

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR HARRISBURG

THE GOVERNOR

February 4, 2009

To the People of Pennsylvania:

Over the past six years, we have worked together to make Pennsylvania stronger by growing our economy, improving our schools, revitalizing our communities and restoring our environment. Now we are faced with a national recession the likes of which have not been seen since the 1930s. While the economic challenges we face are considerable and require painful decisions, the only prudent course of action is to protect our progress while making the essential investments that will position the commonwealth for our recovery.

The nation's economic crisis is having a terrible impact on many Pennsylvanians, and indeed our state budget reflects the fact that the United States economy has contracted. Yet the fact is that Pennsylvania has not been hurt as badly as many other states, and our relative standing is due in large measure to the decisions that we have made since 2003: We established a solid foundation of fiscal responsibility, we improved government efficiency to cut waste and save more than $1.5 billion a year, and we made wise investments that have made Pennsylvania a better place to grow up, live and do business.

In just the past year, we established Pennsylvania as a national leader in the emerging "green" economy, enacted a blueprint for providing adequate resources in all of our classrooms, and set in motion more than $1.5 billion worth of job-creating improvements in critical infrastructure.

We cannot afford to lose that momentum now.

The 2009-10 budget that I share with you today is both a reflection of our economically distressing times and a plan for getting back to prosperity. It avoids any increases in broad-based taxes and includes many difficult cuts to programs and services that I care about deeply, for the simple reason that there is absolutely no alternative.

Even as it establishes fiscal stability, this budget moves Pennsylvania forward – and that is essential. We must enact our own economic stimulus to help companies create new jobs. We must continue to invest in increasing student achievement in our schools. We must make college more affordable to produce the next generation of leaders in the workforce. And we must provide more working adults with access to health insurance at a reasonable cost.

As the recession takes its toll on Pennsylvania families, the cost of doing nothing far exceeds the price of these vital investments. Together, we can and must meet our economic challenges while improving the quality of life for our citizens and setting our sights on our long-term vitality.

Pursuant to Article VIII, Section 12 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, and Section 613 of the Administrative Code of 1929 (71 P.S. Section 233), I am transmitting to your representatives in the General Assembly my proposed budget for Fiscal Year 2009-10.

Sincerely,

The Budget Process

The constitution requires that the Governor submit a budget annually to be adopted by the General Assembly for the ensuing fiscal year. The General Assembly may add, change or delete any items in the budget proposed by the Governor, but the Governor retains veto power over the individual appropriations passed by the General Assembly. The Governor may also reduce individual appropriations, but may not increase them. A gubernatorial veto can be overridden only by a two-thirds majority of each House of the General Assembly.

The Governor's Budget is developed with a focus on the results of government programs and provides information about program goals, objectives, accomplishments and effects.

The Governor's Budget is a statement of the commonwealth's program plan, the resources necessary to support that plan, a description of how resources are to be used, and an assessment of the effects of programs on people and the environment. This information is presented so that the levels of expenditure are associated with levels of government services and, ultimately, with the resulting effects on important public policy issues and concerns faced by the commonwealth.

PHASES OF THE BUDGET PROCESS

The state budget process can be divided into four stages: gubernatorial preparation and submission to the General Assembly; approval (involving the executive and legislative branches); execution; and program performance evaluation and financial audit.

PREPARATION

The preparation stage of the budget process begins nearly twelve months prior to the start of that fiscal year. The first step of the preparation stage is the distribution of the budget instructions by the Governor's Budget Office and program policy guidance by the Governor's Office. The program policy guidance defines major policy issues, spells out priorities and provides policy direction to the agencies for budget preparation.

Agency budget requests are submitted to the Governor's Budget Office beginning in early October. Agencies prepare and submit their requests electronically. The Agency Program Plan, the programmatic presentation of agency budget requests, and the appropriation level information are prepared and submitted in the format and manner specified in budget instructions issued annually by the Governor's Budget Office.

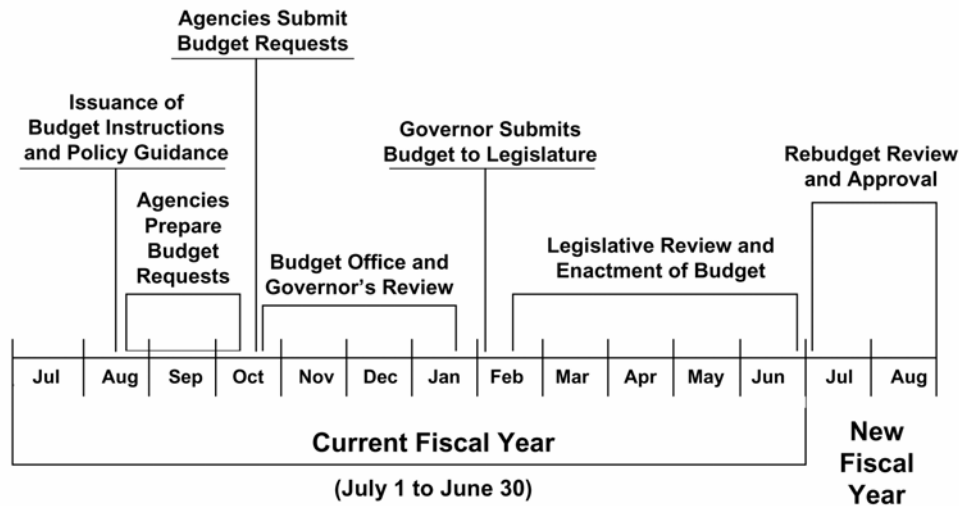

During December, the Governor apprises Legislative leaders of anticipated spending and revenue levels and major fiscal issues expected to be addressed in the upcoming budget.

The Secretary of the Budget and his staff review agency budget requests for accuracy and for adherence to the policy guidance. The Agency Program Plan and appropriation templates are used by the Governor's Budget Office to analyze the agency requests and prepare funding recommendations for the Secretary of the Budget and the Governor. Total agency requests must be brought into balance with total funds estimated to be available from existing sources and any new revenue sources that are recommended. The Secretary of the Budget makes recommendations to the Governor on the expenditure proposals contained in each agency budget request and, in conjunction with the Secretary of Revenue, provides revenue estimates. The Governor reviews these recommendations and makes final budget decisions. The Governor's Executive Budget document is then completed and submitted to a joint session of the General Assembly by the Governor through the budget address.

APPROVAL

Shortly after receiving the Governor's budget request, the Appropriations Committees of the House of Representatives and Senate hold public hearings to review individual agency requests for funds. The appropriations hearings provide the legislators with an opportunity to review the specific programmatic, financial and policy aspects of each agency's programs. The legislators' decisions on the budget are reflected in the annual General Appropriation Bill and individual appropriation bills. The General Appropriation Bill contains appropriations for the executive, legislative and judicial departments, public schools and for public debt. All other appropriations are made individually by separate special bills.

Budget Cycle in Pennsylvania

Appropriations made to institutions not under the absolute control of the commonwealth are considered nonpreferred appropriations and require a two-thirds vote of each House of the General Assembly for passage. The passage of the General Appropriation Bill and other appropriation bills by the General Assembly and the passage of any revenue measures which may be required to ensure a balanced budget constitute the legislative approval phase of the budget process.

At the time that the General Appropriation Bill and other appropriation bills are presented to the Governor for approval, the official revenue estimates for the budget year are established by the Governor. If the appropriations passed by the Legislature exceed the revenue estimates plus any available surplus, the Governor has the authority and duty either to veto entire appropriation bills or to reduce the amount of appropriations in order to produce a budget that is in balance with total resources available. The Governor also has the power to reduce or item veto any appropriation he thinks excessive or unnecessary even if the total appropriations passed by the legislators do not exceed estimated resources available. A Governor's item veto may be overridden by a two-thirds vote of each House of the General Assembly.

The signing of the appropriations bills and any revenue bills by the Governor is the last step in the approval stage of the budget process.

On occasion, additional appropriations are made subsequent to the enactment of the General Appropriation Act. These additional appropriations are made for a purpose for which either no appropriation was originally made or where the General Assembly deems it desirable or necessary that an original appropriation be increased in the current fiscal year period. These appropriations are made in supplemental appropriation bills that are passed in the same manner as regular appropriation bills.

EXECUTION

The Governor's Budget Office has the authority to request and approve agency spending plans, commonly referred to as rebudgets, and to establish authorized levels for agency's full-time equivalent (FTE) salaried complement, i.e., personnel. The rebudgets are based primarily on the enacted appropriations. The Governor's Budget Office electronically enters allocation amounts into the accounting system based upon the approved rebudget. Program managers and administrators are responsible for operating their programs within the resources that are available and for producing the results cited in the budget.

AUDIT

The last stage of the budget cycle, which occurs after the close of the fiscal year, encompasses audit and review of program and financial performance. The Governor's Budget Office informally reviews program and financial performance and performs formal evaluations of selected programs. In addition, the Auditor General performs a financial post audit.

The Capital Budget Process

The capital budget process in Pennsylvania is similar to the process for the operating budget. It has a preparation and submission to the General Assembly phase, an approval phase involving both the executive and legislative branches and an execution phase.

The preparation phase follows the operating budget preparation cycle for a fiscal year beginning July 1. When agencies submit the budget requests to the Secretary of the Budget beginning in early October, a capital budget request itemizing the projects the agencies want to undertake is also submitted. The requests are reviewed and recommendations developed based on the Governor's financial parameters and policies.

Final decisions on the capital budget are made by the Governor at the same time as the operating budget. The Governor's final recommendations are contained in a separate capital budget section in the Governor's Executive Budget document which is submitted to the General Assembly.

The recommendations in the budget document along with any additions or deletions made by the General Assembly are contained in a separate bill usually known as the Capital Budget Project Itemization Act. This bill, along with the Capital Budget Act which contains the maximum debt limitations for the next fiscal year beginning July 1, must be passed by both Houses of the General Assembly and presented to the Governor for signature. The Governor reviews the projects contained in the Capital Budget Project Itemization Act taking into consideration his priorities, the importance of the project and the impact on operating budgets. The Governor may approve the bill as is or item veto parts or all of the amounts contained in the bill. Any item veto may be overridden by a two-thirds vote of each House of the General Assembly.

The Governor's approval of the Capital Budget Project Itemization Act is the final stage of the capital budget approval process.

Each year, even if a capital project itemization bill is not passed, legislation establishing limitations on the debt to be incurred for capital projects is passed and signed into law. This legislation is known as the Capital Budget Act. The act establishes a debt ceiling for each major category of the capital program and remains in force for a single fiscal year.

After projects have been approved in an enacted Project Itemization Act, in order for a project to be activated, the Department of General Services must request that it be implemented. All requests for project activation are reviewed by the Governor's Budget Office for consistency with the Governor's priorities and policies. Projects approved by the Governor's Budget Office are scheduled for release — first for design and, when design is complete, then for construction. These releases are made in accordance with certain fiscal guidelines in order to keep the entire capital budget at affordable levels each year.

The Structure of the Budget

THE COMMONWEALTH PROGRAM PLAN

The budget presentation for each department or agency is shown on an appropriation basis and also on a programmatic basis. Program explanations, analyses and measures are shown by program subcategory within individual departments in Section E of the document. A summary presentation by commonwealth program in Section B shows program costs according to eight major program classifications. These program classifications are each defined in terms of broadly stated goals of state government. One of these commonwealth programs, Direction and Supportive Services, includes the costs of supporting administrative functions which affect the overall operations of the commonwealth. Debt Service includes the resources to meet the timely payment of commonwealth debt obligations. The remaining commonwealth programs are substantive in nature and deal with costs related to the following areas:

- Protection of Persons and Property
- Education
- Health and Human Services
- Economic Development
- Transportation
- Recreation and Cultural Enrichment

Each of the commonwealth programs is subdivided into program categories defined by goals that are more specific in nature. Program categories are broken down into program subcategories which are defined by program objectives. It is at the program subcategory level that program explanations, analyses and measures are shown by individual department. To clearly show the link between the commonwealth Program Plan and agency program subcategories, identical or similar titles have been used in both places. Debt Service is shown as a separate commonwealth program and is not merged with program expenditures so that direct program expenditures may be seen more clearly.

THE DEPARTMENTAL PRESENTATION

Recommendations for the continuation of current programs are shown within departmental program subcategories. Recommendations for major program changes are identified as departmental Program Revision Requests (PRRs) which provide explanations and justification for the change.

Beyond the budget year, four-year projections of financial data and program measures show the future implications of the budget recommendations and policies. Consequently, the five-year plan is a base line which represents the future program effort and financial resources needed to sustain the budgeted level of commitment.

To assist in understanding the individual agency presentations, descriptive information and detailed samples are shown in the following pages.

Summary By Fund And Appropriation

This part of the presentation identifies the state appropriations and those federal funds, augmentations and other funds which supplement the activities funded by that individual state appropriation for each department. The following key will help to identify individual items:

General Government Operations — A title which identifies a specific appropriation by the General Assembly or an executive authorization (EA) by the Governor to spend state monies.

For purposes of this presentation, state funds include the General; Motor License; Banking Department; Boat; Environmental Stewardship; Farm Products Show; Fish; Game; Keystone Recreation, Park and Conservation; Lottery; Racing and Tobacco Settlement Funds and the appropriations or executive authorizations made from those funds.

“(F)” identifies a federal appropriation by the General Assembly or an executive authorization by the Governor to spend federal monies. Medical Assistance is an example of federal funds.

The amounts shown as “federal funds” include appropriations to date as well as anticipated adjustments because of increases or decreases in the amount of funds to be received. Because of the manner in which federal funds are appropriated, they are deposited as General Fund revenues rather than augmentations. They are not, however, included in the revenue sections of the budget. Instead, they are shown with the state funds which they supplement.

For the sake of brevity and ease of identification, common abbreviations are used in the federal titles. The most common are listed at the end of this Reader's Guide.

“(A)” Identifies monies which augment a state appropriation. Institutional collections is an example of an augmentation.

“(EA)” After the title of an appropriation identifies an executive authorization made in the name of the Governor to spend monies previously appropriated through blanket action of the General Assembly. General Operations in the Farm Products Show Fund is an example of an executive authorization.

“(R)” Identifies funds which are in a restricted account and which may only be spent for very limited purposes related to the state appropriation. Receipts from snowmobile regulations are an example of a restricted account.

In some cases the budget may propose the shifting of appropriations between agencies, departmental reorganizations or the restructuring of appropriations within or between departments. Usually, for ease of comparison, all columns in the budget presentation are shown consistent with the recommendation in the budget year. This means, however, that the amounts shown in the actual and available columns may not be consistent with those shown in accounting reports and appropriations acts. When this occurs, explanations have been included within the agency presentations.

Program Presentation

Each program presentation provides a written and financial explanation of the activities of the program. These include:

Objective—A summary statement of the program's purpose in terms of desired accomplishments.

Narrative—Describes program services and activities.

Program Element—Is used within a program narrative to identify sub-program components.

Program Measures—Indicate the activities and outcomes funded by the program and the expected impact of the proposed budget on those activities and outcomes.

Program Recommendations—Identifies the increases or decreases over available year funding as presented in the summary by fund and appropriation.

Appropriations within this Program—Identifies state appropriations which support the activities within the program. Each appropriation appears in only one agency program.

Section H of this document provides brief descriptive and financial data for those special funds of the commonwealth not given an expanded treatment in other sections of the budget.

The Summary by Fund and Appropriation

A summary by fund and appropriation (SFA) is shown at the beginning of each agency presentation in Section E. The SFA identifies all state appropriations within the agency and those federal funds, augmentations and other funds which supplement the activities within the respective state appropriation.

General Fund — The fund into which the general (non-earmarked) revenues of the state are deposited and from which monies are appropriated to pay the general expenses of the state.

General Government — A character of expenditure which is a classification of appropriations according to their general purpose. Other characters of expenditure are institutional, grants and subsidies, capital improvements and debt service.

General Government Operations — Identifies an appropriation by the General Assembly or an executive authorization (EA) by the Governor to spend state monies.

"(F)" Identifies a federal appropriation by the General Assembly or an executive authorization by the Governor to spend federal monies.

"(A)" Identifies other monies which augment a state appropriation.

"(R)" Identifies funds which are in a restricted account and which may only be spent for very limited purposes related to the state appropriation.

Each Program Presentation provides a written and financial explanation of the activities of the program. Recommendations for the continuation of current programs at essentially current levels of commitment are shown within department program subcategories. Recommendations for major program changes are identified as department Program Revision Requests (PRRs) which provide explanations and justification for the change.

Program Recommendations — Identifies the increases or decreases over the available year funds as presented in the Summary by Fund and Appropriation.

General Government Operations — Identifies a specific appropriation.

PRR — A Program Revision Request identifies a major program change and is explained in more depth in a presentation following the program.

Appropriations within this Program — Identifies all state appropriations which support the activities within the program. Each appropriation appears in only one agency program.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To protect and improve the health and safety of the citizens of the commonwealth from unnecessary radiation from natural and man-made sources, to manage water and mineral resources and to prevent destruction and depletion while allowing economic development.

Program: Environmental Protection

This program encompasses the major program elements that help to protect the health and safety of the citizens of the commonwealth as well as the quality of their environment and economic health. These activities are all associated with the department's goals for Clean Air, Clean Water, Land Protection, Community Health and Safety and Sustainable Energy.

Act 68 of 1999, the Environmental Stewardship and Watershed Protection Act, authorized the beginning of the "Growing Greener" program. The goal of this program is to ensure citizens their rights to clean air, to pure water and to the preservation of the natural, scenic, historic and esthetic values of the environment. Expanded activities include the reclamation of abandoned mines, plugging of certain oil and gas wells, protection and restoration of watersheds, and improvements to drinking water and sewer systems.

Program Element — Used within a program narrative to identify sub-program components.

Emissions of air contaminants are closely monitored and controlled by the department to protect public health as required by the Federal Clean Air Act, the Pennsylvania Air Pollution Control Act of 1960 and regulations adopted under the acts. Pollutants of primary concern include ground-level ozone, suspended particulates, sulfur and nitrogen oxides, volatile organic compounds and toxic air pollutants. Only 66 percent of the population of Pennsylvania lives in counties attaining the 8-hour National Ambient Air Quality Standard for ground-level ozone. Forty-four percent of the population lives in counties attaining the federal ambient standard for fine particulate pollution. Small particles and toxic air pollutants they carry with them can aggravate or cause respiratory ailments.

Basis of Budgeting For Control and Compliance

The commonwealth's budgets are prepared on a modified cash basis of accounting that is used to determine compliance with enacted budgets according to applicable commonwealth statutes and administrative procedures. For each commonwealth operating fund the total amount appropriated by the General Assembly for a fiscal year may not exceed the fiscal year's estimated revenues available for appropriation, as developed by the Governor, plus the unappropriated surplus fund balance (or less a deficit) of the preceding fiscal year, except for constitutionally authorized debt service payments.

Under the commonwealth's basis of budgeting, tax receipts, non-tax revenues, augmentations and all other receipts are recorded at the time cash is received. At fiscal year-end an adjustment is made to include in receipts certain revenues of the General Fund and the Motor License Fund estimated to be earned but not yet collected. Expenditures are recorded at the time payment requisitions and invoices are submitted for payment. Expenditures include appropriated amounts reserved for payment of contracts for the future delivery of goods and services to the commonwealth through an encumbrance process. Also, funds are retained at fiscal year-end to pay direct expenditures such as salaries, wages, travel and utility costs payable against a fiscal year's appropriation authority but expended in the subsequent fiscal year.

Budgetary control is exercised at the appropriation level (legislative spending authority level). Encumbrances and expenditures cannot exceed appropriated amounts. Appropriation transfers between departments and any supplemental appropriations require both executive and legislative branch approval. Uncommitted and unexpended appropriations return to the fund balance (lapse) at fiscal year-end and become available for appropriation in the subsequent fiscal year. Over-estimates of amounts required to meet current year obligations are lapsed in the subsequent year and under-estimates are paid from subsequent year appropriations.

Budgets are statutorily adopted each fiscal year for the General Fund and the following special revenue funds: Banking Department, Ben Franklin Technology Development Authority, Emergency Medical Services, Energy Conservation and Assistance, Hazardous Material Response, HOME Investment Trust, Milk Marketing, Motor License, and Workmen's Compensation Administration.

Budgets are also statutorily adopted for the administration of the State Employees' Retirement and Public School Employees' Retirement Funds and for portions of the State Stores, Tobacco Settlement and Tuition Account Guaranteed Savings Program Funds.

Not all special revenue funds are controlled by statutorily adopted budgets. Controls over spending in such special revenue funds are maintained by use of spending limits (executive authorizations) established by the Governor, within parameters established by the General Assembly.

The commonwealth also makes appropriations to authorize expenditures for various capital projects. Appropriations for capital projects normally remain in effect until the completion of each project unless modified or rescinded.

GAAP Basis of Accounting

In addition to the budgetary basis financial information maintained by the commonwealth to monitor and enforce budgetary control, special account balances, principally receivable and payable items, are maintained to provide and report information in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applicable to state and local governments (GAAP). The use of GAAP requires a modified accrual basis of accounting for governmental fund types whereby revenues are recognized when they become both measurable and available to finance expenditures and whereby expenditures are generally recognized and recorded when a liability to make a payment, regardless of when the cash disbursement is to be made, is incurred. For proprietary and fiduciary fund types, GAAP requires a full accrual basis of accounting.

Revenues and expenditures reported in the commonwealth's basic financial statements prepared under GAAP differ from the budgetary basis for several reasons. Among other differences, the GAAP statements (i) generally recognize revenues when they become measurable and available rather than when cash is received, (ii) report expenditures when goods and services are received and a liability incurred rather than when cash is disbursed, (iii) include government-wide statements, representing aggregate governmental activities of the commonwealth, along with major fund statements, including aggregate nonmajor fund statements grouped by GAAP fund type rather than by commonwealth funds, and (iv) include activities of all funds in the reporting entity, including agencies and authorities usually considered as independent of the commonwealth for budgetary accounting and reporting purposes. Reported revenues and expenditures required to conform to GAAP accounting generally require including (i) sales/use, personal income, corporation and other tax revenue accruals, (ii) tax refunds payable and tax credits, and (iii) expenditures not covered by appropriations.

Significant Financial Policies

A summary of significant financial management policies of the commonwealth is presented below. More detail on the financial management policies and implementation is found in other sections of this document especially the Section A Overview and Summaries, Section F Capital Budget, Section G Public Debt and Section H Other Special Funds Appendix.

Accounting – As noted above, in addition to the budgetary basis financial information maintained by the commonwealth to monitor and enforce budgetary control, special account balances, principally receivable and payable items, are maintained to provide and report information in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States applicable to governments. The Governmental Accounting Standards Board (GASB) establishes accounting and financial reporting requirements for state and local governments.

Budget Stabilization Reserve Fund – Act 91 of 2002 provided for this fund effective July 1, 2002 to eventually establish a reserve fund amounting to 6 percent of the revenues of the General Fund. For the fiscal year beginning July 1, 2002 and in any fiscal year thereafter in which the Secretary of the Budget certifies that there is a surplus in the General Fund, 25 percent of the surplus is to be deposited by the end of the next succeeding quarter into this fund. In certain fiscal years legislation has provided for a transfer of an amount not equal to 25 percent for that fiscal year. For the most recent fiscal year ending June 30, 2008, no transfer was made to the Fund. Additional information is found in Section A.1 of this budget document.

Investments – Investment Pools – The Fiscal Code provides the Treasury Department with investment control over most commonwealth funds. The Treasury Department uses a variety of sophisticated internal investment pools that seek to provide preservation of principal, liquidity, diversification and income for commonwealth funds. All participating funds report amounts invested in such pools as temporary and/or long-term investments; the pools themselves are not financially reported.

Debt Issuances – The commonwealth constitution permits debt to be issued for (1) capital projects in approved capital budgets; (2) purposes approved by voter referendum and (3) response to disasters. The constitution limits outstanding capital budget debt to 1.75 times the average tax revenues during the previous five fiscal years. Voter approved and disaster relief debt are not subject to the constitutional debt limit. Capital projects addressing health, safety and public protection receive top priority for activation. Additional information on public debt and debt policies is found in the Section G Public Debt of this budget document.

Terms Used in the Budget Process

Accrual: The accounting recognition of revenue or expenditures/expense amounts prior to cash receipt of revenue or cash disbursements for expenditures/expenses. Accruals are based on the delivery of a good or completion of a service by a specific date for which related cash receipts or disbursements have not yet occurred. Accruals are typically posted at the end of an accounting period and are reversed during a subsequent accounting period.

Appropriation: Legislation requiring the Governor's approval authorizing an agency, department, board, commission or institution to spend a specified amount of money for a stated purpose or purposes during a particular period of time, usually one fiscal year.

Augmentation: Monies such as institutional billings or fees credited to a specific appropriation of state revenues. An augmentation can usually be spent for those purposes authorized for the appropriation it augments. Although augmentations usually are appropriated in general terms with no specific dollar limits, federal aid monies must be appropriated specifically.

Balanced Budget: A budget in which proposed expenditures equal actual and estimated revenues and surplus. The Constitution of Pennsylvania requires the Governor to submit a balanced budget and prohibits the General Assembly from appropriating monies in excess of actual and estimated revenues and surplus.

Budget: A statement of the state's program plan, the resources necessary to support that plan, a description of how and for what purposes the resources are to be used and a projection of the effects of the programs on people and the environment.

Capital Authorization: The appropriations and/or debt authorization enacted in an annual capital budget to fund any permitted capital program.

Capital Budget: The capital budget is that portion of the state budget that deals with projects for the construction, renovation, improvement, acquisition and original furniture and equipment of any building, structure, facility, land or land rights. Projects must have an estimated useful life in excess of five years and an estimated cost in excess of $100,000 or more if bond funds are used and $300,000 or more when current revenues are used. Those projects under these thresholds are not considered capital and are funded from operating budgets. Most of the capital budget projects in the past have been paid from monies obtained by the sale of bonds.

Character of Expenditure: A classification of appropriations according to their general purpose: general government, institutional, grants and subsidies, capital improvements and debt service.

Deficit: A fiscal operating result for an individual fund that may occur at the end of a fiscal year, whereby expenditures for a fiscal year exceed the actual revenues during the same period plus the prior year surplus. The deficit must be paid from the next year's revenues.

Encumbrance: That portion of an appropriation representing a commonwealth obligation or commitment pursuant to a contract, a purchase order, a grant or another known obligation but where an actual disbursement has not been made.

Executive Authorization: An authorization made in the name of the Governor to spend money from funds which had been previously appropriated through blanket action of the General Assembly. Usually this term is used in connection with the special funds. An example of this would be the operations of the Vocational Rehabilitation Fund.

Expenditure: An accounting entry indicating a disbursement has been made.

Federal Fiscal Year (FFY): A twelve-month period beginning October 1 and ending September 30 of the following calendar year which is used as the federal accounting and appropriation period. Referred to by the year in which the fiscal year ends. For example, October 1, 2008 to September 30, 2009 would be FFY 2009.

Federal Funds Appropriation: An appropriation of monies received from the federal government. All monies, regardless of source, deposited in the state treasury must be appropriated. Federal funds are appropriated for a specific time period.

Fiscal Year: A twelve-month period beginning July 1 and ending June 30 of the following calendar year which is used as the state's accounting and appropriation period. Referred to by the year in which the fiscal year begins, for example, July 1, 2008 to June 30, 2009 would be Fiscal Year 2008.

- Actual Year – Includes all expenditures and encumbrances chargeable to that fiscal year as of June 30 of the previous year plus available balances held for certain commitments and any supplementals enacted after June 30. In the case of continuing appropriations, the actual figure will also include any available balances. For non-appropriated and non-executively authorized restricted receipts and restricted revenues, it reflects expenditures only.
- Available (Current) Year – For state funds, includes amounts appropriated to date and supplemental appropriations recommended in this budget. For non-appropriated and non-executively authorized restricted receipts and restricted revenues, the best estimate of expenditures currently available is used.
- Budget Year – Reflects the amounts being recommended by the Governor in this document for the next fiscal year.
- Planning Years 1, 2, 3 and 4 – Reflects only the cost of the budget year projected into the future and the implementation of legislatively mandated increases which may be effective in a future year.

Fund: An independent fiscal and accounting entity comprising a source of money set aside by law for the purpose of carrying on specific activities in accordance with special regulations, restrictions or limitations. A fund is created by legislation. The General Fund is the fund from which most state programs are financed.

Fund Balance: The beginning balance is the ending balance brought forward from the previous year. The ending balance (positive or negative) is the sum of the beginning balance, revenues/receipts and lapses less expenditures within the fiscal year.

General Appropriation Act: A single piece of legislation containing numerous individual appropriations. The General Appropriation Act contains only appropriations for the executive, legislative and judicial departments of the commonwealth, for the public debt and for public schools. All other appropriations are made by separate acts, each concerning one subject.

General Fund: The fund into which the general (non-earmarked) revenues of the state are deposited and from which monies are appropriated to pay the general expenses of the state.

Goal: A goal is a desired state of affairs based upon current knowledge and values. It is timeless in the sense that as achievement approaches, goals tend to be restated at a higher level of aspiration or new goals are projected. Goals reflect the basic values of society and are therefore always culture bound and subjective.

Item Veto: The constitution of Pennsylvania empowers the Governor to disapprove part or all of any item or items of any bill making appropriations of money. The part or parts of the bill approved become law and the item or items disapproved become void. This power is known as the item veto.

Lapse: The return of unencumbered or unexpended monies from an appropriation or executive authorization to the fund from which the money was appropriated. Most appropriations are for one fiscal year and any unencumbered and unexpended monies usually lapse automatically at the end of that fiscal year.

Mandated Expenditures: Expenditures that are authorized and required by legislation, other than appropriation acts, or required by the state constitution. Such expenditures include payment of public debt.

Nonpreferred Appropriations: An appropriation to any charitable or educational institution not under the absolute control of the commonwealth which requires the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each House of the General Assembly.

Objective: A statement of program purposes in terms of desired accomplishments measured by outcome indicators. Ideally accomplishments are intended effect (impact) upon individuals, the environment and institutions. The intended effect should be quantifiable and achievable within a specific time and stated resources, and contribute toward pursuing the goals of the commonwealth. Objectives are found at the program subcategory level.

Official Revenue Estimate: The estimate of revenues for the coming fiscal year determined by the Governor at the time he signs the General Appropriation Act. This revenue estimate is used to determine whether appropriations are in balance with available revenues.

Operating Budget: The operating budget is that portion of the state budget that deals with the general day to day activities and expenses of state government, paid out of revenues derived from taxes, fees for licenses and permits, etc.

Preferred Appropriation: An appropriation for the ordinary expenses of state government which only requires the approval of a majority of the Senators and Representatives elected to the General Assembly.

Program Budgeting: A method of budgeting that relates expenditures to government program accomplishments. Program budgeting generally includes the identification of programs and their objectives, a system of measuring and reporting program results and the allocation of funds with a consideration of program effectiveness.

Program Category: The first major subdivision of the commonwealth program. The program category is defined in terms of desired goals, e.g., clean air environment.

Program Performance Measure: A general term applied to any of the substantive measures found in the agency programs. Included are impacts, outcomes, output/activity indicators, efficiency measures and need and/or demand estimators.

Program Revision Request (PRR): A PRR is submitted to support new programs or major changes in existing programs. The PRR reflects the guidance provided by the Governor's Annual Program Policy Guidelines, results obtained from special analytic studies, and needs or demands considered relevant by the Governor.

Program Structure: The system used to organize goals and objectives within a logical framework so that activities of different organizational units designed to accomplish similar results can be reviewed for decision purposes within the appropriate program context. Program structure also provides the means for determining what information is required in order to identify the needs and demands on government and what information is required for the management and evaluation of program operations.

Program Subcategory: A subdivision of a program category. The subcategory focuses upon objectives which can be measured in terms of quantifiable impact. Program subcategories within agencies are called programs within the Governor's Budget.

Restricted Receipts: Monies received by a state fund (usually the General Fund) from a source outside of the state which may be used only for a specific purpose. The funds are held in a trust capacity for a period of time and then are disbursed to authorized recipients including other state agencies. Restricted receipts do not augment an appropriation. Usually the state makes no other appropriation for the purpose specified for the restricted receipt.

Restricted Revenue: Monies designated either by law or by administrative decision for specific purposes. The revenues are deposited in the General Fund or in certain special funds but reported separately. Restricted revenue accounts continue from one year to the next and finance a regular operation of state government. Disbursements from restricted revenue accounts must be accounted for as expenses of state government.

Revenue: Monies received from taxes, fees, fines, Federal grants, bond sales and other sources deposited in the state treasury and available as a source of funds to state government.

Special Fund: A fund in which revenues raised from special sources named by law are deposited (earmarked revenue). Such revenues can be spent only for purposes prescribed by law and for which the revenues were collected. Examples are: Motor License Fund, Game Fund and Boat Fund.

Surplus: A fiscal operating result that may occur in a fund at the end of a fiscal year, whereby expenditures are less than the fund's beginning balance, revenues/receipts and lapses during the same period. The surplus funds become available for appropriation during the following fiscal year.

OVERVIEW OF PROGRAM AND FINANCIAL GOALS AND POLICIES

Pennsylvania is going to reclaim its place as a leader among the states. The success of this state will be measured by the success of our communities. As such, the commonwealth will work to strengthen communities throughout Pennsylvania by working in partnership with localities to stimulate their economies and create new jobs, boost the performance of their public schools, improve access to quality health care, guarantee the highest level of protection for natural resources and provide for a safe and secure community. The revitalization of Pennsylvania's communities is the key to the revitalization of Pennsylvania. This Administration will allocate available state resources in the manner best suited to bring about the revival of our economy, the renewal of our communities and the rekindling of our belief that we can chart a better future for the next generation.

GOAL: CREATE JOBS AND BUILD A VITAL ECONOMY

Pennsylvania will craft innovative public/private partnerships and invest new capital in small and large communities seeking a competitive edge in the global economy. State Government resources will be strategically linked with private capital to support economic development opportunities that offer the greatest potential for new jobs that pay a family-sustaining wage. Pennsylvania will fashion new financial tools to attract businesses that increasingly link Pennsylvania's economy to the industries of the future.

GOAL: BUILD A WORLD CLASS PUBLIC EDUCATION SYSTEM

Pennsylvania will offer its children an invigorated public education system that delivers a high quality education to every child regardless of where that child lives. Driven by high standards of achievement for every child, this public education system will offer the supports necessary to prepare every child academically to succeed in college or his/her chosen career after graduation.

GOAL: INCREASE ACCESS TO HIGH QUALITY HEALTH CARE

Pennsylvania is home to some of the nation's finest health care facilities and caregivers. The state will employ innovative quality improvements, cost controls and financial strategies to bring down the cost of insurance and thereby free up resources to increase access to affordable high quality health care. These reforms will offer children, families and senior citizens the medical care necessary for healthy and independent lives.

GOAL: BOOST THE SKILLS OF OUR WORKERS

Pennsylvania's greatest untapped resource - its dedicated working men and women - must be prepared for the demanding new jobs that increasingly rely on new technologies to compete in the global economy. Pennsylvania's workforce training and development system will be streamlined and focused to give employers and workers the resources to take full advantage of every opportunity to boost the number of jobs and the wages of workers.

GOAL: PROTECT OUR NATURAL RESOURCES

The goal of building a vibrant economy in the commonwealth will be married with a commitment to the preservation and maintenance of Pennsylvania's natural resources. With an eye toward the future, Pennsylvania will support clean air and waterways, agricultural policies that protect our environment and sound land use policies that preserve open spaces.

GOAL: ENSURE THE SAFETY OF OUR CITIZENS

Every state in the union faces greater challenges in ensuring the safety of our communities. Public safety planning must be coordinated and comprehensive; linking traditional law enforcement activities and the new infrastructure necessary to address homeland security issues. Pennsylvania will develop new cross-agency and cross-jurisdictional partnerships to ensure that this state is able to deliver on the promise of safety in a thriving democracy.

GOAL: DELIVER GREATER VALUE AND EFFICIENCY IN GOVERNMENT

The role of government is to add value to efforts made by individuals, localities and organizations to enhance the quality of our lives. This government will identify new ways to mobilize resources to eliminate waste and redirect under-utilized resources to ensure maximum service to our citizens. Taxpayers will see greater efficiency and a higher return on the investment made to support the operation of this government.

ECONOMIC OUTLOOK

In constructing its tax revenue estimates, the Pennsylvania Department of Revenue and the Office of the Budget are assisted by economic forecasts provided by two main sources of forecast data: 1) IHS Global Insight, Inc. of Lexington, Massachusetts, and 2) Moody's Economy.com, Inc. of West Chester, Pennsylvania. Both of these firms are private economic forecasting and consulting firms that provide forecast data to the commonwealth and other customers. Various projections from IHS Global Insight's national forecast as well as a recent forecast produced by Moody's Economy.com were used to develop the revenue estimates in this document for the budget year and other future fiscal years. Analyses and discussion in this section, as well as the revenue estimates used in the budget, are based on a combination of data from each source and further analysis from the Department of Revenue and the Office of the Budget.

Recent Trends

During the most recent 73-month long period of economic expansion, the United States (U.S.) economy grew at an average annual rate of 2.6 percent. Chart 1 displays actual growth in real gross domestic product (GDP) from 2001 to 2007 and projected growth for 2008-2013.

By the fall of 2007, the U.S. economy was beginning to feel the first effects of the housing and financial crisis that was about to unfold. Housing construction and sales of new and existing houses began to slide precipitously. The deepening of the housing recession is estimated to have sliced 1.2 percent from overall economic growth in the latter part of 2006 and in 2007. In 2007 new home construction saw its largest decline in nearly three decades, off 24.8 percent from 2006 levels. The 2007 decline in new home construction was the second largest decline since 1980, when the new home market plunged 26 percent in the wake of double-digit inflation and 21 percent interest rates. The current housing slump has already surpassed the housing slump of 1990 and is rivaling the 1979-1980 housing crash. Existing home sale prices fell in 2007 for the first time on record, and building permits fell 25.2 percent. New home starts of 1.353 million in 2007 were nearly half the level of 2005, when there were more than 2.3 million new home starts. Since then, new housing starts have plunged to 904,300 units in 2008, a decline of 33 percent from 2007 levels.

Problems related to housing construction, housing sales and housing finance have spread to other areas of the economy, infecting the credit markets and ravaging Wall Street. The availability of easy and cheap credit since 2001 had led to a housing boom, aggressive consumer spending and rising debt levels. Home values increased by double digit rates seemingly every year and housing construction exploded. Historically low interest rates led to many mortgages that were approved for borrowers with less-than-perfect credit (also known as "subprime" mortgages), based on the assumption that home values would continue to rise. Subprime mortgages were peddled extensively in high-growth areas such as California, Arizona, Nevada, Florida and Texas. Invariably, the subprime mortgages were adjustable-rate mortgages, which were affordable to the borrowers only at the low introductory rates. As interest rates rose and mortgages began to reset at higher rates, many homeowners could no longer afford to make their payments. Defaults and foreclosures began to accelerate in late 2006 and continued through 2008.

