through this program, the department plans and coordinates all mining restoration projects, prepares certain projects for submittal to the Appalachian Regional Commission, performs the engineering and survey work needed in project preparation, and prepares work and materials specifications prior to advertising for bids. In addition, this program maintains a small labor force and related equipment with which actual restoration on small or emergency projects is conducted.

The total restoration program is financed from the General Fund, Federal augmentations for Appalachia projects, and the $500,000,000 Land and Water Development Fund. In addition to these sources, limited restoration is financed from forfeited performance bonds posted by strip mine operators.

The Department's restoration activities include the following general types of projects:

1. Sealing and flushing abandoned coal mines to close openings and to fill voids in abandoned deep mines to prevent surface subsidence; drainage control of flooded mines; and eliminating the public hazard of open mine shafts.
2. Strip mine restoration to backfill abandoned strip mines and to revegetate the restored area, prevent pollution from flooded pits, and generally to return the land to useful purposes.
3. Culm bank fire control projects to extinguish, or control the spread of fires in culm or refuse banks to eliminate the hazard of escaping gasses, control air pollution, and return the land to useful purposes.
4. Subsurface mine fire control projects to extinguish, where possible, or control the spread of fires in deep mines to eliminate the hazard of escaping gasses, control air pollution, and return the land to useful purposes.
5. Stream pollution control projects designed to eliminate or control stream pollution resulting from acid mine drainage.
6. Mine drainage control projects designed to eliminate or control the flow of water in or through mines to prevent pollution and to eliminate the public hazard resulting from flooded mines.
7. Oil and gas plugging projects to eliminate or control stream pollution resulting from seepage from abandoned oil and gas wells.

In addition to major restoration work, funds from the Mining Area Restoration appropriation are available for demonstration projects to develop new or more economical methods of air and water pollution control.

Presentence, Probation and Parole Services attempts through supervision, counseling and treatment to assist in the parolee's or probationer's adjustment to his social and economic responsibilities. Special probation cases and presentence investigations for the courts, as well as investigations for the Board of Pardons, are provided when requested. The program establishes and maintains standards for adequate treatment and supervision of those persons under the Board's jurisdiction, and investigates violations of its rules, as well as new crimes.

The Budget provides $151,000 to increase the number of presentence investigations conducted by the Board for the courts from 400 in 1969-70 to 1800 in 1970-71. Presentence investigations provide the courts with background information useful in determining whether probation or institutionalization is most appropriate for a convicted offender.

The Commission subsequently issues Commission Orders to protect the general public and the public utility corporations. Program activities include auditing utility annual financial reports to determine if rates are justified and reasonable, conducting field examinations of utility accounting facilities to ensure conformance to utility accounting regulations, reviewing and processing tariff changes and changes in services, registering securities certificates and confirming insurance coverage.

Public Utility

In addition, program personnel review utility accident reports and conduct field examinations of railroad crossings and railroad safety conditions as part of the Grade Crossing Protection program described under Grants and Subsidies.

This program receives and investigates formal and informal complaints concerning services provided by public utilities, and the rates charged for such services. Investigation reports are submitted to the Commission for review and action. This assures Commonwealth citizens of safe, adequate and continuous services within rates permitted by law.

Enforcement is provided through the annual testing of metering instruments used by utilities, investigating property carrier motor vehicles, investigating accident reports of non-transportation utilities, and by review of informal and formal complaints.

This grant provides assistance to those townships, boroughs or utilities unable to finance completely the installation of protective devices at railroad crossings and non-state intersections. These devices make dangerous crossings safer, thereby reducing accidents. Due to fiscal restrictions no funds are recommended for 1970-71.

This program effects the delivery of Welfare Department services through the operation of six human service regions and provides support services to the program offices.

Decentralization of selected operations has demonstrated its effectiveness in providing better service, more immediate response for program reaction, essential identification of needs, and coordination of facilities and functions.

The regional offices direct the programs of the Department in compliance with Departmental policies and plans and provide leadership in the development and coordination of public and voluntary resources at the community level. They review the various county plans required by the Department and the applications for licenses and subsidies, evaluate them, and make appropriate recommendations to the program offices.

The Office provides the following services:

PUBLIC ASSISTANCE SERVICES: Operates the Public Assistance Services (see Grants and Subsidies—Assistance Payments and County Administration).

The elderly population of 65 and over is expanding in Pennsylvania and will total 1,252,000 in 1970, an increase of 124,000 over 1960. Communities are requesting State help, and are increasingly supporting programs for the aged such as housing, hot meals, foster care, day care, and health services.

The purpose of the Medical Services and Facilities program is to insure the availability and accessibility of high quality medical and related health care services to all persons within the Commonwealth.

This program develops policies for the medical assistance program which pays medical costs for the indigent (see Grants and Subsidies) and reimburses hospitals for long-term care for the indigent (see Grants and Subsidies); operates a system of inpatient and outpatient medical services through the operation of ten State-owned general hospitals and two restoration centers; establishes standards, supervises or licenses all general hospitals and other related health care facilities including nursing homes; reviews plans for the construction of all hospital and medical facilities and supervises federally-aided construction.

STANDARDS AND SUPERVISION: In order to insure high quality medical care the Medical Services and Facilities program continues to carry out the basic functions of supervision and consultation for 295 general hospitals in Pennsylvania.

Training seminars are being offered so that the State's function will not only be that of a critic through its role of licensing or approval, but also that of a teacher and consultant to help these facilities achieve a high level of patient care.

To ensure the availability and accessibility of medical and related facilities the Office continues to carry responsibility for administration of the Federal Hill-Burton program for construction and modernization of hospitals and medical care facilities. It is also responsible for the construction phase of other federally-aided programs including mental health and mental retardation facilities.

The Office reviews and approves proposed construction in all general and special hospitals and nursing homes.

The Office also has responsibilities in the area of community consultation and planning. Public and private agencies are finding this consultative service a central source of information relating to programming medical care services and facilities.

This Office also provides institutional care through nine state-owned schools and hospitals for more than 10,800 mentally retarded patients; purchases institutional care for 530 patients at Elwyn Institute, and sets standards, inspects and licenses private facilities (now totaling 47 agencies), plus private placements which provide interim care for some 1,655 mentally retarded persons awaiting admission to state schools.

The institutions offer guided group living, education (vocational and academic), medical care, recreation, and counseling services. The average length of stay is 9 to 12 months.

The trend in the rate of juvenile commitments continued upward until mid-1967 when the number of commitments declined due to the decision of the U. S. Supreme Court concerning the legal rights of juveniles. An upward trend is again occurring.

The Department aims to provide a wider range of treatment services to delinquent children so that an institution becomes merely one part of a continuum of service to children.

Beginning in 1970-71, institutional collections, which were formerly deposited in the General Fund as non-tax revenue, will be credited to the Youth Development Center program. The estimated revenue from this source in 1970-71 is $2,250,000.

The present inpatient population is 26,000, a decrease from 41,000 in 1955. The long-term downward trend is expected to continue. During the same time the number of out-patients increased from 8,300 to 18,369.

With the development of community mental health centers and county plans it is anticipated that there will be a further decrease in the admission rate.

There is a continued emphasis on the need for increased services for children and extensive development of treatment programs for alcohol and drug addiction. At the present time the Department of Public Welfare is supporting the Eastern Pennsylvania Facility for Addictive Diseases which is a residential treatment center for the care and treatment of addicts. The Department also operates Eastern State School and Hospital which is a residential treatment facility exclusively for emotionally disturbed children. However, several other state mental hospitals through specialized treatment programs and units provide care, treatment, education and rehabilitation for children who are mentally disabled. A few of the hospitals have organized adolescent treatment program units, but all admit and treat patients under 18 years of age. It is anticipated that within the next five years there will be a great need for increased quantity and quality of psychiatric services for children.