As the economy – in particular, the housing market – slowed and sub-prime mortgages began resetting at higher rates, defaults and foreclosures soared nationally. Once-attractive asset-backed securities and mortgage-backed bonds began to lose value as the underlying cash flows from homeowners started to wane. Investment banks and the broader financial markets have been hardest hit by the bursting of the housing bubble, as they have been forced to write down more than $1 trillion dollars in losses, primarily based on the crashing values of these asset-backed housing securities. In response to mounting losses associated with housing, financial institutions have significantly tightened their lending standards and access to credit has virtually dried up for all but the most prime consumer and business borrowers. Unprecedented losses by financial institutions have resulted in either the merger, bankruptcy or government bailout of such venerable Wall Street firms as Bear Stearns, Merrill Lynch, Lehman Brothers and Wachovia. Similarly, major mortgage firms such as Countrywide, Washington Mutual, IndyMac and AIG Insurance have faced bankruptcy only to be sold at fire-sale prices or rescued by the U.S. government. Perhaps most important, housing finance giants Freddie Mac and Fannie Mae were placed in conservatorship by the U.S. government to prevent their collapse in September 2008. Combined, these two government-created firms have lent or underwritten more than $5.3 trillion of the estimated $12 trillion in U.S. mortgages – or roughly 45 percent of the mortgage market. These events, combined with the collapse of Lehman Brothers investment bank on September 15, 2008 and the federal rescue of AIG Insurance two days later sent the financial markets into a harrowing dive. By December 1, 2008, the National Bureau of Economic Research announced what was already painfully obvious – the U.S. economy had been in a recession since December 2007.

At 14 months, the current contraction already exceeds the average postwar recession length of 10 months. Assuming the current recession last until May 2009, it will be the longest recession since World War II. The recessions of 1973-75 and 1980-81 each lasted 16 months. Since most economists do not predict an end to the current recession before late 2009, the current contraction will likely be the longest recession since the Great Depression, which technically lasted 43 months. Further, the depth of this recession is much steeper than the two most recent recessions of 2001 and 1991. If forecasters are correct, peak-to-trough declines in real GDP could rival those of the 1973-75 and 1980-81 recessions, when the peak-to-trough declines in real GDP were 3.1 percent and 2.6 percent respectively. Unlike many other recessions, the current recession was not caused by a downturn in a few specific industries. It started with a housing bust and metastasized into a full-blown credit crisis that eventually destabilized the entire U.S. financial system.

The credit boom of this decade masked a troubling trend: Over the past decade, strong U.S. productivity growth has coincided with declining real incomes for most Americans. The credit crisis has likely dispelled the notion that the U.S. economy can expand while its manufacturing base dwindles. Before the current crisis, the presumption had been that innovation and productivity gains would create wealth and new jobs. Over the past 10 years, growth in real GDP has averaged 2.7 percent annually but according to many calculations, U.S. consumers have rung up nearly $3 trillion in excess borrowing and spending over the same period. Thus, the consumption that occurred over the past decade and that supported the economic expansion was not made possible by income growth but by consumer borrowing. Without this artificial boost to spending, real GDP would likely have been considerably lower. Similarly, the global economic boom was fueled by unsupported and out of control borrowing by consumers, businesses and nations. As such, the housing market was not the only sector of the global economy that was not in balance with its underlying fundamentals. Essentially, the entire economy was outspending its resources. Data from the federal Bureau of Labor Statistics supports this premise. Over the past 10 years, U.S. productivity has risen a total of 29.7 percent while real wages have only grown 2 percent. Real wages and salaries peaked in the U.S. in early 2003. Historically, real wages and productivity have gone up in tandem. Rampant borrowing and spending by consumers masked underlying problems in the economy. Excluding personal consumption, real economic growth averaged only 1.3 percent during the 10 years ending in 2007 – the slowest rate since the 1950's. Therefore, if consumption had not been artificially inflated with excess borrowing, the economy would have appeared much weaker.

From 2001 through 2007, the three main pillars of the U.S. economy were consumer spending, business investment and exports. Consumers continued spending following the bursting of the dot com bubble around 2000. They increased their spending following the terrorist attacks and recession of 2001, straight through to the first two quarters of 2008. However, it appears that American consumers have finally been overwhelmed by the erosion of their financial base – the value of their homes – because consumer spending has fallen dramatically since the summer of 2008. It is estimated that households have lost more than $8 trillion in net worth since the fall of 2007 due to falling home equity and stock prices. That drop exceeds the $4.2 trillion decline after the 2000 stock market collapse. The result has been a dramatic drop in consumer spending. What started as a housing-led recession is now a full-scale consumer-led recession, which brings all of the textbook problems of prior recessions: decreased demand, the slashing of inventories and capital investment, layoffs and so on.

Non-Agricultural

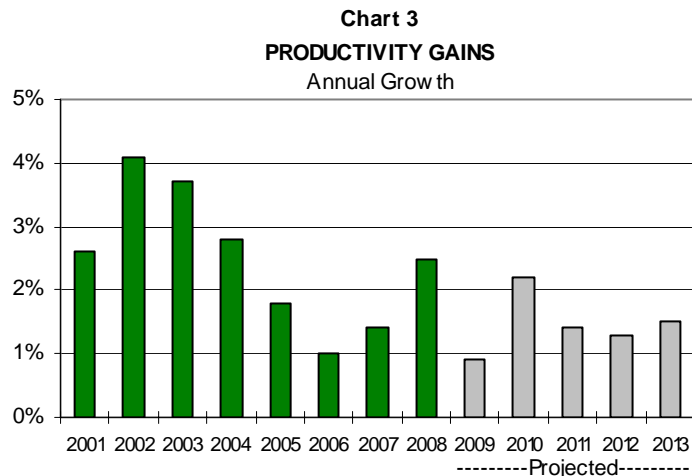

Following slow job growth from 2001 to 2003, more than 8.2 million jobs were created during the most recent economic expansion. Chart 2 shows that there was significant growth in U.S. employment from January 2004 to late 2007. Employment growth started to slow in the latter part of 2007 and more significantly during early 2008. By the summer of 2008, job losses began to occur more frequently. Monthly claims for unemployment compensation increased to 400,000 to 500,000 per month by the fall of 2008. All told, the U.S. economy lost 2.6 million jobs in 2008 – more than the number of jobs lost in the recession of 1973-75 or that of 1980-81. The U.S. unemployment rate rose steadily in 2008, reaching 7.2 percent in December. The rise in the unemployment rate accelerated in the second half of 2008.

Layoffs have hit nearly all sectors of the U.S. economy, from manufacturing and construction to financial services and retail sales. Some sectors have been particularly hard hit. Unemployment rates in the construction and mining trades were 12.1 percent by November 2008. The unemployment rate in manufacturing and production followed at 9.4 percent, including the loss of nearly 300,000 jobs in the auto industry. These losses are on top of the nearly 1.8 million manufacturing jobs lost between 2001 and 2007. However, a few sectors of the economy were still producing jobs, such as health care and education. These industries alone contributed 3.5 million new jobs during the most recent economic expansion. Despite the recession, health care and education employers have created 500,000 new jobs since December 2007 when the recession began. Data shows that employers who can add jobs during a recession are often the industry leaders in the next expansionary period. During the recession of 1991, employment in software engineering and computer programming continued to rise leading to the technology boom of the 1990s. During the recession of 2001, banks, mortgage brokers and real estate agencies added jobs, contributing to the housing boom.

Just as consumer spending is declining significantly, so too are U.S. exports which had remained strong through much of 2008. While the housing sector had been in recession since 2007 and consumer spending slowed in 2008, exports remained a boon to the economy. While the national economy expanded to grow at a rate of just over 1.0 percent for 2008, it is estimated that, excluding the net effect of exports and imports, the economy would have contracted at a rate of 0.6 percent over the same period. With business investment and consumer spending plunging, worldwide demand is also declining. This combination is proving devastating to U.S. manufacturers, as factory output has fallen at an annual rate of nearly 16 percent through the third quarter of 2008 – a rate not seen since the severe 1980-81 recession.

As the national economy slowed in late 2007, entering a recession in December, businesses again were looking to gains in productivity to soften the impact. Job growth slowed correspondingly as productivity posted year-over-year gains of 1.4 percent in 2007 and 2.5 percent in 2008. Chart 3 provides data on productivity gains from 2001 through 2008 and a forecast of productivity gains for 2009 through 2013. Gains in productivity recently achieved in 2007 and 2008 are still lower than the 3 percent to 4 percent annual gains seen during the “jobless recovery” of the 2002-04 period. The modest increases in productivity have helped to support minor growth in real GDP over the past year.

Gains in productivity, combined with declining wages, job losses and declines in consumer and business spending have rendered moot any discussion of inflation in the near term. However, rising energy prices in 2007 and early 2008 contributed greatly to the current recession. Every postwar recession has been preceded by a spike in oil prices, and the current recession is no different, as the price of a barrel of oil reached $150 by mid-2008. Led by surging energy costs, inflation peaked at 3.7 percent in 2008, as shown in Chart 4. The 2008 peak level of inflation was the highest rate since the 1991 recession, when it was 5.4 percent. Since the collapse of the credit and equity markets in the fall of 2008, consumption has declined, wages are depressed and oil prices have retreated consistently, hovering at around $40 per barrel.

The Federal Reserve Board began to raise interest rates in June 2004. From that time through December 2006, the Federal Reserve implemented a total of 17 quarter-point rate hikes, which raised the federal funds rate from 1 percent to 5.25 percent. Much of this increase occurred during 2005, when the federal funds rate rose two full percentage points. Since that time, a slowing economy, lower job growth and a significant recession in the housing market led the Federal Reserve to restart its interest rate cuts in an attempt to keep the broader U.S. economy out of recession during 2007. That year, the Federal Reserve lowered the federal funds rate by a full percentage point late in the year. The Fed started with a half-point reduction in the federal funds rate in September, followed by quarter-point reductions in October and December. These reductions were combined with corresponding reductions in the discount rate – the rate the Federal Reserve charges to make direct loans to banks. Further, the Federal Reserve and the European Central Bank have injected hundreds of billion of dollars and euros into the world financial markets to try to ease liquidity constraints and avoid a recession. By January 2008, the Federal Reserve dramatically lowered the federal funds rate by three-quarters of a point, in response to the deepening housing recession, the continued credit crunch and plunging global financial markets. The same day, the Federal Reserve also lowered the discount rate by a corresponding three-quarters of a point. The surprise rate cut is the first monetary policy action taken by the Federal Open Markets Committee between the continued credit crunch and plunging global financial markets. The same day, the Federal Reserve also lowered the discount rate by a corresponding three-quarters of a point. The surprise rate cut is the first monetary policy action taken by the Federal Open Markets Committee between scheduled meetings since September 17, 2001. Chairman Ben Bernanke and the Federal Reserve continued to lower the federal funds rate throughout 2008, finally reaching “a target rate” of between 0.0 and 0.25 percent in December 2008, as shown in Chart 5. Further, the Federal Reserve has dramatically expanded its balance sheet to inject more than $2 trillion in liquidity into the financial markets in order to stem the credit crisis.

Current Conditions

The U.S. economy entered the current recessionary period in December 2007. The economic slowdown was triggered by a nationwide crash in the housing market, which caused a dramatic tightening of credit. This credit crunch sapped consumer spending power, leading to a rapid decline in consumer consumption. The slowdown in spending and the lack of available credit affected the business community, which responded by laying off workers. At the same time, the crises in housing and credit were quickly reflected in the financial markets, with investors ranging from multi-billion-dollar municipal pension funds to individual workers saving for retirement suffering huge losses in their investment portfolios. This sharp decline in the value of investments further reduced consumer spending, leading to more business closings and more layoffs in many sectors of the economy. So goes the textbook circular pattern of a classic recession in which various recessionary forces build strength, feeding off of each other as the economy slides downward. For all the talk of a new economic paradigm having developed over the past two decades, the underlying fundamentals of the U.S. economy remain jobs, income and wealth and consumer spending.

FEDERAL FUNDS RATE

While overall real GDP growth for 2008 is expected to finish just over 1 percent for the year, as shown in Chart 1 earlier, an examination of real GDP on a quarterly basis reveals the sharp reversal the U.S. economy has undertaken since the fourth quarter of 2007. Discounting the short-term effects of the 2008 tax rebates, the U.S. economy has contracted in three of the past five quarters. The 0.5 percent contraction in the third quarter of 2008 will likely be followed by a 5 percent to 6 percent contraction in the fourth quarter of 2008.

Employment in the U.S. peaked in December 2007 just as the recession was beginning, as shown in Chart 2. Since that time, job losses have been growing. First, monthly job losses were measured in the tens of thousands monthly from December 2007 through August 2008.

REAL GROSS DOMESTIC PRODUCT
Quarterly Growth

Beginning with the stunning crash of Lehman Brothers on September 15, 2008 and the bailout of insurance giant AIG a few days later, job losses ballooned upward at an alarming rate, averaging nearly 500,000 jobs lost per month from September through December 2008. During all of 2008, U.S. employers eliminated 2.6 million jobs, cutting 1.9 million in the last four months of the year alone. These staggering job losses pushed the December 2008 unemployment figure to 7.2 percent, the highest figure since January 1993. As result, the labor markets have not been this gloomy since the 1980-81 recession, when unemployment hit 10.8 percent. Beyond job losses, hours worked are being reduced as well. During December, the average number of hours worked fell to 33.3 hours per week, down two-tenths of an hour to the lowest level since recordkeeping for this data began in 1964. The loss of jobs has been widespread throughout the economy but the manufacturing and construction sectors have been hardest hit. Since December 2007, more than 790,000 manufacturing jobs have been lost and construction jobs are down 899,000 from their peak in September 2006. Slumping retail sales have led to the loss of nearly 550,000 retail jobs since December 2007. Fully one-third of the retail job losses occurred at automobile dealerships as that industry has been particularly affected during this recession. The professional and business services sector lost nearly 500,000 jobs in 2008. Employment in the financial services area has fallen by 148,000 jobs in 2008. In fact, the only major economic sector adding jobs in 2008 was health care, which added 372,000 positions in the past 12 months.

Job losses, declines in household wealth and tighter credit are just a few of the factors adversely impacting consumer spending. Widely regarded as the main engine of the U.S. economy and accounting for fully two-thirds of GDP, consumer spending has been in a tailspin since the recession deepened in the summer of 2008. It is estimated that households have lost more than $8 trillion in net worth since the summer of 2007 due to falling home equity and stock prices. These stunning losses account for the large-scale retreat in consumer spending as shown in Chart 6, which shows the annual average growth in real personal consumption expenditures for the period 2001 though 2007, with forecasts for 2008 to 2013. With consumers no longer able to tap into growing equity in their homes and individual investors faced with a nearly 40 percent drop in the S&P 500 since September, consumer spending plunged during the third quarter of 2008, down 3.7 percent annually. This decline was the largest since 1980, when credit controls were imposed by the Carter Administration. Consumer spending is expected to be down for the fourth quarter of 2008 as well: that figure will be released in early 2009. December retail sales have already been released; they were down 7.5 percent from the prior year, a foreboding sign. Further, the December decline in retail sales marked the sixth consecutive month of slumping retail sales. Consumer spending has never declined for three consecutive quarters since records were first kept in 1947. Yet, economists now expect the decline in consumer spending to continue during the first quarter of 2009. If this projection holds true, the peak-to-trough decline in consumer spending could be the largest of any postwar recession. The unusually heavy drag on the economy from consumer restraint is the largest factor contributing to the severity of the current recession. (Recall that the 2001 recession was tempered by the consumer's willingness to keep spending.)

REAL PERSONAL CONSUMPTION EXPENDITURES
Annual Growth

In response to this pullback in consumer spending, businesses began to cut back sharply on production. From August through October 2008, factory orders plunged 12 percent, a record three-month drop, and companies continue to slash capital spending, inventories and hiring. All of this retrenching, of course, compounds the adverse effects of the recession. Through November, orders for capital goods, excluding defense and aircraft, had dropped at a 28 percent annual rate from the third quarter. Automobile output is expected to have plunged 60 percent during the fourth quarter of 2008. Exports are also slumping; they are on a path to post their largest quarterly decline in 35 years. The World Bank expects global trade to decline by 2.1 percent in 2009, following a 27-year boom cycle. In fact, the current recession marks the first time in the postwar era that a simultaneous global recession has occurred in the U.S., Europe and Japan. The nearly 40 percent drop in the S&P 500 index is the largest since 1937; according to Bloomberg News, financial firms have disclosed more than $1 trillion of write-downs and credit-market losses since 2007 linked to subprime mortgages.

Early data from 2009 shows that the U.S. housing market continues to implode. U.S. Commerce Department data indicates that housing starts fell 16 percent last month to an annual rate of 550,000. This level is the lowest since statistics were first kept in 1945. With excess supply and very weak demand, it is likely that housing starts will remain depressed for several years. During all of 2008, housing starts were down 33 percent from 2007 to 904,300, also the fewest since 1945. Housing starts declined in three of the four regions of the U.S., led by the Midwest, where housing starts were down 25 percent. Interestingly, housing starts actually rose 13 percent in the Northeast. Not only are fewer new homes being built, but more people in existing homes are losing their homes. Filings for foreclosures in December 2008 were 41 percent higher than in December 2007. The National Association of Realtors reports that at least 40 percent of the sales of existing homes are attributable to the sales of foreclosed properties.

Monetary policy efforts by the Federal Reserve to date have been aimed at the financial markets generally and the mortgage industry in particular. Reductions to the federal funds rate, as shown in Chart 5, have been extraordinary in scale and frequency. The Fed's December 16, 2008 announcement that it was lowering its target federal funds rate to a range of 0.0 to 0.25 percent is the lowest in the history of the Federal Reserve, which was founded in 1913. Additionally, the Fed has committed to buy large volumes of "tainted mortgages" in an effort to stabilize the mortgage industry.

Previously, the Federal Reserve had concentrated on interest rate reductions as its main monetary policy tool. Now the Fed has adopted a policy it calls "quantitative easing," which pumps massive volumes of money into the financial system, affecting the rates of interest on virtually all credit instruments. The implied goal of the Fed is to provide cheaper credit to all parts of the economy, starting with housing. While the federal funds rate cannot go below zero, the Fed has virtually unlimited power to stimulate the economy with monetary policy by buying up mortgage-backed securities, Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac corporate debt and other assets. On November 25, 2008, the Federal Reserve announced that it would begin buying up to $600 billion in mortgage debt and mortgage-backed securities from Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac and the Federal Home Loan Bank. This approach has already led to a reduction in mortgage rates for consumers. Additionally, the Fed has announced that it will start to pump nearly $200 billion into the student loan, auto loan, credit card and small-business loan industries in 2009 to further stimulate growth. Such actions have dramatically driven up the Fed's balance sheet, which currently stands at $2.2 trillion, up from $900 billion in September 2008. Expectations are that the Fed's balance sheet could reach $5 trillion by the end of 2009.

By using any and all means at its disposal, the Federal Reserve is trying to avoid a bout of deflation from occurring in the U.S. Such a situation occurred in the U.S. in the 1930s and in Japan in the 1990s. Deflation is characterized by slumping demand, rising unemployment and frozen credit which continue to impact each other in a vicious cycle. It is essentially inflation in reverse, with wages and prices moving downward in a coordinated pattern. Sustained declines in demand and falling prices force businesses to cut prices ever deeper.

When deflation occurs in an economy, the inflation rate drops below zero into negative percentages. Inflation data from 2008 strongly suggests that the U.S. economy is hovering on the brink of deflation. Since July 2008, the inflation has fallen from 5.6 percent to 1.1 percent. The December 2008 inflation rate declined from the previous December for the first time since 1955. The October and November CPI figures showed the largest single monthly drops in annual CPI growth rates during the postwar period. Inflation levels are expected to drop below zero in 2009 on the heels of steep declines in energy and commodity prices and the rapid decline in consumer demand during the second half of 2008.

The Forecast

Since peaking in 2004, growth in the national economy has been slowing annually. Starting in December 2007, the U.S. economy entered a recession. Discounting the effect of one-time stimulus/tax rebate checks issued in early 2008, quarterly growth in real GDP has been non-existent for the past year, as shown in Chart 5.

Real GDP is expected to have grown at a very subdued rate of 1.2 percent in 2008 – the lowest level of growth since 2001. The economy contracted 0.5 percent in the third quarter of 2008 and expectations are that the fourth quarter contraction in real GDP could reach 5 percent to 6 percent. Similar economic contraction is forecast for the first and second quarters of 2009, according to a combination of data from both IHS Global Insight and Moody's Economy.com economic forecasts.

Annual growth in real GDP is projected to be -1.8 percent in 2009, with significant contraction during the first two quarters, followed by minimal positive growth in the last two quarters of 2009. A combination of data from both forecasting sources is highlighted in Table 1. This table presents actual data for 2007 and forecasts for the 2008-2010 period for several national economic indicators. As noted, both real and nominal GDP growth have slowed significantly during 2008, but remained positive. The current forecast anticipates that the recession will deepen and that the economy will experience four straight quarters of negative growth from the fall of 2008 until summer 2009. Additionally, all of the major economies of the world are simultaneously in a recession for the first time in the postwar period. For that reason, there are no external forces to support growth. Economic forecasts now project the first decline in real world GDP in the postwar era. Modest growth is forecast for 2010 and beyond, but the economy will strain to get through 2009. The current 13-month recession is expected to last up to 24 months, making it the longest recession since the Great Depression and the second longest since 1910.

Declines in housing construction and housing finance led the economy into recession. Until the housing markets stabilize, the depths of the current recession will remain unknown. New housing starts plummeted in the later part of 2008, down 33 percent from the prior year, finishing at just 904,000 units, a record low since 1945. The economic forecast is for continued weakness in new housing starts through the second quarter of 2009. Total housing starts are expected to bottom out at 604,000 units in 2009, a 33 percent decline from the 2008 levels, which were already the worst on record. The rapid decline in housing starts reflects the combination of excess supply in the market, weak demand and a continuation of the credit crunch. The Federal Reserve's actions to inject massive amounts of liquidity into the financial system has driven the average 30-year mortgage rate to below 5 percent, but most of the benefit has been attained by those refinancing existing debt rather than by those purchasing new homes. Overall housing prices are expect to continue to decline through the first quarter of 2010.

Declining wealth from home values and losses in the stock market have erased an estimated $8 trillion in household wealth since 2007. Those losses, combined with declining real wages and increasing unemployment, have caused U.S. consumers to drastically reduce their spending since the middle of 2008, as shown in Chart 6. Real consumer spending is expected to decline for four straight quarters, starting with the third quarter of 2008. Real personal consumption is expected to decline 0.5 percent in 2009. A projected 2.3 percent peak-to-trough drop in real personal consumption is expected. This would be the largest such decline since the 1980 recession. According to economists, any turnaround in consumer spending in the spring of 2009 depends on the enactment of additional fiscal stimuli such as new tax cuts or rebates. One bright spot is that declining energy prices are expected to assist consumers and stretch their purchasing power. In addition, personal income growth is expected to return in 2009, despite rising unemployment. Growth in real personal income is expected to reach 2.3 percent in 2009, up from just 0.6 percent growth in 2008 as shown in Chart 9 below.

The U.S. economy is expected to continue to shed jobs in 2009. More than 2.6 million jobs were lost in 2008 and more losses are expected in 2009. Job losses are expected to average around 500,000 monthly in early 2009 before slowing in the later part of 2009. Total peak-to-trough job losses from December 2007 until 2010 are projected to be 5 million jobs. The U.S. unemployment rate in December 2008 was 7.2 percent; economists estimate it will reach close to 9.0 percent by the end of 2009 before job growth returns in 2010.

Pennsylvania Outlook

The commonwealth's economic performance is largely dependent upon job growth. Pennsylvania's labor market, specifically the non-agricultural sectors, started to grow significantly in January 2004. Despite this increased job creation, the state unemployment rate began to rise in 2004. Unemployment in Pennsylvania reached 5.7 percent in December 2004. This rising unemployment rate despite increased job creation was due to growth in the state's labor force during 2004, as more job seekers re-entered the expanding job market. At that time, growth in the state labor force was greater than the national average.

Continued job creation, combined with somewhat slower growth in the overall labor force during 2005 and 2006, produced a decline in Pennsylvania's unemployment rate, to a low of 3.8 percent in March 2007. As the U.S. and state economies slowed in late 2007, employment in the commonwealth peaked in January 2008 at 5.811 million non-agricultural jobs.

Since December 2007 and the start of the national recession, Pennsylvania has lost 76,200 jobs. The loss of jobs in Pennsylvania started slowly in early 2008 and was measured in a few thousand per month as shown in Chart 7. Beginning in the fall of 2008, job losses began to accelerate, with 26,000 jobs lost in November and 28,000 jobs lost in December. This reduction in jobs is the largest 12-month drop since the 1991 recession. However, Pennsylvania's 12-month job loss rate of -1.3 percent is still better than the national average of -1.9 percent. In December 2008, the commonwealth's unemployment rate was 6.7 percent, its highest level since March 1994. The national unemployment for December 2008 was 7.2 percent. Pennsylvania's unemployment rate has now been equal to or below the national average for 70 of the past 72 months.

EMPLOYMENT GROWTH

Year-Over-Year

Despite the loss of more than 76,000 jobs, the commonwealth has still created 106,400 jobs since January 2003.

Pennsylvania's 2008 projected job losses were lower than the projected national average, and remained less steep than those of the surrounding states of New Jersey, Delaware and Ohio. As job losses were more subdued in Pennsylvania in 2008, the commonwealth moved up to 30th in the ranking of average annual state growth in employment (with the first being the best). Pennsylvania has traditionally been around 40th or below in this ranking, even during periods of strong job creation. The comparatively low ranking is somewhat deceptive though: While the state does not generally produce as many new jobs when the economy is going strong, the commonwealth also does not suffer as much as the rest of the country as a whole during periods of economic contraction as shown in Charts 8 and 9.

This pattern has been evident since the 1990s, following the significant diversification of the Pennsylvania economy in the previous 30 years. A reduced reliance upon manufacturing and mining employment has been part of this trend, along with the expansion of education and health care-related jobs in the commonwealth. Both of these sectors are less prone to recessions. Employment in the commonwealth saw job losses across all sectors in 2008 except for the educational and health services sectors which had job growth of 2.0 percent in 2008 and the government sector, which had job growth of 0.4 percent in 2008. Manufacturing and the construction sectors had the worst year-over-year rate of job losses in Pennsylvania in 2008, with manufacturing jobs down 3.9 and construction jobs down 3.6 percent. The information, trade and transportation, financial services, leisure and hospitality, and professional and business services sectors also saw job losses in 2008.

As job losses are expected to continue nationally through 2009, the slower rate of job losses in Pennsylvania is expected to push the commonwealth up to 14th among the 50 states in terms of annual job growth in 2009, according to estimates by IHS Global Insight. Annual employment growth in Pennsylvania is forecast at around -0.5 percent in 2009, while positive job growth is expected to return in 2010 at a rate of 0.6 percent annually. Slightly more robust job growth is forecast for the commonwealth after that, with growth of 1.1 percent in 2011 and 1.3 in 2012. As the national economy begins to recover in 2010, the rate of job growth in Pennsylvania is expected to again lag behind the national average from 2010 through 2012.

Housing construction continued to slow in Pennsylvania in 2008, down from a high of 45,000 new units in 2005 to just under 25,000 units in 2008. Economic forecasts project that housing starts will fall another 12 percent in 2009. Sales of new and existing homes also declined by 24 percent during 2008. Further, while home prices have been falling dramatically throughout the nation, home price appreciation in Pennsylvania has simply stalled since 2007.

PA AND US REAL PERSONAL INCOME

While the commonwealth has been less susceptible to the bursting of the housing bubble than the rest of the nation, the ensuing credit crunch is taking a toll on Pennsylvanians. Job losses and declining wealth have pushed many Pennsylvanians into foreclosure. The number of Pennsylvania homes repossessed nearly doubled in 2008. Additionally, more than 37,000 properties received foreclosure notices in 2008, a jump of 127 percent over 2007 levels. While these figures are disconcerting, Pennsylvania remains in better shape than many other states. At 0.68 percent of all homes owned, the commonwealth's 2008 foreclosure rate ranked just 33rd among the 50 states and the District of Columbia, according to figures compiled by the Associated Press.

The inverse relationship of the U.S. and the commonwealth growth in personal income has re-emerged during the current recession. Chart 9 plots actual and projected annual real personal income growth for Pennsylvania and the United States for the years 2000 through 2012. As shown, growth in Pennsylvania real personal income exceeded the national average during the 2001 recession and the subsequent "jobless-recovery" period through mid-2003. As the national economy gained traction in late 2003, personal income in the U.S. began to exceed the Pennsylvania average – although Pennsylvania's personal income growth remained strong and positive. As the recession of 2008 took hold and deepened, the rate of growth in real personal income plunged for the nation as a whole, as it did for the commonwealth. However, the decline in the rate of growth was less severe for Pennsylvania for the rest of the nation. Economists expect that the rate of growth in real personal income for Pennsylvanians will exceed the national average through 2010. This strong performance is partially the result of the diversification of the Pennsylvania economy and a stronger state labor market. Growth in less recession-prone industries such as health care, pharmaceuticals, education and government have aided the commonwealth.

The short-term outlook for Pennsylvania is that its economy remains heavily dependent on the national economy. Economic growth in Pennsylvania has a high correlation with growth in the U.S. economy, as illustrated in Chart 10. As with trends in real personal income during expansionary periods, Pennsylvania's gross state product lags behind the rate of growth in U.S. gross domestic product. The greatest recent gap between the two rates of growth was in 2006. Since then, the commonwealth's rate of growth in gross state product has steadily gained on the rate of growth in U.S. gross domestic product. The commonwealth is expected to suffer less of an economic contraction than the U.S. in 2009, essentially out-performing the national economy. Beginning in 2010 through 2012, the gap between the two rates of growth is expected to widen as the national economy expands.

SUMMARY OF MAJOR OPERATING FUNDS

The total 2009-10 operating budget for the commonwealth is $61.7 billion. It includes nearly $26.6 billion in the General Fund, more than $2.7 billion in the Motor License Fund, $21.1 billion in Federal funds and $11.3 billion in fees and other special fund revenues. The amounts for the General Fund and Federal funds reflect the use of $2.4 billion in anticipated Federal Fiscal Relief funds that this budget proposes to use in lieu of General Fund monies.

The majority of the commonwealth's operating expenses are paid from the General Fund, Motor License Fund and Lottery Fund. The following provides an overview of major revenues and expenditures. More details regarding these funds may be found in Section C – Summary by Fund and Section E – Department Presentations.

General Fund

Revenue

The General Fund is the commonwealth's largest operating fund. It receives all tax revenue, non-tax revenue and federal grants and entitlements not specified by law to be deposited elsewhere. The General Assembly makes appropriations of specific amounts from tax revenue and certain non-tax revenue of the General Fund. These amounts are contained in this budget as General Fund Revenue Sources.

Tax revenue in the General Fund constitutes more than 97 percent of annual General Fund revenue. Four taxes account for the majority of General Fund tax revenue. The personal income tax, the sales and use tax, the corporate net income tax and the capital stock and franchise tax together provide approximately 81 percent of annual General Fund revenue. For non-tax revenue, the largest sources of revenue are profit transfers from the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, earnings of investments and the escheats or "unclaimed property" program.

Recent Revenue Trends: For the five fiscal years ending with 2007-08, total General Fund revenue grew by 22.3 percent, an annual rate of 5.2 percent. The rate of growth for revenue during the period has been affected by the enactment of several tax rate and tax base changes that have enhanced receipts. Without adjusting for tax rate and base changes, the major tax revenue sources experiencing the largest growth during this period were the personal income tax, corporate taxes and alcoholic beverage taxes. All had five-year total increases of more than 28 percent. Revenue from some tax sources declined over the period. Receipts from the cigarette tax fell by an average annual amount of 2.2 percent. Non-tax revenue sources during this period decreased by 18.8 percent overall or an average of 5.1 percent annually. Decreased liquor store profits transfers and reduced interest earnings accounted for most of the decrease during the period.

Receipts from the personal income tax in recent fiscal years have been steadily improving since the recession of 2001. Without adjusting for changes in the tax rate, personal income tax collections over the past five completed fiscal years have averaged 9.0 percent annual growth. An upward revision in the personal income tax rate enacted in December 2003 impacted the average annual growth rate calculated above. Prior to the increase in the tax rate, receipts from the personal income tax had experienced successive years of decline in 2002 and 2003 as Pennsylvania struggled to recover from the 2001 recession. However, the national economy has again entered a recession, and the annual growth in personal income tax receipts has slowed from the recent trends. Through December 2008, personal income tax receipts are 2.5 percent above 2007-08 collections through the same period. Personal income tax receipts for all of 2008-09 are projected to decrease by 1.4 percent below 2007-08 actual receipts. For fiscal year 2009-10, personal income tax receipts are anticipated to decline 0.1 percent below the Revised 2008-09 Estimate. Estimates for the personal income tax are developed from a regression equation that uses forecasts of wages, salaries, interest, dividends and rents.

The sales and use tax is levied on taxable property and services used by consumers and by businesses. Recently, annual growth rates for this tax have been modest when compared to pre-2001 recession levels. Sales and use tax receipts over the past five completed fiscal years have averaged 2.4 percent annual growth. The national economic recession has adversely impacted sales and use tax receipts which declined on a year-over-year basis in 2007-08 for the first time since 1990-91. Sales and use tax receipts through December 2008 are 1.7 percent below 2007-08 levels. Sales and use tax receipts for all of 2008-09 are projected to decrease by 2.6 percent below 2007-08 actual receipts. For 2009-10, the continuation of significantly reduced consumer spending is expected to produce a growth rate of 0.5 percent above the Revised 2008-09 Estimate. Estimates for the sales and use tax are developed from a regression equation that uses forecasts of national consumer expenditures on durable goods, business investment, and national consumption on new and used motor vehicles.

The largest General Fund tax on business is the corporate net income tax. Annual receipts from the corporate net income tax can vary significantly from year to year and may experience a year-over-year decline. This variability is due to fluctuations in corporate profitability, including losses, the availability and use of tax credits and net operating loss deductions, and the timing of estimated and final state tax payments based on when a corporation's tax year begins. Corporate tax receipts, including both the corporate net income tax and the capital stock and franchise tax, had experienced three consecutive years of negative year-over-year growth due in large part to the slow and fitful recovery from the 2001 recession. In addition, previously enacted tax rate reductions to the capital stock and franchise tax continue to be implemented which annually reduce the tax rate imposed until it will be entirely eliminated in 2011. Despite the effects of the 2001 recession and reductions in the tax rate, corporate tax receipts over the past five completed fiscal years have increased by total of 29.1 percent, as corporate profits rebounded starting in 2003-04. As result of the significant growth experienced in 2004-06 the average annual growth in corporate tax receipts was 6.6 percent for the five year period ending June 30, 2008. However, double digit annual growth in corporate receipts during the fiscal years 2004 through 2006 have given way to a very minor increase in fiscal year 2006-07 (3.3 percent) and a year-over-year decline (-1.6 percent) in corporate revenues during the past fiscal year. Current fiscal year-to-date corporate tax receipts are 12.0 percent below 2007-08 levels through December 2008 as the national economic recession has worsened. Corporate tax receipts for all of 2008-09 are projected to decrease by 9.2 percent below 2007-08 actual receipts. A continuation of the national economic recession is expected to adversely impact corporate receipts in 2009-10. Additionally, the effects of the continued rate reduction for the capital stock and franchise tax will likely result in a decline of 3.8 percent from this source of corporate taxes in 2008-09. These growth rates reflect improving economic conditions in Pennsylvania. Estimates for the corporate net income tax are developed from a regression equation that uses forecasts of national before-tax corporate profits.

Expenditures

The General Fund is the primary funding source for most state agencies and institutions. More than three quarters of every dollar is returned to individuals, local governments, institutions, school districts, among others, in the form of grants and subsidies. The remainder pays operating expenses and debt service.

The total General Fund budget proposed for 2009-10 is $26.6 billion. General Fund expenditure growth is projected to decrease 0.2 percent after accounting for the use of nearly $1.1 billion of anticipated Federal Fiscal Relief funds in 2008-09 and $2.4 billion in 2009-10, as well as lapses anticipated in 2008-09 through the implementation of a budgetary freeze. Major program expenditures occur in the areas of education, public health and welfare and state correctional institutions.

PreK-12 (Basic) Education: The financial responsibility for public education in Pennsylvania is shared by the commonwealth and 501 local school districts. Funds provided by the commonwealth supplement funds raised locally. State aid to local school districts is provided through various school subsidy payments for basic instruction, career and technical education, debt service, pupil transportation, employee retirement programs including social security and various special education programs.

The largest such subsidy is the Basic Education subsidy, which provides commonwealth aid to local school districts. This budget proposes nearly $5.53 billion for the Basic Education subsidy in 2009-10, an increase of more than 5.7 percent. This budget also proposes a $3.9 million increase, to $189 million, for the expansion of Early Intervention services. In total, funding for basic education increased by more than $262 million, to $9.9 billion.

Higher Education: Higher education in Pennsylvania is provided through 277 degree-granting institutions, which include the 14 universities of the State System of Higher Education, four state-related universities, community colleges and various other independent institutions. The budget proposes over $2.0 billion for higher education institutions and students. This includes more than $473 million for student financial assistance.

Public Health and Welfare: The commonwealth provides support for its residents who are seeking to achieve and sustain independence. It also provides care, treatment and rehabilitation to persons with mental and physical disabilities and supports programs to prevent or reduce social, mental and physical disease and disabilities. For 2009-10, the total public health and human services expenditures from all sources is $26.9 billion; the amount from the General Fund will be $9.4 billion, which is a decrease of $185 million or nearly 2 percent. The State fund amount reflects the impact of an $800 million increase in projected Federal Fiscal Relief funds in 2009-10 due to an increase in the Federal Medical Assistance Percentage.

The largest component of the public health and welfare expenditures is the Medical Assistance program. In the last ten years, the program grew at an annual rate of 11 percent. Caseload growth is beginning to increase over the modest trend experienced in the last two years due to current economic conditions. Technological advances in medicine and general medical inflation, including increases in pharmaceutical prices, result in an increase in overall Medical Assistance expenditures in 2009-10. In an effort to continue to contain costs and operate efficiently, while maintaining the necessary services, this budget continues 2008-09 cost containment initiatives and proposes additional revenue and cost containment strategies. The combined effect of these efforts results in a modest increase in total funding from $15.8 billion in 2008-09 to $16.2 billion in the proposed 2009-10 budget. State funds are anticipated to decrease from $4.6 billion in 2008-09 to $4.3 billion in 2009-10, which is a decrease of $268 million or nearly 6 percent. The State fund amounts reflect the impact of an enhanced Federal match of $1.1 billion in 2008-09 and $1.9 billion in 2009-10.

Income maintenance, including cash assistance payments and child care services for families in transition to independence and self-sufficiency, totaled $2.8 billion from all sources for 2008-09. The 2009-10 budget proposes total resources of $2.7 billion. The commonwealth's General Fund share is increased from $1.18 billion to $1.21 billion. The budget provides a total of $793 million for child care services. This more than doubles the amount of child care funding since 2000-01.

The 2009-10 budget continues the policy of supporting independence for people with mental retardation and mental health disabilities. In June 2002, the state supported 5,098 institutional beds. By June 2009, that will be reduced to 3,095, a reduction of 39 percent. Over that period, the community budgets will have grown by $819 million in total funds, an increase of 47.7 percent.