Beginning in 1970-71, institutional collections, which were formerly deposited in the General Fund as non-tax revenue, will be credited to the institutional program for the mentally-ill. The estimated revenue from this source in 1970-71 is $19,980,000.

Following are the State Schools and Hospitals for the Mentally Retarded operated by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Funds for Elwyn Institute are included under Pennhurst State School and Hospital for 1970-71. This has been done in order to qualify for additional federal funds. The funds available for Elwyn Institute in 1969-70 are shown as a separate item.

Of the estimated 360,000 mentally retarded persons throughout the State, 18,000 require institutional care. This supports a major objective to raise the capacity for residential care to the minimum standard of 150 beds per 100,000 population which, with a State population of 12.0 million persons, requires 18,000 beds. Another objective is to raise the quality of care in the institutions at least to the minimum standards set by the American Association for Mental Deficiency. A long range objective is to upgrade the residential facilities to meet modern program concepts and to deploy staff and services to function as a community of services to the surrounding area.

The nine institutions for the mentally retarded currently are caring for more than 10,800 patients. Referrals for services are made through local child welfare agencies, the courts, physicians, community mental health/mental retardation centers, diagnostic and evaluation centers and parents and relatives.

There are 5,287 patients awaiting admission to state schools. Of this number, nearly 1,655 are being cared for in private licensed facilities under the Interim Care for the Mentally Retarded Program (see Grants and Subsidies—Community Services for the Mentally Ill and Mentally Retarded). Another 530 patients are being cared for at state expense at Elwyn Institute. Beginning in 1970-71, institutional collections, which were formerly deposited in the General Fund as non-tax revenue, will be credited to the institutional program for the mentally retarded. The estimated revenue from this source in 1970-71 is $4,710,000.

DIAGNOSTIC AND EVALUATION CENTERS

	Available 1969-70	Departmental Request 1970-71	Budget 1970-71
State Funds	$ 884

The primary objective is to assure that children under the age of 18 who suffer from a mental disability are directed to the service most appropriate to their needs. This is done through provision of outpatient diagnostic screening and dispositional planning.

Other services include screening adult mentally retarded, specialized services for brain damaged children, individual and family counseling and consultation, demographic studies and necessary day-care services.

Public Welfare

With the increasing development of these services through the new comprehensive community programs, the need for the three centers will diminish. Beginning in 1970-71, funds will be provided in the appropriation for the Institutions for the Mentally Ill and Mentally Retarded to continue the operation of the Western and Central Centers. The Eastern Center will be phased out due to the availability of these services through the community programs in that area.

The Family Services program is aimed at promoting and strengthening family life, rehabilitating persons who have social disabilities, and promoting individual capacity for economic independence.

These programs are family-centered and community-based programs for social rehabilitation with financial aid for the preservation of family life. Sixty-seven County Boards of Assistance, functioning as state agencies, administer public assistance grants, determine eligibility for food stamps, provide social services and encourage job training.

A variety of services are provided to help families solve their problems and achieve stable family lives in which they and their children can thrive. Emphasis is placed on rehabilitating all persons who need help to return to or be prepared for employment.

Unemployment and continued poverty in the face of rising and long-sustained prosperity are due to lack of job skills, inadequate education, unstable or inadequate work experience and discrimination. The special employment and training efforts of the Department attack these causes by helping persons obtain basic education, vocational skills, employment orientation, self-reliance and jobs. These efforts are carried out with the active cooperation of the Departments of Labor and Industry, Public Education, Community Affairs, Health, and local public and voluntary agencies, and Federal agencies including the Departments of Labor, Health Education and Welfare and the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The Cash Grants program is designed to help all eligible persons obtain a decent and healthful standard of living through direct cash assistance. During 1970-71 under present regulations, an estimated monthly average of 691,500 persons would receive such assistance. This represents a monthly increase of 104,800 over 1969-1970 and would require an additional $72,900,000 in state funds.

The shortage of revenue available for 1970-71 makes it impossible for the Commonwealth to assume this added burden; consequently, it has been necessary to reduce the Commonwealth's share of General Assistance to 25% of the amount necessary to maintain the current level of support. If this level is to be maintained, county or other local sources will have to provide the remaining 75%. This will reduce the amount of state support by $72,900,000 with no loss of Federal funds.

The Departmental request of $376,500,000 would have provided for an increase in the current standard of payments.

The categories of assistance are as follows:

- Old Age Assistance: Provides direct cash assistance payments to needy persons 65 years of age or older.
- Aid to Dependent Children: Provides direct payments for children under 18 years of age deprived of the care and support of either parent because of death or absence, unemployment or incapacity; includes payments to the relatives exercising responsibility for care of the eligible children.
- Aid to Disabled Persons: Provides payments to persons between the ages of 18 and 64 who are permanently and totally disabled.
- Blind Pensions: Provides direct payments to persons 21 years of age or older whose vision is 10/200 or less, and whose income falls below certain limits.

Public Welfare

General Assistance Grants: Provides payments which have been financed entirely by state funds to needy citizens who cannot be included under the Federally aided categories of Old Age Assistance, Aid to Dependent Children, Aid to the Disabled or Blind Pensions.

The following table indicates by category the state funds available for 1969-70, the amounts requested by the department to maintain the current level of support in 1970-71, and the amounts included in the recommended budget for 1970-71.

This is pursued through: vocational rehabilitation of persons who are visually handicapped which will enable them to become engaged in a gainful occupation; remedial eye care to arrest, remove or prevent visual impairment; grants to vocational rehabilitation agencies for physical expansion of facilities, enlarged staff, and expanded programs to enable agencies to serve more persons.

The funds available for grants to vocational rehabilitation agencies have not met the demand for expansion as indicated by applications from facilities which are considered approvable based upon their need.

Public Welfare

The purpose of this program is to assure that adequate child welfare services and care are available to all children who need them, and to preserve the unity of the family by preventing the separation of the children from families. This program includes day care services, foster family care, service to unmarried parents and their children, adoption service, protective services, institutional, and other group care. These services are provided or purchased by County Child Welfare Agencies.

The shortage of funds for 1970-71 will cause a reduction in the level of state support for this program from the present level of 50% to 40%. The counties are expected to assume the additional cost.

The purpose of this program is to promote and maintain effective police handling of children to assure that they will receive appropriate police service and to redirect juvenile gang activities toward socially acceptable conduct.

Public Welfare

To fulfill this purpose, the state provides financial aid to local governments to be used for hiring additional police staff, increasing salaries for the present staff, specialized training in the handling of children, and developing guidelines and procedures for the most effective police service within current social and legal concepts. Another goal is the development of delinquency prevention activities, such as gang control work in major cities.

Major gang work activities are now in effect in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. With a measurable and marked increase in social unrest, particularly among young people in metropolitan areas, a marked increase in demand for trained, disciplined personnel of social awareness and knowledge is a prime national priority in the law enforcement area. Social demands for equity and justice have increased measurably and can be expected to continue to require both skill and understanding on the part of authoritative services.

It is assumed that the problem of juvenile delinquency will continue in the future until the environmental, cultural and social conditions which produce the majority of delinquents have been corrected.

The objective of the Medical Assistance program is to provide quality care for all eligible persons. In order to accomplish this it will be necessary to increase the kind and amount of services available.