State Correctional Institutions: The 2009-10 budget proposed for the state correctional system is $1.8 billion. From 2005-06 to 2009-10, total costs have grown from $1.4 billion to $1.8 billion. This is due to the continuing rise in the inmate population in the state correctional system, which has grown from 43,206 inmates in 2005-06 to an estimated 51,083 inmates in 2009-10.

Motor License Fund

The Motor License Fund is one of the special revenue funds of the commonwealth and a major operating fund of the commonwealth. It is the fund that receives most of the revenues required by the Constitution of Pennsylvania to be used only for costs of construction, reconstruction, maintenance and repair of and safety on highways and bridges in the commonwealth and for the payment of debt service on obligations incurred for such purposes. The major sources of revenue to the Motor License Fund are from motor fuels taxes, vehicle registration fees, license and operators' license fees and excise taxes imposed on products used in motor transportation. Certain of these revenues are further restricted to specific highway uses and are not included in the Motor License Fund estimate of revenue.

Taxes on various fuels provided approximately 45 percent of total Motor License Fund revenues in 2007-08. Revenue from liquid fuels taxes has increased only slightly over the past five fiscal years. For the five-year period ending with 2007-08, liquid fuels tax revenues increased at an annual average rate of 0.2 percent. Current fiscal year-to-date liquid fuels receipts are 8.9 percent below 2007-08 levels through December 2008. For 2008-09 an decrease of 3.0 percent is projected while the budget for 2009-10 projects an increase in liquid fuels tax receipts of 1.4 percent over the revised estimate for 2008-09.

License and fee revenues represent the other major source of revenues for the Motor License Fund. Annual growth of receipts from these sources has also increased slowly. For the five-year period ending with 2007-08, license and fee revenues increased at an annual average of 0.8 percent. For 2008-09, an increase of 3.0 percent is projected and for 2009-10 a decrease of 2.4 percent is estimated.

Beginning in 2007-08, the commonwealth and the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission reached an agreement for the Turnpike Commission to provide annual contributions for an expanded highway and bridge program and for local maintenance of roads and bridges. In 2007-08, the agreement called for the Turnpike Commission to provide $450 million, increasing to $500 million in 2008-09 and 2009-10.

The Budget for 2009-10 recommends $4.2 billion for construction, reconstruction and maintenance of highways and bridges in the commonwealth. Looking to the future, the department is researching highway systems technology in such areas as intelligent transportation systems, advanced maintenance technologies and high performance pavement markings. In addition, the department will provide quality services that are user-friendly and customer-focused and will remain responsive and accountable to the citizens of the commonwealth.

The Department of Transportation will continue to establish and maintain a first-rate infrastructure, which unites roads, rails, waterways, airports and information networks linking goods, services, people and ideas to our community, state and world markets.

Lottery Fund

The Lottery Fund is a special revenue fund that receives the proceeds of lottery sales. It provides funding for lottery prizes and for programs supporting older Pennsylvanians. These programs include assistance in the purchase of pharmaceuticals, property tax and rent assistance, community care programs and public transportation subsidies.

The largest program funded by the Lottery Fund is the Pharmaceutical Assistance Contract for the Elderly (PACE) program. This program provides pharmaceutical benefits to qualified older Pennsylvanians who face a growing burden from the cost of drugs required to maintain healthy and productive lives. Act 37 of 2003 expanded the income eligibility limits of the PACE program making more than 100,000 additional individuals eligible for enrollment. The expansion was funded through a combination of Lottery revenue enhancements and cost containment initiatives in the PACE program.

Act 111 of 2006 created PACE Plus Medicare, which enables cardholders to take advantage of the features of both PACE and the new Federal Medicare Part D benefit. PACE Plus Medicare fills the coverage gaps encountered by cardholders in Medicare Part D, including deductibles, the donut hole phase of no Medicare coverage and copayment differentials between the Medicare Part D plan coverage and the PACE and PACENET copayments. PACE Plus pays the Medicare premiums for Part D coverage for PACE cardholders, while PACENET cardholders pay the Part D premiums. This budget proposes to revise the PACE pharmacy reimbursement methodology to include actual acquisition cost as the primary component of the reimbursement formula and to increase the dispensing fee. For additional details, see the Department of Aging and Long Term Living presentation in Section C.

The second largest program funded by the Lottery Fund is the Property Tax and Rent Rebate (PTRR) program within the Department of Revenue. This program allows older Pennsylvanians, surviving spouses over age 50 and permanently disabled citizens to lead fuller lives by restoring a portion of their income through property tax and rent rebate assistance.

Act 1 of Special Session No. 1 of 2006 dramatically expanded the current Property Tax / Rent Rebate program to give more Pennsylvanians a rebate while also increasing the amounts of the rebates. The expansion includes increasing the household income limit from $15,000 to $35,000 and increasing the maximum rebate from $500 to $650.

The PENNCARE program provides home and community-based services to older Pennsylvanians to enrich their lives and enable them to delay or avoid moving to a nursing home. For 2009-10, $244.9 million is provided for the PENNCARE appropriation. For additional details, see the Department of Aging and Long Term Living presentation.

Act 44 of 2007 provides a transfer to the Public Transportation Trust Fund for distribution to transit systems providing free rides to older Pennsylvanians.

The Lottery Fund sales estimates in 2009-10 and future fiscal years assume higher levels of prizes and commissions that will grow net ticket revenue and result in more money for programs supporting older Pennsylvanians.

Tobacco Settlement Fund

On December 17, 1999, Pennsylvania finalized its contractual agreement with the five major tobacco companies under the Master Settlement Agreement (MSA). The MSA provides a perpetual reimbursement to states for the costs incurred as a result of tobacco use.

The Tobacco Settlement Act 77 of 2001 established the Tobacco Settlement Fund as the special revenue fund that receives the proceeds from the MSA for the commonwealth. It provides funding for programs such as health care insurance for the uninsured, home and community-based care, tobacco use prevention and cessation, broad-based health research, medical care for workers with disabilities, contributions to the PACENET program and uncompensated care.

The fund also maintains an endowment component to preserve a portion of the receipts to ensure funds for future generations, sustain critical programs if tobacco allocations decrease and provide ongoing revenue if tobacco allocations cease. The initial payment from the MSA of $142 million was deposited into the endowment account. In addition, strategic contribution payments, earnings from investments and 8 percent of the annual payment from the MSA have been deposited into the endowment account.

The 2005-06 budget initiated a resource redirection to take into consideration the escalating cost of long-term care services for Pennsylvania seniors and persons with disabilities. At the same time, a significant new revenue stream, the Community Health Reinvestment Agreement with the Blue Cross/Blue Shield plans, became available for this fund's program of health insurance for the uninsured. The 2008-09 budget included the redirection of the strategic contribution payment, which began in April 2008, from the endowment account to the Tobacco Settlement Fund to fund long-term care services. This budget proposes to redirect the 8 percent annual payment from the endowment account to the Tobacco Settlement Fund and to continue to redirect the strategic contribution payment to fund health-related expenditures. For additional details on the programs funded from the Tobacco Settlement Fund, see the Health Investment Plan portion of the Tobacco Settlement Fund presentation in Section C. Agencies participating in Tobacco Settlement Fund programs include Aging and Long Term Living, Community and Economic Development, Health, Insurance and Public Welfare.

Rainy Day Fund

Act 91 of 2002 created the Budget Stabilization Reserve Fund to replace the Tax Stabilization Reserve Fund as the commonwealth's Rainy Day Fund. The purpose of the Rainy Day Fund is to provide financial assistance to counterbalance downturns in the economy that result in revenue shortfalls in order to promote greater continuity and predictability in the funding of vital government services.

The Budget Stabilization Reserve Fund is to receive an annual transfer of 25 percent of the General Fund's fiscal year ending balance. The transfer requirement is reduced to 10 percent of the General Fund's ending balance if the balance of the Budget Stabilization Reserve Fund equals or exceeds 6 percent of actual General Fund revenues received for the fiscal year. Appropriations out of the Budget Stabilization Reserve Fund require approval by two-thirds of the members of each house of the General Assembly.

At the close of the 2001-02 fiscal year, the balance of the former Tax Stabilization Reserve Fund was nearly $1.04 billion. In order to balance the 2001-02 and 2002-03 General Fund budgets, Act 91 of 2002 repealed the Tax Stabilization Reserve Fund and by law the entire balance was transferred to the General Fund. The General Appropriation Act of 2002 transferred $300 million from the General Fund as an initial deposit into the new Budget Stabilization Reserve Fund. Subsequently, the General Appropriation Act of 2003 repealed this transfer and the $300 million reverted back to the General Fund. In accordance with Act 91 of 2002, 25 percent of the General Fund's 2002-03 fiscal year ending balance, or $69.8 million, was transferred to the Rainy Day Fund after the close of the fiscal year.

The transfer from the 2003-04 General Fund balance to the Budget Stabilization Reserve Fund of $190 million exceeded the 25 percent statutory minimum and increased the balance in the Fund to more than $260 million, bringing it slightly higher than the balance in 1996-97. In accordance with Act 41 of 2005, the transfer from the General Fund balance for the fiscal year 2004-05 was 15 percent of the balance; the amount transferred was $64.4 million. Transfers of 25 percent of the General Fund balance amounted to $171.4 million in 2005-06 and $177 million in 2006-07. Act 53 of 2008 suspended the transfer of surplus funds to the Budget Stabilization Reserve Fund for 2007-08.

The downfall in the national economy has negatively impacted the commonwealth's revenues. To counteract the revenue decline, a spending freeze of nearly a half billion dollars has been implemented during the 2008-09 fiscal year. Further, this budget proposes significant spending cuts for 2009-10 in order to balance expenditures with revenues. However, the utilization of a portion of the Rainy Day Fund is also required in order to maintain critical services in public safety, health and education. This budget proposes a transfer from the Budget Stabilization Reserve Fund to the General Fund of $250 million in 2008-09 and $375 million in 2009-10.

Rainy Day Fund

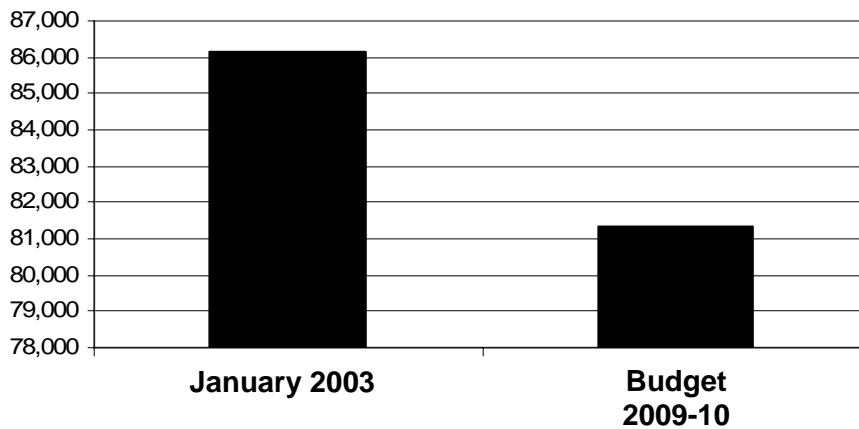

Complement

A major component of any budget is the size of its workforce or complement. In Pennsylvania, a complement level (the number of full-time equivalent (FTE) salaried positions) is authorized by appropriation for each agency under the Governor’s jurisdiction. A summary of authorized salaried complement by department is included in Section I of this budget document.

The Rendell Administration has reduced commonwealth complement through disciplined complement management. The commonwealth’s total authorized complement level was 86,125 positions when the Rendell Administration took office in January 2003. This level has been reduced thus far to 83,980 – a reduction of 2,145 positions. This budget proposes an additional reduction in the commonwealth’s current authorized FTE salaried complement level in 2009-10 of 2,995 positions. Additions to several agency complements, primarily in support of public safety initiatives, will ensure the successful implementation of the Governor’s plan for 2009-10, while retaining a net reduction of 4,767 positions since the administration took office.

Authorized Complement

In conjunction with this reduction in authorized position levels, filled positions have also been declining. The number of filled salaried positions in agencies under the Governor’s jurisdiction was 81,657 when the Rendell Administration took office in January 2003. As of mid-January 2009, the number of filled salary positions was 78,994. This represents a reduction of 2,663 filled positions, or a reduction of more than 3 percent.

2009-10 FISCAL AND PROGRAM POLICY DIRECTION AND BUDGET THEMES

The 2009-10 Fiscal and Program Policy Direction section immediately following this page presents the fiscal and program policies that guided the development of the Governor's Executive budget. The revenue and expenditure recommendations included in this Budget seek to provide a solid fiscal foundation for the Governor to successfully address his vision, goals and program priorities for Pennsylvania.

This section summarizes the Governor's recommended budget initiatives within the following budget theme presentations: Federal Fiscal Relief; Making Government Work Smarter; Pennsylvania's Tax Structure Works for Businesses and Residents; Pennsylvania's Economic Stimulus; Education – Investing in Our Children, Preparing for the Future; Prescription for Pennsylvania; Preserving the Safety Net – Helping Pennsylvanians in Need; and Making Pennsylvania Safer. Theme topics vary from year to year based on the funding priorities established by the Governor and the recommended budget initiatives proposed in the budget. Themes may include program revision budget recommendations. If so, detailed program revision presentations, including discussion of the program revision and its associated program measures, funding recommendations and costs by appropriation can be found in Section E. Department Presentations within the agency responsible for leading the program revision implementation.

2009-10 Fiscal and Program Policy Direction

This section presents the fiscal and program policies that guided the development of the 2009-10 Governor's Executive Budget. The commonwealth is facing significant financial challenges in the current fiscal year, and these challenges are expected to continue in 2009-10. Two key budget development policy documents were issued by the Governor's Budget Office in August and September 2008 to assist agencies develop their 2009-10 budget requests – the annual budget instructions and a special budget policy guidance memorandum.

The 2009-10 Budget Instructions directed agencies to prepare budget requests consistent with the Governor's policy guidance and seek responses to the specific issues that the Governor wished to address in the 2009-10 Governor's Executive Budget. Agencies were to develop plans and policies designed to make government more efficient and effective. In addition, agency requests were to reflect each agency's ongoing critical evaluation of its current programs and activities and include proposed reductions, revisions, reorganizations and expansions in programs consistent with that critical evaluation. Agencies were to prepare 2009-10 budget requests building upon the administrative spending constraints and operational efficiencies initiated during the past six budget planning cycles and make every possible effort to eliminate nonessential spending and deliver essential services at reduced cost.

The budget instructions directed agencies to submit budget proposals to manage operations as efficiently as possible and reallocate positions within existing filled complement levels to support critical activities, rather than request resources to permit complement expansion. Vacant authorized positions should be examined for elimination. The budget instructions also directed agencies to strengthen the multi-year planning component of budget requests to realistically reflect future year consequences of actions proposed in their 2009-10 budget submissions. Expected trends in eligible populations served, mandated service levels and the potential for improved program and/or administrative efficiencies were among the factors agencies were to consider when preparing multi-year projections.

Special budget policy guidance was provided to agencies in September 2008 as part of the budget planning process. The September guidance noted that as the national economy has weakened, so has the revenue and spending outlook in many states. The decline of the housing sector along with a weak manufacturing sector and record oil prices combined to cause significant declines in state revenue. Due to the challenges and uncertainty ahead in 2009-10 and beyond, it would be critical that the commonwealth continue to plan in a cautious and fiscally sound manner. At best, revenue growth was expected to continue its slow course. The guidance also noted that although Pennsylvania did end 2007-08 with a small revenue surplus, revenues were in fact under estimate for three of the last four months of the fiscal year. And, as the guidance was being issued, revenues were 3.3 percent below estimate for the 2008-09 fiscal year.

The September guidance noted that the escalating costs of energy, growing state pension liabilities, increasing state correctional institution offender populations and an aging Pennsylvania population requiring more costly services would continue to place significant pressure on the commonwealth's budget. In addition, Pennsylvania's rising unemployment rate, trending upward along with national rates, would place additional pressure on state government programs and services.

Agencies were to request additional funding in their operating and administrative appropriations only at levels necessary to fund the cost of 2009-10 contractual wage and benefit increases. In addition, agencies requesting increases in non-operating and fixed asset expenditures were expected to identify offsetting efficiencies and economies or other personnel cost reductions sufficient to offset any requested increase in operating or fixed asset spending. Employee furloughs were to be avoided in 2009-10 – agencies were expected to develop a proactive complement management plan to ensure that no furloughs would be required and, if necessary, be ready to immediately implement that complement management plan in order to meet the 2009-10 budget guidance.

The September guidance stated that no significant new General Fund funding requests would be considered unless the proposed new or expanded program was required as part of a legislative or judicial mandate; or was requested in order to maintain current staff to caseload/population ratios; or was accompanied by an “efficiency” proposal resulting in an offsetting reduction in agency expenditures. In addition, agencies were not to propose new information technology projects unless the projects were approved through the “Community of Practice” process managed by the Office for Information Technology. The guidance also directed agencies to identify agency-specific projects and initiatives that have resulted in operating savings or projects in planning stages that could result in future operating savings. Agencies were to work with the Governor’s Office of Management and Productivity to ensure successful implementation of management and productivity initiatives.

The 2009-10 budget planning process continued the Rendell administration’s efforts to emphasize performance measurement goal-setting as the core component of budget planning. Agencies were directed to refine and improve program performance measures so that the agency, the Governor’s Budget Office and the Governor’s Policy Office could better assess agency program effectiveness, agency efficiency and agency base activity levels. The primary goal of the budget review process was to evaluate the impact of each agency’s proposed expenditure levels on the achievement of its mission and programmatic goals, utilizing the most efficient methods possible.

The September guidance provided direction on the continued development and submission of program performance measures in agency budget requests. Agencies were to reexamine all current program performance measures and modify measures as appropriate. Agencies were directed to provide performance measures that would measure levels of organizational activity, qualitative and quantitative outcomes resulting from program activities and the efficiency with which resources are used to produce program outcomes. Agency were told that results-based plans and program performance data would be considered as decisions were made about statewide spending priorities and resource allocation between various agency budgets. The budget instructions noted that in 2009-10 a more comprehensive and streamlined approach to performance improvement would commence that would move state government from collecting individual performance measures to developing agency performance plans that better reflect each agency’s goals, objectives and accomplishments.

The reader is referred to the Overview of Program and Financial Goals and Policies in this section for a summary of Governor Rendell’s vision and goals for Pennsylvania. Specific budget recommendations for each program appropriation can be found in the agency Program Presentations in Section E. Department Presentations. The reader is also referred to the 2009-10 Budget in Brief, a separate booklet, for summary information on the 2009-10 Governor’s Executive Budget, including recommended program changes and funding levels in pursuit of the administration’s mission and goals for the commonwealth.

Federal Fiscal Relief

The nation is currently facing the most severe economic crisis in decades. The financial system is in turmoil, credit for private investment and consumer purchases has been frozen, and an extended period of employment growth has come to an abrupt end, replaced by dramatic job losses across all sectors of the economy.

At the time of this budget's publication, Congress was considering passage of the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009. This comprehensive stimulus proposal is part of a concerted, coast-to-coast effort by the federal government and the states to retain and restore jobs, protect essential public services, jump-start the economy and make priority investments in clean energy, infrastructure and education that will transform the nation.

Passage of the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act will mean a significant injection of federal funds for key state and local services in Pennsylvania. The proposal includes funding for the commonwealth and for local governments to prevent cuts in vital services and to make targeted investments in critical programs, including health care for low-income Pennsylvanians; elementary, secondary and higher education; and public safety.

The 2009-10 budget anticipates at least two major new funding streams from this fiscal stimulus: budget stabilization funds for the states to prevent cuts in education, public safety and other critical government programs; and increases in the federal government's matching funds for the Medical Assistance program. The budget also incorporates two additional anticipated federal funding increases for special education and child care services.

State Fiscal Stabilization: Education and Public Safety

As a key component of the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act, $79 billion will be made available for states and school districts to stabilize budgets and maintain critical programs. Pennsylvania currently anticipates a total allocation of $1.26 billion in federal funds in 2009-10 and an additional $1.26 billion in 2010-11.

Approximately 61 percent of Pennsylvania's total allocation from this fund, or $771 million per year, must be used to support elementary, secondary and higher education.

The remaining 39 percent – $986 million, or $493 million per year – will be used to offset critical funding increases in the Department of Corrections. These federal funds will help to prevent significant cuts in state funding for our educational institutions, local government programs and other important services. The commonwealth's allocation of $986 million over two years from this second funding stream is included in the 2009-10 budget.

Medicaid Funding

The federal government and the states share the cost of Medicaid – the joint state-federal health insurance program for low-income people and others in need, including children, seniors and persons with disabilities. In previous times of economic hardship, the federal government increased its share of the costs, recognizing that vulnerable Americans needed more assistance and that cutting these vital safety net programs would work against recovery efforts. To offset cuts to health benefits or eligibility in this economic downturn, the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act includes a separate allocation of $87 billion for state Medicaid programs.

The federal government currently pays approximately 54 percent of Pennsylvania's Medical Assistance costs; this share is expected to increase to between 62 percent and 66 percent, depending on state unemployment rates over the next two years. Federal Medical Assistance Percentage increases are also expected to provide additional support for Title IV-E foster care and adoption assistance programs. These enhancements are projected to increase federal reimbursements by approximately $4 billion over the 27-month adjustment period between October 2008 and December 2010. On an annualized basis, the budget anticipates $1.08 billion in additional federal support in 2008-09, $1.92 billion in 2009-10 and $1.0 billion in 2010-11 to be used to offset the cost of Medical Assistance programs.

Overview: Federal Fiscal Relief

Special Education

The federal stimulus measure is expected to provide significant additional grant funds for states under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act to prevent cuts to other critical education programs and services. The 2009-10 budget includes approximately $20.5 million in federal funds from this special education stimulus measure.

Child Care

Additional federal funds are expected to be made available to the states under the Child Care Development Block Grant to provide child care services for children in low-income families while their parents go to work. The 2009-10 budget provides $5.7 million in federal funds for child care services.

Making Government Work Smarter

The Rendell administration's response to the fallout from the global financial crisis has been swift and decisive. As soon as the state's revenues exhibited signs of weakness, the Governor took action to:

- Cut spending by $500 million;
- Order a hiring freeze, leaving more than 4,500 positions unfilled;
- Freeze wages for 13,600 managers and other non-union employees, saving $13.4 million;
- Prohibit the purchase of new vehicles, saving an estimated $40 million;
- Restrict out-of-state travel; and
- Reduce the state vehicle fleet by 1,000 vehicles.

As revenues continue to decline, agencies are being forced to make increasingly difficult choices regarding their needs and priorities. To help these agencies develop creative and innovative solutions to the complex problems they face, Governor Rendell established the Office of Strategic Services to coordinate enterprise-wide initiatives to reduce costs, identify new sources of revenues and enhance service levels. Formed from the merger of the Office of Management and Productivity and the Bureau of Management Consulting, this office has been tasked with taking a holistic view of the challenges faced by Pennsylvania state government and resolving issues.

Recurring Savings from Management and Productivity Initiatives

The role and responsibilities of the Office of Strategic Services vary widely from one project to the next. Office staff have drafted solicitations, evaluated bids, negotiated contracts and analyzed a wide range of financial and operational data in order to help agencies drive down costs. They have also been called upon to draft new policies when necessary. Office of Strategic Services personnel have also had a crucial role in redesigning and streamlining processes to improve efficiency and enhance customer service. Through the efforts of the Office of Strategic Services and thousands of other dedicated state employees, the Governor was able to honor the commitment he made in 2003 – to dramatically reduce the cost of government by achieving $1 billion in annual recurring savings during his first term.

Having achieved this goal, the Governor challenged his cabinet in early 2007 to identify an additional $500 million worth of efficiencies during his final four years in office. The Rendell administration responded by finding the necessary savings in 2007 and 2008 and is now on track to significantly exceed the revised target by the end of the Governor's second term. These efforts are helping to ensure that the state's revenues can be targeted to where they are most needed – to programs that provide educational opportunities or that benefit the commonwealth's residents most in need of assistance.

Negotiating Stronger Contracts

In the past, state agencies made uncoordinated purchasing decisions wasting millions of taxpayer dollars. Governor Rendell's Strategic Sourcing Initiative has coordinated commonwealth purchasing, enabling agencies to jointly leverage their purchasing power in order to negotiate better prices and contract terms. This program is not only generating savings, but has also resulted in a significant increase in opportunities for Pennsylvania's minority and women-owned businesses. Furthermore, many of the contracts that have arisen from this initiative are performance-based, which means that in addition to saving money, they force vendors to meet quality or timeliness standards. The Rendell administration's procurement reforms are saving money by:

- Helping agencies buy together through the Strategic Sourcing Initiative ($271.8 million).
- Striking a three-year licensing deal that integrates and streamlines the sign-on process for the employees, residents and business partners who use the state's Web site and computer systems ($15.3 million).
- Replacing expensive contractors with state employees who possess the same essential skills ($1.7 million).

Improving Processes and Streamlining Operations

As revenues decline, it becomes increasingly important to ensure that every available cent be devoted to critical programs focused on residents, as opposed to the administrative aspects of government. By implementing common-sense initiatives and putting funds in budgetary reserve, commonwealth agencies are spending 1.5 percent less than they did in 2002-03. Had administrative expenses increased at the rate of inflation, taxpayers would have paid $293 million more in 2008-09 for operating state government.

Successful efforts to improve processes include:

- Overhauling our Retired Employees Health Program ($94 million);
- Issuing Supplemental Security Income checks by state employees ($30.5 million); and
- Avoiding change orders on major construction projects ($13.3 million).

Inflation-Adjusted Administrative Spending versus Actual Spending

Collecting Additional Revenue

One of Governor Rendell's priorities for his management and productivity improvement initiative has been to identify innovative ways to generate new revenue without raising taxes. Typically, this has been accomplished either by modernizing collection methods or by stepping up compliance and enforcement programs. For instance, the Rendell administration has increased collections by:

- Launching an Enhanced Veterans Reimbursement Initiative to maximize federal support for Pennsylvania's six state-owned homes for veterans. It is anticipated that this program will generate an estimated $25 million in federal funds each year.
- Recovering funds in cases where another responsible party has been identified after the state's Medical Assistance program has paid a claim. These Third Party Liability collections have increased by more than $20 million per year.
- Collecting a fee from offenders seeking to transfer their probation or parole supervision out-of-state. The proceeds of this fee are helping to offset the cost of providing these services.

Implementing Technological Solutions

Although many of the projects launched through the Governor's management and productivity initiative were completed in pursuit of additional cost savings, others were chosen primarily for their ability to improve the customer service experience for those obtaining services from state government. Examples of recent technology projects include:

- Establishing an online portal through which insurance companies can obtain or renew licenses and also submit policy forms and rate filings for the Insurance Department's review and approval. These and other business and consumer-directed enhancements are saving more than $340,000 per year.
- Installing data encryption software on state laptops as part of a comprehensive strategy to protect sensitive information regarding our citizens, employees and contractors. If equipment is lost or stolen, this technology will prevent unauthorized users from accessing the data.
- Enhancing and promoting the use of the Department of Revenue's electronic filing option for Pennsylvanians to submit their personal income tax returns. Electronic filing by taxpayers has increased by 40 percent since 2004, saving $960,000 in processing costs.

Saving Green

Management initiatives have shown that fiscal and environmental responsibility can go hand-in-hand. Pennsylvania's Procurement Code authorizes state and local governments to enter into guaranteed energy savings agreements, under which contractors make improvements to government facilities (typically lighting and climate control systems), and are paid out of the resulting savings in energy costs over as many as 15 years. The taxpayers are protected, because these agreements are structured in such a way that if the projected savings fail to materialize, the loss will be borne by the contractor. The 45 such projects that are now under way are estimated to yield $50 million in net savings over the life of the projects. To save both money and the environment, the Rendell administration is:

- Signing guaranteed energy-savings agreements to improve the energy utilization of state-owned buildings, saving $1.9 million to date.
- Installing energy-saving controllers on a variety of pieces of heating, cooling and refrigerating equipment. These devices save energy by establishing optimal run times for burners and compressors.
- Supplementing the improvements made through guaranteed energy-savings agreements by making other enhancements to state facilities. For instance, the State Police cut energy costs by more than $211,000 by installing more efficient lighting, roofing and climate-control systems at various locations.

The Rendell administration is on track to achieve $1.75 billion in annual recurring savings. These efforts have fundamentally changed the way the commonwealth provides services to its citizens. Building on that success, the administration has renewed its efforts to provide Pennsylvania taxpayers with additional savings and more efficient services so resources are directed to programs that can better serve Pennsylvanians and improve our quality of life.

Pennsylvania's Tax Structure Works for Businesses and Residents

Over the last six years, businesses and families have saved $5.9 billion through tax cuts and other policies that reduce the cost of doing business in Pennsylvania – including more than $4.2 billion in cumulative savings for businesses that create jobs and $1.7 billion in savings for Pennsylvania families. Despite the national recession, Governor Rendell has proposed a balanced budget for 2009-10 without any broad-based tax increases while keeping Pennsylvania's tax structure competitive with neighboring and other large states.

Total Savings Through Tax Cuts (dollars in millions)

	2003-04	2004-05	2005-06	2006-07	2007-08	2008-09	2009-10

TOTAL	$80.4	$315.0	$541.2	$902.6	$1,444.9	$2,633.7	$2,987.6

Business Tax Cuts – Includes capital stock and franchise tax; sales, research and development, education improvement, keystone innovation zone and other tax credits; and net operating loss expansion.

Non-business Tax Cuts – Includes special poverty exemption, inheritance tax recouple to federal estate tax, 529 deductions and all property tax relief.

Pennsylvania's Tax Structure is Competitive

By virtually any measure, the level of taxes in Pennsylvania is in line with and in many cases is better than the tax climate in neighboring and competitor states:

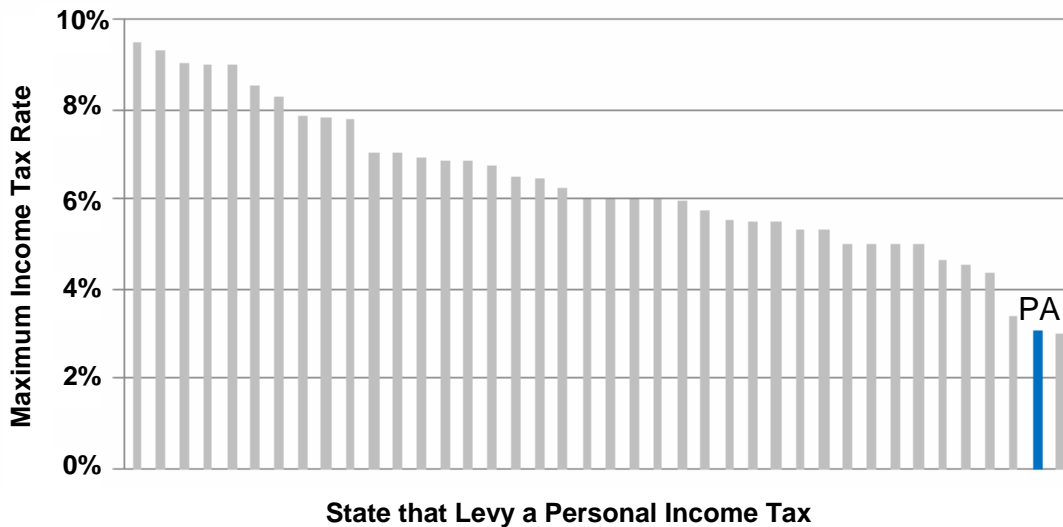

- A 2007 study by the financial services firm Ernst & Young, in conjunction with the Council on State Taxation, showed that Pennsylvania businesses pay a smaller share of total state and local taxes than the national average and pay lower taxes than businesses in three of our six neighboring states.
- The non-partisan, business-funded Tax Foundation rates the commonwealth's business tax climate as more favorable than that of five of our six neighboring states – New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Ohio and West Virginia – and Pennsylvania's 2009 ranking is near the middle nationally, at 28th best out of 50 states.
- The Tax Foundation also says that the total state-local tax burden in Pennsylvania is lower than in New Jersey, New York, Maryland and Ohio – all of our neighboring states except Delaware and West Virginia.
- In 2007, Pennsylvania ranked 24th in the nation in annual per capita state taxes – with a lower burden of total state taxes than the national average. The commonwealth's per capita total tax burden is lower than that of Delaware, New Jersey, New York, Maryland and West Virginia.
- In 2007, Pennsylvania ranked 32nd in total state taxes as a percent of personal income – better than West Virginia, Delaware, New York and New Jersey.

Pennsylvania's Personal Income Tax is "One of the Best in the Nation"

With one of the lowest personal income tax rates in the nation – paid both by residents and by more than half of Pennsylvania's businesses – the commonwealth has been able to attract companies and provide state services at a relatively low cost to the taxpayer. At 3.07 percent, the commonwealth's personal income tax rate is the second lowest of the 40 states that levy this tax. Pennsylvania residents pay 11 percent less in per capita state income taxes than the national average, and less than all of our neighboring states except West Virginia. The commonwealth's low rate led the business-backed Tax Foundation to call Pennsylvania's income tax "one of the best in the nation." In fact, Pennsylvania has the lowest tax rate in the nation of the 42 states that tax pass-through entities. In 2008-09, this equates to $1.1 billion in savings for these businesses.

PA's Income Tax is the 2nd Lowest of the 40 States that Levy this Tax

Protecting Our Progress

The national recession is hitting Pennsylvania and all other states – requiring difficult budget cuts as well as strategies to enhance revenue. From the time Governor Rendell signed the 2008-09 budget into law in July, he has already made nearly half a billion dollars in budget cuts.

Even with additional cuts to contain the natural growth in the 2009-10 budget, the commonwealth still faces a budget shortfall for the coming fiscal year. While several other states are turning to increases in broad-based taxes to close their budget gaps, Governor Rendell has balanced the budget without such measures. Instead, the 2009-10 budget features a number of new revenue sources in order to avoid draconian service cuts while still keeping the commonwealth competitive, including:

- Increasing the cigarette tax by 10 cents per pack. Pennsylvania would join at least four other states in proposing cigarette tax increases. With this change, the commonwealth's cigarette tax would remain in the middle compared to the cigarette tax in our six neighboring states, and Pennsylvania's national ranking among all state cigarette taxes would increase just two spots, surpassing Iowa and Texas.
- Levying a tax on other tobacco products. Pennsylvania remains the only state in the nation that does not tax tobacco products such as smokeless tobacco and cigars. The 2009-10 budget would eliminate that anomaly.
- Ensuring the public benefits from unprecedented natural gas production. Pennsylvania has immense natural gas reserves – in an area known as the Marcellus Shale – that are now being tapped by private companies. These companies will extract an estimated 57 trillion cubic feet of gas from the Marcellus Shale over the next 25 years, and in the 2009-10 budget Pennsylvania joins the 28 other states that ensure that the public receives a share of the proceeds from the use of these resources.

Continuing Property Tax Relief for All Pennsylvania Homeowners

The 2009-10 budget marks the second year of historic property tax relief for all Pennsylvania homeowners. The Taxpayer Relief Act – signed into law in 2006 – has already eliminated school property taxes for more than 113,000 senior citizens. In the coming year, Pennsylvania homeowners, on average, will continue to receive nearly $200 in state-funded property tax relief – with even more savings for older adults who have the most urgent need.

Estimated Property Tax Relief

Type of Tax Relief	Amount of Tax Relief in 2009-10
Property tax relief for all homeowners from gaming revenue (wage tax relief in Philadelphia)	$612.9 million
Enhanced property tax rebates of up to $650 for senior citizens earning up to $35,000 a year	$143.4 million
Higher rebates for senior citizens with a high tax burden or those living in cities with a high tax burden	$30.6 million*
TOTAL	$786.9 million

* Due to lower-than-projected utilization in 2008-09, only $12.7 million will need to be transferred from the Property Tax Relief Fund to the Lottery Fund.

Pennsylvania's favorable business and tax climate, along with property tax reductions that are the direct result of the successful implementation of expanded legalized gaming, have put the commonwealth in an even better position to attract and retain jobs. And the Governor's plan for Protecting Our Progress ensures that the economic gains Pennsylvania has made over the last six years will not be lost in the face of the current national economic challenges.

Pennsylvania's Economic Stimulus

Strategic investments in job growth, coordinated economic and community development initiatives, and targeted business tax cuts have strengthened Pennsylvania's economy in the past six years. Although Pennsylvanians are now feeling the impact of the national economic crisis in their daily lives, the crisis is less dire here than in many other states due in part to the impact of these pro-growth policies.

Despite recent job losses, Pennsylvania still has over 100,000 more jobs today than it did in January 2003 when Governor Rendell took office. The commonwealth's unemployment rate has been at or below the national level for 70 of the past 72 months. Since the national recession began in December 2007, Pennsylvania has held onto jobs better than many other large, competitor or neighboring states:

Pennsylvania is Withstanding the National Recession Better Than Other States

Just as Pennsylvania's success over the last six years and during the current economic uncertainty is no accident, so must the state continue to make smart investment choices to keep our economy moving. With a strong track record of investments in business growth, alternative energy and infrastructure, Pennsylvania is well-poised to stimulate the economy further during this crucial time. While the federal government will be a valuable partner, Pennsylvania cannot afford to simply follow federal leadership or depend on others for our economic growth strategies.

Protecting Our Progress

Since it was approved by the General Assembly in 2004, Pennsylvania's economic stimulus program has invested $3.2 billion and created new opportunities for economic success across the commonwealth. More than 2,800 projects have already been funded with Economic Stimulus program resources – helping Pennsylvania businesses to create and maintain a projected 288,000 new jobs. The rapid pace of investment through the Economic Stimulus program has had a significant impact on Pennsylvania's economy, leveraging more than $8.6 billion in additional economic activity.

The 2009-10 budget provides additional funding and important changes for several critical components of the Economic Stimulus program as part of Pennsylvania's efforts to respond to the national economic crisis:

- Attracting More Businesses and Job Growth to Pennsylvania. The 2009-10 budget includes an additional $100 million to get Pennsylvania sites shovel-ready for use by businesses moving into the commonwealth or expanding their operations. Sixty million dollars will be used to reinvigorate the successful Business in Our Sites Program that provides loans and grants for site acquisition and development for future use by businesses, and $40 million will be invested in water and wastewater infrastructure projects related to economic development. No new funds are needed to make these important investments; instead, the Commonwealth Financing Authority will be asked to leverage existing assets to generate the necessary additional capital.

- Responding to Companies' Needs for Working Capital. Since 2004, Pennsylvania's Second Stage Loan Program has provided working capital to manufacturing, biotech and technology-related companies that are 2-7 years old. Recognizing the need for more flexibility to help additional Pennsylvania companies in this challenging economic environment, Governor Rendell's 2009-10 budget will reallocate under-utilized existing resources to dedicate an additional $100 million to the loan guarantee program while expanding it to reach companies in other fields and eliminating the time limitations.
- Infrastructure Facilities Improvement Grant Program. Every 1 million dollars of funding for this program creates approximately 2,000 new jobs, but the current pipeline of eligible projects is far greater than the supply of available resources. The 2009-10 budget includes a $10 million initiative for new infrastructure and facility improvement projects for this valuable engine of economic growth.

In addition, the 2009-10 budget doubles capital funding for the commonwealth's public universities. The State System of Higher Education's 14 campuses are located in communities across the state and educate 100,000 Pennsylvania students. Doubling the State System of Higher Education's $65 million capital allocation to a total of $130 million will put Pennsylvanians to work while improving educational facilities that will train the next generation of workers and entrepreneurs.

Rebuilding Pennsylvania

Across the nation, states face $2.2 trillion in costs to repair aging infrastructure and make essential upgrades. No state can meet this burden alone, but Pennsylvania is doing its part to keep the commonwealth competitive and ensure the public's safety by investing in infrastructure. The 2008-09 budget launched Governor Rendell's Rebuild Pennsylvania initiative with the approval of more than $1.5 billion to begin addressing overdue repairs to dangerous bridges and dams, as well as investing in necessary improvements to critical aviation and rail freight facilities. In the process, these investments will create tens of thousands of jobs for Pennsylvania workers. Rebuild PA resources approved last year include:

- $350 million for the accelerated repair of structurally deficient bridges;
- The H2O Fund, implemented through the Commonwealth Financing Authority, which will provide $800 million over the next 10 years for critical water, sewer, and flood-control projects, and repairs to unsafe, high-hazard dams; and
- Authorization of a $400 million bond issue to provide funds for PENNVEST to invest in public drinking water and wastewater systems, including innovative, cost-effective strategies such as nutrient trading.

The public's overwhelming support for stimulating our economy and improving the quality of life through infrastructure investment was heard loud and clear this past November, when nearly two-thirds of Pennsylvania voters approved the $400 million water and sewer upgrade bond referendum that is part of Rebuild PA. In fact, the majority of voters in 64 of Pennsylvania's 67 counties understood the importance of this investment – which will support an estimated 12,000 jobs here in the commonwealth.

The 2009-10 budget continues Pennsylvania's job-creating infrastructure investments with an additional $537 million for Rebuild PA projects. This includes $200 million for bridge repairs, an estimated $190 million for water, sewer, flood control and dam projects, $100 million for PENNVEST water and waste water projects, $27.5 million for rail and aviation projects, $15 million for rail freight assistance, and $4.5 million for flood control projects and program support.

One of the principles behind Governor Rendell's call for renewed infrastructure investment was the idea that Pennsylvania could put these resources to work quickly – making an immediate difference in communities and stimulating the economy. The state has lost no time working in putting last year's funding to work to improve our infrastructure and create jobs. Additional resources in the 2009-10 budget mean more jobs and more necessary infrastructure improvements.

Accelerating Needed Bridge Repairs

The 2008-09 budget included an additional $350 million to supplement the existing bridge program funding. This allows the Department of Transportation to speed the rebuilding of 411 structurally deficient bridges statewide. As of the end of December, the work is ahead of schedule: contracts to repair 145 bridges – four more than anticipated – have already been advertised and bids received and opened, and these projects are well on their way to generating more than $300 million in economic activity for construction and supporting 9,000 Pennsylvania jobs.

In addition to targeting funds to the bridges most in need of rebuilding, the Governor directed the Department of Transportation to accelerate the way government does business in order to start as quickly as possible. The Department has employed two innovative contracting strategies to achieve this goal:

- Design-build contracts save months of design time by combining the design services of a consultant with the work of a contractor in a single contract. A projected 83 of the 411 bridges funded in the 2008-09 Rebuild PA initiative will be design-build contracts.
- Group contracts combine a number of bridges into a single contract to cut administrative costs and achieve greater economies of scale – saving taxpayers money so that more infrastructure needs can be addressed with limited funds. A projected 187 bridges will be rebuilt through 54 group contracts this fiscal year.

The 2009-10 budget moves forward with the second year of bridge program acceleration with $200 million of additional resources. These funds will enable 367 structurally deficient bridges to be addressed – supporting 6,600 Pennsylvania jobs. In addition to the $200 million provided by Rebuild PA, the 2009-10 budget includes $1.9 billion in base Motor License funds for bridge and highway repair.

Rail and Aviation Infrastructure Support

Pennsylvania's infrastructure investment is making businesses and communities more competitive through expanded rail and air projects – work that makes companies more efficient and municipalities more attractive to economic growth.

Freight trains move one ton of freight an average of 423 miles on a single gallon of diesel fuel, and more companies are turning to rail to move their raw materials and finished products more economically. Pennsylvania has a strong record of making successful investments in rail freight programs that have enabled companies to locate or expand operations in the commonwealth. Rebuild PA increased the Rail Transportation Assistance Program by $10 million to $30 million in 2008-09, including $3 million for the preservation of railroad bridges. The remaining $7 million will be used to construct and reestablish rail lines, preserve existing rail lines, improve safety and add new capacity. In December 2008, the commonwealth announced funding for 20 rail projects using the expanded Rebuild PA resources, benefiting nearly two dozen counties from Allegheny to Clearfield to Luzerne. These projects will ensure safety in operations, provide efficient and more reliable service to businesses along the rail lines, create economic development opportunities across the commonwealth and help limit the number of long-haul trucks on our highways.

Rebuild PA will provide $22.5 million in 2009-10 for additional rail freight projects, bringing the total two-year funding increase to $32.5 million. In addition, the 2009-10 budget includes $15 million in state funds for rail freight assistance.

The 2008-09 Rebuild PA initiative also doubled the aviation grant program from $5 million to $10 million. The economic potential of Pennsylvania's small to medium-sized cities is increasingly being held back by a lack of passenger and freight airport capacity. State funding supports key projects that will be economic generators for both airports and the local communities they serve. New or updated aviation facilities, such as hangars and terminals, make airports attractive to commercial and corporate users looking to base or expand their operations. In December 2008, the commonwealth announced eight major aviation projects that will use all of the available 2008-09 resources. These projects will create new Pennsylvania jobs while improving the commonwealth's ability to attract more businesses and residents.

The 2009-10 budget provides a total of $10 million for new aviation facility projects.

Meeting Pennsylvania's Critical Water & Sewer Infrastructure Needs

Since enactment of the $800 million H2O program in July, guidelines have been developed and the program is open for business for all three categories of authorized water projects:

- $650 million for acquisition, construction, improvement, expansion or rehabilitation of water supply, sewage disposal or storm water management systems or combinations of systems. Funds can also be used for regionalization of two or more systems.
- $100 million for municipal flood-control projects, including channel improvements, compacted earth levees, concrete channels, concrete floodwalls, detention dams, and non-structural measures.
- $35 million for repair of high-hazard dams identified by the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Protection as having deficiencies that if not corrected could cause a failure of the dam, with subsequent loss of lives or substantial property damage.

Applicants have until February 13, 2009, to submit applications for the first round of funding.

In addition, applications to PENNVEST for the $400 million authorized by the voters in November for water, sewer, storm water and nutrient-trading projects are due February 17, 2009. PENNVEST has been actively advertising and recruiting projects across the state. It has applications totaling about $320 million as of mid-January, with more anticipated before the deadline.

Protecting Homeowners – Pennsylvania's Flood-Prevention Program

Flooding has been a consistent problem in Pennsylvania because of the state's 82,000 miles of inland waterways and increased development of land along these waterways. Over the last 10 years, Pennsylvania received more than $500 million in claims payouts from the National Flood Insurance Program, the second-highest total in the nation prior to the Hurricane Katrina losses. While federal payments are welcome to help repair homes and businesses after a severe flood, more must be done to make our communities more flood-resistant. The 2008-09 Rebuild PA initiative is making flood-prone communities safer with an additional $3 million in flood-control funds.

The flood-control resources are already enabling 13 flood-protection projects and nine stream-improvement projects across the commonwealth in 2008-09, including:

- Levee Certification – After the levee failures and devastation caused by Hurricane Katrina, the Federal Emergency Management Agency began enforcing its requirements to certify levees. Several municipalities are on a two-year clock to complete the certification studies. Currently, the Department of Environmental Protection has earmarked $1.4 million to begin addressing this work, which will cost $250,000 to $500,000 per levee. There are 42 state levee systems in the commonwealth.
- Shoup Run, Dudley Borough, Huntingdon County – This project entails the removal of a severely deteriorated bridge that is on the verge of falling into the channel and blocking it, which would then flood the borough. Included in this project is the reconstruction of deteriorated channel walls in the vicinity of the bridge removal. This project is slated to begin in spring 2009, at an estimated cost of $200,000.

Pennsylvania Infrastructure Bank

The Pennsylvania Infrastructure Bank is a loan program that provides low-interest financing for highway, bridge, aviation, rail freight and public transportation projects. Since inception, the Infrastructure Bank has approved 150 loans worth $84.8 million to municipalities and local authorities, among other recipients. These loans have leveraged an additional $277.2 million of federal, state, local and private funds. As part of the Rebuild PA infrastructure initiative, the Infrastructure Bank has approved 20 loans for $10.6 million in the first half of the 2008-09 fiscal year.

Energy Independence: Leading the Way in the Renewable Energy Economy

Pennsylvania's economy is growing "green." Strategic investments in the alternative energy sector over the last five years have helped the commonwealth become a leader in renewable energy production and consumption. Governor Rendell and the legislature have taken steps to invest nearly $915 million to spur on Pennsylvania's alternative energy economy, both in funds distributed since 2003 and by passing laws to ensure that the commonwealth will be a national leader in this emerging section of the economy for years to come.

State investments since 2003 have funded 564 projects, which have created and retained more than 8,300 jobs. As a result, Pennsylvania is now home to some of the world's leading renewable energy companies and is on track to produce 18 percent of all energy sold in the state from clean renewable sources by 2021. Along the way to energy independence, the commonwealth has proven that investment in renewable energy is a powerful economic development strategy.

Growing the Green Economy

On July 9, 2008, Governor Rendell signed the Alternative Energy Investment Act into law. The law provides $650 million in funding and tax credits over the next several years for alternative energy projects, companies and technologies that will help make Pennsylvania a leading destination for green jobs and clean energy. As a result of this new groundbreaking law, Pennsylvania will invest:

- $270 million in economic development support for energy projects and companies through the Commonwealth Financing Authority,
- $220 million for consumers and small businesses to install energy efficiency, solar and green building projects,
- $50 million in tax credits for developing and building alternative energy projects,
- $40 million to provide heating assistance to low-income customers,
- $40 million to foster the development of early stage energy technology companies,
- $25 million for pollution-control technology, and
- $5 million to support an energy efficiency loan fund.

Over the past four years the Department of Community and Economic Development Technology Investment Office's programs and partners have invested approximately $37.8 million in more than 140 alternative energy and related projects, which leveraged $69.1 million in additional investment to enhance the commonwealth's alternative energy capabilities.

Moving Towards Independence From Foreign Oil

The PennSecurity Fuels Initiative is fostering economic development, energy independence and environmental protection through the use of alternative fuels by requiring all diesel fuel and gasoline sold in Pennsylvania to contain ethanol or biodiesel. By 2017, 1 billion gallons of home-grown biofuels will be produced and consumed in Pennsylvania – an amount equal to what the state will import from the Persian Gulf by that time.

Pennsylvania is already well on its way to increasing production of home-grown alternative fuels. In January, the commonwealth announced that Pennsylvania businesses are now producing 40 million gallons of biodiesel a year – the first key threshold under the law. As a result, every gallon of on-road diesel fuel sold in Pennsylvania must contain 2 percent biodiesel fuel within one year. At the law's full potential of 20 percent biodiesel and 10 percent ethanol, Pennsylvania will cut oil imports by billions of dollars a year.

To help build the market for alternative fuels, Pennsylvania launched the Biodiesel Production Incentive – which provides 75 cents per gallon for biodiesel produced and sold in Pennsylvania. The commonwealth has awarded $2.29 million in production incentives since July 1. By 2011, Pennsylvania will reach $15.9 million in biodiesel production incentives.

Diversifying Our Energy Supply

In 2004, Pennsylvania adopted Alternative Energy Portfolio Standards that require the companies that generate and distribute electricity to fill a portion of the commonwealth's energy needs using alternative sources like solar and wind power.

By 2021, Pennsylvania's electric generation and distribution companies will be expected to generate 18 percent of their retail electricity from alternative energy sources. Many electric companies are succeeding in making this important transition. In the year that ended on May 31, 2008 – the second year of the program's implementation:

- six Pennsylvania electric distribution companies met their alternative energy requirements, and
- 11 electric generation suppliers met their alternative energy targets.

The companies that did not reach their targets contribute to a special fund used for projects that will increase the amount of electric energy from alternative energy resources.

In addition, Pennsylvania's largest electric distribution company, PECO, was the state's first utility to pursue five-year agreements to purchase alternative energy at a fixed price. These long-term agreements help increase private-sector investment in alternative energy by providing confidence in multi-year demand and financing to encourage new development.

Pennsylvania Grows Its Tourism Industry

The citizens of Pennsylvania have long been blessed with a commonwealth rich in abundant natural resources, filled with scenic beauty and home to world-class metropolitan areas. Increasingly, people outside of Pennsylvania are taking notice and making the commonwealth a prime destination. Pennsylvania's burgeoning tourism industry is becoming a major economic driver for the commonwealth, with travelers from throughout the United States, spending nearly $26 billion in Pennsylvania – an increase of 21 percent since 2002-03. International visitors contribute an additional $2 billion each year.

Total Spending by U.S. Travelers in Pennsylvania (dollars in billions)

Based on data from D.K. Shifflet & Associates, Ltd

Spending by tourists on a variety of travel-related goods and services supports 610,000 Pennsylvania jobs in businesses that directly serve the traveling public, supply the goods and services used by travelers or benefit from the spending of tourism-related wages by employees of such companies. The commonwealth's tourism industry also generates more than $2.8 billion annually in state and local tax revenue that is then used for services that benefit all Pennsylvanians.

The Rendell administration has taken a regional approach to investing in and marketing Pennsylvania's tourism assets. These efforts are delivering results:

- Governor Rendell launched a new marketing plan for the 12-county Pennsylvania Wilds region of North-central Pennsylvania in 2003. This region encompasses more than 2 million acres of public lands set aside for public enjoyment. The results for North-central Pennsylvania have been dramatic. Visitation to the

Overview: Economic Stimulus

Pennsylvania Wilds region increased from 3.5 million to 4.1 million people between 2004 and 2007, an 18 percent increase. This increase in visitors has helped fuel demand for hotel rooms in the region, up 8.8 percent since 2003, and has also helped to drive up the state's hotel tax revenues by more than $1 million over the same time period. Elk-viewing-area attendance increased an estimated 10-fold, and the number of visitors to the Elk Scenic Drive increased 25-fold between 2004 and 2008. A recent economic study of the Pine Creek Rail Trail revealed that it generates about $5.5 million annually for the local economy.

- Southwestern Pennsylvania's Laurel Highlands region is home to a large section of the 150-mile Great Allegheny Passage, part of a trail system that extends from Pittsburgh to Washington, D.C. The Great Allegheny Passage receives an estimated 350,000 visitors per year who contribute $10 million to the economies of trail towns located along its span. Administration investments continue to support trail town revitalization and projections are for more than $12 million to $15 million in economic impact for 2008.
- The Schuylkill Highlands region in the Southeast is home to a large segment of the Schuylkill River Trail, which will eventually span 130 miles from Schuylkill Haven to Philadelphia. Trail and riverboat concession use in the tidal Philadelphia-area Schuylkill River segment is estimated to have had a direct tourism impact of $1.3 million on the local economy in 2007.
- For the first time, the ten counties of Northeast Pennsylvania will be pooling their resources and collaborating in a joint marketing effort. This will enable this region to develop road trips and create itineraries united under one brand that can compete with other destinations in key markets such as New York. This campaign will begin in 2009.

Education - Investing in Our Children, Preparing for the Future

Governor Rendell has made education a top priority for Pennsylvania – championing new investment and greater accountability as critical to the commonwealth’s economic development strategy and in fulfillment of our moral imperative to ensure that today’s students have the opportunity to succeed in the competitive, high-skills knowledge economy of the future.

Pennsylvania’s investment in education is paying off with greater student achievement across the state in every grade and subject.

Nearly 30% More Students are On Grade Level Than in 2002

Beyond the dramatic overall achievement gains that have taken place since 2002, it is important to note that many of the most academically challenged school districts and student populations are making strong progress:

- 479 school districts have a majority of students on grade level compared to 375 districts in 2002.
- 72 districts have increased the number of students on grade level by at least 40 percent since 2002.
- 36,000 fewer students are “below basic” in math and 13,000 fewer students are scoring in the lowest level in reading in 2008 compared to 2002.

Pennsylvania is one of only nine states in the nation that made progress in elementary school math and reading achievement from 2003 to 2007, according to the National Assessment of Educational Progress, also known as “The Nation’s Report Card.”

We cannot afford to lose momentum now. The national economic crisis has put enormous pressure on state budgets, and Pennsylvania is no exception. But the commonwealth also has the opportunity to recognize educational investment as a core component of our economic recovery strategy.

As New York Times columnist and author Thomas L. Friedman wrote as the U.S. Congress worked to craft an economic stimulus package in January 2009: “A student who normally would not be interested in science but gets stimulated by a better teacher or more exposure to a lab... is potentially the next Steve Jobs or Bill Gates. They create good jobs for years. Perhaps more bridges can bail us out of a depression, but only more Bills and Steves can bail us into prosperity.”

In fact, the better prepared Pennsylvania students are when they graduate from high school, the more likely they are to be employed, the more they will earn and generate in tax revenue, and the less the government will have to spend to support them.

Education translates into a far stronger workforce. An adult with a high school diploma was nearly 30 percent more likely to be employed in 2006 than a high school dropout. And a Pennsylvanian with a four-year college degree had even better odds of having a job: a 12 percent greater likelihood than the high school graduate and a stunning 45 percent better chance than the high school dropout. Over a lifetime, a college graduate will earn over $1 million more than his or her peer with only a high school diploma.

In addition, improving education strengthens communities and saves taxpayers money:

- 77 percent of Pennsylvanians with a bachelor’s degree own their own home – and they are 13 percent more likely to be a homeowner than high school graduates with no or some college education.

- For every $1 in taxes paid by a Pennsylvania high school dropout, a high school graduate pays $1.42 and a worker with a four-year degree pays $2.55. The better educated Pennsylvania’s workforce becomes, the less the tax burden will be on each individual worker.
- Only 4 percent of Pennsylvanians with a bachelor’s degree received food stamps, Medicaid, housing subsidies, free or reduced-price school lunches, or similar government support – compared to 17 percent of high school graduates who do not go to college and 35 percent of high school dropouts.

Growing Pennsylvania’s economy by developing a world-class education system starts with the first day of pre-kindergarten and lasts through the final day of high school and a student’s transition to college or the workforce. Pennsylvania faces four essential challenges that it must meet in order to ensure that our students are prepared to compete in the global economy:

First, every student needs to attend a school that has adequate resources to get the student achievement results we demand. The commonwealth must ensure that schools have sufficient resources to meet this challenge and that taxpayer dollars are invested in the programs most likely to boost student learning.

Second, our schools need to continue transforming with the times so that when Pennsylvania students graduate from high school, they are ready for the high-tech, high-skills economy that will await them. The commonwealth must provide the accountability, leadership and resources needed to ensure that a Pennsylvania high school diploma is a ticket to post-secondary opportunity.

Third, Pennsylvania schools need to modernize the way they do business by increasing efficiency and accountability. School districts should streamline and consolidate their operations in order to get more resources into the classroom instead of the bureaucracy. And Pennsylvania should learn from its successful charter schools while enhancing the public’s confidence in charter school funding and accountability.

Fourth, Pennsylvania needs to ensure that family finances never prevent a student from earning a college degree. Nearly three out of four Pennsylvania public four-year university students leave school with student loan debt – far more than in comparable states – and the average student’s debt totals nearly $20,000 by the time they graduate. The commonwealth can make college affordable for every family – without raising taxes.

Investing in Student Success

In 2006, the Pennsylvania Legislature commissioned the commonwealth’s first-ever study to determine the actual level of resources schools need in order to get students to achieve at grade level. The report concluded that Pennsylvania faced a $4 billion regular education funding shortfall.

With the 2013-14 federal mandate of getting all students to grade level just five years away, closing this shortfall must be an urgent priority. Pennsylvania has just two more years until the next increase in statewide academic targets that all schools are required to meet: 72 percent of all students on grade level in reading and 67 percent of students on grade level in math. If that standard were in place today, more than 1,500 schools and nearly half of school districts would receive a failing grade.

The evidence from the legislature’s report shows that the vast majority of Pennsylvania school districts need additional funding in order to close their achievement gaps.

More Than Half of Pennsylvania School Districts Need $2,000 or More per Student to Close Their Achievement Gaps

To meet the state commitment to close closing this funding gap, in February 2008 Governor Rendell proposed a $2.6 billion, six-year plan. In July 2008, the legislature enacted a new school funding law that set an “adequacy target” for each school district based on the formula set forth in the legislature’s report; delivered the first-year installment of the state’s contribution; and stated in law that “...in order to enable students to attain applicable Federal and State academic standards, it is the goal of this Commonwealth to review and meet State funding targets by fiscal year 2013-2014.”

With the academic pressures faced by school districts, it is clear that if the state does not do its part to close this gap, local property tax hikes will be the result. It would take an average increase in local property taxes of nearly 40 percent to generate the same investment as the state will contribute under the new funding formula by the time it is fully phased in. Alternatively, if the state pays its fair share, then communities can keep their own property tax increases to a bare minimum.

In these difficult economic times, it is more important than ever to prioritize the use of state resources to have the greatest possible impact. One of the key features of Pennsylvania’s new school funding formula is that the law requires school districts to invest their new resources in a menu of proven academic programs and it gives the Department of Education the authority to reject the investment plans of academically challenged school districts.

As a result, the first year of Pennsylvania’s new school funding formula is making it possible for:

- 500,250 students to get more time to learn – through tutoring, longer school days or an extended school year
- 2,700 students to benefit from smaller classes
- 7,500 children to participate in pre-kindergarten and full-day kindergarten
- 156,100 students to enroll in advanced courses and new curricula
- 251,000 students to have teachers who are receiving intensive training

The 2009-10 basic education subsidy includes a $300 million (5.7 percent) increase to demonstrate the commonwealth is serious about meeting its commitment to provide adequate resources using the new funding formula, even during an extraordinarily difficult budget year. Because the proposed subsidy increase is less than the amount put forward in the original six-year plan, it will take an additional year to meet Pennsylvania’s adequacy funding target.

In addition to a substantial increase in the basic education subsidy, the 2009-10 budget sustains Pennsylvania’s progress by continuing to support other successful academic programs:

- High-quality early childhood education.
 - $95.1 million for Pennsylvania Pre-K Counts. School districts, Head Start programs and other community providers with proven track records of success provide high-quality pre-kindergarten to an additional 1,050 students to bring the total number of children served to 12,850 in 2009-10. Children from every part of the commonwealth have new opportunities for early learning as a result of this investment – with the greatest focus on children who are at risk of future academic failure. This program grows out of a successful public-private partnership of the same name supported by corporate, foundation and public-sector leaders.
 - $39.5 million for the Head Start Supplemental Assistance program. For the last five years, Pennsylvania has supplemented federal Head Start funding so the successful program can reach more families. The 2009-10 funding will make it possible to enroll 5,620 three- and four-year-olds.
- $271.4 million for the Accountability Block Grant. This initiative funds pre-kindergarten, full-day kindergarten, elementary school class-size reduction and other proven educational programs. The Accountability Block Grant is responsible for Pennsylvania’s move from having just 35 percent of kindergartners in full-day programs in 2003 to 65 percent today. Beginning in the 2009-10 budget, Accountability Block Grant funding will be folded into each school district’s basic education subsidy.
- $65.1 million for the Education Assistance Program. Pennsylvania’s hallmark tutoring program is providing extra help to 172,000 struggling students in 175 school districts and Career and Technical Centers in the 2008-09 school year. Beginning in the 2009-10 budget, Education Assistance Program funding will be folded into school districts’ basic education subsidies or, for vocational schools, the Career and Technical Education appropriation.

- $13.6 million for Science: It's Elementary. In 2000, a group of school districts in Southwestern Pennsylvania proved that American students can compete in science against anyone in the world if they are taught effectively starting in elementary school. Students from these districts and their university partners not only out-scored the rest of the U.S. in eighth-grade science, but they did as well as or better than students from every other nation in the world. In 2006-07, the commonwealth launched Science: It's Elementary to bring the same strategies for hands-on learning and intensive teacher training to other school districts across Pennsylvania. The 2009-10 budget will enable at least 65,000 students in 141 schools to become active science explorers.

Making the High School Diploma Count

Pennsylvania has made enormous progress in increasing student achievement over the last six years, and has enacted a long-term school funding plan to ensure that students have adequate resources in the classroom for years to come. But with ever-increasing demands from the high-skills global economy awaiting our students once they graduate, the commonwealth still faces a significant challenge: How do we make sure families, employers and college admissions officers can have confidence that a Pennsylvania high school diploma means our students are ready for the real world?

The truth is that right now, they can't. In fact, nearly 44 percent of Pennsylvania's high school seniors received diplomas in 2007 after failing the state's 11th-grade-level reading and math tests a year earlier. And one in three Pennsylvania high school graduates who enroll in a state-owned university or community college are not ready for a first-year college math or English course.

The bottom line is that tens of thousands of students are being sent into the workforce without the skills they need to succeed. And this problem is not limited to just a few school districts or any one part of the state: Nine out of ten Pennsylvania school districts have at least a 20 percent gap between the number of students who graduated and the number of graduated students scoring on grade level on the 11th-grade state reading and math tests.

Pennsylvania is taking action to give the high school diploma meaning by ensuring that all students demonstrate essential skills in English, math, science and social studies in order to graduate. In January 2007, the State Board of Education took the first step to adopt meaningful statewide high school graduation requirements starting with the class of 2014 – putting the commonwealth on track to join 26 other states that either have graduation requirements in place or are in the process of implementing them.

Pennsylvania's Plan for Ensuring that Every High School Diploma Counts

The State Board of Education proposed a menu of ways for students to show they are ready to graduate. The new requirements would start with the class of 2014 – this year's seventh graders.

Students could earn their high school diploma in any of four ways:

- By scoring Proficient or Advanced on the Pennsylvania System of School Assessment (PSSA) given in 11th grade; OR
- By passing six of 10 standardized final exams, called Graduation Competency Assessments; OR
- By passing local assessments of equal rigor; OR
- By taking Advanced Placement or International Baccalaureate exams.

Under Pennsylvania's plan, students would be able to earn their diploma by passing six standardized final exams as soon as they finish key high school courses – while the material is still fresh in their minds. Students who don't pass the first time would get extra help and have the chance to retake the tests as many times as necessary. Or school districts could use their own local assessments, as long as they are at least as rigorous as the state's assessment – among a number of other options on the proposed high school graduation menu.

To ensure that all high school students stay in school and are ready and able to graduate, Pennsylvania is providing more resources and support than ever before:

- Creating Classrooms for the Future. The 2009-10 budget includes $22 million to continue changing the way teachers teach and students learn in Pennsylvania high schools by putting a laptop on every student's desk and providing teachers with intensive training so they can effectively use the power of the Internet to engage the Technology Generation and make learning come alive. By the end of the 2008-09 school year, the program will have reached two-thirds of all Pennsylvania high school classrooms and installed more than 140,000 laptops in English, math, science and social studies classrooms.

The effective use of technology enables students to develop strong critical-thinking skills in a manner that was previously impossible. For example, with the tools of technology on their desktops and through the modern approach to instruction taken by their teachers, students sift through information to decide what sources are reliable and unreliable; they analyze what they find to determine whether it is relevant to the task at hand; and they synthesize their coursework by using multimedia tools to express what they learned. An independent evaluation of the program's first two years concluded that:

- There were significant increases in the use of project- or problem-based learning.
 - Teachers' attitudes changed, reflecting increased value for technology in the learning process, increases in effort and hours, and increased levels of preparation to teach their subjects well.
 - Teachers spent significantly less time simply lecturing and more time working with students.
 - Teachers increasingly engaged students in activities requiring higher-order thinking.
 - The assignments given to students shifted away from worksheets and toward real-world, hands-on products.
- Helping More High School Students Earn College Credit. Pennsylvania high school students are earning college credits by taking 25,341 courses this year as a result of the commonwealth's Dual Enrollment program. The 2009-10 budget provides $10 million to maintain the program, with 22 percent directed toward low-income students – who otherwise might never even visit a college campus – to ensure that these students are not priced out of an experience that can change their lives.
 - Improving the High School Curriculum. Additional supports are necessary to ensure that school districts have the resources they need to deliver a quality education that truly prepares all students for the real world after graduation. The 2009-10 budget will enable the Department of Education to continue developing the tools that school districts need:
 - A voluntary curriculum for high school English, math, science and social studies courses; and
 - Strategies for identifying students who need help and ways to effectively boost their academic skills.

Government Reform: Increasing Efficiency and Accountability in Public Education

Pennsylvanians want their elected officials to maximize the use of every taxpayer dollar to achieve the greatest impact on student learning. Accomplishing that goal in today's world requires real changes in the way schools do business. And the context of America's economic crisis and Pennsylvania's commitment to meeting our educational challenges creates a powerful sense of urgency for government reform in how school districts operate.

Bringing government reform to public education means taking the following steps in enacting the commonwealth's 2009-10 budget:

- Reducing bureaucracy while preserving community schools. Only 10 states in the nation have more school districts than Pennsylvania, while many of the highest-achieving states are organized into far fewer districts in order to achieve greater efficiency and improve the delivery of educational services. Right now, more than 40 percent of Pennsylvania's school districts currently educate fewer than 2,000 students and more than 80 percent of school districts educate fewer than 5,000 students, requiring significant bureaucracy while raising questions about the diversity of courses offered to students. The 2009-10 budget launches a process to investigate options for consolidation and alternative solutions.
- Using the purchasing power of school districts to cut health care costs. In many communities, the cost of health care is making it harder for school districts to do what matters most: invest in the classroom. School districts now spend a total of $1.9 billion on medical and prescription drug coverage. That means nearly $1 of every $5 in school property taxes goes to health care. Left on their own, school districts have few options to bring these costs under control. But Pennsylvania can address this issue by creating a statewide school employee health benefit system that will leverage the purchasing power of all our school districts and potentially 250,000 school employees in a way that is fair to taxpayers, fair to students and fair to teachers.

- Eliminating excuses when it comes to turning around failing schools. When a school or school district has failed to meet its reading and math targets for five years in a row, the federal accountability law No Child Left Behind states that the status quo needs to change dramatically. But in Pennsylvania, existing state laws effectively block major overhauls – leaving students in failing schools for even longer. It is time to increase support to turn around these schools, while also ensuring that schools and school districts that still continue to fail are actually restructured – given new staff while protecting the rights of current teachers, provided a new curriculum, led by new leaders or converted to charter schools – as the federal law envisions.
- Improving public confidence in charter schools. There is no debate about the value of school choice in Pennsylvania: More than 70,000 students are enrolled in charter schools across the commonwealth, and the option of attending a charter school has become an intrinsic part of Pennsylvania’s education system. With more than a decade of experience in charter education, the state now has the perspective to improve the charter law without threatening the innovative spirit that charter schools were designed to foster.

Last year, charter schools collected $78 million in taxpayer funds to provide special education, but spent only $50 million on special education services. As a result, the most important charter law changes are: (1) to better protect students and taxpayers by ensuring that all funds a charter school receives for special education are used for that purpose and (2) to fix the way special education tuition is calculated for charter schools. In addition, cyber charter schools should be funded differently than bricks-and-mortar schools; cyber charter school funding should be based on the cost structure of the most effective and efficient cyber school, and cyber schools with excessive fund balances should have to return them to the taxpayers.

At the same time, Pennsylvania should do a better job of learning from successful charter schools and implementing their best practices statewide. And to reduce bureaucracy, the Department of Education should make direct payment to charter schools that request this change, rather than requiring all 127 charter schools to submit invoices to 501 different school districts.

Making College Affordable for Working Families

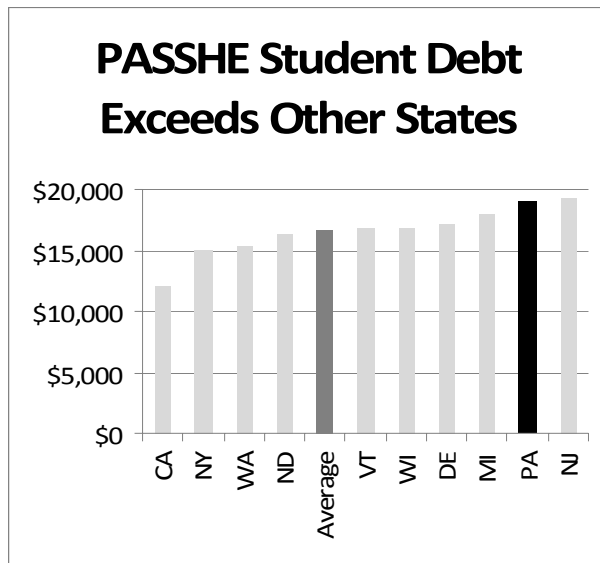

Far too often in Pennsylvania, students do not pursue a college degree because their families can’t afford it, they leave school mid-way through because college becomes too expensive, or they graduate with so much debt that it is difficult to pursue a career while paying their bills. Meanwhile, Pennsylvania’s future economic vitality depends on having a college-educated workforce prepared to lead in the high-skills global economy.

Just as every student needs to graduate from high school with the skills to succeed in college or the workforce, Pennsylvania also has to ensure that every student who is academically ready for college has the opportunity to attend. According to an independent report issued in 2006, a poll of Pennsylvanians found that “better than one in every ten young adults in the sample said they had wanted to attend a college or university but could not – and for these Pennsylvanians, cost was the most frequently mentioned problem.”

The State System of Higher Education, in partnership with the Rendell administration, has worked hard over the last six years to keep tuition increases to a bare minimum. The last four tuition increases have been below the rate of inflation, and three of the last six have been lower than 3 percent. Nevertheless, State System of Higher Education students face significant financial hurdles: 74 percent leave school with student loan debt, and the average student’s debt totals $19,047.

Community college students face similar challenges: A third of Pennsylvania community college students leave school with debt, averaging $7,020 per student. Given the importance of community colleges in providing a low-cost gateway to four-year degrees, this finding is especially troubling.

Students in comparison and competitor states do not have the same cost barriers:

In 2009-10, the administration proposes a dramatic increase in state grants for students at Pennsylvania's core public institutions – the 14 State System of Higher Education campuses and the 14 community colleges. To ensure the long-term affordability of higher education, the commonwealth will establish a dedicated revenue stream by legalizing a limited number of video poker machines at private clubs, taverns and other establishments.

In addition, the 2009-10 budget includes a $45 million increase in Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency (PHEAA) tuition grants. This increase will dedicate $10 million to provide grants to nearly 10,000 additional community college students while ensuring that other college and university students do not lose their grants as a result of a reduction in contributions to student grants by PHEAA. Enrollment at many community colleges has increased dramatically due to the national recession, and Governor Rendell's dedicated new PHEAA funding for community college students as well as a $5 million increase in community college operating support will keep tuition down at this difficult economic time.

The 2009-10 budget also doubles capital funding for the Pennsylvania State System of Higher Education to $130 million in 2009-10 – ensuring that college students will learn in facilities that prepare them for the high-tech world, while creating jobs across the commonwealth.

Investing in Our Children, Preparing for the Future

The 2009-10 budget represents a seventh year of historic investment in boosting achievement throughout Pennsylvania's public education system, coupled with stronger accountability and increased efficiency. The budget creates new opportunities for students from the first day of pre-kindergarten to the day they receive their college degree.

Prescription for Pennsylvania

Prescription for Pennsylvania is the commonwealth's plan to ensure access to affordable health insurance, expand the availability of health care, improve the quality of care and help bring health care costs under control for employers and workers.

When Governor Rendell proposed the Prescription for Pennsylvania in January 2007, Pennsylvania was already experiencing the impact of an inadequate health care system. Nearly 1 million Pennsylvanians had no health insurance. Avoidable health-care-associated infections were driving up costs and claiming the lives of thousands of Pennsylvanians. In addition, while many areas of the commonwealth lacked access to care, Pennsylvania lagged behind most states in fully utilizing its non-physician health care providers, such as certified nurse practitioners and physician assistants.

Many components of Prescription for Pennsylvania have already been successfully implemented and Pennsylvania has made strides in improving quality, expanding access to care and reducing costs by reducing avoidable health-care-associated infections and avoidable hospitalizations. Yet the commonwealth has failed to adopt some of the most crucial elements of this plan. In these tough economic times, it is even more important to implement the critical remaining components of Prescription for Pennsylvania, particularly making affordable health insurance available for those Pennsylvanians who are most affected by the ongoing economic situation.

The total number of employers providing health insurance continues to decline. Between 2001 and 2007, the number of Pennsylvania employers offering health care coverage decreased by 5.7 percent, compared with a 4.8 percent reduction for the nation as whole. In fact, more workers in Pennsylvania lost employer-provided health care coverage than in all but one other state in the nation. Evidence of the ongoing loss of employer-sponsored health care coverage can be found in the increasing number of Pennsylvanians applying for coverage through the commonwealth's adultBasic insurance program for eligible adults who have no other health insurance. In early January 2009, the waiting list for the adultBasic program reached an all-time high of 165,318 Pennsylvanians, a 65 percent increase over the past year.

Prescription for Pennsylvania has been hailed nationally for its comprehensive and pragmatic approach. Implementing the remaining components will protect our economic competitiveness and the well-being of Pennsylvania families by making health care affordable for all, expanding access and improving the quality of our health care system.

Pennsylvania Has Taken Several Essential First Steps in Health Care Reform

- Pennsylvania is "Covering All Kids" to provide universal health insurance for the commonwealth's children.

In 2006, the legislature passed Governor Rendell's Cover All Kids initiative, making Pennsylvania one of six states in the nation to ensure that all children have access to health care coverage. As a result, the number of children in Pennsylvania's Children's Health Insurance Program has risen by one-third – from 125,983 in January 2003 to 183,891 in January 2009.

Cover All Kids:

- Provides comprehensive health care coverage, including visits to doctors, hospitalization, prescription drugs, mental health and substance abuse services, vision, dental and home health care.
- Subsidizes coverage for children in families whose annual income is up to 300 percent of the federal poverty level ($66,150 for a family of four in 2009). Family premiums range, on average, between $43 and $69 per month per child.
- Offers at-cost coverage for children in families whose income exceeds 300 percent of the federal poverty level (on average, $172 per month per child).

- Pennsylvania is ensuring that older adults have access to affordable prescription drugs.

In November 2003, Governor Rendell signed into law a historic expansion of Pennsylvania's PACE and PACENET programs that provide affordable prescription medication for senior citizens.

In response to the federal government's decision to implement the Medicare Part D prescription drug plan – which created new challenges for older Pennsylvanians attempting to find affordable drug coverage – Pennsylvania established “PACE Plus Medicare,” which guarantees that eligible seniors will not incur more costs than they otherwise would have paid when their prescriptions were covered by PACE and PACENET. PACE Plus Medicare also enables more senior citizens to sign up for prescription drug coverage.

Because of these expansions, more than 132,000 additional older Pennsylvanians no longer have to choose between paying for prescription drugs or paying for other necessities. The number of older adults benefiting from these three programs was 273,923 in 2002-03. That total is projected to rise to 375,000 in 2009-10 – an increase of 37 percent over the last six years.