Persons eligible for medical care are all those receiving cash assistance payments and those who would be eligible by reason of income but because of the lien or relative responsibility requirements or some other reason do not choose to receive a cash payment. In addition, there are persons who have income and assets in excess of the limits to qualify for a cash grants but who are considered medically needy and whose medical care is also provided through Departmental payments to vendors of services.

The program now provides all eligible persons under age 65 with physicians' services wherever rendered, inpatient hospital care, post-hospital care, clinic services, nursing care in the home, post-hospital private nursing home care, and nursing care in public institutions. Similar services are provided for persons over age 65 for whom such care is not already furnished under Medicare.

The program also provides for all persons except the medically needy: dental treatment, ambulance service, and prescribed drugs and prosthetic devices. Needy school children are provided with necessary medical, dental, and surgical treatment.

COMMUNITY SERVICES FOR THE MENTALLY ILL AND MENTALLY RETARDED

(Dollar Amounts in Thousands)

	Available 1969-70	Departmental Request 1970-71	Budget 1970-71
State Funds	$32,068	$42,391	$33,340
Federal Funds	1,932	1,932	1,932
Total	$34,000	$44,323	$35,272

Specific objectives of this program are:

1. To establish 41 county administrative units to formulate plans and programs for the delivery of care, treatment and rehabilitation services for the mentally disabled.
2. To enable these county administrative units to make available the services mandated in the Mental Health and Mental Retardation Act of 1966, by providing the necessary funding on a formula basis.
3. Through the county units make available the following services:
 - a. Short-term inpatient hospital care.
 - b. Part-time hospitalization, day-time or overnight.
 - c. Outpatient care.
 - d. Rehabilitation services, including vocational evaluation, work adjustment training, job placement, indefinite employment in sheltered workshops, activities centers, and group living arrangements.
 - e. Aftercare services for persons discharged from state and county facilities.
 - f. Consultation and education to individual practitioners and professional groups in the community.
 - g. Interim care for those accepted for admission to a state school and hospital but for whom there is not available space.
 - h. Appropriate services to meet emergency situations and the needs of those released from inpatient facilities.

Patients who can afford to do so are required to pay for the service they receive. Also, the Medical Assistance Program pays for these services for the medically indigent.

In order to fulfill the mandate for services as set forth in the Mental Health Act of 1966 the counties have been encouraged to develop comprehensive services.

The 1970-71 recommended budget for this program will support the continuance of the current level of services. However, that recommendation is predicated on an amendment to the Mental Health and Mental Retardation Act to change the state-county funding ratio from 90-10 to 80-20.

Special training in mental illness for undergraduate and graduate students preparing to enter the practice of general medicine is provided.

In meeting these objectives, the Institute conducts residency training programs in general psychiatry, child psychiatry, social and community psychiatry and forensic psychiatry; clinical workstudy programs on the graduate level in social work, psychology, special education, anthropology, child development and child care; an affiliate nursing education program for hospital schools of nursing; a continuing education program for physicians; and an allied personnel clinical work-study program for medical secretaries, medical record technicians, social work technicians, child care and child development workers and occupational therapy aides.

Community Courts—District Justices of the Peace

Community courts may be established or discontinued only by a vote of the majority of the electors in a judicial district. After establishment, the court will replace the justices of the peace, or the Municipal Court and Traffic Court in Philadelphia, in that judicial district. The division, number of judges and jurisdiction shall be provided by law. The term of the judges of community courts shall be 10 years, and they shall be members of the Bar of the Supreme Court.

In any judicial district except Philadelphia where a community court has not been established or where one has been discontinued, there shall be one district justice of the peace in each magisterial district. The jurisdiction of district justices of the peace shall be provided by law. On January 1, 1970, the various common pleas courts established 595 new magisterial districts. These new districts were established within four classes according to population density.

The district justices of the peace must be members of the Bar of the Supreme Court or complete a course of training and pass an examination, as provided by law, prior to assuming office, unless they have been former justices of the peace and have completed one full term of office before the creation of a magisterial district.

The term of the district justices shall be for 6 years.

At any primary election the Pennsylvania electorate may have the opportunity to vote for a community court. However, the question shall not be placed upon the ballot in a judicial district more than once in any five year period. A single budget is proposed to provide for the salary of either a community court judge or district justice of the peace, whichever may be chosen by the electorate of a judicial district.

On January 1, 1970, 595 district justices of the peace came into existence. They will exist for only half a year during 1969-70 but will require a full year's financing during 1970-71. The 1970-71 figure also includes $677,000 for employe benefits for district justices of the peace.

Judges of the Municipal Court shall be members of the Bar of the Supreme Court, except for those initial appointees who may complete their term and serve one additional term.

CONSTITUTIONAL DEBT LIMIT

In accordance with a Constitutional Amendment approved in 1968, the Commonwealth's Constitutional debt limit for capital projects is now tied to revenue collections. Bonds may be issued for capital projects without public approval, however, the total outstanding issues, subject to the limit, cannot exceed one and three quarters times the average of the annual tax revenues of the five preceding years.

As a result of this amendment, financing of capital programs is now effected through General Obligation bonds rather than through the authorities. The amount of bonds to be issued will be dependent upon the cash requirements of capital projects authorized by the Legislature.

A preliminary projection of the Commonwealth's debt limit and outstanding debt which pertains to the limit is as follows. These estimates are based upon data which is incomplete at the present time but which will be finalized when the 1970-71 Capital Budget is completed. At that time, a more accurate and more thorough projection will be made.

General Fund Revenues

The General Fund is the major operating fund of the Commonwealth. It receives all tax receipts and other types of revenue not specified by law to be placed in special funds. Except for certain restricted receipts, the income of the General Fund is appropriated in specific amounts for the ordinary programs of government.

Pennsylvania's major sources of General Fund revenues are Corporation Taxes, Consumption Taxes, Other Taxes and Non-Tax Revenues.

The following pages reflect the summary of General Fund, revenue estimates for fiscal years 1969-70 through 1974-75. It presents estimates by major category along with a description of the tax and a statement of the assumptions upon which the estimates are based. Also presented are details of the estimates for 1969-70 and 1970-71.

The Corporate Net Income Tax is paid by all domestic and foreign corporations having capital stock, by joint-stock associations and by limited partnerships for the privilege of doing business in Pennsylvania. The rate of twelve per cent is levied on the taxable income as returned to and ascertained by the Federal government. When the entire business of any corporation is not transacted within this Commonwealth, the taxable income in Pennsylvania is determined by an allocation formula.

The rate was increased from six to seven per cent for taxable years 1967 and 1968, and from seven to seven and one-half per cent for the taxable year 1969. However, the rate for the taxable year 1969 and subsequent tax years was raised from seven and one-half to twelve per cent by legislative amendment approved December 31, 1969. This same amendment repealed the additional depreciation allowance permitted for property actually used in manufacturing, processing, or research and development. The repeal is applicable to taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1969.

The tax was first enacted in 1935 as an emergency tax. It was continued every two years at various rates and now is permanent. A 1951 act required a 50 per cent prepayment of the current and subsequent year's corporate net income tax. An additional 30 per cent prepayment was enacted in 1961, and an additional 10 per cent prepayment was enacted in 1970 increasing the prepayment requirement to 90 per cent. In addition, the 1970 amendment eliminated the options previously allowed to determine the base for prepayment. Thus, all corporations affected are required to transmit annually tentative reports together with the prepayment on the current year's tax computed by applying the current rate of tax to 90 percent of the tax base for the immediate prior year. These tentative reports and tax payments are due four months after the beginning of the current year. The remaining portion of the tax due is to be reported and paid within 105 days after the close of the calendar or fiscal year or within 30 days after the filing of Federal returns.

Corporate Net Income Tax collections for fiscal 1969-70 are estimated at $594.2 million. In fiscal 1970-71 it is expected that $518.9 million will be collected from this source.

The anticipated decline in these revenues is due for the most part to the fact that recent legislative changes result in a greater increase in 1969-70 receipts than for those of 1970-71. However, in addition, it is assumed that corporate profits will be significantly lower in 1970 than in 1969 and this decline will add further to the fall-off in Corporate Income Tax payments.

National Corporate Profits before taxes reached a level of $93.8 billion in 1969 and it is generally anticipated that a decline to the $90.0 billion level or lower is not unreasonable for 1970. It is assumed that Pennsylvania taxable profits will also be comparably lower in 1970.

CAPITAL STOCK AND FRANCHISE TAX

Actual		Estimated
1963-64	$ 58,590,550	1969-70	$132,400,000
1964-65	63,459,600	1970-71	129,700,000

1966-67	71,135,102	1972-73	129,900,000
1967-68	85,163,949	1973-74	136,200,000
1968-69	92,755,843	1974-75	142,900,000

The Capital Stock and Franchise Taxes are levied at the rate of seven mills on the actual value of capital stock (excepting capital used directly in manufacturing and processing) allocable to Pennsylvania corporations, joint-stock associations, and limited partnerships. For foreign corporations, the proportional value of the firm's capital stock, subject to tax is determined by its activity in Pennsylvania in relation to its activity everywhere by using a three-fraction formula. Effective January 1, 1968, domestic corporations are allowed the option to compute their tax by using the three-fraction Franchise Tax formula.

An 80 per cent prepayment requirement for both taxes was enacted in 1956. An additional 10 per cent prepayment was enacted in 1970 increasing the prepayment requirement to 90 per cent for both taxes. In addition, the 1970 amendment eliminated the options previously allowed to determine the base for prepayment. Thus, all firms subject to the taxes are required to transmit annually tentative reports together with their prepayment computed by applying the current rate of tax to 90 per cent of the tax base for the immediate prior year. These tentative reports and tax payments are due four months after the beginning of the current taxable year. The remaining tax payments must be paid within 105 days following the close of the taxable year.

The rate for both taxes was increased from 5 to 6 mills effective January 1, 1967. Beginning with taxable year 1969 the rate for the two taxes was increased from six to seven mills. Distilling companies were previously taxed at a ten-mill rate on the value of their capital stock employed within the State, but beginning in 1970 distilling companies are taxed at the same rate as other corporations.

Our estimate for the Capital Stock and Franchise Taxes for fiscal 1969-70 is $132.4 million. For fiscal 1970-71 we expect to receive $129.7 million.

The decline in these collections between fiscal 1969-70 and fiscal 1970-71 is due entirely to the fact that the recent tax rate increase which was retroactive has a greater positive influence on the revenues for the former than on those for the latter period.

Underlying our estimate for Capital Stock and Franchise Tax receipts for 1970-71 is an expected continued increase in capital investment. Our estimated basic rate of increase for this revenue is about 5 per cent.

The Utility Gross Receipts Tax is levied on the gross receipts from business transacted within Pennsylvania by specified utilities owned, operated, or leased by corporations, associations or individuals. The effective tax rate is forty-five mills for all utilities except motor transportation companies which are taxed at the rate of eight mills. The permanent tax rate on non-motor transportation companies was increased from fourteen to twenty mills, effective July 1, 1967; however, a temporary rate rise from twenty to forty-five mills was enacted for the period January 1, 1970 to September 1, 1971, after which period the previous rate of twenty mills will be in effect.

A 1967 Act provided for an exemption for gross receipts of sales of gas by municipally owned or operated utilities from business done inside the limits of the municipality, effective July 1, 1968.

An 80 per cent prepayment requirement for this tax was enacted in 1961. An additional 10 per cent prepayment was enacted in 1970 increasing the prepayment requirement to 90 per cent. In addition, the 1970 amendment eliminated the option of using taxable gross receipts for the first three months of the current calendar year to determine the base for prepayment. Thus, all firms, except municipally owned or operated public utilities and motor transportation companies, are required to transmit annually tentative reports, together with prepayment of current year's tax computed by applying the current rate of tax to 90 per cent of the tax base for the immediate prior year. The reports and prepayments must be submitted by April 30 of each year while the remaining amount due must be paid by April 15 of the following year.

The Utility Gross Receipts Tax is expected to produce $108.9 million in fiscal 1969-70 and $98.0 million in fiscal 1970-71.

As with other business taxes, the recent prepayment increase accounts for the fact that revenues from this source are expected to decline between the two fiscal periods. Actually we are expecting between 5 per cent and 6 per cent increase in taxable gross receipts over this period.

UTILITY PROPERTY TAX

The tax on Real Property of Utilities enacted during the 1970 legislative session is levied, at a rate of 30 mills on the "State Taxable Value" of utility realty belonging to a firm or other entity (1) furnishing utility service and (2) regulated by the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission or similar regulatory body. The "State Taxable Value" is defined as the cost of utility realty, less reserves for depreciation or depletion as shown by the books of account of the utility. Excluded from "utility realty" for purposes of this tax are the following: (1) Easements, (2) Railroad rights of way, (3) Machinery and equipment, etc, and (4) Realty subject to local real estate taxation under any law in effect on April 23, 1968.

The law provides for the first payment of tax, together with a report, on or before June 1, 1970 and each year thereafter.

Local taxing authorities may share in the distribution of proceeds of this tax by filing a report on or before April 1, 1971, and each year thereafter. The report must state the amount of tax money foregone by the local authority through passage of this act and any other information necessary for distributing revenues to local taxing authorities.

Because of the lack of data pertaining to the base of this new tax we have tentatively used estimates of $42.0 million for both fiscal 1969-70 and 1970-71. Data generated by the initial reports should permit the calculation of more certain estimates in the future.

1968-69	32,203,672	1974-75	44,100,000

The Insurance Premiums Tax is levied at the rate of two per cent (subject to retaliatory provisions of the act) on all domestic life or limited life insurance companies and on all foreign insurance companies, except marine insurance companies.

On foreign companies, the tax is based on the amount of business transacted in Pennsylvania. Receipts from the tax on foreign fire insurance and foreign casualty companies are not deposited in the General Fund, but are distributed for the benefit of local volunteer fire companies and local police retirement systems. The portion of the tax in excess of two per cent due from retaliatory provisions with other states plus an amount for administration of the tax is, however, deposited in the General Fund as general revenue.

Marine insurance companies, both domestic and foreign, pay a five per cent tax on underwriting profits attributable to Pennsylvania in lieu of the gross premiums tax.

An 80 per cent prepayment requirement for life and limited life insurance companies, both foreign and domestic, was enacted in 1961.

An additional 10 per cent prepayment was enacted in 1970 increasing the prepayment requirement to 90 per cent for such companies. In addition, the 1970 amendment eliminated the option of using taxable gross premiums for the first three months of the current calendar year to determine the base for prepayment. Thus, companies are required to transmit annually tentative reports, together with prepayment of current year's tax computed by applying the current rate of tax to 90 per cent of the tax base for the immediate prior year. The reports and prepayments must be submitted by April 30 of each year while the remaining amount due must be paid by April 15 of the following year.

Receipts from the Insurance Premiums Tax are expected to amount to $39.2 million in fiscal 1969-70 and $35.5 million in 1970-71. The decline in revenue is due to a one-time increase in 1969-70 receipts resulting mainly from legislative changes affecting tentative payments. On a liability-year basis we expect the basic trend in taxable insurance premiums to be at about a 5 per cent rate.