- Pennsylvania has adopted the most comprehensive plan in the nation for eliminating health-care-associated infections.

Each year, many thousands of Pennsylvanians contract a health-care-associated infection – an infection that is contracted in a health care setting. These avoidable infections contribute to many fatalities and increase the average hospital stay by more than 15 days. Eliminating these infections saves lives and millions of dollars in unnecessary health care costs.

Act 52 of 2007 is Pennsylvania's first-ever law requiring that health care facilities report all incidents of health-care-associated infections and adopt plans to reduce them. The law mandates that hospitals, nursing homes and ambulatory surgical facilities adopt best practices that have been proven to reduce or eliminate these infections. Hospitals are required to develop and implement a Department of Health approved internal infection-control plan to reduce and prevent infections. The Department of Health is working with other state agencies to coordinate the implementation of this historic act. The Pennsylvania Health Care Cost Containment Council reported that for 2007, health-care-associated infections were 7.8 percent lower than in 2006, with 300 fewer deaths than in the previous year. This budget recommends $2.6 million for health-care-associated infection-reduction initiatives in 2009-10.

- Pennsylvania is improving prevention and treatment of chronic diseases such as heart disease, diabetes and asthma.

About 78 percent of all health care costs in Pennsylvania can be traced to the 20 percent of patients with chronic diseases. In addition, Pennsylvania has some of the highest hospitalization rates in the nation for chronic diseases because patients do not receive appropriate care.

Prescription for Pennsylvania aggressively addresses prevention, detection and treatment of chronic diseases. In February 2008, the Governor's Chronic Care Management, Reimbursement and Cost Containment Commission sent to the Governor its strategic plan to improve the delivery of health care to Pennsylvanians with chronic diseases, which he then approved for implementation. The plan calls for the design of the informational, technological and reimbursement infrastructure needed to support implementation of the chronic care model throughout Pennsylvania. This innovative approach combines the Wagner Chronic Care Model and the Patient-Centered Medical Home initiative.

The statewide chronic care initiative began in May 2008 and will continue on a regional basis through regional learning collaboratives for primary care providers that will help improve how they monitor, deliver and are reimbursed for chronic care management. In 2009, this regional initiative will include 500 primary care practitioners caring for 750,000 patients across the commonwealth.

This budget recommends $1.5 million for chronic care management in 2009-10. With this investment in chronic care, the commonwealth expects to leverage $35 million from private insurers for improved chronic care over three years.

- Pennsylvania is leading the development of a statewide health information exchange to reduce medical errors and improve the quality of care for patients.

A health information exchange will enable clinicians to have access to important medical details about the patients they treat and, with their patients' consent, share that information with other health care providers for treatment purposes. Giving clinicians access to data about their patients' care by other providers will result in fewer medical errors and better continuity of care. Less time will be wasted waiting for patients' charts and processing referrals. In addition, reporting of vital statistics and diseases will be more efficient and complete.

In 2008, the Pennsylvania Health Information Exchange, or PHIX, was established by Executive Order. PHIX will provide the information technology architecture to support statewide interoperable electronic health records by sharing patient data that is captured at the point of care in a physician's office or hospital or available through other systems such as laboratories and pharmacies.

This budget includes $3.0 million to develop and begin implementation of a statewide information technology system that will enable health care providers to better coordinate patient care. Significant cost savings are likely from the use of an information exchange, but the benefits in improved patient safety and quality of care will be even more significant.

Pennsylvania's Medical Malpractice Reforms Are Working

In addition to the successful adoption of these elements of Prescription for Pennsylvania, commonwealth residents are benefiting from the implementation of other health care reforms since 2003.

The success of Pennsylvania's health care system depends on a continuing ability to recruit and retain world-class doctors and other medical professionals. When Governor Rendell took office in January 2003, medical malpractice posed a major threat to the well-being of health care in the commonwealth: Medical malpractice insurance premiums were increasing by as much as 50 percent per year, physicians were threatening to leave the state and insurance companies were not taking on new risks or writing new policies.

Over the last six years, the tide has turned. Initiatives implemented by the current and prior administrations, the General Assembly and the Supreme Court have had a substantial positive impact on the medical malpractice climate. These actions have cut down on frivolous lawsuits, limited excessive jury awards and increased mediation as a means of dispute resolution – all while protecting the rights of Pennsylvanians who turn to the courts for justice.

The commonwealth's strategy is working:

- There is not an exodus of doctors from Pennsylvania. In fact, Pennsylvania has about 2,000 more doctors today than it had in 2003.
- In the last four years, doctors in Pennsylvania have seen their malpractice premiums drop by $14,100 on average.
- Insurance rates are decreasing for the first layer of medical malpractice insurance that doctors are required to carry – the coverage administered by private insurance companies. In 2002 alone, the two largest insurers increased their premiums by 40 percent and 45 percent. In 2008, one insurer reduced base premiums by an average of 11 percent as compared to 2007 and the other insurer reduced rates by 6 percent.
- Rates are going down for the second layer of medical malpractice insurance, which is provided through the state's Medical Care Availability and Reduction of Error Fund, or Mcare. Each year, the Insurance Department sets the level of the next year's Mcare assessment. The assessment is a percentage of the amount that physicians and certain other health care providers are assessed for the court judgments, claim settlements and Mcare operating expenses that have been paid for that year. For 2008, the Mcare assessment was 20 percent – or approximately one-third of the 61 percent surcharge in 2000 and in 2001.
- The amount and number of claims payouts decreased for the fifth straight year. In 2008, Mcare paid less than half of what was paid in 2003.
- The number of statewide medical malpractice claims was 41 percent lower in 2007 than the base period of 2000 to 2002, before medical malpractice reforms were implemented.

One of the successful reforms that led to this dramatic improvement in the medical malpractice climate in Pennsylvania was the creation in 2003 of the Mcare Abatement program. Between 2003 and 2007, doctors, midwives, podiatrists and nursing homes received nearly $1 billion in Mcare payment relief as a result of the abatement program. The commonwealth used a portion of the 25-cent-per-pack cigarette tax paid into the state's

Health Care Provider Retention Account to support the abatement program. Due to the abatement program and other medical malpractice cost-containment reforms, Pennsylvania continues to offer a supportive climate for retaining and attracting quality health care providers for our outstanding medical facilities.

Unfinished Business: Filling the Prescription for Pennsylvania

Hundreds of thousands of uninsured Pennsylvania adults face the very real fear that a sudden job loss or illness could lead to unnecessary personal suffering and possibly even bankruptcy. In addition, for the businesses and individuals struggling to make ends meet while continuing to pay hefty insurance premiums, continued lack of action in adopting the remaining Prescription for Pennsylvania components means ever-increasing health care costs.

- An expanded adultBasic program will provide affordable basic health insurance for uninsured individuals.

The vast majority of Pennsylvania's uninsured adults are employed: Most of the working uninsured have full-time jobs and many are employed by small businesses. Most earn low wages and do not have access to health insurance because of the high cost of premiums for both businesses and individuals. An expanded adultBasic program will begin to address these problems.

Health care coverage under the expanded adultBasic program will be offered through private insurance companies and will include coverage for prescription drugs. The proposal will increase the number of low-income Pennsylvanians with state-supported health care insurance by 50,000 – from approximately 40,000 at the end of fiscal year 2008-09 to an estimated 90,000 by the end of 2009-10.

The total state and federal cost for the expanded adultBasic program is projected to be $251.7 million in 2009-10. State funding for the program is derived from existing tobacco and community health reinvestment funds used to support the more-limited current adultBasic program, and $66.4 million from the Health Care Provider Retention Account over four years.

The program will also be funded with new federal matching funds and enrollee premiums.

The expanded program will begin providing health care coverage to new enrollees on July 1, 2009, assuming timely passage of state legislation and approval by the federal government for the use of federal matching funds. The expansion will sunset on June 30, 2013.

- Pennsylvania will pay down Mcare's Unfunded Liability – the "Claims Tail" – to preserve the recent improvements in the medical malpractice market

The Mcare program is currently operated on a "pay-as-you-go" basis. As court judgments and claim settlements occur, Mcare makes annual payments to cover these claims obligations, which can often be several years after the alleged malpractice incident. As a result, Mcare will continue to make claims payments for several decades, even if the fund is no longer responsible for providing medical malpractice coverage going forward.

To protect the substantial progress that has been seen in the medical malpractice climate and to further improve health care access for Pennsylvanians, the 2009-10 budget proposes to “pre-pay” the liability of the Mcare fund, with contributions derived from the following sources:

- A $280 million down payment from the Health Care Provider Retention Account;
- Continued redirection of $44 million per year in moving violation surcharge revenues from the Catastrophic Loss Benefits Continuation fund to the Mcare fund through December 2023, providing a total of $638 million in revenues;
- The current balance of the Mcare fund, which was approximately $104 million in December 2008; and
- Interest earnings on these contributions for the duration of the Mcare claims tail.

These sources will pay off Mcare’s unfunded liability over the long term, allowing Mcare to terminate health care provider assessments once the fund is no longer providing prospective coverage.

In addition to expanding the adultBasic program and paying down the unfunded liability of the Mcare fund, the commonwealth needs to enact other important efforts to achieve comprehensive health care reform:

- Protect individuals and small businesses from extraordinary spikes in health care premium costs through more effective regulation of the individual and small-group insurance market. The Prescription for Pennsylvania calls for the strengthening of state oversight of health insurance companies and health maintenance organizations. This strengthened oversight will protect individuals and small employers from volatile premium increases, require insurers to establish a standard basic health care package for individuals and small businesses, and prohibit insurers from driving up the cost of insurance based on narrowly defined demographic characteristics. Insurers would also be required to use at least 85 percent of the premiums they collect from small businesses to pay for health care.
- Eliminate duplicative and unnecessary capital expenditures for new technology, equipment and facilities that lead to high health care costs. The Prescription for Pennsylvania calls for the development of a strategy to effectively control expensive health care expenditures and the establishment of criteria that ensure that future expensive capital expenditures will strategically address health care needs.
- Modernize hospital regulations. The Prescription for Pennsylvania calls for updating Pennsylvania’s hospital regulations to reflect quality improvement practices, standardized admission and billing criteria, improved charity care transparency, elimination of avoidable emergency room use, and improved patients’ rights and responsibilities and discharge planning. Modernizing Pennsylvania’s hospital regulations will support the commonwealth’s ongoing strategies to reduce health care costs while improving quality.
- Modify PACE reimbursement rates and pharmaceutical dispensing fees. Since the inception of the Pharmaceutical Assistance Contract for the Elderly Program, or PACE, the Average Wholesale Price has been the primary component of the reimbursement formula for participating pharmacies. Because recent studies have indicated that AWP bears little relationship to the actual cost of the drug paid by the retailer, this budget proposes to add Actual Acquisition Costs as the primary component, which is the final cost paid by the pharmacy after all discounts, rebates and charge-backs are subtracted.

The 2009-10 budget also proposes increased dispensing fees that will offer incentives for pharmacists to consult with prescribing physicians about substituting equivalent generic for brand-name medications. The proposed dispensing fees are $5 for brand-name drugs and $10 for generic drugs.

This initiative will generate approximately $41.6 million in savings in the first year of implementation.

Implementation of the remaining elements of Prescription for Pennsylvania, including an expansion of adultBasic and continuation of the commonwealth’s successful efforts to control medical malpractice insurance costs, will make Pennsylvania a national leader in addressing the issues of health care cost, funding and quality.

Preserving the Safety Net – Helping Pennsylvanians in Need

Helping Children, Seniors and Families Through Tough Economic Times

Although Pennsylvania's economy has fared better than the economies of many other states, the onset of the recession means that more Pennsylvanians need help putting food on the table, heating their homes and caring for their families. The commonwealth's social safety net needs to be in place to help Pennsylvania's children, families, seniors and other vulnerable adults survive tough economic times.

- Food Stamps. Today, the demand for food stamps is at an all-time high in Pennsylvania and in the nation. In December 2008, the number of children and adults eligible for food stamps in Pennsylvania totaled approximately 1.3 million people. This is a 9.3 percent increase from December 2007, when the recession officially started.
- Heating Assistance. A record number of low-income Pennsylvanians are relying on the Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program, or LIHEAP, to stay warm this winter. In the first two months of the program year, nearly 331,000 families have received cash grants – an increase of more than 122,000 families over the same period a year ago. In addition, almost 67,000 low-income families have avoided a heating emergency through the crisis grant program, an increase of more than 6,500 families from the previous program year. While these trends partially reflect increased funding and expanded eligibility limits, they also reflect the growing number of Pennsylvanians who need help to heat their homes.
- Cash Assistance. The number of people receiving Temporary Assistance for Needy Families cash assistance declined by about 25 percent since October 2005. This sustained reduction in the number of people receiving TANF cash grants reflects Pennsylvania's success in helping families achieve independence. The TANF caseload, however, has been holding steady at about 200,000 people since June 2008. This could be a sign that the tougher economy is starting to make it harder for low-income families to get and keep a job. If this turns out to be the case, Pennsylvania will probably start to see more need for assistance in the next year. Three out of six surrounding states – Delaware, Maryland and Ohio – have seen their TANF Cash Assistance caseloads rise between July 2007 and June 2008.

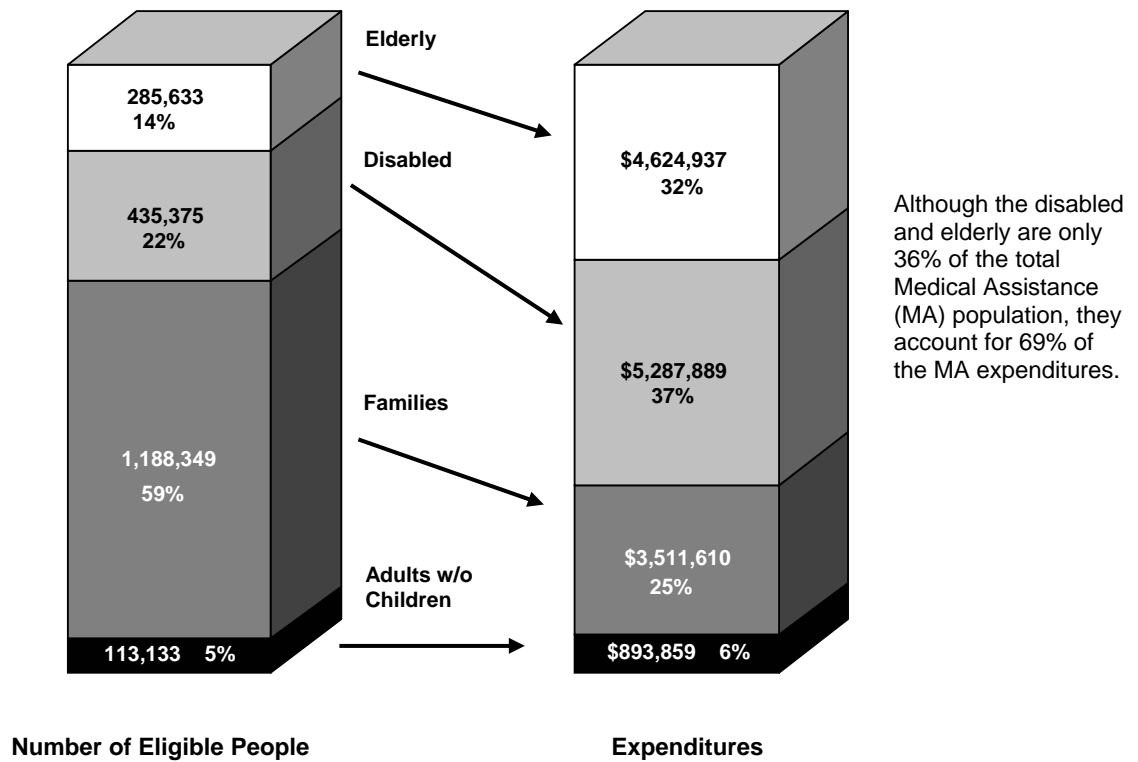

67,400 Fewer People Receive TANF Cash Assistance Today Than in 2005

- Medical Assistance. Medical Assistance is a comprehensive source of medical and long-term living coverage for low-income families, seniors and persons with disabilities. Medical Assistance will provide health care and long-term care services to more than 2 million Pennsylvanians in 2009-10, a 3.2 percent increase over 2008-09. Persons with disabilities and older Pennsylvanians account for half of the increase in enrollment in the current budget year. Children account for an additional one-third of the increase. Chronically ill adults and other adults combined make up only about 17 percent of the increase.

Federal Funding Changes

The sharp downturn in the national economy has put significant pressure on state budgets across the country. To help the state and local governments maintain vital services, at the time of this budget's publication the federal government was considering passage of the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009. A key component of this fiscal stimulus measure is a temporary increase in the Federal Medical Assistance Percentage match rate, and Pennsylvania anticipates approximately $4 billion in additional federal funds over the 27-month adjustment period to help meet increased demand for critical safety net services.

At the same time, a combination of federal funding changes and the need to identify replacement revenues has put additional pressure on the commonwealth's 2009-10 budget. Two major sources of federal revenue are coming to an end due to federal phase-outs. Under the Deficit Reduction Act, states' ability to assess their Medicaid managed care organizations will end September 30, 2009. Pennsylvania currently generates $200 million in revenues through a 5.5 percent assessment. In addition, Intergovernmental Transfers have come to an end. These Intergovernmental Transfer dollars were primarily used to fund nursing homes and other long-term living services; they provided $65.6 million in the 2008-09 budget.

The Commonwealth Will Continue to Provide Vital Services to Pennsylvanians in Need

Governor Rendell is committed to helping Pennsylvania families and other people in need of assistance to survive these difficult economic times. The commonwealth is maintaining its commitment to ensure that all Pennsylvanians currently receiving services maintain those services. The Department of Public Welfare's 2009-10 budget provides an increase of $474.8 million in General Fund resources to maintain and expand programs for Pennsylvanians in need, representing a 5.2 percent increase over the previous year.

Maintaining the Safety Net Depends on Cost Containment

This budget includes broad-based cost-containment reforms and revenue replacement initiatives to fund needed services in critical programs. The commonwealth developed the cost-containment package with three guiding principles in mind:

- 1) Minimize the impact on seniors, children, families and other vulnerable individuals.
- 2) Apply cost reductions across all program areas.
- 3) Avoid program changes that could result in costly placements in institutional settings.

Cost-Containment Initiatives	Dollars in Millions
	2009-10	2010-11
Replace Managed Care Assessment – The department proposes to implement a 2 percent assessment on all managed care organizations in the state beginning January 1, 2010. This will replace the existing Medicaid MCO assessment, which the federal government will discontinue October 1, 2009.	$200.0	$400.0
Implement Smart Pharmacy Program – The department will assume responsibility for administering the pharmacy benefits currently managed by HealthChoices providers. This will simplify prescribing, dispensing and claims submission for providers, maintain consumer access to quality health care and enable the department to receive federal drug rebates, resulting in substantial savings in taxpayer dollars.	$54.0	$146.0
Increase Behavioral Health Managed Care Efficiencies – The department completed the statewide implementation of its behavioral health managed care program in 2008. Program modifications, including adjusting the level of county risk and contingency funds and tightening the treatment of reinvestment funds, will be implemented in 2009-10.	$35.0	$10.0
Reduce Hospital Supplemental Payments – The department will reduce supplemental payments to hospitals through across-the-board reductions in inpatient, outpatient, medical education and community access funds.	$20.0	$20.0
Reduce Fraud and Abuse and Expand Third-Party Liability – The department will implement a Medical Assistance false claims act, enhance the recipient restriction program, limit attorney fees, place a cap on past medical expenses that can be included in determining Medical Assistance eligibility and implement other initiatives.	$15.7	$28.1
Increase Access Plus Efficiencies – The department will continue to enhance disease management by covering an additional 21 conditions, including stroke, hypertension, gastrointestinal diseases and neurological disorders. It will also implement a pharmacy management initiative to reduce costs and improve therapeutic outcomes which includes strengthening utilization management.	$4.4	$11.5

Restructuring the Long-Term Living System

The commonwealth is proposing a significant reorganization of the long-term living system to improve the efficiency of service delivery and the coordination of consumer services.

Governor Rendell has sought to better administer the commonwealth's long-term living system through the integration of programs managed by the Departments of Aging and Public Welfare. This budget proposes to combine these activities in a Department of Aging and Long Term Living to more efficiently coordinate Pennsylvania's efforts to balance the use of home and community-based and nursing facility services.

Pennsylvania has the third-oldest population of any state, and the fastest growing segment of this population is people over 85, the group most likely to use the long-term living system. One in five Pennsylvania residents is over the age of 60, and the number of "younger seniors" will continue to grow until at least 2030. In addition, an estimated 162,000 adult Pennsylvanians ages 18 to 64 need some level of long-term living support. Younger persons with disabilities often have different long-term medical and support needs than older Pennsylvanians.

The commonwealth's plan for long-term living services is based on three key principles:

- Consumers should have options to receive appropriate long-term living services in cost-effective settings that promote quality care.
- The long-term living system should be balanced so that home and community-based care, as well as institutional services, are accessible and available.
- Financial resources should be prudently managed and leveraged to help ensure that the commonwealth can help persons with disabilities maintain their independence and dignity and meet the future needs of Pennsylvania's aging population.

Establishing a single state entity for the administration of long-term living services will result in rebalancing long-term living resources by consolidating policy, financing, quality management and administration into one department. The consolidated department will help make it possible for persons with disabilities and seniors to live with dignity and independence in the setting they prefer. The department will improve the commonwealth's ability to offer cost-effective services to persons with disabilities and to seniors, who together are responsible for nearly two-thirds of Medical Assistance expenditures. In order to provide the necessary budgetary authority to offer quality services and manage costs, a total of $4.4 billion – including state, federal and other funds – will be transferred from the Department of Public Welfare to the Department of Aging and Long Term Living.

The 2009-10 budget proposes to provide home and community-based services for an additional 1,600 persons with disabilities and 2,000 additional older Pennsylvanians.

Expanding the Availability of Quality Early Childhood Services

Quality early childhood programs not only support families in their quest for self-sufficiency, they also support the development of children and their preparation for school and life success. The 2009-10 budget includes an additional $20.6 million in state funds to provide quality child care services to an additional 6,477 children of low-income families and for Keystone STARS providers to continue to improve service quality.

Infants, toddlers and preschoolers who are experiencing developmental delays participate in the Early Intervention program. Program services are intended to minimize developmental delays and reduce the need for special education and related services, and to assist families in meeting the special needs of their children. This budget provides funds to serve approximately 2,980 additional children in 2009-10.

Protecting Children and Preserving Families

Providing services to children and families in their homes and communities improves parenting skills and builds the long-term ability of the family to cope with stressful life circumstances. Under Governor Rendell's leadership, Pennsylvania has maintained a steady focus on improving the well-being of children. The commonwealth continues to support programs that prevent child abuse and neglect, enable children to stay in their own homes, and help low-income and at-risk children and families thrive. For the 2009-10 budget, the state is earmarking more than $25.5 million for the use of evidence-based in-home services, including proven approaches that focus on the whole family, not just the child. The state is also providing $21.7 million for outcomes-based services known as Pennsylvania Promising Practices.

The commonwealth is continuing to build on past successes to increase the availability of prevention and in-home services for at-risk children and families and reduce the need for out-of-home placements. Between 2003-04 and 2009-10, the number of children receiving in-home services is projected to increase by nearly 13,000. During the same period, the number of children in community residential programs and institutional care programs will decrease by more than 12.1 percent. For children who must be placed in residential programs, the priority will be to provide services close to the child's home. Services to children, youth and families will be provided in an integrated and consumer-friendly manner at the county and state levels.

In addition, Pennsylvania continues its commitment to connect children who need homes with loving families who want to adopt them. The 2009-10 budget includes an increase of $6.3 million to allow more children to be adopted and to continue to provide financial assistance to those who have already been adopted, for a total state investment of $27.3 million.

Pennsylvania is also working hard to protect the financial well-being of children in cases where parents do not live together due to divorce or other circumstances. The Department of Public Welfare operates one of the most successful child-support enforcement programs in the nation, with nearly $1.7 billion collected and distributed annually on behalf of approximately 640,000 children statewide. The federal government ranked Pennsylvania number one in its collections rate on the National Performance Indicators for collection of current and past due child support. In addition, Pennsylvania earned $25.6 million last year in performance bonus incentives from the federal government. The department collects nearly $7 in child support for every $1 spent on administrative costs and exceeds the federal average of $5 for every $1 spent. This budget will increase its investment in child support enforcement by $2 million.

Expanding Services for Individuals with Special Needs

Two years ago, Governor Rendell successfully launched a major initiative to reduce the number of persons with mental retardation on the waiting list for state services. The 2009-10 budget builds on that foundation by providing an additional $15.1 million for community mental retardation services. This budget will provide home and community-based services for 793 additional individuals, including 500 young people leaving the special education system. These funds will also be used to implement new management initiatives designed to improve Pennsylvania's response to individuals' changing needs. In addition, this budget includes an increase of $7.7 million to continue to provide home and community-based services for adults with autism and $4.2 million to support community-based mental health programs for persons discharged from state hospitals.

Preserving the Safety Net

In times of high economic stress, Pennsylvanians need help. This budget reaffirms the commonwealth's commitment to preserving the safety net for Pennsylvania's most vulnerable citizens and ensures that children, the elderly, persons with disabilities and low-income families will have access to health care and other critical services.

Making Pennsylvania Safer

Even in these difficult and challenging economic times, Pennsylvania is committed to ensuring a comprehensive and proactive approach to keeping Pennsylvanians safe. This budget illustrates that commitment by continuing to fund State Police Troopers at a high level, fortifying our emergency preparedness functions, and providing the Department of Corrections and the Board of Probation and Parole with the tools necessary to reduce victimization and increase public safety.

Continuing Record Number of State Police Troopers

Governor Rendell has consistently recognized the vital services Pennsylvania's state troopers provide; under his leadership, the number of state troopers has reached levels historically higher than those in all previous administrations. The number of troopers is projected to exceed 4,500 in 2009-10. This budget provides an effective level of state troopers to keep communities safe, patrol the commonwealth's interstates, investigate firearm-related and drug crimes and ensure that sex offenders comply with their registration requirements under Pennsylvania's Megan's Law.

Expanding Capacity to Safely House Prisoners

Pennsylvania's offender population continues to increase. In light of the increases in Pennsylvania's prison population and to ensure continued compliance with national standards, this budget provides $19.6 million in funding to the Department of Corrections for more than 1,600 additional beds at 10 different institutions. This budget also provides $2 million for additional parole officers to effectively supervise parolees and to avoid repeat victimization after release on parole.

Providing Programs for Less-Violent Offenders to Successfully Re-enter Society and Ensuring that Violent Offenders Serve Longer Prison Terms

In September 2008, Governor Rendell signed comprehensive legislation that will reduce the recidivism rate, reduce crime and help to control the prison population by increasing access to drug treatment programs and providing incentives for less-serious offenders to complete programs that offer the tools they need to live crime-free in society. This legislation projects a total five-year cost savings of $84.5 million. In addition, the legislation helps to address the needs of less-serious offenders, whose admission rates have increased at a far greater pace over the last eight years than the admission rate of violent offenders. In 2000, less-violent offenders made up 28 percent of the prison population, while today that figure is nearly 40 percent.

In contrast to the majority of offenders, some offenders will continue to pose a threat to public safety if they are paroled before they possess the skills and competencies necessary to reintegrate into society. The Governor has proposed legislation that would change the sentencing structure for repeat violent offenders who use a deadly weapon in the commission of a crime by instituting certainty in sentencing. This proposed legislation will ensure a longer prison term and end the possibility of parole for these offenders. Specifically, the Governor's proposal would establish flat, determinate sentences for repeat violent offenders who use deadly weapons, to be followed by a five-year period of post-release supervision. Nearly 25 other states and the federal government have either eliminated or limited parole for certain classes of offenders.

Improving the Commonwealth's Preparedness for Disasters and Emergencies

Emergency Preparedness. An ongoing priority for the administration has been executing an all-hazards emergency preparedness strategy comprised of the four essential mission areas of prevention, protection, response and recovery. A comprehensive analysis of the commonwealth's preparedness capabilities has led to a continued effort to restructure emergency preparedness efforts within the commonwealth. This restructuring includes:

- Transitioning the Pennsylvania Emergency Management Agency into the Department of Emergency Management and Homeland Security – a Cabinet-level agency.
- Bolstering the Governor's Emergency Management Council with additional members and new responsibilities.
- Requiring the new Department of Emergency Management and Homeland Security to develop and implement a comprehensive Commonwealth Preparedness Strategic Plan.
- Requiring the Department of Emergency Management and Homeland Security to coordinate emergency management and response efforts across all state agencies.
- Implementing a more aggressive and fiscally responsible model for distributing federal and state funds.
- Continuing successful partnerships with local governments, the private sector and the federal government.
- Continuing the ReadyPA Citizen Preparedness Campaign and launching a statewide, multi-technology emergency alerting and notification system.
- Pursuing an update to the Pennsylvania Emergency Management Services Code. These statutory provisions must be amended to reflect national changes in emergency management and homeland security enacted since the attacks of September 11, 2001 and Hurricane Katrina in 2005.
- Continuing to institutionalize the National Incident Management System to enable all jurisdictions and disciplines providing public safety services across the commonwealth to work together to better respond to disasters and emergencies.

Pandemic Preparedness. The Department of Health, the Department of Emergency Management and Homeland Security and the Office of Administration will continue to monitor and prepare for the possible threat of a pandemic event caused by the H5N1 strain of avian influenza and any other emerging disease threat. The commonwealth's efforts on this subject are focused on three main activities:

- Preparing state employees and establishing necessary continuity of operations plans and policies and testing those plans;
- Ensuring that the commonwealth's health care, emergency management and other response partners are prepared by developing and testing more robust plans to address the issues of vaccine and antiviral distribution, community disease containment, health care system capacity, local government response, workforce planning, and citizen education and preparedness; and
- Working with critical industry partners to ensure that essential industry functions are sustained if a pandemic occurs.

Public safety is integral to a high quality of life and continues to be a priority for Governor Rendell. By reaching a historic level of law enforcement personnel, offering offenders the treatment and supervision necessary to prevent a return to prison, and enhancing the commonwealth's emergency preparedness and response capability, Pennsylvania continues to take proactive measures to improve the safety and security of its citizens.

FEDERAL BLOCK GRANTS

The federal government has two primary types of grants: categorical grants and block grants. The categorical grants are generally distributed for specific purposes. Block grants are distributed to state and local governments based on a distribution formula and are available for an activity that falls within the purposes of the federal authorizing legislation. Generally the block grants provide state and local governments greater flexibility than categorical grants.

The commonwealth implemented eight block grants based on the Federal Omnibus Reconciliation Act of 1981. Since that time, block grants have been added and revised based on changes in federal law. The Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act of 1996 created two new block grants: Temporary Assistance to Needy Families and the Child Care and Development Fund which replaced the Child Care Block Grant.

In addition, three programs have been included in this presentation because the federal government provides flexibility on the activities eligible for funding. These programs are: Workforce Investment, Innovative Education Program Strategies and Anti-Drug Abuse Programs. Beginning in 2005-06, the commonwealth receives funds from the new federal Justice Assistance Grants (JAG) in lieu of the Drug Control and System Improvement (DCSI) grants. However, carryover funds will continue to support some DCSI grants for a number of years.

The tables within this section provide information on the estimated amount to be received from the federal government and an estimated distribution of the funds by program within the block grant. Generally, the amounts shown for administrative costs represent the amount allowable by the federal government. The 2008-09 estimated block grant amounts reflect the current estimate of amounts available and, therefore, may be different from amounts appropriated.

The recommended distribution by program for 2009-10 is a preliminary proposal. Opportunities for public review and comment may result in modifications to the proposed distribution.

Community Services

This block grant provides funds for community-based programs that offer health, nutrition, housing and employment related services to improve the standard of living of low-income persons. Programs consolidated into the block grant include Community Action, Senior Opportunities and Services, Community Food and Nutrition, Energy Conservation and Training, Evaluation and Technical Assistance.

Federal law requires that 90 percent of the funding be distributed to Community Action Agencies (CAAs). Five percent is allowed for administration and the remaining five percent is utilized for competitive projects. The 90 percent program monies are being granted to existing CAAs for operating costs and low-income energy assistance efforts, the Pennsylvania Directors' Association for Community Action and competitive grants are awarded in the areas of employment training, job preparedness, community conservation corps, community economic development, summer employment and youth programs, emergency assistance and homeless assistance.

The funds estimated for administration are based on the statutory limitation of five percent and will be utilized for program purposes if not needed for administration.

Innovative Education Programs

This program is authorized by Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, as amended by Title V of the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001, to assist state and local education agencies in the reform of elementary and secondary education.

These funds may be used to support education reform efforts that are consistent with and support statewide education reform. Funding also enables state educational agencies and local educational agencies to implement promising educational reform programs based on scientifically based research and to provide a continuing source of innovation and educational improvement, including support programs to provide library services and instructional and media materials. This program also seeks to meet the educational needs of all students, including at-risk youth, and to develop and implement education programs to improve school, student and teacher performance, including professional development activities and class size reduction programs.

Federal law provides that the commonwealth must distribute at least 85 percent of the funds to local education agencies. The remaining 15 percent is available to the state for state administration and technical assistance.

Workforce Investment

The Workforce Investment Act of 1998 authorized the Workforce Investment Block Grant. It has three main program components: Adult, Youth and Dislocated Workers. The purpose of the Adult program is to improve the quality of the workforce, reduce welfare dependency and enhance the productivity and competitiveness of the nation's economy by providing workforce investment activities that increase the employment, retention and earnings of participants, and increase occupational skill attainment by the participants. The youth program assists low-income youth between the ages of 14 and 21 to acquire the educational and occupational skills, training and support needed to achieve academic and employment success and successfully transition to careers and productive adulthood. The dislocated worker program shares the same overall purpose of the adult program with emphasis on reemployment of these workers.

The commonwealth distributes funds by formula to 23 local agencies called Local Workforce Investment Areas for the attainment of agreed-upon performance goals.

Child Care and Development Fund

The Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act of 1996 created this block grant which provides funds to states for an integrated child care program. This program allows states flexibility in developing programs to provide child care to children of low-income working parents and parents trying to become independent of public assistance, to provide consumer education information to parents, to promote parental choice and to implement state health, safety, licensing and registration standards. States are not required to match discretionary funds, however, there are some maintenance of effort and state matching requirements.

Social Services

Funds are provided to help individuals achieve or maintain self-sufficiency; to prevent, reduce or eliminate dependency; to prevent or remedy abuse and neglect of children and adults; and to prevent or reduce institutional care. Most services are delivered by local entities that receive grants or contract with the Department of Public Welfare. These federal allocations serve to augment state appropriations thereby increasing the total level of services provided.

In addition to funds received directly through the Social Services Block Grant, the Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act of 1996 authorized transfers from the Temporary Assistance to Needy Families Block Grant.

The Omnibus Reconciliation Act of 1993 included a grant program to states under the Social Services Block Grant for the establishment of empowerment zones and enterprise communities. Federal funds were targeted to specific urban or rural areas in proven economic distress. Funds received by the state go directly to eligible communities. Pennsylvania's share of the one-time grant was $88,007,000 which was totally committed but is being spent over several years. The amounts shown below represent estimated carryover of commitments from the one-time grant. The program was transferred to the Department of Community and Economic Development in 1997-98.

Temporary Assistance to Needy Families

The Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act of 1996 created a block grant that makes funds available to the states to operate the Temporary Assistance to Needy Families (TANF) program. Pennsylvania implemented the TANF program on March 3, 1997. Funds are available to provide temporary cash and other benefits to help needy families participating in activities designed to end the dependence on government benefits and to provide services for dependent and abused children. In addition, funds may be used for services designed to prevent future dependency. This block grant requires a state maintenance of effort and establishes mandatory work participation rates. States are allowed to transfer up to a total of 30 percent of their TANF funds to the Child Care and Development Fund and Social Services Block Grants. No more than 10 percent may be transferred to the Social Services Block Grant. These transfers are included in the Child Care and Development Fund and the Social Services Block Grant.

Anti-Drug Abuse

Two grant programs initially authorized by the Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1986, the Drug Control and System Improvement (DCSI) grant and the Safe and Drug Free Schools and Communities (DFSC) grant, are presented below.

In 2005-06, the federal government combined the Edward Byrne Memorial Formula Grant Program, which was the source of the Drug Control and System Improvement (DCSI) grants with the Local Law Enforcement Block Grant to create the Justice Assistance Grant (JAG) program. The new program continues the DCSI objectives of assisting state and local governments to implement a wide range of drug enforcement and correctional treatment projects as well as to provide victim services and juvenile and criminal justice system improvement initiatives throughout the commonwealth.

The objective of the Safe and Drug Free Schools and Communities program is to establish state and local programs for alcohol and drug abuse education and prevention, in addition to violence prevention, coordinated with related community efforts and resources. The allocation made to Pennsylvania is administered by the Department of Education and the Commission on Crime and Delinquency, with the majority of these funds going to local education agencies.

The commonwealth also receives funds from the Substance Abuse Block Grant. This program, along with funding recommendations, is described elsewhere in this section.

---- Lottery sales promotion - $32 million will be spent on advertising campaigns to promote lottery sales and to disseminate information on the various lottery programs including property tax and rent assistance for older Pennsylvanians during 2009-10. These expenditures are expected to generate approximately $3.41 billion in lottery revenues during 2009-10.

---- Economic development - A total of $19.99 million is budgeted in the General Fund to promote tourism and economic development. This will contribute to an estimated $24.5 billion in 2009-10 travel revenues to Pennsylvania and supports the State's aggressive effort to preserve and create jobs.

COMMONWEALTH PROGRAM BUDGET

This section summarizes the budget by major revenue source and major program area of expenditure. This summary includes programs funded from the General Fund, the eleven budgeted special revenue funds, federal funds, and other revenues including augmentations, restricted receipts and revenues, and other special revenue funds.

Detailed supporting information is provided for each major program area of expenditure by component categories and subcategories (subdivisions of activities) which contribute to the commonwealth's total effort in that program. Detailed information on individual revenue sources may be found in the appropriate fund presentation in the Summary by Fund section of this document.

General Fund Revenue Sources

Gross Receipts Tax

Tax Base: This tax is levied on the gross receipts from business transacted within Pennsylvania by specified companies owned, operated or leased by corporations, associations or individuals. Beginning January 1, 2004, interstate and cellular telecommunications services are subject to the gross receipts tax. An exemption from the gross receipts tax for the resale of telecommunication services became effective January 1, 2000. Gross receipts of regulated gas companies from the sale of natural and artificial gas were exempted from the tax effective January 1, 2000. The tax on motor transportation companies was repealed effective January 1, 1998. In fiscal year 1998-99 through fiscal year 2002-03, 0.18 percent of total electric gross receipts was transferred to the Public Transportation Assistance Fund. Beginning with fiscal year 1993-94, 0.25 mill is transferred to the Alternative Fuels Incentive Grant Fund. The revenues shown for the General Fund are net of these transfers.

Tax Rates: July 1, 1991 to Current	45 mills plus a 5 mill surtax (electric utilities pay 44 mills or a rate as adjusted by the revenue neutral reconciliation rate, which was permanently set at 15 mills for 2003 and thereafter). Beginning in 2004, an additional surcharge may apply in the event refunds for Public Utility Realty Tax Appeals exceed $5 million in the prior fiscal year.
January 1, 1988 to June 30, 1991	44 mills.
Prior to January 1, 1988	45 mills.