The Bank Shares Tax is levied at the rate of thirteen mills on the actual value of shares of State and National Banks, title insurance and trust companies located within the Commonwealth.

Actual value, as used in computing this tax, is ascertained by adding the amount of capital stock paid in and the amount of surplus and undivided profits, and dividing the result by the number of shares. Each institution functions on a self-assessing basis and may pay the tax from general funds or collect the amount from its shareholders. The date of ascertainment of the value of shares of capital stock is January 1.

The rate was increased from eight to ten mills effective for the calendar year 1967. Effective for calendar year 1969 and thereafter, the rate was increased from ten to thirteen mills.

An excise tax of eleven and one-half per cent is levied on net earnings or income of mutual thrift institutions. The tax rate was increased from six to seven and one-half per cent for taxable years 1967 and thereafter. Beginning with calendar 1969 the tax rate was increased from seven and one-half to eleven and one-half per cent.

Taxes on bank shares and mutual thrift institutions were subject to an 80 per cent prepayment requirement enacted in 1961 and 1964, respectively. An additional 10 per cent prepayment was enacted in 1970 increasing the prepayment requirement to 90 per cent for both taxes. In addition, the 1970 amendment changed the method for determining the base for prepayment. Thus, such institutions are required to transmit annually tentative reports, together with prepayment of current year's tax computed by applying the current rate of tax to 90 per cent of the tax base for the immediate prior year. Tentative reports are due and tax prepayment payable by April 15 of the current calendar year, with the remaining amount due payable by April 15 of the next year.

In fiscal 1969-70 we expect to receive $44.1 million from Financial Institutions' Taxes and $36.0 million in fiscal 1970-71. As with other business taxes recent legislative changes result in greater collections in 1969-70 than in 1970-71. However, after adjustments are made for the one-time growth effect of recent legislative changes we expect a basic increase of about 3 per cent in these receipts.

1968-69	10,899,237	1974-75	16,700,000

Other Selective Business Taxes mainly include the Corporation Excise, Corporation Income and the Corporate Loans Tax.

Of the taxes in this category, one of the most productive sources of revenue is the Corporation Income Tax. It is levied on corporations which own property or carry on business activities in Pennsylvania and are not subject to the Corporate Net Income Tax. The tax rate was increased from six to seven per cent for the taxable years 1967 and 1968 and from seven to seven and one-half per cent for taxable 1969. However, the rate for taxable 1969 and subsequent taxable years was raised from seven and one-half to twelve per cent by legislative amendment approved December 31, 1969. The tax is based on net income allocable to Pennsylvania and, like other business taxes, required an 80 per cent prepayment. An additional 10 per cent prepayment was enacted in 1970, increasing the prepayment requirement to 90 per cent.

For fiscal 1969-70 receipts from these sources are expected to total $14.0 million. In fiscal 1970-71 these revenues are estimated at $14.8 million. After adjustment for extraordinary collection in fiscal 1969-70 we anticipate a growth of about 10 per cent between the two periods.

EDUCATION SALES AND USE TAX

1968-69	900,723,524	1974-75	1,273,000,000

The Education Sales and Use Tax is levied on the sale, use, storage, rental or consumption of personal property and certain services and upon the occupancy of hotel rooms. Take-home food and ordinary clothing are exempted. The present tax rate of six per cent based on a bracket system became effective January 1, 1968, and at the same time, the fifty-cent restaurant meal exemption was eliminated.

Vendors who collect $600 or more in a calendar quarter are required to remit collections monthly within 45 days of the last day of the collection month, with the exception of May collections which are due 20 days after the end of May. Those collecting more than $75 annually but less than $600 in a calendar quarter report quarterly and transmit collections within 30 days of the end of the collection quarter, except that April and May collections are due within 20 days after the end of May. The remainder is due within 30 days of the end of the collection quarter. Vendors collecting less than $75 annually are required to remit on a semi-annual basis by February 20 and August 20.

Sales tax on motor vehicles is collected directly by the Department of Revenue when application for a certificate of title is made.

The Tax for Education is expected to produce $950.0 million in revenue in fiscal 1969-70 and $997.5 million in fiscal 1970-71. After allowing for the fact that Pennsylvania does not tax food and clothing and for a relatively weak demand for automobiles our growth rate of 5 per cent reflects expected rises in consumer expenditures.

The Cigarette Tax is imposed and assessed on the sale or possession of cigarettes within this State. It is levied on the ultimate consumer, but usually is collected by sale of stamps to dealers who affix these to each package.

On October 13, 1967, the permanent tax rate was increased to thirteen cents per package of 20 cigarettes. At the same time, the one cent per package previously levied to finance the bonds issued for Korean Veterans' bonus was deleted. Effective January 15, 1970, the rate per package of 20 cigarettes was increased from thirteen to eighteen cents.

Total collections from the Cigarette Tax are expected to amount to $186.4 million in fiscal 1969-70 and, because of the recent tax increase, in fiscal 1970-71 they are estimated at $216.5 million. Consumption of cigarettes has been rather steadily declining and is expected to continue to do so but the increase in the tax rate is currently expected to offset the downward revenue effect of the consumption cut-back.

Under existing legislation, 14 per cent of Cigarette Taxes collected after March 25, 1970 must be held in reserve for transfer to the Nonpublic Elementary and Secondary Education Fund. However, in view of the fact that the Public School Basic Instruction Subsidy must be held at the 1969-70 level because of lack of funds, it is deemed appropriate to hold aid to nonpublic schools at the same level also. Therefore, legislation will be recommended reducing the per cent of Cigarette Taxes used for this purpose from 14 per cent to 8.5 per cent.

The Malt Beverage Tax is levied on all malt or brewed beverages sold in Pennsylvania.

The tax rate is two-thirds cent per half pint, one-cent per pint and $2.48 per barrel. The tax is paid monthly by the various manufacturers directly to the Department of Revenue.

The estimated revenues from the Malt Beverage Tax for fiscal 1969-70 is $22.5 million. These revenues are expected to increase by 3 per cent after adjustment for non-recurring credits and are expected to reach $23.8 million in fiscal 1970-71.

In fiscal 1969-70 receipts from the Liquor Tax should approximate $62.6 million while in fiscal 1970-71 they should rise to $65.2 million. The rate of growth reflected in these estimates is 4.0 per cent and is compatible with the trends experienced in our collections of this tax.

The Realty Transfer Tax is levied at the rate of one per cent of the value of the property transferred as represented by deed, instrument or other writing. The tax is paid through the purchase of stamps which are affixed to the legal document presented for recording.

Realty Transfer Tax receipts are expected to be $31.0 million in fiscal 1969-70. Because of the unsettled outlook for the housing industry, we are anticipating no significant growth in this revenue source. Consequently, we are also holding the estimate for fiscal 1970-71 at the $31.0 million level and do not expect any variations of great magnitude around this estimate.

1968-69	99,054,292	1974-75	117,900,000

The Inheritance Tax is a transfer tax levied on the clear value of property to heirs of a deceased person. The rate is six per cent of the value after a personal exemption if passing to direct or lineal heirs and fifteen per cent, without exemption, if passing to collateral heirs. A tax rate increase from two to six per cent became effective December 29, 1967, for estates and transfers of persons dying on or after that date. Charities and other listed organizations are exempt.

Taxes are collected for the State by counties within one year after the death of a person whose property is being transferred.

An Estate Tax is levied on estates situated in Pennsylvania and applies to residents and non-residents. The tax is the difference between the Inheritance Tax imposed by the State and the credit allowed under the Federal Estate Tax.

The prediction of receipts from Inheritance Taxes is always rather hazardous and subject to wide margins of possible error even in the short run. However, our estimate for this tax is $105.0 million in fiscal 1969-70. Because of its unpredictability we have maintained the same level of $105.0 million as our estimate for 1970-71 but a future erosion or strengthening of stock and bond prices could greatly influence the productivity of this revenue source.

Receipts from Minor and Repealed Taxes are relatively small and vary only slightly from year to year. For fiscal 1969-70 and also for fiscal 1970-71 we estimate these revenues at $600,000.

Institutional Reimbursements include all payments by patients or their families for care in State hospitals and institutions. Also included are payments by the counties for persons committed to correctional institutions by the courts of those counties.

Revenues from Institutional Reimbursements for fiscal 1969-70 are estimated at $39.8 million. After making the necessary adjustments for a change in the accounting procedure affecting revenues from general hospitals, and adjusting reimbursements from correctional institutions to reflect higher costs, the rate of growth over the previous fiscal year is approximately 6 per cent.

Beginning July 1, 1970 receipts of all Institutional Reimbursements are to be treated as augmentations to the institutions from which they are earned. This amounts to $42.2 million during 1970-71.

LICENSES, FEES AND MISCELLANEOUS REVENUE

1968-69 30,264,399	1974-75 54,300,000

Licenses and Fees includes collections by State departments which are not specifically required by law to be placed in special funds to support a specific purpose. Although amounts obtained from an individual class of license very often are sufficient only to cover regulatory costs, any additional money is available for general purposes. Certain licenses and fees are required in a multitude of laws designed to protect the public from indiscriminate and unsafe practices. Those which bring the largest amounts of revenue into the General Fund are Dog Licenses, Public Utility Assessment Fees, Insurance Licenses and Fees, Vital Statistics Fees, Professional License Fees and Cigarette License Fees.

The Miscellaneous category includes all other income to be used for general appropriation purposes in the General Fund except monies which are given to the State by individuals, or are provided by law to be used for a specific purpose only. Included in miscellaneous income are monies from such sources as escheats, sale of forest products, sale or rent of Commonwealth property, and interest on securities and deposits. Also included are transfers from other special funds.

Collections from all these sources are estimated at $30.9 million for the 1969-70 fiscal year and $46.2 million for the 1970-71 fiscal year. The 1970-71 fiscal year estimate includes expected transfers from the State Harness Racing Fund and the State Horse Racing Fund of $7.6 million and $7.0 million respectively. This assumes that beginning in January, 1971, transfers covering the preceding six month period will be made from these funds twice annually in January and July. After adjusting for transfer changes, the underlying growth rate for Licenses, Fees and Miscellaneous Revenues between fiscal years 1969-70 and 1970-71 is 2.0 per cent.

This source includes all penalties and interest collected in the enforcement of tax regulations. The largest portion is from corporation taxes, penalties and interest. Also included are fines and penalties other than those used to enforce tax regulations and those not required by law to be placed into a special fund for a specific purpose. Most of these fines and penalties collected by the various departments are an integral part of enforcement of the laws providing for licenses and fees. By far the largest segment of the amounts received are fines for violations of the Vehicle Code.

It is estimated that $4.9 million will be received in fiscal 1969-70 and $5.3 million in fiscal 1970-71 from Fines, Penalties and Interest. The estimate for fiscal 1970-71 reflects the normal growth of 8.0 per cent experienced over past periods.

Foreword

THE SPECIAL FUNDS

The special funds have been created over a long period of time to account for taxes and other revenues which have been set aside by law for a particular purpose. At present there are more than 60 such funds other than the General Fund. Because the activity of most is restricted, it is not necessary to present a budget for each.

The Motor License, Fish, Game, Banking, Milk Marketing, Farm Products, Harness Racing, Boating and Horse Racing Funds are all subject to the same budgetary controls as the General Fund and are presented in this document. Other funds in the special revenue fund group have been made available for expenditure by continuing legislative appropriation and do not require authorization by the Governor.

As in the General Fund document, bold face figures represent the Governor's Recommendations for appropriations.

Also provided are the administrative personnel of the District Highway offices including the District Engineer and other personnel who do not work directly on engineering, right-of-way, construction, or maintenance projects. The program conducts a training program and an engineering intern program for employes; maintains a safety program to eliminate on-the-job accidents, and recommends the enactment of legislation pertinent to the functions and activities of the Department.

Activities within this program include: informing the public of the Department's intentions, relocation services, property acquisition, payments to property owners, and all legal services needed for the acquisition of these properties. At times property is acquired which contains capital equipment and machinery which is of no value to the construction project. The disposal of these items is a function of this program also.

According to the Eminent Domain Code, property acquired is reimbursed on the basis of the difference between market value before and after acquisition. The Commonwealth has relocation services available for all persons displaced by right-of-way acquisition. These services include information on available housing, financing, and legal rights.

Total	$21,911	$24,465	$22,800

The program has but one basic objective—to reduce the number of motor vehicle accidents and the social and economic waste which accompanies them. It seeks to achieve this objective through effective coordination of its mandated responsibilities: through a careful qualification of motor vehicle operating and registration privileges; through a program of education and information designed to promote safe driving habits, and by withdrawing the operating privileges of those operators whose incompetence, carelessness or irresponsibility has led to accidents or is likely to do so.

Activities of this program are: to enforce the Driver Point System; to license and supervise the Official Inspection Stations and to conduct the State vehicle inspection program; to examine applicants for operator licenses who are handicapped or on parole status; and to maintain a Public Education and Information Section designed to promote traffic safety throughout the Commonwealth. In addition, the Bureau must supply certain information in the form of certified copies of records of traffic accidents to other agencies both within and outside the State.

Funded within this program are: Departmental activities and assistance to all Commonwealth Agencies, Municipalities, and non-profit organizations, the development and implementation of projects under the provisions of the Federal Highway Safety Act, and the regulation of transportation of hazardous substances on the highways.

This program also processes applications for all motor vehicle registrations, learners' permits, operators' licenses and Certificates of Title, and it collects the fees thereof as mandated by the Vehicle Code. The Bureau maintains "across the counter" service in Harrisburg for immediate processing of all types of applications.

An Electronic Data Processing System was established for the Bureau of Motor Vehicles and the Traffic Safety Bureau. The first phase was to develop an Operators' Licensing System. This phase includes operator licenses, learner permits, change-of-name or address, and duplicate requests

This program provides financial aid to local municipalities to assist them in the maintenance and construction of their portion of the total highway system. The subsidy is equal to 1.6 cents per gallon of gasoline sold within the Commonwealth.

Payment of the funds to municipalities is closely regulated and controlled to determine that monies are expended for maintenance and construction of roads according to specifications. The distribution is made on a 50 per cent mileage and 50 per cent population formula.

A 3½ to 4 per cent annual growth can be expected in future years in accord with the past tax collection pattern and anticipated increase in fuel consumption. This rate of increment is not reflected in the past three years figures due to an amendment to the law which changed in the payment schedule.

MOTOR LICENSE FUND

ESTIMATED REVENUES

The Motor License Fund is a special fund composed of monies received from The Liquid Fuels and Fuel Use Taxes, licenses, and fees of motor vehicles, Federal aid for highway purposes, contributions from local subdivisions for construction and other miscellaneous highway revenues.

The Fund provides for the operation of the Department of Highways and the administration of licensing, highway safety and highway purchasing. It also finances State Police highway patrol operations and pays subsidies to local subdivisions for construction and maintenance of roads.