Reference: Purdon's Title 72 P.S. §8101—§8102; 72 P.S. §2183—§2194.

Public Utility Realty Tax

Tax Base: This tax is levied on the State taxable value of the property owned by utilities furnishing utility service and regulated by the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission or similar regulatory body. The State taxable value is defined as the current market value of utility realty. Effective January 1, 2000, electric generation assets became subject to local real estate tax and were excluded from the Public Utility Realty Tax base.

Tax Rate: The tax rate is set each year upon determination by the Department of Revenue of the required distribution of the realty tax equivalent to local tax authorities. Revenue from an additional 7.6 mills is deposited in the General Fund. For tax year 2004 and thereafter, the Department of Revenue calculates a Gross Receipts Tax surcharge in the event that refunds for Public Utility Realty Tax appeals exceed $5 million in the prior fiscal year. No surcharge was required for tax year 2006. The surcharge for tax year 2007 was 1.2 mills and the surcharge for tax year 2008 was 2.8 mills. No surcharge is required for tax year 2009.

Insurance Premiums Tax

Tax Base: This tax is levied on the gross premiums from all business transacted within the commonwealth during each calendar year by domestic and foreign insurance companies.

Tax Rates: The rate is 2 percent of gross premiums plus a retaliatory tax where applicable. Marine insurance companies pay a 5 percent tax on underwriting profits attributable to Pennsylvania in lieu of the gross premiums tax. A tax of 3 percent is imposed on policies written with surplus lines agents or other nonadmitted insurers.

Reference: Purdon's Title 72 P.S. §7901—§7906.

Financial Institutions Taxes

Tax Base: This category includes taxes levied on the taxable amount of the capital stock of banks, trust and domestic title insurance companies, and on the taxable net income of mutual thrift institutions.

Tax Rates: Since calendar year 1990 the tax rate for the Bank and Trust Company Shares Tax and Title Insurance Shares Tax has been 1.25 percent. For calendar year 1989 the rate was 10.77 percent. Before January 1, 1989, the rate for both taxes was 1.075 percent on the value of capital stock shares. The Mutual Thrift Institution Tax rate is 20 percent for tax years 1987 through 1990, 12.5 percent for tax year 1991 and 11.5 percent thereafter.

Severance Tax on Natural Gas

Proposed Change: A new tax on the severance of natural gas within the commonwealth is proposed. The tax base is the value of the natural gas when severed. The rate is 5% of the value of the natural gas at the wellhead plus $0.047 per thousand cubic feet of natural gas severed. The tax is effective October 1, 2009.

Sales and Use Tax

Tax Base: The tax is levied on the sale at retail, including rental, of tangible personal property and certain services, or upon the use within Pennsylvania of tangible personal property, or taxable services purchased at retail if the tax was not paid at time of purchase. A tax on the occupancy of hotel rooms is imposed as part of the sales and use tax law. A transfer of 0.947 percent of revenues from this tax is deposited in the Public Transportation Assistance Fund. Beginning in fiscal year 2007-08, 4.4 percent of receipts are transferred annually to the Public Transportation Trust Fund. The revenues shown for the General Fund are net of these transfers.

Tax Rate: A bracket system based on 6 percent of purchase price for Sales and Use Tax and 6 percent of rent for Hotel Occupancy Tax. The current tax rate was enacted in 1968.

Reference: Purdon's Title 72 P.S. §7201 et seq.

Proposed Change: The one percent discount for the timely remittance of sales tax collected by licensed vendors is proposed to be eliminated effective July 1, 2009. Under current law, a licensed vendor is permitted a one percent discount as a credit against the gross amount of tax collected provided that a tax return, with full payment due the department, is postmarked on or before the due date.

Cigarette Tax

Tax Base: The tax is imposed and assessed on the sale or possession of cigarettes within Pennsylvania. Only one sale of the cigarette is taxable.

Tax Rates: The rate is 6.75 cents per cigarette. Beginning in January 2004, 18.52 percent of cigarette tax receipts is transferred to the Health Care Provider Retention Account. Beginning in fiscal year 2002-03, fixed annual amounts of $30.73 million and $20.485 million of Cigarette Tax receipts are transferred to the Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP) and the Agricultural Conservation Easement Purchase (ACEP) Fund, respectively. Transfers of Cigarette Tax receipts to CHIP began in fiscal year 1992-93 at the rate of two thirty-firsts of receipts. After January 1, 1997, the transfer amount was increased to three thirty-firsts of receipts. Transfers of Cigarette Tax receipts to the ACEP Fund began in fiscal year 1993-94 at the rate of two thirty-firsts of receipts. The revenues shown for the General Fund are net of these transfers.

Reference: Purdon's Title 72 P.S. §8201 et seq.

Proposed Change: An increase in the cigarette tax is proposed to be effective August 1, 2009. The rate is proposed to increase 0.50 cents per cigarette from $1.35 per pack to $1.45 per pack. In addition, the 18.52 percent transfer to the Health Care Provider Retention Account is eliminated effective July 1, 2009.

Other Tobacco Products Tax

Proposed Change: A new tax on other tobacco products, including smokeless tobacco, cigars and cigarillos, and loose tobacco is proposed. The tax rate would be 36 cents per ounce for smokeless and loose tobacco and 36 cents per 10 sticks of cigars and cigarillos. The proposed tax would be effective October 1, 2009.

Malt Beverage Tax

Tax Base: The tax is levied on the manufacture, sale and use of malt or brewed beverage within the commonwealth by manufacturers, distributors and importers.

Tax Rates: The tax rate is two-thirds of a cent ($2/3\text{¢}$) per half pint of 8 fluid ounces or fraction thereof, and in larger quantities at the rate of one cent (1¢) per pint or 6 fluid ounces or fraction thereof.

Reference: Purdon's Title 72 P.S. §9001 et seq.

Liquor Tax

Tax Base: All liquor sold by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board.

Tax Rate: The rate is 18 percent of the net retail purchase price. The net retail purchase price includes the wholesale cost of the product, plus mark-up, handling charge and federal tax.

Reference: Purdon's Title 47 P.S. §794—§796.

Personal Income Tax

Tax Base: The tax is paid by all residents, resident trust and estates on eight separate classes of income: (1) compensation, (2) net profits, (3) interest, (4) dividends, (5) income from the disposition of property, (6) rents and royalties, (7) gambling and lottery winnings (except Pennsylvania Lottery winnings won after July 20, 1983), and (8) income from estates and trusts. The tax is also paid by non-resident individuals, estates and trusts on the following income from sources within the commonwealth: compensation for personal services performed in Pennsylvania unless the taxpayer is a resident of a state with which there is a reciprocal agreement; net profits from activity conducted in Pennsylvania; income from the rental, ownership or disposition of any real or personal property, and income from gambling activity in Pennsylvania except prizes of the Pennsylvania State Lottery. A loss in one class of income may not be offset against income in another class, nor may gains or losses be carried back or forward from year to year. A credit is available to those individuals receiving tax forgiveness under the special provisions for poverty. Beginning in 1999, a qualified single individual with eligibility income of $6,500 or less would receive 100 percent tax forgiveness. The eligibility income limit for each qualifying dependent of a claimant for tax forgiveness under the special tax provisions for poverty is $9,500 beginning in 2004. The amount of forgiveness declines by 10 percent for each $250 of income.

Tax Rates: For calendar and fiscal year filers whose year begins in the following periods:

1993 to 2003	2.80%
1992	2.95%
1991	2.60%
1987 to 1990	2.10%
1986	2.16%
1985	2.35%

Realty Transfer Tax

Tax Base: The tax is levied on the value of the real estate transferred by a deed, instrument or other writing. Other taxable transfers include long-term leases greater than thirty years, transfers of real estate from industrial development authorities that will not be used primarily for industrial purposes, and "deemed" transfers of real estate because of the acquisition of companies which are in the business of holding or selling real estate. Beginning in July 1994, 15 percent of the revenues are transferred to the Keystone Recreation, Park and Conservation Fund. The transfer rate was reduced to 10 percent of revenues from January 2002 through June 2002, and to 7.5 percent from July 2002 through June 2003. The transfer rate returned to 15 percent for July 2003 through June 2006. The rate reduced to 2.1 percent for July 2006 through June 2007, and returned to 15 percent for July 2007 and thereafter. The revenues shown for the General Fund are net of this transfer.

General Fund Revenue Sources

Tax Rate: Rate of 1 percent of the value of the property transferred.

Reference: Purdon's Title 72 P.S. §8101-C—§8113-C.

Inheritance and Estate Taxes

Tax Base: The Inheritance Tax is imposed on the value of property transferred to beneficiaries of a deceased person and certain transfers made during the decedent's lifetime. The value of the transfer is established on the date of the decedent's death. The Estate Tax is levied when the Federal estate tax credit for State death taxes exceeds a decedent's Inheritance Tax liability. The Federal estate tax credit was phased out between 2002 and 2005; the credit is to be fully reinstated in 2011 under current law.

Tax Rates: Rates are based on the relationship of the decedent and the beneficiary. Transfers of non-jointly held property to spouses are taxed at a rate of 0 percent. Transfers to parents of decedents 21 years of age or younger are taxed at a rate of 0 percent (effective July 1, 2000). Transfers to lineal beneficiaries are taxed at 4.5 percent (effective July 1, 2000). Transfers to siblings of the decedents are subject to a 12 percent tax rate (effective July 1, 2000). Transfers to all other beneficiaries are taxed at 15 percent. The Estate Tax equals the Federal credit for State death taxes, less the Inheritance Tax paid.

Reference: Purdon's Title 72 P.S. §9101 et seq.

Minor Taxes Include: Tax on Legal Documents, Act of April 6, 1830, P.L. 272 (Purdon's Title 72 P.S. §3171) and excess Vehicle Rental Tax, Act of June 16, 1994, P.L. 279 (Purdon's Title 72 P.S. §8601-A). The Spirituous and Vinous Liquors Tax, Acts of December 5, 1933, P.L. 38 (Special Session) and December 22, 1933, P.L. 91 (Special Session) (Purdon's Title 47 P.S. §745) was repealed effective July 1, 2001.

State Stores Fund Transfer

The State Stores Fund Transfer is an amount determined by the Liquor Control Board to be available for transfer to the General Fund to be used for general appropriation purposes as provided by Act No. 412-½ of July 18, 1935, P.L. 1316 (Purdon's Title 47 P.S. §744-907b).

Licenses, Fees and Miscellaneous Revenue

Licenses and fees include collections by commonwealth agencies that are not specifically required by law to be placed in special funds to support a specific purpose. Although amounts obtained from an individual class of license very often are sufficient only to cover regulatory costs, any additional money is available for general purposes. Many licenses and fees are required by laws designed to protect the public from indiscriminate and unsafe practices.

Miscellaneous revenues include all other income to be used for general appropriation purposes in the General Fund, except monies which are given to the commonwealth by individuals, or are provided by law to be deposited in the Judicial Computer System Augmentation Account in accordance with Act 1988-79 (Purdon's Title 42 Pa.C.S.A. §3733). Any fines, fees or costs which are allocated to counties and municipalities are not affected by this act.

Fines, Penalties and Interest

This revenue source includes penalties and interest collected in the enforcement of corporation taxes.

Also included are fines and penalties not required by law to be placed into a special fund for a specific purpose. Most of these fines and penalties collected by the various departments are an integral part of enforcement of the laws providing for licenses and fees.

MOTOR LICENSE FUND

The Motor License Fund is a special revenue fund composed of monies received from liquid fuels taxes, licenses and fees on motor vehicles, aviation fuel tax revenues, federal aid for highway and aviation purposes, contributions from local subdivisions for highway projects and other miscellaneous highway revenues.

The fund provides for highway and bridge improvement, design, maintenance and purchase of rights-of-way, as well as aviation activities and Department of Transportation licensing and safety activities. It also finances State Police highway patrol operations and pays subsidies to local subdivisions for construction and maintenance of roads.

Tax Base and Rates:

Liquid Fuels and Fuels Tax: The Liquid Fuels and Fuels Tax is based on the number of gallons of liquid fuels (primarily gasoline) and fuels (primarily diesel) used, sold or delivered within the commonwealth by distributors. All monies collected are placed in the Motor License Fund, except discounts and an amount equal to one-half cent per gallon which is placed in the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund. The present tax rate is 12 cents per gallon. Prior to October 1, 1997, liquid fuels and fuels were taxed separately under the Liquid Fuels Tax Act and the Fuels Use Tax Act respectively. Both acts were repealed effective October 1, 1997.

Alternative Fuels Tax: The Alternative Fuels Tax became effective October 1, 1997, and is imposed on fuels other than liquid fuels or fuels used to propel motor vehicles on public highways. The tax rate applied to each gasoline gallon equivalent of alternative fuel equals the current total of the liquid fuels and fuels tax and the oil company franchise tax applicable to one gallon of gasoline.

Motor Carriers Road Tax-International Fuel Tax Agreement: The Motor Carriers Road Tax is levied on motor carriers operating vehicles with a gross weight or registered gross weight in excess of 26,000 pounds. The tax is comprised of a 12 cents per gallon tax and an oil company franchise tax element based upon 153.5 mills of the average wholesale price for liquid fuels and 208.5 mills of the average wholesale price for fuels and is imposed on a cents-per-gallon equivalent basis. Previously, the tax rate was 115 mills. Prior to October 1, 1997, an additional tax of 6 cents per gallon was collected through the motor carriers road tax. This tax was repealed and replaced by a 55 mill addition to the oil company franchise tax rate, imposed on fuels effective October 1, 1997. The 55 mill portion of the tax rate is dedicated to the highway bridge restricted account. Credit against the tax is given for liquid fuels and fuels tax and oil company franchise tax paid at the pump or directly remitted. Credit is also given for tax paid on motor fuels purchased in Pennsylvania but consumed elsewhere.

The Motorbus Road Tax which imposed taxes on the amount of motor fuel used by bus companies in their operations on highways within the commonwealth was repealed, effective January 1, 1996, with the enactment of the International Fuel Tax Agreement (IFTA).

Identification markers are required to be issued annually upon a payment of $5 per vehicle for each vehicle subject to these taxes based in the commonwealth.

Interstate Bus Compact Fuels Tax. This tax which imposed a tax on fuels consumed by interstate buses was repealed, effective January 1, 1993, and replaced by the Motorbus Road Tax.

International Fuel Tax Agreement (IFTA). Effective January 1, 1996, Pennsylvania implemented IFTA. Under this agreement, qualified vehicles are subject to base state reporting and payment of fuel tax obligations. Qualified vehicles are those with two axles greater than 26,000 pounds, combinations greater than 26,000 pounds and those with three or more axles regardless of weight. Therefore, 17,001 to 26,000 pound vehicles, which previously were subject to the Motor Carriers Road Tax, are not subject under IFTA. Additionally, the Motorbus Road Tax was repealed and a bus meeting the qualified vehicle definition is subject to IFTA provisions. Identification markers remain at $5 per qualified vehicle. The underlying fuel tax rates are unaffected by IFTA.

Oil Company Franchise Tax. This tax is an excise tax on all fuels taxed pursuant to the Liquid Fuels and Fuels Tax and the Alternative Fuels Tax. The current tax rate is 153.5 mills for liquid fuels and alternative fuels and 208.5 mills for fuels and is imposed on a cents-per-gallon equivalent basis. The tax rate was increased by 38.5 mills effective May 1, 1997. The revenues from this rate increase are dedicated to specific highway maintenance purposes. Of the current tax rate, 57 mills is deposited as unrestricted Motor License Fund revenues. The balance of the tax rate represents revenues restricted to certain highway activities. These dedicated and restricted taxes are not included in the above estimates. Bus companies are entitled to a refund equal to 55 mills of the Oil Company Franchise Tax paid on fuels.

Various motor vehicle registration fees were increased as of either July 1, 1997, or January 1, 1998, by Act 3 of 1997.

Aviation revenue includes taxes levied on aviation gasoline and jet fuel, and income earned at state-owned airports. Effective January 2, 1998, in accordance with Act 60 of 1997, ownership of these airports was transferred to a local authority. Therefore, starting with 1997-98, aviation revenues exclude state-owned airport revenue. Aviation gasoline and jet fuel tax rates are adjusted annually based on the change in the jet fuel price index. In accordance with Act 164 of 1984, the aviation gasoline rate is not to exceed 6.0 cents per gallon nor be less than 3.0 cents per gallon. The jet fuel tax is not to exceed 2.0 cents per gallon nor be less than 1.5 cents per gallon. The tax rate as of January 1, 2009, is 5.8 cents per gallon on aviation gasoline and 2.0 cents per gallon on jet fuel. Aviation restricted revenues are not included in Motor License Fund revenue totals.

The Environmental Stewardship Fund originally received revenue from a 25 cent per ton, or 25 cent per three cubic yards, fee for all solid waste received at a landfill in the commonwealth. Act 90 of 2002 added an additional $4 per ton disposal fee for all solid waste disposed of at any municipal waste landfill. For fiscal year 2002-03, the first $50 million received from this fee was deposited into this special fund. In fiscal year 2003-04, and thereafter, all revenue from these fees is deposited in this special fund.

Net lottery collections consist of the proceeds from lottery ticket sales less commissions and some prizes. Currently prizes of $2,500 or less for the on-line games and prizes of $500 or less for instant games can be paid by the ticket agents. The State Lottery is currently operating nine games. The "Daily Number" game introduced in March 1977, the "Big 4" game introduced in November 1980, the "Cash 5" game introduced in April 1992, "Match 6" started in January of 2004, and Mix and Match and Treasure Hunt began in 2007. Quinto was implemented in 2008. These games utilize computer sales terminals located across the commonwealth. The eighth and ninth games are Powerball and Powerplay which began in 2002 as multi-state games. On December 31, 2005, the Millionaire Raffle was introduced to be run periodically thereafter. Ticket prices are $1 for "Cash 5" which consists of 1 play to pick 5 of 39 numbers, $2 for "Match 6" which consists of 1 play to pick 6 numbers from 1 to 49 with an additional 12 quick picked numbers; $1 dollar for "Treasure Hunt" which is made up of 1 play to pick 5 of 30 numbers as an exclusively "mid-day" game, and "Mix & Match" with 1 play for $2 to pick five numbers between 1 and 19 in the positions predicted to be drawn, or as a computer randomly chosen quick pick. "Quinto" is $1 per play and has a mid-day and evening drawing with a five digit base and is similar in play to the "Daily Number" and "Big 4". "Daily Number" and "Big 4" game ticket prices range from $0.50 to $5. The "Instant Game" ticket prices range from $1 to $20. Powerball is played for $1 per play and Powerplay, which doubles winnings, can be added for $1 per play as well. The Millionaire Raffle features a ticket price of $20 for an eight digit raffle number with a limited number of ticket sales.

Powerball is a lotto game which is a combined large jackpot game and a cash game. It involves drawing five out of 49 numbers and one out of 42 numbers. Players win by matching one of nine ways. The Multi-State Lottery Association administers the Powerball game and is a non-profit government-benefit association entirely owned and operated by the member state lotteries. Powerball is a 50 percent prize payout game which means that 50 cents of every one dollar ticket is paid out in prizes. Florida joined the association as of January 2009, and their membership has the potential to boost jackpot values and, thereby, sales. The State Lottery keeps 50 percent as its share and then pays the remaining 50 percent in two parts: out in cash prizes directly to the players in its state, and a percentage share for the jackpot prize back to the association where it is held until there is a winner.

Net lottery collections as reported above correspond to the Lottery Fund revenue remitted to the commonwealth and reported in the commonwealth's accounting system. Net lottery collections are derived by subtracting the commissions retained and prizes paid by local lottery agents from the total lottery ticket sales. The table below shows the calculation of the net revenue amount.

The Lottery Fund sales estimates in 2009-10 and future fiscal years assume higher levels of prizes and commissions that will grow net ticket revenue and result in more money for programs supporting older Pennsylvanians.

Act 93 of 1983 combined the Harness Racing Fund and the Horse Racing Fund into the Racing Fund. This act amended portions of the Race Horse Industry Reform Act. For licensed racing corporations annually conducting at least 100 days of racing or for two licensed corporations conducting their racing at the same facility with a minimum of 175 combined racing days, the previous sliding wagering tax rate was changed to 1.5 percent effective July 1, 1986, and thereafter. For licensed racing corporations not conducting the minimum number of racing days, the wagering rate was changed to 2.5 percent from July 1, 1984 to June 30, 1986, and 2 percent thereafter. Act 23 of 2000 changed the amount allocated from the State Racing Fund to the Pennsylvania Breeding Fund to 1 percent of the daily amount wagered for thoroughbred horse racing. Act 127 of 1988 permits off-track betting in the Commonwealth.

TOBACCO SETTLEMENT FUND

The Tobacco Settlement Fund is a special revenue fund composed of monies from all tobacco settlements under the Tobacco Master Settlement Agreement. It provides for smoking prevention and smoking cessation programs and other health related programs including home and community based care, venture capital for medical equipment, support for the uninsured, and catastrophic and uncompensated care.

Health Investment Plan

Act 77 of 2001 created the Tobacco Settlement Fund to receive the revenues from the Master Settlement Agreement that was reached with the five major tobacco companies on December 17, 1999. The Tobacco Settlement Fund provides funding for health care insurance for the uninsured, home and community-based services for seniors, tobacco use prevention and cessation, broad-based health research, medical care for workers with disabilities and hospital uncompensated care in accordance with the resource allocation plan set forth in Act 77 of 2001. The Tobacco Settlement Fund also maintains an endowment component to preserve a portion of the receipts to sustain critical programs if tobacco allocations decrease and provide ongoing revenue if tobacco allocations cease.

Beginning in 2005-06, the Governor and the General Assembly agreed to redirect 25 percent of the funds allocated to tobacco use prevention and cessation activities and 12.5 percent of the funds allocated to health care insurance for uninsured adults, along with Tobacco Fund interest and Endowment Account earnings, to fund the escalating cost of long-term care services for persons with disabilities and seniors. In 2007-08, the portion of the allocation redirected from the health care insurance for uninsured adults increased to 33 percent. This budget proposes to continue to redirect to long-term care these same percentages in 2009-10, with the reduction in adult health care funding being more than offset by the federal funds proposed as part of the expanded adultBasic program. In addition to redirecting interest and earnings, this budget proposes to also redirect the second of 10 annual Tobacco strategic contribution payments, which began in April 2008, and recommends redirecting 100 percent of the funding allocation for the Endowment Account to fund long-term care services.

In 2005, the commonwealth entered into the Annual Community Health Reinvestment Agreement with Pennsylvania's Blue Cross/Blue Shield plans. The Blue Cross/Blue Shield plans have agreed to an annual commitment of funds to provide affordable basic health care coverage for thousands of low-income and uninsured Pennsylvanians. The commonwealth receives 60 percent of the fund for statewide initiatives, and the plans maintain 40 percent of the funds for community-based initiatives. This budget projects that $83.2 million of the annual Community Health Reinvestment payment will be used to provide health insurance for adults in 2009-10.

Combining the Tobacco Funds of $409.3 million and the Community Health Reinvestment Funds of $83.2 million, this budget allocates a total of $492.5 million in 2009-10 for the following health care related activities:

TAX EXPENDITURES

Tax credits, deductions, exemptions and exclusions are provided in law which result in a significant reduction in revenues that would otherwise be received at current tax rates. These reductions are tax expenditures.

TAX EXPENDITURE ANALYSIS

The traditional budget process involves estimating commonwealth revenues and appropriating these moneys for numerous programs. The process is subject to intense scrutiny by interests inside and outside government. Constrained by available revenues, programs are initiated, expanded, limited, or deleted based on merit. To augment the traditional budget process, this budget includes an analysis of indirect expenditures that occur through special treatment within the tax structure. Various tax credits, deductions, exemptions, and exclusions are provided which result in reductions in revenue that would otherwise be received by the commonwealth at current tax rates. Cumulatively, they are referred to in this budget as “tax expenditures.”

The commonwealth’s tax structure contains many tax expenditures. Examples include items as diverse as the sales and use tax exemption for firewood to the S corporation exemption in the corporate net income tax. In general, they are characterized by the fact that they confer special treatment to specific taxpayers, specific activities, or specific goods or services. The tax expenditures listed in this budget are the accumulation of many prior legislative sessions, and the original intent of certain tax expenditures may no longer be valid or consistent with current policies. A comprehensive tax expenditure analysis permits an on-going evaluation of each tax expenditure.

Act 180 of 1992 revised the requirements for the Governor’s Executive Budget tax expenditure analysis. This act stipulated that the tax expenditure data be revised and updated every two years. Therefore, consistent with this provision, tax expenditures presented in this and subsequent budget documents will be updated and revised biennially. Exceptions include tax expenditures initiated, deleted, or amended by statute, expenditures where improved data allow significant revisions, or items of significant policy interest.

The 2009-10 Governor’s Executive Budget presents this tax expenditure analysis covering commonwealth taxes with annual receipts of at least $20 million. A complete list of covered taxes is shown in the Table of Contents. The intended purposes of the current analyses are to:

- (1) Identify indirect sources of budgetary support for various activities
- (2) Present estimated costs associated with each tax expenditure
- (3) Present actual or estimated costs of administering each tax expenditure
- (4) Present actual or estimated numbers and descriptions of benefiting taxpayers
- (5) Allow for administration, legislative, and public scrutiny and facilitate discussion on each tax expenditure’s merits

For the purposes of this document, “tax expenditure” is defined as a reduction in revenue that would otherwise be collected by the commonwealth as the result of an exemption, reduction, deduction, limitation, exclusion, tax deferral, discount, refund, commission, credit, special rate, or special treatment. This definition provides a general framework within which to determine whether to classify certain items as tax expenditures. To facilitate this classification process, six specific criteria have been adopted to augment the general definition of tax expenditure:

- (1) Reduces state revenues
- (2) Confers special treatment
- (3) Is included in the defined tax base
- (4) Is not subjected to equivalent alternative taxation
- (5) Can be altered by a change in state law
- (6) Is not an appropriation

The following examples of several items not considered to be tax expenditures clarify the use of these criteria:

Purchases made by commonwealth agencies are not subject to sales and use tax. Were these transactions not exempted, tax revenues would increase but increased commonwealth expenses would offset revenues. Therefore, no net budgetary change occurs. This item is not a tax expenditure.

The exclusion of a sale for resale from sales and use tax is not considered a tax expenditure because the tax is imposed on each separate sale at retail of tangible personal property or services.

Financial institutions and insurance companies are exempted from corporate net income tax (CNIT) and capital stock / foreign franchise tax (CS/FT). However, these corporations are subject to alternative taxes: the bank and trust company shares tax, mutual thrift institutions tax, or insurance premiums tax. The exemption of these corporations from the CNIT and CS/FT is not in itself a tax expenditure; however, to the extent that those taxes may not impose proportionate tax burdens on the exempted companies, the overall tax structure may involve some indirect tax expenditure.

The pro rata exclusion of U.S. securities from the bank and trust company shares tax was a state legislative response to a federal prohibition against direct taxation of these obligations or income derived from them. As this cannot be altered by changing state law, this exclusion is not a tax expenditure.

There are three primary limitations on the tax expenditure estimates. First, estimated revenue foregone due to a tax expenditure should not be construed as the revenue that could be gained if the tax expenditure provision were to be rescinded in legislation. The impact of any particular piece of legislation will vary depending on how the bill is drafted, how its terms are defined, when it becomes effective, and how it relates to other parts of the tax law. In contrast, tax expenditure estimates are often based on concepts that are defined by the way that government statistics on the subject are made available to the Department. Furthermore, no attempt has been made to account for changes in taxpayer behavior that may occur because of tax law changes. For example, if the sales and use tax exemptions were rescinded for equipment and utilities directly used in manufacturing, it is possible that capital investment in manufacturing would be reduced and that these sales and use tax receipts would be less than the tax expenditure estimate.

A second limitation is that individual estimates are not additive. It is not always possible to estimate each tax expenditure with regard to interactions with other provisions of that tax or other taxes. For example, certain exempt items qualify under multiple tax expenditures. If gasoline were to be included in the sales and use tax base, agricultural, political subdivision, and manufacturing/processing use would continue to be exempt under other provisions. Therefore, no bottom line can be presented similar to that shown for total revenues or expenditures in the current Governor's Executive Budget.

Third, these estimates are, in many cases, necessarily derived from data completely independent of taxpayer returns. Minor differences in data collection techniques among the various data sources used could introduce a small element of error into the estimates. Thus, these estimates are intended to represent the magnitude of each tax expenditure, not to provide pinpoint accuracy.

All estimates appear in millions of dollars. The word "nominal" is used when the estimated impact is less than $100,000. Estimates of revenue loss or beneficiary count and description that are not available are represented by "NA." Costs incurred to administer tax expenditures are estimated by major tax category or, if available, by specific tax expenditure. Identified costs for a major tax category are provided at the beginning of the tax expenditure group. No administrative costs are reported for tax expenditures that provide incentives to implement or continue programs that replace or supplement efforts that would otherwise be the responsibility of state government.

This analysis is a general guide to tax expenditures in Pennsylvania. It is not intended to be a tax manual, and statements within it should not be construed as interpretations of the law or regulations.

CREDIT PROGRAMS

NEIGHBORHOOD ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS

Authorization: Article XIX-A of the Tax Reform Code of 1971 (P.L. 6, No. 2), as amended.

Description: A tax credit is available to banks, thrift institutions, title insurance and trust companies, and insurance companies (other than foreign fire/casualty insurance companies), corporations doing business in Pennsylvania and subject to the corporate net income tax and the capital stock/foreign franchise tax, and pass-through entities. In order to qualify, the business entity must engage in certain assistance programs in impoverished areas or contribute to neighborhood organizations which provide such activities. The credit is allowed for neighborhood assistance, job training, education for individuals, community services, economic development, or crime prevention in an impoverished area. The program must be approved by the Secretary of Community and Economic Development.

Several parameters of the program were amended by Act 55 of 2007. Pass-through entities will now be eligible for this credit. If the entity cannot use this credit, the entity may elect to transfer the credit to its shareholders, members or partners. Therefore, taxpayers may also apply the credit against personal income tax. The amount of credit that may be awarded to a taxpayer is 55 percent, increased from 50 percent, of the amount contributed by a business firm, or 75 percent, increased from 70 percent, of the amount contributed to special program priorities defined by the Department of Community and Economic Development in regulations. For private companies, the amount is 25 percent, increased from 20 percent, of the amount of qualified investment, or 35 percent, increased from 30 percent, of the amount invested in special program priorities. A credit equal to 75 percent of the contributions made by a business firm during a taxable year for comprehensive service projects with a five-year commitment may be awarded. A credit equal to 80 percent of the contributions made by a business firm during a taxable year for comprehensive service projects with a six-year commitment may be awarded. The amount of the credits awarded annually cannot exceed $500,000, for contributions or investments for single projects or $1,250,000 for contributions or investments to four or more projects.

Act 55 also provides that credits may now be sold or assigned to other taxpayers. The total amount of credits awarded to all taxpayers remains $18 million in a fiscal year. However, $2 million is to be allocated exclusively for pass-through entities. If the $2 million is not used, then the unused portion is to be available for other taxpayers.

The estimate for fiscal year 2007-08 reflects actual credits awarded under the program for that period. The estimates for future fiscal years reflect the program cap.

Purpose: This program encourages taxpayers to contribute to neighborhood organizations and engage in activities that promote community economic development in impoverished areas.

Administrative Costs: Costs to administer the Neighborhood Assistance Program credits are borne by the Department of Community and Economic Development and the Department of Revenue. Estimated costs for both departments total $0.3 million per year.

EMPLOYMENT INCENTIVE PAYMENTS

Authorization: Article XVII-A of the Tax Reform Code of 1971 (P.L. 6, No. 2), as amended.

Description: Any bank, thrift institution, title insurance and trust company, or insurance company, as well as any corporation or person subject to the corporate net income tax or the personal income tax, employing persons formerly receiving welfare benefits, may claim an employment incentive payment as credit against any tax liability in selected taxes. The credit is for a portion of wages paid to a qualifying employee in the first three years of employment. Employment incentive payment credits are available for employees hired up to December 31, 2009. Additional credit is available for financing associated day care costs. Total employment incentive payment credits authorized cannot exceed $25 million in any fiscal year. The estimate for fiscal year 2007-08 reflects actual credits awarded under the program for that period. The estimates for future fiscal years reflect the program cap.

Purpose: This program provides tax relief to taxpayers that hire persons previously receiving aid to families with dependent children or classified as chronically or transitionally needy at the time of employment and reduces state aid payments to those individuals.

Administrative Costs: Costs to administer the Employment Incentive Payments Credit program are borne by the Department of Public Welfare, Department of Labor and Industry, and the Department of Revenue. Estimated costs for all departments total $0.2 million per year.

JOB CREATION TAX CREDIT

Authorization: Article XVIII-B of the Tax Reform Code of 1971 (P.L. 6, No. 2), as amended.

Description: A tax credit is available to businesses and individuals creating and sustaining jobs. The tax credit equals $1,000 per job for each year in the approved term and may be applied to the corporate net income tax, capital stock/foreign franchise tax, insurance premiums tax, gross receipts tax, bank and trust company shares tax, mutual thrift institution tax, title insurance company shares tax, personal income tax, or any combination thereof. The total amount of funds for tax credits available in a year is $22.5 million. The estimate for fiscal year 2007-08 reflects actual credits awarded under the program for that period. KEYSTONE OPPORTUNITY ZONE

Authorization: Act of October 6, 1998 (P.L. 702, No. 92), as amended.

Description: The Department of Community and Economic Development has designated specific areas of deteriorated property as Keystone Opportunity Zones (KOZs), Keystone Opportunity Expansion Zones, and Keystone Opportunity Improvement Zones. The program was last amended by Act 51 of 2003. This Act added a lease-based option allowing companies relocating within Pennsylvania to qualify for zone benefits.

Economic activity occurring in these zones is exempt from most local taxation for a period of up to fifteen years beginning with the creation of the particular zone. In addition to benefiting from a limited state sales and use tax exemption, zone residents and qualified businesses are exempt from the following state taxes: personal income, corporate net income, capital stock/foreign franchise, bank shares, and mutual thrift institutions taxes. In addition, qualified businesses may receive credits against insurance premiums tax for jobs created in a zone. The tax expenditure is the value of all the credits and the state taxes waived within the zone.

Act 72 of 2008 granted KOZs that are set to expire within the next five to ten years the option of extending their associated benefits for seven to ten years. Act 72 of 2008 also allows the department of Community and Economic Development to designate up to fifteen additional KOZs beginning in January 1, 2010. Under this legislation, contractors, pursuant to a contract with a qualified business, landowner or lessee, may purchase, exempt from sales and use tax any tangible personal property or services for use in the zone by the qualified business.

Furthermore, the formula for calculating the taxable income of a corporation in a zone is now based only on the payroll and property factors under Act 72. The sales factor has been eliminated from the calculation.

Purpose: This program provides tax relief to economically distressed urban and rural communities in an attempt to revive these areas.

Administrative Costs: Costs to administer the Keystone Opportunity Zone program are borne by the Department of Revenue and the Department of Community and Economic Development. Estimated costs for both departments total $0.5 million annually.

STRATEGIC DEVELOPMENT AREAS

Authorization: Act 151 of November 20, 2006

Description: The Strategic Development Areas (SDA) program was established in 2006 to provide incentives for economic development in designated areas. Act 151 of 2006 created the program to provide tax relief and tax credits to qualified companies within the SDA. The designation would be effective for a 15-year period and must be approved by the political subdivision in which it is located. By waiving these taxes for a series of years, the program hopes to foster growth in those areas. The Department of Community and Economic Development administers the program for the commonwealth.

Among the state taxes waived by the program are corporate net income, capital stock/foreign franchise, and personal income. Insurance companies and certain regulated transportation companies may earn tax credits based on the number of jobs created in a zone. Businesses operating in a zone are exempted from paying sales and use taxes on items purchased for consumption in the area. At the local level, property taxes, earned income and net profit taxes, mercantile license tax, and local sales and use tax are waived for area businesses. Tax benefits may not extend beyond December 31, 2022.

Description: Act 55 of 2007 created the Resource Enhancement and Protection (REAP) Tax Credit to encourage the development of riparian forest buffers and the remediation of legacy sediment on commonwealth farmland. Depending on the type of development, a taxpayer may receive a credit of up to 75 percent of cost of a project. A maximum of $150,000 in tax credits may be awarded per eligible applicant, and the total amount of credits awarded in one fiscal year cannot exceed $10 million. The tax credit may be used against personal income tax, corporate net income tax, capital stock/foreign franchise tax, bank shares tax, title insurance company premiums tax, insurance premiums tax, and mutual thrift institutions tax. CORPORATE NET INCOME TAX Authorization: Article IV of the Tax Reform Code of 1971 (P.L. 6, No. 2), as amended.

The Pennsylvania corporate net income tax is imposed on domestic and foreign corporations for the privilege of doing business, carrying on activities, having capital or property employed or used, or owning property in Pennsylvania. Certain corporations are exempt from the tax.

The tax is based on federal taxable income before net operating loss deduction and special deductions (line 28 of page 1 of federal IRS form 1120) modified by additions and subtractions to arrive at Pennsylvania taxable income. Taxes based on income and certain tax items are added back to federal taxable income. The tax rate is 9.99 percent for tax years 1995 and thereafter.

Any deductions, exemptions, or types of special treatment that are reflected in line 28 on the IRS form 1120, and not modified or adjusted by Pennsylvania statute, are not included below.

NET OPERATING LOSS CARRYFORWARD

Description: Corporations may deduct from current taxable income the net losses from previous years to arrive at their tax liability.

Act 45 of 1998 increased the three-year carryforward period to ten years for tax years 1995 and thereafter. This act provided a phase-in schedule of net loss deductions making the first ten-year carryforward available in tax year 2005. Suspended losses from 1988 through 1994 could be used variously against 1995 through 1997 tax years. Act 4 of 1999 increased the annual cap on deductions to $2 million in each of the ten years following the loss, effective January 1, 1999. Act 89 of 2002 increased the ten-year carryforward period to twenty years for losses incurred in the 1998 taxable year and thereafter. Act 116 of 2006 increased the annual cap on deductions to $3 million or 12.5 percent of taxable income, whichever is greater, in each of the twenty years following the loss, effective January 1, 2007.

Purpose: This deduction reduces the tax burden for a period of time after an operating loss period thereby aiding a corporation that has returned to economic viability as measured by taxable income.

SALES FACTOR APPORTIONMENT WEIGHT

Description: Beginning in tax year 1995, corporations apportioned their net income using a three-factor formula (payroll, property, and sales) that double-weighted the sales factor. The sales factor in the numerator of the corporate net income tax apportionment formula was multiplied by two and the denominator was four. Act 4 of 1999 provided for the sales factor to be triple-weighted beginning in tax year 1999. Therefore, the sales factor in the numerator is multiplied by three and the denominator is five. Act 116 of 2006 provided for the sales factor to be weighted 70 percent of the total beginning in tax year 2007. Therefore, the sales factor in the numerator is multiplied by 70, the property and payroll factors are multiplied by 15, and the denominator is 100.