1968-69	284,290,403	1974-75	443,500,000

The taxes are derived from four separate sources, Liquid Fuel; Fuel Use; Motor Carriers Road, and Interstate Bus Compact.

The Liquid Fuels Tax is an excise tax imposed upon all liquid fuels used or sold and delivered within the Commonwealth. The Tax, ultimately borne by the consumer, is imposed upon and collected by the distributor. After discounts, all monies collected are placed in the Motor License Fund, except that an amount equal to one-half cent per gallon is placed in the Liquid Fuel Tax Fund. Fuels sold and delivered to the U.S. Government, the Commonwealth and any of its political subdivisions and those under the Commerce Clause of the Constitution of the United States are exempt from payment of the tax. In addition to these exemptions, reimbursement is made for fuels used for certain agricultural purposes. The permanent rate of the Liquid Fuels Tax, presently, is eight cents per gallon.

The Fuel Use Tax is a tax levied upon all dealer-users for the use of fuels within the Commonwealth other than fuels taxed under the Liquid Fuels Tax Act. All monies collected, less allowance discounts, are paid into the Motor License Fund and the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund in the same proportion as the Liquid Fuels Tax monies. Exempt under this tax are fuels under Commerce Clause of the Constitution of the United States, fuels used and sold by the Commonwealth and any of its political subdivisions, fuels sold and delivered to the U.S. Government, fuels (less than 50 gallons) brought into the Commonwealth in the fuel tanks of motor vehicles and fuels used for certain agricultural purposes. The permanent rate of the Fuel Use Tax, presently, is eight cents per gallon.

The Motor Carriers Road Tax Act levies a tax on motor carriers operating commercial motor vehicles with more than two axles and truck tractors. The tax rate is eight cents per gallon computed on the basis of the number of gallons of fuel used within the State. In addition, the act requires identification markers for each vehicle, except vehicles registered in Pennsylvania to be issued annually upon payment of a $2.00 fee per vehicle.

Interstate Bus Compact—Fuels Tax is a tax imposed on fuel consumed by interstate buses under compacts entered into with other states to avoid multiple taxation of fuels. Taxes in each state are computed on the basis of the number of gallons of fuel used within the state. The present tax rate is eight cents per gallon.

Gross Receipts Tax—This is an excise tax imposed upon the gross receipts of owners and operators of motor vehicles transporting passengers or property for hire on public highways. The current tax rate is eight mills. Only the tax received from companies operating over routes which are not entirely within the Commonwealth is deposited in the Motor License Fund.

This program licenses, supervises and examines: sales finance companies and installment sellers to protect installment buyers of motor vehicles; small loan companies to protect borrowers of $600 or less with or without security and ascertain financial responsibility of licensees; consumer discount companies to protect borrows of $3,500 or less and ascertain financial responsibility of licensees; pawnbrokers to protect borrowers who pledge personal property as security. It also supervises and examines state-chartered credit unions to protect the shareholders and determine solvency.

A detailed analysis of the number of companies licensed and examined follows:

Type of Company	Number Licensed January 1, 1969 to July 31, 1969	Number Examined January 1, 1968 December 31, 1968
Sales Finance Companies	1,072	410

Consumer Discount Companies	1,226	1,088
Pawnbrokers	61	43

Other licensees are examined at the discretion of the Secretary. With the present complement of examiners, the Bureau is able to examine a large percentage of all licensees. In addition to regular examinations, examiners have recently begun to determine financial responsibility of small loan and consumer discount companies, particularly where debentures are sold to the public.

FOREWORD

This Volume outlines the 1970-71 Capital Budget as recommended by the Governor, and the forecast of capital requirements for the ensuing four years through 1974-75.

It is essential to consider all of the financial needs of the Commonwealth, whether those needs are in a category designated as "operating" needs, or whether they represent expenditures for assets which have a long life, commonly referred to as "capital" expenditures. Ways must be found to finance both types of State expenditure, and prudent fiscal management dictates that consideration be given to the impact on the Operating Budget by projects included in the Capital Budget. If the cash requirements of the Capital Budget are met by the issuance of bonds, it follows that these bonds must be retired by appropriations from the Operating Budget. These commitments will have a significant financial impact over an extended period of time. We have accordingly included in the Capital Budget a forecast of cash requirements for each of the four ensuing fiscal years for expenditures as well as the requirements necessary to retire the bonds. These projections include rentals on projects financed by the General State Authority and the State Highway and Bridge Authority. Since the authorities will not be issuing additional bonds, these rentals have stabilized.

This document also includes information required by amendments to Pennsylvania's Constitution which were adopted in 1968. These Constitutional changes were intended to establish a realistic limit on the borrowing authority of the Commonwealth. The limit is set at 1.75 times the average yearly tax collections over a five-year period. This eliminates the necessity of resorting to the device of creating authorities to finance capital expenditures. Debt which is self-liquidating and debt approved by the voters in a referendum are excluded from the debt limit, as is debt incurred to suppress insurrection or rehabilitation of areas affected by disaster.

The adoption of amendments to Article VIII of the Constitution, Section 7 (4) (d), provides that "the State Treasurer shall set apart from the first revenues . . . a sum sufficient to pay such interest and installments of principal" for the fulfillment of obligations on Commonwealth borrowings. This provision should enhance the marketability of Commonwealth General Obligation Bonds, and will no doubt be recognized as one of the most significant changes to the Constitution.

Any debt incurred for capital improvements must be amortized over a period of time which does not exceed the useful life of the improvement.

The Pennsylvania State Planning Board recommends a Capital Program to the Governor for the ensuing year and for the four years of the forecast. The Bureau of the Budget participates in hearings with the State Planning Board. The recommendations of the State Planning Board are considered by the Bureau of the Budget together with information that has been developed during the formulation of the Operating Budget. Also considered is the general economic and financial condition of the Commonwealth and the limits of borrowing available after considering the information furnished by the Auditor General.

Recommendations are made to the Governor for his consideration prior to the development of the Capital Budget and Four-Year Capital Plan. The Governor selects the capital projects to be constructed after he has had the opportunity to review the entire fiscal condition of the Commonwealth and to investigate the benefits and cost of the capital requirements as they are reflected in the Commonwealth's program plans.

Included in the grand total of construction which is forecast in this document is construction for the Game Commission and some projects for the Department of Transportation that will be financed through current revenues.

This volume includes the Governor's Capital Budget message as well as various summary statements reflecting new project authorizations and their effect upon capital expenditures, bond issues and the Commonwealth's debt limit.

Projects recommended for 1970-71 are individually described in a separate section. For each project a base cost is indicated which reflects anticipated price increases to the probable project bidding date. In separate columns are shown the costs of land acquisition and architectural fees, contingencies and administrative costs which must be added to the base construction cost to compute the total cost of a project.

Projections are made of the new projects to be authorized in the four ensuing fiscal years by department and type or purpose of project. These are for projects to be financed from bond funds as well as from current revenues.

Expenditure projections include those projects previously authorized or pending authorization by the Legislature, those being recommended for 1970-71, and anticipated capital projects.