Purpose: Corporations with a higher percentage of property and payroll invested in Pennsylvania (compared to their percentage of sales in Pennsylvania) will have less taxable income apportioned to the commonwealth. Therefore, those corporations will have a reduced tax burden. This encourages business investment in Pennsylvania in the form of property and employment.

NONPROFIT CORPORATIONS

Description: Nonprofit corporations are exempt from the corporate net income tax. Act 7 of 1997 provided that any nonprofit corporation or entity that is an exempt organization as defined by section 501 of Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (P.L. 99-514, 26 U.S.C.) is exempt from the corporate net income tax. Corporations organized as a nonprofit but not operating as a nonprofit are excluded from this exemption. Act 4 of 1999 provided that insurance and travel agency activities carried on by an auto club are subject to the corporate net income tax. The same act restored exempt status to homeowners associations and membership organizations. The estimates below are based on unrelated business income taxed by the federal government.

Purpose: This exemption provides tax relief to nonprofit corporations including religious, charitable, educational, and scientific organizations that are perceived as providing social benefits.

PENNSYLVANIA S CORPORATIONS

Description: Corporations with a valid Pennsylvania S corporation election in effect for the taxable year are subject to corporate net income tax only to the extent that they have net recognized built-in gains. Pennsylvania S corporation shareholders must include their distributive share of Pennsylvania S corporation income for Pennsylvania income tax purposes. The tax expenditure is the difference between what is paid by the shareholders under the personal income tax and what the corporations would have paid had they been fully subject to the corporate net income tax. Act 7 of 1997 provided conformity with the federal Small Business Job Protection Act of 1996 by allowing an increase in the number of shareholders from 35 to 75, effective January 1, 1997. Act 7 also permitted S corporations to have qualified subsidiaries. The subsidiary can be either an S or a C corporation. Act 4 of 1999 eliminated the 25 percent passive income test and waived the five-year waiting period with respect to corporations whose S election was terminated for exceeding the passive income limitation. Act 67 of 2006 requires a federal S corporation to be a PA S corporation unless it files an election. If a small corporation opts out, then its choice shall remain in effect for five years. The Act also links the Pennsylvania definition of an S corporation more closely to the federal law, permitting Pennsylvania S corporations to have as many as 100 unrelated shareholders (formerly 75).

Purpose: Sub-chapter S corporations are closely-held corporations and are believed to be major job creators. This provision allows tax treatment that is similar to that of the Internal Revenue Service and most other states for these businesses.

LIMITED LIABILITY COMPANIES (LLCs)

Description: Limited liability companies (LLCs) are hybrid business entities that combine the corporate characteristic of limited liability for all owners (members) with the tax treatment of a partnership. LLCs that are not taxed as corporations for federal purposes are exempt from the Pennsylvania corporate net income tax. Act 45 of 1998 clarified that LLCs and business trusts classified by the federal government as "disregarded entities" are not subject to the Pennsylvania corporate net income tax. Members of the LLC must include their share of the LLC's income for Pennsylvania personal income tax purposes or corporate net income tax (if a corporate member). The tax expenditure is the difference between what is paid by the members under the personal income tax and corporate net income tax and what the LLC entities would have paid under the corporate net income tax. Act 124 of 1998 provided that a bank or banking organization may organize as an LLC for the sole purpose of marketing and selling title insurance. An insurance agency may also be organized as an LLC.

Purpose: LLCs are a preferred type of business entity for start-up companies. They combine the limited liability of a corporation with the flexibility of a partnership. This provision allows tax treatment that is similar to that of the Internal Revenue Service and most other states for these businesses.

FICA TAX ON TIPS

Description: Eating and drinking establishments can claim a deduction from their Pennsylvania taxable income equal to the amount of FICA (Federal Insurance Contributions Act) tax on employees' tips.

Purpose: This deduction corrects for a change in federal law. In 1993, a credit for the amount of FICA tax paid on employees' tips was created in the Internal Revenue Code. Taxpayers taking the federal credit may not also take a deduction for tax paid. Pennsylvania does not permit the credit and instead allows this additional deduction from federal taxable income.

CAPITAL STOCK/FOREIGN FRANCHISE TAX

Authorization: Article VI of the Tax Reform Code of 1971 (P.L. 6, No. 2), as amended.

The capital stock tax is a property tax imposed on every domestic corporation with capital stock, every joint-stock association and limited partnership, and every other company organized or incorporated in Pennsylvania. The franchise tax is a privilege tax imposed on foreign corporations, joint-stock associations, limited partnerships, and other companies doing business and liable for taxation within Pennsylvania or having capital or property employed or used in Pennsylvania. Certain corporations are exempt from these taxes, and some corporations are afforded special treatment.

The capital stock/foreign franchise tax is based on capital stock value which is defined as one-half of the sum of the average net income capitalized at the rate of 9.5 percent plus 75 percent of the net worth, less $150,000. Act 67 of 2006 authorized the increase of the valuation deduction from $125,000 to $150,000. Act 89 of 2002 modified the Act 23 of 2000 phase-out schedule by reducing the 2001 rate to 7.24 mills in 2002, further reducing the rate to 6.99 mills in 2003, and by reducing the rate by 1 mill per year thereafter until the tax is eliminated. Act 89 of 2002 also suspended the automatic transfer of 0.25 mill of the tax to the Hazardous Sites Cleanup Fund (HSCF). Beginning in fiscal year 2002-03, the HSCF transfer will only occur if the balance in the HSCF is expected to fall below $5 million. Act 46 of 2003 further modified the phase-out schedule by setting the 2003 rate to 7.24 mills, the 2004 rate to 6.99 mills, and then reducing the rate by 1 mill per year thereafter until the tax is eliminated. Act 67 of 2006 modified the Act 46 of 2003 phase-out schedule by reducing the 2006 rate to 4.89 mills, and then reducing the rate by 1 mill per year until the tax is eliminated for all tax years beginning after December 31, 2010. Act 77 of 2007 amended the HSCF transfer, setting it at $40 million per fiscal year, beginning in fiscal year 2008-09. The estimates in this analysis include only the General Fund portion of the tax and reflect the current phase-out of the tax.

Various types of assets are exempt from tax. The valuation of capital stock is not affected by these exemptions, but the exemptions are reflected in apportionment formulas used to compute the percentage of the capital stock value base actually subject to tax.

NONPROFIT CORPORATIONS

Description: Nonprofit corporations are exempt from the capital stock/foreign franchise tax. Act 7 of 1997 provided that any nonprofit corporation or entity that is an exempt organization as defined by section 501 of Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (P.L. 99-514, 26 U.S.C.) is exempt. Act 4 of 1999 provided that insurance and travel agency activities carried on by an auto club are subject to the capital stock/foreign franchise tax. The same act restored exempt status to homeowners associations and membership organizations. The estimates below are based on unrelated business income taxed by the federal government.

Purpose: This exemption provides tax relief to nonprofit corporations including religious, charitable, educational, and scientific organizations that are perceived as providing social benefits.

FAMILY FARM CORPORATIONS

Description: Family farm corporations are exempt from the capital stock/foreign franchise tax. A family farm corporation is one that devotes at least 75 percent of its assets to agriculture and at least 75 percent of its stock is owned by members of the same family.

Act 45 of 1998 specifically defined LLCs and business trusts as corporations for capital stock/foreign franchise tax purposes. As a result, LLCs and business trusts are eligible for the family farm exemption, if appropriate.

Purpose: This exemption provides tax relief to family farm corporations thereby recognizing the importance of family-owned farms.

ASSETS USED IN MANUFACTURING, PROCESSING, AND RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT

Description: Corporations (except those which enjoy the right of eminent domain, i.e., utilities) organized for manufacturing, processing, or research and development purposes may claim an exemption for capital stock invested in such activities within Pennsylvania. Pollution control assets are included for these corporations. This exemption is reflected in computing the percentage of the capital stock value actually subject to tax and applies to both single-factor and three-factor apportionment.

Act 63 of 1999 modified the manufacturing exemption by disallowing the exemption provided for manufacturing, processing, or research and development activities from the numerator of the sales factor and expanding the exemption by excluding property and payroll attributable to manufacturing, processing, or research and development activities outside of the commonwealth from the numerator of the property and payroll factors.

Purpose: This exemption encourages investment in manufacturing, processing, and research and development activities that improves the commonwealth's economic position.

APPORTIONMENT FORMULA

Description: Corporations that have multistate operations have the option of using either a single-factor or a three-factor formula to compute the portion of the capital stock value that is subject to tax. The single-factor formula is based on the ratio of the book value of taxable assets to the book value of total assets. The three-factor formula is based on property, payroll, and sales within and without Pennsylvania. Historically, only domestic corporations were permitted to choose the single-factor apportionment method until the Pennsylvania Supreme Court ruled that foreign corporations must be allowed the same option.

Purpose: This option provides tax relief to those corporations with considerable tangible investment in the commonwealth and thereby encourages corporate investment in Pennsylvania.

POLLUTION CONTROL DEVICES

Description: Equipment, machinery, facilities, and other tangible property used during the tax year within Pennsylvania for water or air pollution control or abatement devices utilized for the benefit of the general public are exempt from the capital stock/foreign franchise tax. This exemption is reflected as an exclusion from the numerator of the single asset apportionment fraction or the numerator of the property factor when the three-factor apportionment formula is used. However, for manufacturing, processing, or research and development corporations, these assets are included as exempt equipment and shown in the expenditure for assets used in manufacturing, processing, and research and development.

DEDUCTION FROM THE FIXED FORMULA

Description: Act 67 establishes that for tax years beginning in 2007 and thereafter, corporations may deduct $150,000 from the capital stock value which is then subject to apportionment to determine the taxable base. The valuation deduction for tax years 1997 through 2006 was $125,000. The valuation deduction was $100,000 for tax years 1995 and 1996.

Purpose: This exemption provides a tax-free portion of capital stock value for corporations, particularly beneficial to new businesses realizing little or no profit during their early years.

HOLDING COMPANIES

Description: Holding companies may elect, in lieu of a standard apportionment formula, a special apportionment formula that computes the taxable portion of capital stock value by taking 10 percent of the total capital stock value. The single-factor apportionment formula was used as the standard apportionment formula in the estimating process. Holding companies are corporations (1) which derive at least 90 percent of their income from stock or securities and the rendering of administrative or management services to subsidiary corporations and (2) whose assets are at least 60 percent comprised of securities or indebtedness of subsidiary corporations. Act 45 of 1998 clarified that limited liability companies and business trusts are eligible to receive holding company tax treatment.

Purpose: This special treatment is intended to provide tax relief to those holding companies with considerable intangible assets that otherwise are not exempt under the single assets apportionment fraction.

REGULATED INVESTMENT COMPANIES/REAL ESTATE INVESTMENT TRUSTS

Description: Regulated investment companies (RICs) are subject to special valuation for capital stock/foreign franchise tax purposes. Their tax is computed by adding the net asset value multiplied by $75 and divided by one million to the apportioned undistributed personal income multiplied by the personal income tax rate. Undistributed taxable personal income is apportioned to Pennsylvania by a fraction, the numerator of which is all income distributed during the taxable year to resident shareholders and the denominator of which is all income distributed to all shareholders.

There is a potential revenue loss from regulated investment companies and real estate investment trusts (REITs) organized as business trusts. These entities are not subject to capital stock/foreign franchise tax. No cost estimate is available.

There is also a potential revenue loss associated with corporations that conduct Pennsylvania business activity through an investment in business trust RICs, REITs, and certain other related entities. Generally, a corporation's interest in an entity that is not a corporation is considered to be a direct ownership interest in the assets of the entity rather than an intangible interest. Act 232 of 2002 created exceptions to this general rule for RICs, REITs, and certain other related entities that are organized as business trusts. No cost estimate is available.

Purpose: RICs are corporations that derive at least 90 percent of their income from dividends, interest, and gains on disposition of stock and securities. REITs are corporations that own real estate investments and must distribute at least 90 percent of their income as dividends. This special treatment provides tax relief to these companies thereby allowing them to earn higher rates of return on their investments that, in turn, are passed on to their shareholders. The higher earnings rates may result in higher investment in the economy that is channeled through these companies.

RESTRICTED PROFESSIONAL COMPANIES

Description: Restricted professional companies (RPCs) are limited liability companies (LLCs) performing restricted professional services. LLCs are hybrid business entities that combine the corporate characteristic of limited liability for all owners (members) with the tax treatment of a partnership. Restricted professional services include chiropractic, dentistry, law, medicine and surgery, optometry, osteopathic medicine, podiatry medicine, public accounting, psychology, and veterinary medicine. These types of businesses give members the protection of limited liability for the neglect of another member. RPCs are exempt from the capital stock/foreign franchise tax. However, an annual fee of $380 per resident member is imposed under the Associations Code, $25 of which is credited to the Corporation Bureau's restricted account. Act 67 of 2006 eliminated single member restricted professional companies from being subject to the capital stock and franchise tax unless they are classified as a corporation for federal income tax purposes, effective for tax years beginning after December 31, 2005.

GROSS RECEIPTS TAX

Authorization: Article XI of the Tax Reform Code of 1971 (P.L. 6, No. 2), as amended.

The gross receipts tax is imposed on the following companies conducting business in Pennsylvania: pipeline, conduit, steamboat, canal, slack water navigation and transportation companies; freight or oil transporters; telephone and telegraph companies; express service, palace car or sleeping car companies; and electric light, water power and hydroelectric energy companies. Municipalities are entitled to exemptions.

A tax is levied at 50 mills on gross receipts from passengers, baggage, freight, and oil transported within the state; as well as intrastate and interstate telephone and telegraph messages transmitted on land line or cellular systems. A tax is levied at 44 mills on the sale of electric energy. The 44 mill tax rate on sales of electric energy was subject to change based on the revenue neutral reconciliation (RNR) tax rate calculated annually pursuant to Act 138 of 1996, which governs the restructuring of the electric utility industry in Pennsylvania. Act 89 of 2002 established the permanent RNR tax rate at 15 mills for tax years beginning January 1, 2003 and thereafter. The sale of natural gas was subject to the gross receipts tax before Act 4 of 1999 repealed these provisions, effective January 1, 2000.

MUNICIPALLY-OWNED PUBLIC UTILITIES

Description: Gross receipts of public utilities owned or operated by a municipality are exempt from tax to the extent the gross receipts are derived from business done inside the limits of the municipality. The figures for this expenditure are at the statutory utilities gross receipts tax rates applicable to the appropriate tax year.

Purpose: This tax relief encourages municipalities to develop and invest in public utility services and supplemental energy sources including cogeneration facilities. It also benefits residents to the extent the tax relief is reflected through lower utility rates.

PUBLIC UTILITY REALTY TAX

Authorization: Article XI-A of the Tax Reform Code of 1971 (P.L. 6, No. 2), as amended.

The public utility realty tax (PURTA) is imposed on public utilities furnishing services under the jurisdiction of the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission or a regulatory body of another state or the United States.

Act 4 of 1999 fundamentally overhauled PURTA for tax year 1998 and thereafter. The tax rate is annually calculated by the Department of Revenue in order to raise an amount of tax revenue equal to the realty tax equivalent. The commonwealth imposes this tax on public utility realty in lieu of local real estate taxes and distributes revenue to local taxing authorities based on the realty tax equivalent.

Beginning with PURTA tax year 1998, utilities are taxed on the basis of the property's fair market value, which is the local assessed value adjusted by the common level ratio. After December 31, 1999, assets used in the generation of electricity are excluded from the PURTA tax base and the realty tax equivalent.

For fiscal years prior to 2003-04, an additional 7.6 mills of the PURTA tax base was transferred to the Public Transportation Assistance Fund. Beginning in fiscal year 2003-04, the additional 7.6 mills of the PURTA tax base remains in the General Fund. The estimates in this portion of the analysis include the variable tax as well as the additional 7.6 mill levy.

PROPERTY SUBJECT TO LOCAL TAXATION

Description: Property subject to local real estate taxation under any law in effect on April 23, 1968, is excluded from the PURTA base.

Purpose: The Constitution of Pennsylvania was amended April 23, 1968, to provide for state taxation of public utility realty property; however, any law in effect which subjected real property of a public utility to local real estate taxation was left in full force. This provision prevents the double taxation of such property.

ELECTRIC GENERATION FACILITIES

Description: After December 31, 1999, land and improvements indispensable to the generation of electricity are subject to local real estate tax and are excluded from the PURTA tax base and the realty tax equivalent.

Purpose: Electric generation facilities were removed from the PURTA tax base because electric generation is no longer regulated as a public utility function. The electric competition statute, Act 138 of 1996, changed the definition of public utility, and generation facilities can be owned by unregulated entities. This exemption allows a level playing field for participants in electricity supply.

The cost of the transition credit in current fiscal years depends on the calculation of the compensating adjustments for the affected tax years.

INSURANCE PREMIUMS TAX

Authorization: Article IX of the Tax Reform Code of 1971 (P.L. 6, No. 2), as amended.

The insurance premiums tax is imposed on domestic and foreign insurance companies that transact business in Pennsylvania. Certain types of insurance companies are exempt from the tax.

The tax is levied on gross premiums received from business done within Pennsylvania during each calendar year. A retaliatory tax is also imposed on taxable insurance companies incorporated in other states that impose a higher burden on Pennsylvania companies doing business there.

The basic tax rate is 2 percent of gross premiums plus any retaliatory tax. A 3 percent rate is imposed on insurance premiums for policies written with unlicensed insurers by a surplus lines agent. Marine insurance companies are subject to a 5 percent tax on their underwriting profits in lieu of the insurance premiums tax.

The estimates in this analysis include the full amount of revenues and the retaliatory charges that would be received from affected insurance companies.

The mutual thrift institutions tax is imposed on the net income of savings institutions, savings banks without capital stock, savings and loan associations, and building and loan associations conducting business in Pennsylvania.

The tax is based on net income determined in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles with the following major exceptions: income earned from United States obligations or Pennsylvania state and local obligations is excluded; the interest expense associated with tax exempt interest income is disallowed as a deduction; and net operating losses from previous years may be carried forward for a maximum of three years. Taxable net income is apportioned to Pennsylvania by a three-factor formula comprised of payroll, receipts, and deposits.

The current tax rate is 11.5 percent.

NET OPERATING LOSS CARRYFORWARD

Description: Thrift institutions may deduct from current taxable income the net losses from previous taxable years. A net loss for a taxable year may be carried over three years and must be carried to the earliest allowable tax year. There is no carryback of losses to prior years.

Purpose: This deduction reduces the tax burden for a period of time after an operating loss period thereby aiding the thrift institution after it has attained economic health as measured by its taxable income.

Court decisions have expanded the electricity exemption to include purchases for residential use through an agent, where there is no commercial interest.

Description: Infrequent personal property sales of a non-recurring nature by persons not in the business of selling such items are exempt from taxation. By regulation, exempt entity sales can occur no more than three times nor more than a total of seven days in a year. These sales may include the sale of a lawn mower to a neighbor, liquidation of an estate, sale of a used typewriter by an insurance company, or yard sale items. Motor vehicles and property that must be registered or licensed are not granted this exemption.

Purpose: The exclusion of isolated sales from taxation greatly reduces compliance and administration burdens for the seller and the commonwealth.

EXEMPT GOVERNMENTAL UNITS

Description: The sale of tangible personal property or services to or for use by the federal government, the commonwealth or its instrumentalities, or political subdivisions is exempt from taxation. Act 45 of 1998 extended this exemption to include the purchase or use of certain machinery or equipment used in a construction contract with a governmental unit. The purchase or use may be by a contractor or governmental unit. Based on the criteria adopted to define tax expenditures, federal transactions are not included in this study. Commonwealth transactions are also excluded because revenues would offset expenditures with no net effect. The estimates, therefore, represent the tax on local government expenditures and construction contractors.

Purpose: This exemption is an indirect means of assistance to local governments and may reduce the taxes levied by these entities.

BAD DEBTS

Description: Sales tax vendors may apply for a refund equal to 100 percent of bad debts associated with sales tax paid to the state for sales written off by the vendor and deducted for federal income tax purposes because the vendor did not receive full payment from the purchaser. Act 55 of 2007 provided that the refund for sales tax remitted and attributable to bad debt is now expanded to private label credit cards. This change will apply to amounts deducted as bad debts on federal income tax returns required to be filed after January 1, 2008. No refund is granted for interest, finance charges, or expenses incurred in attempting to collect receivables.

Purpose: The bad debt refund provision lessens the economic impact experienced by vendors when they extend credit to customers for taxable purchases and subsequently incur uncollectible accounts receivable (bad debts).

CIGARETTE TAX

Authorization: Article XII of the Tax Reform Code of 1971 (P.L. 6, No. 2), as amended.

The cigarette tax is an excise tax, based on a rate of 6.75 cents per cigarette, levied on the sale or possession of cigarettes in Pennsylvania. Prior to January 7, 2004, the tax rate was 5.0 cents per cigarette. Only one sale of cigarettes, whether individual cigarettes, packages, cartons, or cases, is taxable. Beginning in fiscal year 2002-03, fixed annual amounts of $30.73 million and $20.485 million of cigarette tax receipts are transferred to the Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP) and the Agricultural Conservation Easement Purchase (ACEP) Fund, respectively. Transfers of cigarette tax receipts to CHIP began in fiscal year 1992-93 at the rate of two thirty-firsts of receipts. After January 1, 1997, the transfer amount was increased to three thirty-firsts of receipts. Transfers of cigarette tax receipts to the ACEP fund began in fiscal year 1993-94 at the rate of two thirty-firsts of receipts. Beginning January 7, 2004, 18.52 percent of cigarette tax receipts are transferred to the Health Care Provider Retention Account (HCPRA). The analyses below reflect only the General Fund portion of the tax expenditures.

Administrative Costs: Costs to administer the cigarette tax expenditures are nominal.

STATE VETERANS HOMES

Description: Sales to retail dealers located in state veterans homes for resale to residents in such homes are exempt. Federal veterans hospitals are exempt under federal law.

Purpose: It is perceived to be good public policy to reduce taxes for veterans who have served their country and are now residing in a veteran's home or hospital.

UNSTAMPED CIGARETTES (200 AND UNDER)

Description: Vacationers or tourists crossing state lines with one carton or less of unstamped cigarettes are not required to pay tax on those cigarettes. The carton (200 cigarettes) cannot be resold and must be for personal use only.

Purpose: Persons crossing state lines with one carton or less of cigarettes are presumed to possess such cigarettes for personal use rather than intentionally avoiding payment of the cigarette tax. This expenditure helps to relieve administration and enforcement burdens as well as promote tourism.

COMMISSIONS ON SALES OF STAMPS

Description: Cigarette stamping agents are permitted a commission of 0.98 percent of the value of all cigarette tax stamps purchased from the Department of Revenue or its authorized agents to be affixed to cigarettes for sale within the commonwealth. Prior to January 7, 2004, the commission was equal to 1.25 percent. The commission does not apply to purchases of stamps by a cigarette-stamping agent in amounts of less than one hundred dollars ($100).

MALT BEVERAGE TAX

The malt beverage tax is levied on malt and brewed beverages manufactured, sold, and used in Pennsylvania or manufactured outside of Pennsylvania but sold for importation and use in Pennsylvania. The tax is borne by the consumer, but manufacturers, distributors, and importers remit the tax to the commonwealth.

Administrative Costs: Costs to administer the malt beverage tax expenditures are nominal.

EMERGENCY TAX CREDIT

Description: The emergency tax credit provides manufacturers of malt or brewed beverages, whose annual production of malt or brewed beverages does not exceed 1.5 million barrels, a maximum annual credit of $200,000 for capital improvement expenditures. Prior to January 1, 2004, the tax credit was limited to manufacturers whose annual production of malt or brewed beverages did not exceed 300,000 barrels. This tax credit cannot exceed the amount of qualifying capital expenditures made during the emergency tax credit period (items of plant, equipment, and machinery intended for use in the manufacture and sale of malt or brewed beverages within the commonwealth). Under current law, the tax credit period expires after December 31, 2008. This tax credit may only be used during the emergency tax credit period.

Purpose: This credit grants a limited tax subsidy for capital improvements made by small brewers. This provision could help lower the risk of business failure and subsequent loss of employment opportunities.

The liquor tax contains no tax expenditures as defined for this tax expenditure analysis.

PERSONAL INCOME TAX

Authorization: Article III of the Tax Reform Code of 1971 (P.L. 6 No. 2), as amended.

The personal income tax is levied against the taxable income of resident and nonresident individuals, estates and trusts, partnerships, S corporations, business trusts, and limited liability companies that are not taxed as corporations for federal purposes. Pennsylvania taxes eight classes of income: (1) compensation; (2) net profits from the operation of a business, profession, or farm; (3) net gains on income less net losses from dispositions of property; (4) net gains on income from rents, royalties, patents, and copyrights; (5) dividends; (6) interest; (7) gambling and lottery winnings; and (8) net gains on income derived through estates or trusts.

Administrative Costs: Costs to administer the various tax expenditures associated with the personal income tax cannot be separately identified. The existence of tax expenditures may result in taxpayer uncertainties, which create an administrative burden on the department relative to additional compliance audits, letter rulings, pronouncements, and bulletins.

Description: Prizes of the Pennsylvania Lottery are exempt from the state personal income tax. Prior to fiscal year 1999-00, an amount equal to total Lottery prizes paid multiplied by the current PIT rate was transferred from the Lottery Fund to the General Fund. Since the General Fund was reimbursed for the exemption of Lottery prizes, this transfer was considered a Lottery expenditure. Act 4 of 1999 eliminated the transfer, creating an actual General Fund expenditure. Since Pennsylvania Lottery winnings paid (if they were reported on a taxpayer return) could be offset by lottery and other gambling losses on a taxpayer's return, an estimate of this expenditure is not available.

Purpose: This provision provides an additional benefit to individuals winning lottery prizes.

STATE/LOCAL OBLIGATIONS

Description: State and local governments and authorities may issue bonds to raise funds in order to finance a variety of public projects, including infrastructure improvement or construction, and provide essential services. When a bond is issued, the issuer is obligated to repay the borrowed bond proceeds, at a specified rate of interest, by some future date. Interest paid on Pennsylvania government-issued municipal bonds is exempt from Pennsylvania state income taxes.

Purpose: Because of this tax exempt feature, investors will usually accept lower interest payments than on other types of borrowing, lowering the overall cost for the government bond issuer.

REALTY TRANSFER TAX

Authorization: Article XI-C of the Tax Reform Code of 1971 (P.L. 6, No. 2), as amended.

The realty transfer tax is a documentary stamp tax on the value of any interest in real estate transferred by deed. The tax rate is 1 percent of the value of the real estate transferred. Each party to a document is jointly and severally liable for the tax imposed, unless the party is an excluded party or the document evidences an excludable transaction. The excluded status of a party does not relieve the other parties to a transaction from the entire tax due. The amounts below represent the General Fund portion of the realty transfer tax expenditures only and do not include expenditures for the portion transferred to the Keystone Recreation, Park, and Conservation Fund pursuant to Act 50 of 1993, as amended by Act 89 of 2002. Prior to Act 89 of 2002, 15 percent of the state levied realty transfer tax was transferred to the Keystone Recreation, Park, and Conservation Fund. Act 89 of 2002 lowered the transfer to 10 percent for January 2002 through June 2002 and to 7.5 percent for July 2002 through June 2003. For July 2003 and thereafter the transfer rate returns to 15 percent. Act 67 of 2006 lowered the transfer rate to 2.1 percent for Fiscal Year 2006-07 only. For July 2007 and thereafter the rate will return to 15 percent.

Administrative Costs: Costs to administer the realty transfer tax expenditures are approximately $0.3 million annually.

Exempt benefits include pensions, stock-bonuses, profit-sharing plans, Keoghs, Individual Retirement Accounts, and other retirement plans. If the decedent did have the right to possess, enjoy, assign, or anticipate the benefits, they are exempt from Pennsylvania inheritance tax only to the same extent they are exempt from the federal estate tax.

Purpose: This provision limits inheritance tax on employment benefits to which the decedent did not have full rights. An individual is presumed to have full rights to these employment benefits after age 59 ½, the age at which someone may utilize at least a portion of these funds without penalty under the Internal Revenue Code.

PROPERTY SUBJECT TO POWER OF APPOINTMENT

Description: Property left to a trust by the decedent (grantor) subject to a power of appointment (by a grantee), whether or not exercised and notwithstanding any blending of such property with property of the grantee, is exempt from inheritance tax in the estate of the grantee.

Purpose: Pennsylvania taxes the transfer of these assets subject to a power of appointment at the time the interest is created (when the grantor dies). The grantee may have a life interest in the estate with any remainder passing to some other person. This provision prevents taxation when the property is subsequently distributed upon the death of the grantee, having already been taxed in the estate of the grantor.

LIQUID FUELS AND FUELS TAX

Authorization: Chapter 90 of Title 75 of the Pennsylvania Consolidated Statutes.

The Act of April 17, 1997 (P.L. 1531, No. 3) established a permanent trust fund tax of 12.0 cents per gallon imposed on all liquid fuels and fuels used or sold and delivered by distributors in the commonwealth. Prior to Act 3, liquid fuels were taxed under the provisions of the Act of May 21, 1931 (P.L. 149, No. 105), as amended, known as the Liquid Fuels Tax Act, and fuels were taxed under the Act of January 14, 1952 (P.L. 1965 No. 550), as amended, known as the Fuels Use Tax Act. Both of these acts were repealed effective October 1, 1997. Aviation gasoline and jet fuel are also taxed under the liquid fuels and fuels tax. However, separate tax rates are set for these fuels. Effective January 1, 2009, the tax rate for aviation gasoline is 5.8 cents per gallon, and the tax rate for jet fuels is 2.0 cents per gallon.

OIL COMPANY FRANCHISE TAX

Authorization: Chapter 95 of Title 75 of the Pennsylvania Consolidated Statutes.

The Act of April 17, 1997 (P.L. 1531, No. 3) of 1997 imposed a tax of 153.5 mills for all taxable liquid fuels and 208.5 mills for all taxable fuels on oil companies conducting business in Pennsylvania. The Oil Franchise tax is calculated annually by multiplying total gallons of fuels and liquid fuels by the average wholesale price established by the Department of Revenue. Minimum and maximum average wholesale prices are statutorily set at $0.90 and $1.25 per gallon, respectively. The tax rate for calendar year 2009 is 19.2 cents per gallon for liquid fuels and 26.1 cents per gallon for fuels. Receipts from 57 mills of the tax are deposited as unrestricted Motor License Fund revenue.

ALTERNATIVE FUELS TAX

Authorization: Chapter 90 of Title 75 of the Pennsylvania Consolidated Statutes.

The Act of April 17, 1997 (P.L. 1531, No. 3) imposed a tax on alternative fuels used to propel vehicles on public highways. Alternative fuels include natural gas, compressed natural gas, liquid propane gas and liquefied petroleum gas, alcohols, gasoline-alcohol mixtures containing at least 85 percent alcohol by volume, hydrogen, hythane, electricity, and any other fuel not taxable as liquid fuels or fuels. The tax rate applied to each gasoline gallon equivalent of alternative fuel equals the current liquid fuels tax and oil company franchise tax applicable to one gallon of gasoline.

Administrative Costs: Costs to administer the multiple tax expenditures associated with the liquid fuels and fuels, oil company franchise, and alternative fuels taxes cannot be separately identified. Tax expenditures are a significant factor associated with the need for more compliance audits and the increased complexity of such audits.

MOTOR CARRIERS ROAD TAX / IFTA

Authorization: Chapter 96 of Title 75 of the Pennsylvania Consolidated Statutes.

The motor carriers road tax is equal to the current Pennsylvania liquid fuels and fuels or alternative fuels tax rate per gallon plus the oil franchise tax currently in effect. Prior to October 1, 1997, an additional tax of 6 cents per gallon was collected through the motor carriers road tax. Effective October 1, 1997, this tax was repealed and replaced by a tax of 55 mills on each gallon of fuels and collected through the oil franchise tax. Effective January 1, 1996, under Act 75 of 1995, Pennsylvania implemented the provisions of the International Fuel Tax Agreement (IFTA). Under IFTA, fuel consumed in "qualified motor vehicles" is subject to taxation at current rates. A qualified motor vehicle is a motor vehicle, other than a recreational vehicle, which is used, designed, or maintained for transportation of persons or property and which has two axles and a registered gross weight exceeding 26,000 pounds, three axles or more regardless of weight, or used in combination when the registered gross weight exceeds 26,000 pounds. IFTA provisions do not distinguish taxable use by vehicle types, only by weight and axle configuration. Therefore, Act 75 of 1995 repealed the motorbus road tax effective January 1, 1996. The following estimates reflect the full tax rate imposed.

Administrative Costs: Costs to administer the multiple tax expenditures associated with motor carrier road tax/IFTA cannot be identified separately. Tax expenditures are not believed to be a significant factor associated with the need for more compliance audits and contribute minimally to the length of time necessary to complete such audits.

Prior to December 30, 1983, thoroughbred racing tax revenues consisted of wagering, breakage, and admissions taxes. Harness racing tax revenues consisted of wagering and admissions taxes as assessed by the Race Horse Industry Reform Act (Act 135 of December 17, 1981). The Harness Racing Fund and the Horse Racing Fund were combined into the Racing Fund by Act 93 of 1983. This act also amended portions of the Race Horse Industry Reform Act relating to taxation.

Administrative Costs: Administrative costs associated with these tax expenditures are nominal.

WAGERING TAX

Authorization: Act of May 16, 1986 (P.L. 205, No. 63).

NEW CORPORATIONS

Description: Racing corporations licensed after May 16, 1986 are subject to a reduced wagering tax rate of 1 percent rather than the normal 1.5 percent rate for a period of four years.

Purpose: This provision may have been perceived as an incentive to promote the formation of new racing corporations.

Description: The minimum admissions tax, currently 5 percent of 50 cents, is waived at events where no admission charge is levied and where simulcasts of races from other facilities are featured rather than live races.

Purpose: This provision may have been perceived as a way to promote simulcast attendance at commonwealth racing facilities.

UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION INSURANCE TAX

LIMITATION OF THE TAXABLE WAGE BASE _____

Authorization: Act of December 5, 1936 (2nd special session, 1937 P.L. 2897, No. 1), 4(x)(1), as amended, 43 P.S. 753(x)(1).

The purpose of the tax is to provide a fund from which compensation is paid to workers who have become unemployed through no fault of their own. Contributions are required to be made by all employers who pay wages to individuals working in Pennsylvania and whose services are covered under the unemployment compensation law. This tax may include employee contributions withheld by employers from each employee's gross wages. The Pennsylvania Unemployment Compensation Law is administered by the Department of Labor and Industry.

Description: The commonwealth's unemployment compensation law provides for a limitation of the taxable wage base to the first $8,000 of wages paid to each employee during a calendar year by an employer. Prior to 1984 the limitation on taxable remuneration had been $7,000. All state governments are required by the federal government to tax at least the first $7,000 of subject wages. Many states, including Pennsylvania, have chosen to keep their bases close to the federal minimum. The estimate represents the cost of this limitation as measured by the difference between contributions based on taxable wages and contributions based on total wages. In 1988, legislation was enacted which provides for a "trigger" mechanism to regulate employer and employee contributions. The trigger mechanism working in conjunction with the experience rating system would change tax rates in response to a change in the taxable wage base. The methodology used for this estimate does not incorporate the changes that would occur to the tax rates as a result of tax base changes. Projected tax rates were used to estimate contributions based on currently taxable wages. The same tax rates were used to estimate contributions based on total wages paid by contributory employers.

Purpose: The limitation on taxable wages limits growth in employer tax liabilities that would otherwise occur as wages rise.

Estimates:	2007-08	2008-09	2009-10	2010-11	2011-12	2012-13	2013-14
	$7,218.8	$7,270.7	$7,553.2	$7,916.6	$8,293.8	$8,677.9	$9,079.8

Beneficiaries: Pennsylvania's unemployment compensation tax system is legislatively designed to generate a sufficient amount of revenue to meet annual benefit payments and maintain an adequate reserve in the state's Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund. Since the tax rates are a function of taxable wages, an increase in the amount of taxable wages to total wages would result in a decrease in the assigned tax rates (trigger mechanism). Ultimately, this would maintain revenues at a level comparable to the current tax structure. This situation, however, involves special treatment for some employers compared to others based upon the level of wages paid to the employees. This special treatment (tax expenditure) would be different for every contributory employer in each major industry division and would have to be calculated on an individual employer basis. In general, under the current system, an employer with higher wage employees benefits by paying on a small portion of total wages. If the taxable wage base were total wages paid to employees, the employer with higher employee wages would have to pay a greater amount in taxes, even though the rate would be reduced significantly.

As of the first quarter of 2008 there were 271,088 contributory employers to the Unemployment Compensation Fund. The following is a breakdown of these employers according to major industry division¹:

Natural Resources and Mining	2,644	Financial Activities	19,192
Construction	30,847	Professional and Business Services	47,732
Manufacturing	14,815	Education and Health Services	39,218
Trade	50,900	Leisure and Hospitality	26,092

PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION ASSISTANCE FUND

Authorization: Article XXIII of the Tax Reform Code of 1971 (P.L. 6, No. 2), as amended.

The Public Transportation Assistance Fund provides for the capital, asset maintenance, and certain other transportation needs of the commonwealth's public transit entities.

Fund revenues are derived from a motor vehicle lease tax; a motor vehicle rental fee; a fee on the sale of new tires; 0.44 percent of total sales and use tax receipts in lieu of the repealed periodicals tax; 0.09 percent of total sales and use tax receipts in lieu of the repealed lease tax on class four and above motor carriers; and 0.417 percent of sales and use tax in lieu of transfers from the public utility realty tax (PURTA) and the utilities gross receipts tax. By provisions of Act 46 of 2003, beginning in fiscal year 2003-04, revenues associated with the 7.6 mills of PURTA, previously transferred to this fund, will remain in the General Fund. Act 138 of 1996 (electric competition) provided for transfers from the utility gross receipts tax to the Public Transportation Assistance Fund beginning in fiscal year 1998-99. Act 46 of 2003 repealed this transfer effective for fiscal year 2003-04 and forward. Certain entities and transactions are exempt from these taxes and fees. With the exception of the fee on tires and the class 4 and above motor carrier tax expenditure, the remaining tax expenditures parallel those in the General Fund sales and use tax expenditures.

Administrative Costs: Administrative costs are believed to be nominal.

MOTOR VEHICLE LEASE TAX AND MOTOR VEHICLE RENTAL FEE

The commonwealth levies a 3 percent tax on the total price charged for each lease of a motor vehicle subject to tax under Article II of the Tax Reform Code of 1971.

A fee of $2 per day or portion of a day is imposed on each rental of a motor vehicle subject to tax under Article II of the Tax Reform Code of 1971.

COMMON CARRIERS

Description: Vehicles leased or rented by a public utility, engaged in business as a common carrier, to be used in rendering utility services, are exempt from taxation. Since the enactment of the Federal Aviation Act, effective January 1, 1995, Pennsylvania has recognized contract carriers as common carriers. Household goods carriers and private carriers remain taxable.

Purpose: Without this exemption, the tax would be built into the rate base of these types of public utility services and, ultimately, passed on to consumers. Therefore, this exemption reduces the overall cost of utility services that are considered to be basic necessities.

SCHOOL BUSES

Description: The lease or rental of school buses is exempt from taxation. These buses must be used exclusively for the transportation of children for school purposes. The provision is extended to persons who have contracts with school districts to transport children. For the purposes of this analysis, the majority of these contracts are assumed to be leases.