Glossary of Terms

- Base Cost—Amount initially estimated to be expended for construction of a project. This figure does not include the acquisition cost of land nor does it cover design, administration, contingency, or other miscellaneous costs.
- Bond Issues—Issues of long term obligations having maturities of as long as 30 years with varying interest rates over the life of the issue. These have the full faith and credit of the Commonwealth in accordance with Article VIII, Section 7 (4) (d) of the Constitution having a guarantee that revenues be set aside for their retirement. These constitute the major source of funds for the Capital Budget.
- Capital Project—As defined in the “Capital Facilities Debt Enabling Act of 1968” “Capital Project” means and includes any building, structure, facility, or physical public betterment or improvement; or any land or rights in land; or any furnishings, machinery, apparatus, or equipment for any public betterment or improvement; or any undertaking to construct, repair, renovate, improve, equip, furnish or acquire any of the foregoing, provided that the project is designated in a capital budget as a capital project, has an estimated useful life in excess of five years and an estimated financial cost in excess of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000).
- Public Improvement Projects—Means and includes projects of a type which the General State Authority is authorized to construct, improve, equip, furnish, maintain, acquire, or operate under the provisions of the act of March 31, 1949 (P. L. 372), known as “The General State Authority Act of One Thousand Nine Hundred Forty-Nine.”
- Transportation Assistance Projects—Means and includes projects of a type which the Pennsylvania Transportation Assistance Authority is authorized to construct, improve, equip, furnish, maintain, acquire or operate under the provisions of the act of January 22, 1968 (Act No. 7), known as “The Pennsylvania Transportation Assistance Authority Act of 1967.”
- Community College Projects—Means and includes projects for a community college of a type which the State Public School Building Authority is authorized to undertake under the provisions of the act of July 5, 1947 (P. L. 1217), known as the “State Public School Building Authority Act” to the extent that obligations issued to finance these projects are debt within the meaning of this act.
- Highway Projects—Means and includes projects of a type which the State Highway and Bridge Authority is authorized to construct, improve, equip, maintain, acquire, or operate under the provisions of the act of April 18, 1949 (P. L. 604), known as the “State Highway and Bridge Authority Act.”
- Contracting Agency—Department or agency that is responsible for administering the construction of a capital project.
- Current Revenues—Monies derived from current tax sources rather than bond issues. Current Revenue sources which finance a portion of the Capital Budget are the Motor License Fund receipts, the Fish Fund and Game Fund operating revenue.
- Expenditures—Payments made in connection with project construction during a certain period of time. The term should not be confused with authorizations. Authorization can be given for a capital project, but no actual expenditure of funds may be necessary until work begins on the project.
- Project Authorization—Refers to the approval by the General Assembly of a defined project listed with its total estimated cost.

Capital Budget Message

GOVERNOR RAYMOND P. SHAFER

Today I am submitting for your approval the 1970-71 Capital Budget and Four Year Capital Program.

In this volume you will find capital projects recommended for authorization during 1970-71 and for the ensuing four years. These projects will be financed primarily from the proceeds of general obligation bond issues, although some projects will be financed from current revenues.

On April 28, 1970, I submitted a General Fund operating budget for fiscal 1970-71 which included unavoidable sharp cutbacks in state support for programs and institutions. The Capital Budget I am submitting today is similarly restrictive. It proposes only critically needed projects.

The need for a budget of this limited nature arises from several factors:

1. There are approximately $1.4 billion of authorized General State Authority projects and $1.5 billion of highway projects now in construction and design. This represents a construction backlog of approximately 5 years.
2. The General Assembly has not yet passed 1969-70 capital budgets for three categories of projects—General State Authority, Transportation Assistance Authority and Community Colleges.
3. The present bleak outlook for Commonwealth revenues brings into serious question our ability to provide for mounting debt service and to operate new facilities.
4. The state of the national economy has made it increasingly difficult to market large bond issues.
5. The capacity of the Pennsylvania construction industry to build an even greater number of projects is severely taxed.
6. The Constitutional debt limit will be reached far too soon if we authorize and build projects at a runaway rate.

The total cost of new project authorizations I am recommending in this 1970-71 Capital Budget is $436 million compared to departmental requests of $838 million. This year's proposal is considerably smaller than last year's recommended budget of $1,361 million.

Of the 1970-71 recommended projects, $223 million will be financed by bond issues, $173 million by Federal funds and $40 million by current revenues. The purposes of these projects can be summarized into the following major program areas:

Transportation (excluding Federal funds)	$242,916,000	92.4	percent
Education	10,553,000	4.0
Capital Park Extension	3,770,000	1.4
Welfare	3,358,000	1.3
Protection of Persons and Property	1,903,000	.7
Natural and Historic Resources ...	364,000	.2
	<hr/>
	$262,864,000	100.00	percent

CAPITAL BUDGET MESSAGE

While this Capital Budget limits authorized projects for future years, it will still be necessary to issue a large amount of bonds to support projects previously approved by the General Assembly. During fiscal 1970-71, our plans call for $498 million in bond issues; over the five year period, issues totaling $2.6 billion are anticipated. It may be that these projections will have to be revised downward in the absence of tax reform.

All these bonds must be retired by principal and interest payments from the operating budget. Based on the issues planned, these payments, which include authority rentals, will climb from $149.5 million in 1970-71 to $327.1 million in 1974-75. It is clear that our present tax structure will not be sufficient to support this level of debt service.

Another important consideration in structuring a capital program is the Constitutional debt limit of 1.75 times the average tax revenues of the five preceding years. While it is anticipated that average tax revenues will climb, our outstanding debt is projected to grow even faster, rising from 55.8% of the limit on June 30, 1970 to 78.7% on June 30, 1975.

These grim prospects have led me, in addition to compiling an emergency-only budget for 1970-71, to direct each agency head to evaluate all capital projects previously authorized but not yet under construction. Those which are no longer consistent with current program objectives will be eliminated. This is the most effective way to reduce the current backlog of pending projects.

Several months ago I directed all agency heads to submit plans to eliminate all sources of pollution under the control of their agency. These plans will be submitted by September 1, 1970. In so far as any of these may require capital expenditure, they are not included in this capital budget. At a later date, I will submit whatever projects prove to be needed to correct state-controlled pollution-causing instrumentalities.

In last year's Capital Budget message, I said, "caution and prudence must still be the hallmark of our fiscal policies since all debt incurred obligates future generations and also carries an interest cost." This same caution and prudence is even more critical now than it was a year ago.

Computation of Debt Limit and Outstanding Debt

The accompanying exhibits reflect a projection of the Commonwealth's Constitutional debt limit. The starting point for the projection is the average tax revenues for the years 1964-1965 to 1968-1969 and the debt limit and outstanding debt as of June 30, 1969. These are shown as certified by the Auditor General on February 27, 1970. Bonds and notes already issued since June 30, 1969 and those to be issued during the remainder of this fiscal year total $400,000,000. Bond and note retirements during 1969-70 equal $76,980,000.

Revenue projections have been made for all sources of funds included in the Auditor General's calculation of tax revenues. Deviations exist between this presentation and that shown on page 248 of the 1970-71 General Fund Budget. This presentation is based upon more recent information, and is to be considered more accurate.

Future bond issues shown in the exhibits are in amounts required to support existing projects, as well as the projects requested in this Capital Budget for 1970-71 and those projects anticipated in future fiscal years. It is expected that all of these bonds will be issued as general obligations of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Bond retirement projections include the established schedules for bonds already issued and estimated schedules of maturity for future issues.

Principal Highways—Multi-lane highways which connect major traffic generators such as cities, recreational areas and industrial centers. Access to this system is fully controlled.

Distributor Highways—Highways which connect principal highways with smaller traffic generators such as shopping centers, small towns and cities. Access facilities to this system are usually limited.

Connector Highways—Those highways which feed the distributor highways from residential areas, small plants and factories and job sites.

Safety—Projects undertaken specifically as an effort to decrease the incidence and severity of accidents on Commonwealth highways.

Rest Areas—Areas along the Interstate system which provide convenient and comfortable rest areas and comfort stations for traveling motorists.