Purpose: The costs of transporting school children are directly borne by school districts and indirectly by state government through subsidy programs. This exemption, while limiting state Public Transportation Assistance Fund revenues, decreases state educational subsidy costs.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To provide an effective administrative system through which the substantive program goals of the commonwealth can be accomplished.

Program: Executive Direction

The Pennsylvania Constitution vests the executive authority of the commonwealth in the Governor. It is the duty of the Governor to ensure that the laws of the commonwealth are faithfully executed. The Governor also oversees the publication of public information including bulletins of the work of state government. The Governor submits an annual budget to the General Assembly and performs all other functions required of this office as delegated by the State Constitution and in law.

This program also provides for the Governor's Residence. The Residence is used for state functions and to provide a domicile for the Governor and the First Family. The expenses for official functions, as well as those essential to managing a household, are paid from the Governor's Office appropriation. The maintenance of the Residence is primarily the responsibility of the Department of General Services. Equipment, supplies (except food) and housekeeping services are provided by the department.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To provide an effective administrative system through which the substantive programs of the commonwealth can be achieved.

Program: Executive Direction

The Executive Direction program provides administrative support and policy direction for implementing, maintaining and monitoring the substantive programs of the commonwealth.

Program Element: Administration

The Office of Administration provides administrative support and policy direction of centralized human resource services to all agencies under the Governor's jurisdiction. The Office of Administration provides leadership in transformation of human resource business systems and processes through implementation of the Enterprise Resource Planning initiative, Integrated Enterprise System (IES). The Office of Administration sustains positive working relationships with unions, negotiating and administering collective bargaining agreements between the commonwealth and the various unions representing state employees under the provision of the Public Employee Relations Act of 1970, as well as administering the classification, salary and benefits structures for all employees. The Office of Administration maximizes performance through attracting, developing, training and retaining human resources. The Office of Administration also assures a diverse workforce and workplace free from discrimination by administering the commonwealth's Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) policy and programs.

The Office of Administration also provides overall direction and support for the Governor's cost saving, revenue enhancement and customer service initiatives through the Office of Strategic Services and the Statewide Public Safety Radio System (a two way wireless communications network for both voice and data, which includes a statewide web of radio towers and smaller cell sites linked together with fiber optics and microwave relays).

Program Element: Information Technology

The Office of Administration is responsible for developing and administering statewide policies and standards governing management and use of the commonwealth's information technology (IT) resources.

The Deputy Secretary for Information Technology/State Chief Information Officer (CIO) is responsible for developing and administering statewide policies and standards governing the management and use of the commonwealth's IT resources. The deputy oversees enterprise-wide initiatives such as enterprise computing, shared services and Operation Secure Enterprise (OSE). OSE provides the intelligence and real-time monitoring necessary to safeguard the devices that manage and maintain commonwealth critical business resources and data.

A Communities of Practice (CoP) Deputy CIO monitors agency IT project performance, sets strategic direction, approves plans, addresses IT staff and budget issues and drives the CoP agencies toward consolidation, system integration and shared application and maintenance paradigms.

The Deputy CIO for the Health and Human Services Team supports agencies by providing project and contract management for selected projects. This deputy is responsible for identifying, supporting and furthering IT initiatives focused on health care cost containment such as Integrated Behavioral Health, electronic Health Records and Health Information Technology.

The Deputy CIO for Environment supports agencies within the Environmental Community of Practice (CoP) by providing project and contract management services. This Community of Practice consists of agencies working to preserve and maintain Pennsylvania's natural resources and natural habitats, maintain cultural and historical resources, protect the environment, and promote travel, tourism and recreation. In addition, they are charged with upholding state and federal laws that protect our air, land and waterways.

The Deputy CIO for the Public Safety Team manages the Justice Network (JNET), a secure, virtual system for sharing justice information by authorized users at the federal, state, county and local levels. This team also supports public safety agencies such as the Pennsylvania State Police, the Department of Corrections and Pennsylvania Commission on Crime and Delinquency by providing project oversight and contract management for selected projects.

The Deputy CIO for General Government Operations team and agency members are responsible for developing a coordinated approach for grants management within the commonwealth enterprise and providing information technology services for the Governor's Office, the Office of the Budget and Department of General Services. This team is also responsible for exploring a variety of ways to increase revenues and taking a comprehensive look at the way licensing across agencies can be provided in a more economical, expedient and customer friendly manner.

The Integrated Enterprise System serves to maintain, improve and grow the Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) system to accommodate the administrative and operational requirements of the commonwealth and to promote standardization of business processes in an effective, efficient manner. The Integrated Enterprise System team works directly with business owner agencies (Office of the Budget, Comptroller Operations, Department of General Services and the Office of Administration) to refine business processes and system operating efficiencies. In addition, IES supports the deployment of additional ERP modules like Plant Maintenance with the Pennsylvania Department of Transportation.

Program Element: Fraud Detection and Prevention

The purpose of the Office of Inspector General is to detect, deter and eradicate fraud and waste of state resources and misconduct by state employees; keep the Governor fully informed of problems and deficiencies in executive agencies; and help ensure that executive agencies operate efficiently, with integrity and in accordance with applicable laws and regulations. The Office of Inspector General is designed to maintain public confidence, integrity and efficiency in state government.

The Office of Inspector General’s Welfare Fraud Investigations and Recovery Operation is responsible for conducting investigations into suspected welfare fraud and abuse as well as performing collection activities for welfare programs administered by the Department of Public Welfare. The collection activities involve the recovery of benefits provided due to clerical errors, omissions or inaccurate information supplied by applicants, and in the case of Medical Assistance, charges for services exceeding allowable amounts. In addition, the Office of Inspector General recovers the costs of benefits provided to recipients who are eligible for Supplemental Security Income, tort recoveries, unemployment compensation, workers’ compensation and veterans’ benefits.

Program Element: Commonwealth Budget and Accounting

The Office of the Budget assists the Governor in formulating fiscal policies and procedures and in preparing the commonwealth budget for delivery to the General Assembly. The establishment of authorized complement levels for those agencies within the scope of authority of the Governor is the responsibility of the Office of the Budget. The office also prepares fiscal notes and reviews proposed regulations as mandated by Act 149 of 1978.

In addition, the Office of the Budget provides accounting, auditing and financial advisory and supportive services to all commonwealth agencies and is responsible for the publishing of the Comprehensive Annual Financial Report (CAFR). The office also provides resources and support to IES.

Program Element: Rural Development

The Governor’s Advisory Council on Rural Affairs is responsible for the development and implementation of plans that integrate private expertise and federal, state and local government efforts for the promotion of rural development in Pennsylvania. The council’s responsibilities include assessing Pennsylvania’s rural development needs, identifying the state’s various available resources and compiling and analyzing data to produce insights into rural development.

Program Element: Public Employee Pensions

The Public Employee Retirement Commission, in accordance with Act 66 of 1981, is mandated to provide actuarial analyses to the General Assembly and the Governor in conjunction with their consideration of public pension legislation and to study and advise on public employee pension policy. Under Act 293 of 1972, the commission reviews actuarial valuation reports filed by county employee retirement plans. Under Act 205 of 1984, the commission regulates and enforces the actuarial funding standards governing municipal pension plans and certifies the cost data utilized in allocating General Municipal Pension System State Aid.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To provide legal advice to the Governor and the Cabinet, and to supervise, coordinate and administer legal services for the commonwealth.

Program: Legal Services

The Office of General Counsel (OGC) was created by Act 164 of 1980. The General Counsel serves as the chief legal advisor to the Governor, heads the Office of General Counsel, and appoints deputies general counsel, chief counsel and assistant counsel to assist in the performance of the responsibilities of OGC. OGC represents the commonwealth, the Governor, members of his Cabinet, and more than 30 agencies that conduct the business of the commonwealth. This includes rendering legal advice and representation concerning matters and issues arising in connection with the operation of executive agencies under the Governor's jurisdiction. OGC reviews and approves for form and legality all commonwealth deeds, leases, contracts, rules and regulations. OGC provides advice to the Governor on pending legislative matters and issues, and reviews for constitutionality and legality all legislation presented to the Governor for approval.

The Office of General Counsel is responsible for initiating appropriate actions or defending the commonwealth when the Attorney General declines to initiate appropriate proceedings or delegates that responsibility to OGC. Upon request by the Governor, OGC also has the authority to intervene in any action by or against an agency under the Governor's jurisdiction.

The General Counsel administers the operations of the Juvenile Court Judges Commission and supervises the legal representation for this agency as well as all other state agencies with legal staff assigned therein.

In addition, the General Counsel serves as a member of the Board of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws, the Department of Emergency Management and Homeland Security, the Joint Committee on Documents, the Board of Property, the Local Government Records Committee, the Medical Advisory Board, the Board of Finance and Revenue and the Civil Disorder Commission.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To ensure equal opportunities and participation for all individuals regardless of race, religion, color, creed, handicap or disability, ancestry, national origin, familial status, age or sex in all areas of employment, housing, credit, commercial property, public accommodations and education.

Program: Prevention and Elimination of Discriminatory Practices

The Human Relations Commission is responsible for identifying, preventing and eliminating illegal discriminatory practices as defined by the Pennsylvania Human Relations Act and the Pennsylvania Fair Educational Opportunities Act. The two principal methods used by the commission to secure compliance with the law are processing complaints of discrimination that might result in legal proceedings being initiated and providing technical assistance to organizations, businesses, governmental bodies and individuals to promote voluntary compliance. Processing formal complaints continues to be the major activity of the commission.

Substantial resources are also devoted to providing technical assistance to anyone who requests guidance in avoiding illegal discriminatory acts. The commission coordinates the state's response to racial and ethnic tensions and trains law enforcement officials and local government and community leaders on appropriate responses. The commission is also involved with major outreach programs to provide information to community leaders and public officials regarding the Pennsylvania Human Relations Act and its procedures.

The commission, in conjunction with the Pennsylvania Department of Education, is working with several urban school districts to improve the educational achievement of minority and disadvantaged students.

Federal funds are received for investigating complaints that are dual filed with the commission and with either the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission or the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The commission's efforts to identify and remedy systemic discrimination continue in order to address the major problems of discrimination against whole classes of individuals. In addition, litigation remains a significant feature of the commission's workload.

The Latino Affairs Commission functions as an advocate for the Latino community. The commission advises the Governor on policies, procedures, legislation and regulations that impact the Latino community. The commission also assists Latino individuals in making the most of their talents and capabilities and works with local Latino communities in developing strategies and programs that enhance their social and economic status.

The African American Affairs Commission functions as the commonwealth's advocate for the African American community. The commission advises the Governor and legislative caucuses on policies, procedures, legislation and regulations that impact the African American community. The commission also provides information from state government directly to the African American community.

The Asian American Affairs Commission is an advocate agency for the Asian American residents of the commonwealth. It advises the Governor on policies, procedures, legislation and regulations that affect the growing Asian American community in Pennsylvania. The commission also serves as a resource to commonwealth departments and agencies on how to better serve the Asian American community.

The Commission for Women functions as the commonwealth's advocate for women and girls and is responsible for developing and implementing policies and programs that work to ensure equal opportunity. In addition to legislative advocacy, the commission monitors women's employment and educational needs, and promotes health care awareness and political participation. The commission's work includes the dissemination of information through its Web site and hotline, as well as the publication of periodicals and handbooks; news releases to press and broadcast media; and speeches to groups and media appearances.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To increase public exposure to quality artistic and cultural programs and to stimulate a climate that offers opportunities and encouragement to artists.

Program: Development of Artists and Audiences

The commonwealth encourages cultural development in the arts through the Pennsylvania Council on the Arts (PCA). The 19-member council supports the arts through grant programs, services and a network of community-based organizations funded by the PCA to provide funding and services. The organizations and artists served are geographically, culturally and ethnically diverse and range from small community organizations that engender and support local arts programs to world-renowned orchestras, museums, dance companies, theatres and festivals.

The council functions with input from more than 40 advisory review panels that provide an evaluation of applications and feedback on program structures.

The council supports and assists the arts in the commonwealth in several specific areas: 1) a grants program that responds to most applications and program initiatives either directly or through a decentralized network of 17 regional funding partners; 2) partnerships and initiatives developed by the council to seek opportunities and address issues affecting the arts that are beyond the capacity of a single arts institution; and 3) additional services directly provided by staff and through partnerships with state, regional and national service organizations.

Through programs such as Accessibility to the Arts for Individuals with Disabilities, Arts in Education Partnership, Pennsylvania Performing Arts on Tour, Local Government and Preserving Diverse Cultures, ethnically diverse organizations, artists and ensembles are encouraged to participate in the arts.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To provide criminal and juvenile justice system policy analysis, coordination and planning to improve criminal justice programs.

Program: Criminal and Juvenile Justice Planning and Coordination

Program Element: Planning and Coordination

The Pennsylvania Commission on Crime and Delinquency (PCCD) supports the criminal and juvenile justice systems by providing system-wide criminal statistical and analytical services and by fostering interagency coordination and cooperation, as well as by rendering training and technical assistance. Appointed task forces, advisory groups and planning committees, encompassing commission and non-commission members, advise the commission in addressing specific problem areas.

The commission also administers a mix of state and federal grant programs that are designed to provide support to local elements of the criminal and juvenile justice system and through selective financing of proposals, demonstrate new solutions to statewide problems.

The commission fosters the development of criminal justice policy by conducting research on timely criminal justice issues and has established a link to Pennsylvania's academic community through the formation of an evaluation advisory committee composed of leading criminal justice researchers. Integral to its role in criminal justice coordination and analysis of legislative issues, PCCD has formed a multi-agency correctional population projection committee that provides policymakers with accurate projections of the commonwealth's correctional population and conducts policy impact analysis. In the area of criminal justice record information, PCCD coordinates a multidisciplinary committee that analyzes criminal justice information and develops and implements strategies to improve the quality and value of the information.

The commission is the designated state agency to administer the federal Violence Against Women and Department of Justice Reauthorization Act of 2005. The program provides funding to Pennsylvania to develop a coordinated and integrated approach to improving the criminal justice system's response to violence against women.

Under the guidance of its gubernatorially appointed Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Advisory Committee, PCCD has responsibility for preparing and updating a comprehensive juvenile justice and delinquency prevention plan on behalf of the commonwealth. PCCD plays a central role in collaborative initiatives involving the Department of Public Welfare, the Juvenile Court Judges Commission, the Department of Education and other agencies in the development and implementation of policy and programming relative to juvenile justice and delinquency prevention—especially research-based, evidence-based prevention programs. The Research-Based Delinquency and Violence Prevention Program has supported these efforts since 1998-99. This program supports the implementation of intensive as well as non-intensive prevention/intervention models. PCCD is the state's focal point for promoting local efforts to implement risk-focused, community mobilization programming directed toward preventing delinquency, violence, substance abuse and other adolescent problem behaviors. PCCD administers the Communities That Care risk-focused prevention initiative, which includes training and technical assistance to communities. The commission administers the federal Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Act Formula Grant program, as well as the Juvenile Accountability Block Grant program—both of which provide funds that support treatment/intervention programs and juvenile justice system improvement projects. The commission also administers the Governor's portion of the commonwealth's federal Safe and Drug Free Schools and Communities Act funding allocation that is used to support projects and programs that prevent drug use/abuse and violence among children and youth. The commission administers federal Enforcing Underage Drinking Laws block grant funds, which support enforcement efforts and the Campus/Community Underage Drinking Prevention Coalition Project.

The commission provides training and technical assistance to county prison boards and local officials through the County Intermediate Punishment Act. This act provided counties with opportunities to develop various intermediate punishment programs for nonviolent offenders to alleviate overcrowding in the county prisons. In addition, PCCD administers the Drug and Alcohol Treatment-Based Restrictive Intermediate Punishment program, which provides support to counties for drug and alcohol assessment, evaluation and treatment services. The projects link drug and alcohol treatment with a combination of restrictive sanctions including residential rehabilitation centers, halfway houses, day reporting centers, work release centers, intensive supervision with electronic monitoring, house arrest with intensive supervision, and house arrest with electronic monitoring. Act 198 of 2002 (amended by Act 36 of 2006) established the Substance Abuse Education and Demand Reduction Fund. State funds are earmarked for research-based approaches to prevention, intervention, training, treatment and education services to reduce substance abuse and implement statewide programs to assist families in accessing such services. Monies for the fund are obtained through offender fines.

PCCD, state and local units of government receive start-up monies for projects to improve the justice system. Major priorities for new local projects include juvenile justice initiatives, community-based criminal justice initiatives, corrections, community-based planning initiatives through County Criminal Justice Advisory Boards, new and expanded county criminal justice automation efforts, comprehensive victim services, training and evaluation activities.

PCCD administers a training program for deputy sheriffs, financed through a surcharge on fees levied by the sheriffs for legal services executed. A 760-hour basic training curriculum provides for certification of deputy sheriffs and biennial continuing education provides for re-certification. PCCD also provides training and certification for constables including 80-hour basic training, mandatory 20-hour annual continuing education and basic and annual firearms training. Constables training is funded through a surcharge on constable services.

PCCD provides statewide training and technical assistance for law enforcement personnel to implement community-based crime reduction strategies, coordinates statewide efforts promoting law enforcement's involvement in policing practices and sponsors an annual program to recognize citizen contributions to local crime reduction projects. PCCD also provides funds for School Resource Officers underwriting a statewide Law Enforcement Accreditation program, designed specifically for the multitude of mid-sized and smaller departments.

The commission administers the federal Residential Substance Abuse Treatment program. This program provides funding to develop and implement residential substance abuse treatment programs within state and local correctional facilities in which prisoners are incarcerated for a period of time sufficient to permit substance abuse treatment.

Through Act 30 of 2001, the powers and duties of PCCD were expanded to include the continuing development of comprehensive, community-based youth violence prevention plans, as well as the development and promotion of comprehensive targeted crime prevention efforts and a planning process for the revitalization of high-crime and distressed communities, such as those already underway with the Weed and Seed program.

The Weed and Seed program works in a partnership with members of the community in a target community to eliminate drug-related crime (the "Weed" effort) and to improve the community's social and economic vitality (the "Seed" effort). Through the Assistance Impact Delegation Revitalization Plans, each site has secured state resources to "Seed" progress in their communities. In 2008-09 $3.127 million was received in state funding for Neighborhood Economic Development, Micro Enterprises, Community Crime Prevention, Employment and Training, and Blight Reduction.

Program Element: Victim Services

PCCD uses county-based policy boards to define local victim service needs and develop cost-effective victim/witness service strategies. Technical and financial assistance is provided to community-based organizations and district attorney offices in all 67 counties to support comprehensive service to victims of all violent crimes with particular emphasis on services to victims of sexual assault, domestic violence and child abuse. In addition, the Victims of Juvenile Offenders program supports community-based services to assist victims of juvenile offenders through grants to district attorneys, juvenile probation offices and community-based victims' services providers in 66 of the state's 67 counties. Grants are made using court imposed costs authorized by Act 96 of 1984, as amended by Act 85 of 2002, the federal Victims of Crime Act of 1984 and a state appropriation for services for victims of juvenile offenders. Through these grants, the Office of Victims' Services was able to make funding available to organizations in each of the 67 counties, which then provided services to more than 382,000 victims of crime, witnesses and others. In addition, the commission is the state-administering agency for the S.T.O.P. (Services, Training, Officers, and Prosecution) Grant program authorized through the Violence Against Women Act. These funds support the efforts of teams in 46 counties comprised of law enforcement, prosecutors and victims' services programs. Act 86 of 2000 amended the Crime Victims Act by adding definitions for adult, juvenile and preadjudication disposition. The act provides victims of crimes committed by juvenile offenders with the same rights as victims of crimes committed by adult offenders, including receiving basic information pertaining to victims' assistance, obtaining access to information concerning disposition of cases and receiving reimbursement of losses. Act 85 of 2002 further amended the act to provide victims notification of an adult offender's release from a boot camp or facility and the right to witness the execution of an offender.

The Victims Compensation Assistance program was created by Act 139 of 1976 as a response to the financial losses incurred by victims of crime. The Office of Victims' Services is responsible for the administration of the program. Currently, individuals who are injured during a crime may be compensated for uninsured or unreimbursable medical expenses, counseling, relocation expenses, crime scene clean-up expenses and loss of earnings and monies that are stolen or defrauded from individuals on fixed incomes. In the case of a homicide, funeral expenses, within limits, and loss of support may be compensated to those who qualify. The program does not pay for pain and suffering nor does it pay for property loss, in most instances. The maximum award is $35,000, including $20,000 for loss of support and $15,000 for loss of earnings. Payments for counseling, crime-scene cleanup and certain other costs are over and above the $35,000 maximum award. The Victims Compensation Assistance program is the payer of last resort for crime victims' losses, and the office is required to verify all aspects of each claim prior to payment.

Payments to victims are disbursed from a special nonlapsing restricted revenue account that receives its funding from a penalty assessment of at least $35 levied against certain offenders who plead guilty or nolo contendere, who are convicted of a crime or who are placed in a diversionary program. Juveniles, when there is a consent decree or an adjudication of delinquency, pay a penalty assessment of at least $25, which is also paid into the fund.

Payment funds are also provided by the federal Victims of Crime Act of 1984 which allocates federal reimbursements to states for compensation programs based on a formula of prior year payments to victims.

The passage of Act 45 of 2003 became effective on February 21, 2004. Prior to its passage, crime victims' restitution payments unclaimed by rightful owners for more than five years were presumed abandoned and deposited in the commonwealth's General Fund. The act directs the State Treasurer to deposit the unclaimed restitution payments in the Crime Victims Compensation Fund on or before June 30 of each year. For more detailed information on the services provided by the Office of Victims' Services, please see the related Annual Report, available at www.pccd.state.pa.us.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To reduce the recurrence of juvenile delinquency through replacement of criminal behavior with socially acceptable behavior.

Program: Reintegration of Juvenile Delinquents

The Juvenile Court Judges Commission (JCJC) is responsible for the development and improvement of juvenile probation services throughout the commonwealth. These services focus on the provision of balanced attention to the protection of the community, the imposition of accountability for offenses committed and the development of competencies to enable children to become responsible and productive members of the community. The provision of statewide juvenile justice training, graduate education, research, statistical information, and the development and enhancement of specialized intensive probation and aftercare services for juveniles have significantly improved the quality of service within the commonwealth's juvenile justice system.

All 67 of the commonwealth's counties participated in the JCJC's grant-in-aid program in 2008-09, and adopted the JCJC's required Juvenile Court Standards, participated in JCJC-sponsored training programs and complied with all JCJC statistical reporting requirements. The grant-in-aid program is the only source of state funding for juvenile probation services. It supports the JCJC's major programs including training, graduate education and specialized projects, such as the provision of liability insurance for community service programs, and software to enable counties to participate in the JCJC's juvenile probation management information system.

The JCJC annually sponsors from 40 to 45 state-of-the-art-training programs for juvenile justice practitioners. In addition to the provision of training, the JCJC, in conjunction with Shippensburg University, provides the support to enable probation officers to receive Master of Science degrees in the Administration of Justice. By the end of 2009-10, 561 juvenile justice professionals will have earned graduate degrees through this program since its inception in 1982.

The JCJC continues to support the Specialized Probation Services program, including school-based probation, community-based probation, intensive probation and aftercare services including assistance for drug and alcohol abuse prevention and treatment. The commission provides support for 383 specialized probation officers pursuant to JCJC standards. Of these positions, 98 are for school-based probation, 179 are for community-based probation, 34 are for intensive probation, 45 are for aftercare services and 27 are specialized probation services supervisors. The JCJC will continue this program during 2009-10.

The JCJC's Drug and Alcohol initiative continues to be a priority. Fifty-one of the commonwealth's counties receive funds to support urinalysis drug testing techniques on those juveniles who are known or suspected drug users. Juveniles referred by the court are tested for one or more of the following drugs: THC, cocaine, barbiturates, amphetamines, opiates, PCP, benzodiazepines and alcohol.

Juvenile arrests for violent crimes (murder, forcible rape, robbery and aggravated assault) decreased from 5,743 in 2006 to 5,399 in 2007. The arrest rate per 100,000 juveniles decreased from 418 in 2006 to 408 in 2007.

The JCJC participates in the commonwealth's Justice Network. The JCJC's primary role in the project is to assist in the design, development and implementation of the Juvenile Tracking System (JTS). The JTS is part of the statewide Integrated Criminal Justice System. The system electronically connects criminal justice agencies to facilitate information sharing.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To enforce the criminal laws of the commonwealth; to protect the interests of Pennsylvania citizens in areas of consumer protection, antitrust enforcement, operation of charitable trusts and organizations, and civil rights; and to provide legal services to commonwealth agencies.

Program: Public Protection and Law Enforcement

The Attorney General, as the chief law enforcement officer of the commonwealth, is charged with the responsibility for the investigation and prosecution of organized crime and public corruption. The agency investigates and prosecutes criminal activity in accordance with Sections 205 and 206 of the Commonwealth Attorneys Act and uses statewide investigative grand juries as appropriate. The Office of Attorney General works with the State Police to curtail drug abuse in the commonwealth by apprehending illegal drug traffickers. Act 166 of 1994 established a section of Insurance Fraud within the Office of Attorney General to prosecute and investigate insurance fraud. Responsibilities also include the investigation and prosecution of Medicaid fraud, environmental crimes and cases referred by district attorneys across the state that have a conflict of interest or lack the resources to prosecute certain crimes.

Other major activities of this program involve decreasing the incidence of fraud and deceptive business practices and securing recovery of damages to the commonwealth and its citizens encouraging free enterprise and competition; investigating and prosecuting consumer fraud, unfair trade practices, antitrust violations, civil rights violations and charitable scams; and providing for representation of the consumer in utility rate proceedings before the Public Utility Commission through the Office of the Consumer Advocate. The Consumer Advocate also represents the consumer in cases such as competition in the electric, gas and telecommunications industries, filings of alternative regulatory plans by telephone utilities, purchased gas cases and filings by major natural gas pipelines.

This program also provides legal services for governmental agencies of the commonwealth, as required by Section 204 of the Commonwealth Attorneys Act. Specifically, the Office of the Attorney General represents the commonwealth in any action brought by or against the commonwealth or its agencies, particularly tort claims.

Act 57 of 2005 amended the County Code to provide for full-time district attorneys under certain conditions. The salary to be paid the full-time district attorney is set at $1,000 less than a common pleas court judge in that county. The commonwealth annually reimburses counties for 65 percent of the salary for the full-time district attorney which began in calendar year 2006. Act 30 of 2007 established the Criminal Justice Enhancement Account, which provides funding sources for the commonwealth's share.

The Joint Local-State Firearm Task Force is comprised of the Philadelphia District Attorney's Office, the Philadelphia Police Department and the Office of Attorney General and is established to fight increasing gun violence in the Philadelphia area.

Act 42 of 2008, the Cigarette Fire Safety and Firefighter Protection Act, authorizes the office to file actions in state court when the act's requirements are violated. The Straw Purchase Prevention Education program, as created by Act 131 of 2008, authorizes the Attorney General to implement a program of outreach and education for the public and firearms dealers regarding straw purchases. Act 132 of 2008 established the Home Improvement Consumer Protection Act which requires home improvement contractors to register with the Bureau of Consumer Protection. The agency will investigate alleged violations regarding home improvement contractors.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To ensure that all revenue to which the commonwealth is entitled is deposited in the State Treasury and that public money is disbursed legally and properly.

Program: Auditing

The Auditor General is required by the Fiscal Code to audit the financial affairs of state government and certain local government entities. The Auditor General is mandated to perform audits of any entity receiving funds from the commonwealth or any entity collecting funds that belong to the commonwealth. Each year, the department performs thousands of regular and special post-audits of commonwealth agencies, individuals, associations and corporations to ensure money is disbursed legally and properly. The Auditor General also examines accounts of revenue collecting agents to assure that all funds due the commonwealth have been reported and transmitted properly and that the commonwealth's financial statements conform to Generally Accepted Accounting Principles.

The Single Audit, which is a single financial/compliance audit of the commonwealth's federal aid programs, and an audit of the commonwealth's General Purpose Financial Statements are jointly performed each year by the Auditor General and an independent certified public accounting firm.

Special audits may be made when the Auditor General determines they appear to be necessary. Special audits must also be conducted when the Governor calls upon the Auditor General to do them.

The Fiscal Code also requires the Auditor General to audit public assistance payments to determine the eligibility of persons receiving public assistance grants. Recipients are subject to continuous audit. These audits serve to adjust grants to persons either ineligible or receiving overpayments or underpayments.

In addition to fiscal duties, by statute, the Auditor General serves as a member of the State Public School Building Authority and other major commonwealth boards and commissions.

The Board of Claims operates within this program as an independent judicial and administrative body with jurisdiction to hear and determine claims against the commonwealth that equal or exceed $300.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To assist municipal pension systems through review and audit of their pension funds.

Program: Municipal Pension Systems

In 1984, the General Assembly passed Act 205, known as the Municipal Pension Plan Funding Standard and Recovery Act. The enactment of this legislation was in response to the solvency problems facing many of the commonwealth's municipal pension systems. The act requires the submission of municipal pension plan actuarial reports to the Public Employee Retirement Commission every two years and establishes criteria for determination of actuarial soundness and the amount of state-financed support that will be provided. The Auditor General is responsible for audits of approximately 1,300 municipal pension funds for nonuniformed employees where municipalities choose to allocate state aid to those funds.

The Auditor General administers the Municipal Pension Systems Aid program, established by Act 205 to distribute funding to municipal pension plans for police officers and paid firefighters. The program is funded through the Municipal Pension Aid Fund, which receives all proceeds of the Foreign Casualty Insurance Premium Tax and a portion of the Foreign Fire Insurance Premium Tax.

The Auditor General is also responsible for distributing proceeds from the Foreign Fire Insurance Tax Fund to municipalities for payment to volunteer firefighter relief associations. Financial statements for the Municipal Pension Aid Fund and the Fire Insurance Tax Fund are presented in the Special Funds Appendix section of this budget.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To receive and safeguard the monies of the commonwealth, to manage the funds to the best advantage of the commonwealth and to ensure that all disbursements of funds are legal and proper.

Program: Disbursement

The Treasury Department is required by the Fiscal Code to receive and deposit all monies of the commonwealth; to invest in securities any commonwealth monies that accumulate beyond the daily needs of the various funds; to manage to the best possible advantage all securities in its custody; to pre-audit all requisitions for the expenditure of funds; and to disburse all state monies upon proper authorization to those entitled to receive payment. In this capacity, the department is responsible for the receipt, custody and disbursement of billions of dollars each year.

The Treasury Department also pre-audits disbursement records, maintains accounting controls and disburses all checks to recipients of public assistance. Thousands of checks are processed each working day for distribution to recipients. This processing includes pre-auditing, collating, authenticating and mailing the checks to individual recipients and banks. Hundreds of participating banks throughout the commonwealth distribute thousands of checks daily.

The State Treasurer is Chairman of the Board of Finance and Revenue and serves on various state boards and commissions including several public retirement boards.

The Board of Finance and Revenue operates within this program by reviewing and deciding appeals concerning settlements made between the commonwealth and persons, associations and corporations. The board also administers the program for refunding certain monies to which the commonwealth is not legally entitled.

Under the provisions of Act 101 of 1976, as amended by Act 161 of 1994 and Act 59 of 2005, the Treasury Department is required to pay death benefits, adjusted annually for inflation, to the surviving spouse or children of public safety workers, firefighters or law enforcement officers of the commonwealth killed in the performance of their duties and to reimburse political subdivisions for such payments made to survivors of local firefighters or law enforcement officers.

The Treasury Department administers the Tuition Account Program, which provides for two programs for postsecondary educational savings. The Tuition Account Guaranteed Savings Program Fund provides for the advance purchase of tuition credits for students who will attend institutions of higher education. Savings for higher education may also be made through the Tuition Account Investment Program Fund. A cash flow statement for each fund is included in the Special Funds Appendix.

The State Treasurer is responsible for the administration and enforcement of the commonwealth's abandoned and unclaimed property laws. Tangible and intangible property that has remained unclaimed for five or more years is reported and remitted to the Treasury Department by holders in possession of the property. The commonwealth maintains perpetual custody of the property until it is claimed by the rightful owner. Revenues generated by collection of unclaimed property cover the costs of paying claims.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To promote interstate cooperation and progress through participation in various associations and organizations both regionally and nationally.

Program: Interstate Relations

Pennsylvania helps promote interstate progress and cooperation through participation in various organizations, associations and commissions with other states and other units of government. As a member of the Council of State Governments, Education Commission of the States, National Conference of State Legislatures and the National Governors’ Association, Pennsylvania helps coordinate ideas on programs, interstate progress, budgets, federal-state relations, education, labor, research, governmental techniques and general information with other states, the Congress and the federal Executive Branch.

The Governmental Accounting Standards Board is also included within this program. The board provides guidance and establishes standards to promote uniformity and comparability in governmental accounting and financial reporting.

The State and Local Legal Center provides for Pennsylvania’s participation in a center to advance and defend the interests of state and local governments in matters involving federal preemption, state taxing and spending powers, the Tenth Amendment to the United States Constitution and other issues.

This program also covers Pennsylvania’s cost of the Great Lakes Commission and the Council of Great Lakes Governors. These organizations were established to plan and promote a unified and balanced program for the development, use and conservation of Great Lakes Basin water resources.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To provide for interest and principal requirements of notes and bonds issued by the commonwealth and other expenses related to debt service.

Program: Debt Service

The commonwealth, through the Treasury Department, is obligated to meet principal and interest requirements and other expenses related to debt service.

Long-term bonds are issued by the state to cover the cost of financing public improvements that represent such a heavy financial burden that they cannot be funded through current revenues. These bond issues have provided funds for the acquisition and development of public recreation and historic sites and facilities; payment for disaster recovery costs; economic revitalization efforts; low-cost loans for water supply and sewage treatment improvements; loans to volunteer fire companies; and a wide variety of construction and renovation projects for hospitals, higher education facilities, state parks, flood control, correctional institutions and various public buildings.

The commonwealth has saved substantial amounts of debt service interest payments through the issuance of refunding bonds to retire debt incurred in prior years when interest rates were considerably higher. The commonwealth continues to monitor its debt for additional refunding opportunities.

DEPARTMENT OF AGING AND LONG TERM LIVING

This budget proposes to reorganize the commonwealth's long-term living system to improve the efficiency of service delivery and the coordination of services for persons with disabilities and older Pennsylvanians through the integration of programs managed by the Department of Aging and the Department of Public Welfare into a new Department of Aging and Long Term Living.

The mission of the Department of Aging and Long Term Living is to empower persons with disabilities and older Pennsylvanians to live with dignity and independence in the least restrictive setting.

The Department of Aging and Long Term Living coordinates the services and supports of the long-term living system for Pennsylvanians with disabilities and for older Pennsylvanians through the Area Agencies on Aging and service providers. The department provides home and community-based services that enable individuals with disabilities and seniors to remain in their homes and communities and provides nursing facility services for those with higher level needs. The department also manages the Pharmaceutical Assistance Contract for the Elderly program, which provides assistance for older Pennsylvanians to meet the cost of prescription drugs.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To support a consumer-driven system that empowers persons with disabilities and older persons to live with dignity and independence in settings they prefer, to provide meaningful choice of long-term living services and to ensure that those services are delivered in a high-quality, cost-effective manner.

Program: Long-Term Living

The commonwealth's commitment to supporting people with disabilities and older Pennsylvanians is demonstrated by a growing continuum of services ranging from independent living with the support of home and community-based services through institutional care. Eligible individuals can access the system through a network of 52 Area Agencies on Aging (AAA) for seniors and service providers for adults with disabilities. These organizations can provide information to people who seek assistance in identifying the right resource and can also assist consumers and families in accessing more extensive supports and services for those with greater needs.

Program Element: Support Programs

Pennsylvania's rich array of preventive services includes more than 650 senior centers, nutrition and home delivered meals, transportation, job support and family caregiver support. Senior center and nutrition programs provide older Pennsylvanians with hot, nutritionally balanced meals. Transportation services arranged by the AAAs allow older Pennsylvanians to visit the doctor, shop or attend community events. Job placement services help older Pennsylvanians find unsubsidized private sector employment and offer job training and subsidized part-time community service employment. The Family Caregiver Support program assists families supporting frail elderly relatives in their homes through benefits counseling and, depending on income, financial assistance including supplies, services and home adaptations and devices. Transportation services are also available to people with disabilities for both medical and non-medical purposes.

Program Element: Home and Community-Based Services

For individuals who desire to receive services in the community, the department administers eight home and community-based Medicaid waiver programs in addition to several other programs including the OPTIONS program and the Living Independently for Elders (LIFE) program. Home and community-based services help consumers to live as independently as possible and avoid institutionalization.

The AAA network and service providers meet with individuals to provide information and access to these services. Assistance is provided to develop individual service plans and coordinate with an extensive network of providers. The department, in cooperation with the AAA and service providers, is responsible for ensuring that services are being provided in a consistent and efficient manner.

A variety of specialized services are provided to enable people with physical and/or cognitive disabilities, as well as people over 60, to live independently in the community. Attendant care, service coordination, peer counseling, non-medical transportation, community integration and independent living skills training are several of the community-based support services that are provided.

The Attendant Care program provides services to individuals who are between the ages of 18 and 59 and have physical disabilities. Personal assistance and attendant care services, such as bathing, dressing, grooming and other activities of daily living enable recipients to remain in or return to their own homes, rejoin the workforce and maintain independent lifestyles. Attendant care services are provided for adults age 60 and older with disabilities until a change in health status indicates a service level modification. People with certain physical disabilities, such as cerebral palsy and other disabilities (not including mental illness/mental retardation) are served in community residential settings and nursing facilities.

The home and community-based programs support people with developmental disabilities who may have limitations in performing activities of daily living, understanding and/or use of language, learning, mobility, self-direction and capacity for independent living. These services help consumers to function independently in the community. In past years, many consumers with developmental disabilities might have been served in nursing facilities but are now able to reside in the community with services and support.

Similar services are provided to people with cognitive disabilities such as, but not limited to, traumatic brain injury, who do not have other related disabilities. These services enable the consumers to function in the community as independently as possible after they have progressed beyond initial acute rehabilitation. People with cognitive disabilities may require a special mix of services to address short-term memory issues.

Frail older Pennsylvanians often require more extensive and personalized services to remain in their homes and communities and avoid relocating to an institutional setting such as a nursing facility or personal care home. A pre-admission screening program helps older Pennsylvanians and their families determine the most clinically appropriate environment and assist them in securing and managing intensive in-home services tailored to their needs. The department provides counseling to all consumers to apprise them of choices in the continuum of care from community services to personal care homes to nursing facilities. Transition counseling is also provided to assist consumers currently residing in nursing facilities who wish to return home, including arrangement of community supports so that their clinical needs can be safely met in the community. A continuum of services is available based on the functional and financial qualifications of the consumer, ranging from home-delivered meals to intensive in-home services for older Pennsylvanians who are clinically eligible for nursing facility care but who have chosen to stay at home. Persons with higher income or assets share in the cost of services.

Older Pennsylvanians who are in need of nursing facility level-of-care can receive services meeting those needs in the community through the federal Medicaid Home and Community-Based Waiver Program and LIFE, formerly the Long-Term Care Capitated Assistance program. These programs provide assistance with activities of daily living, as well as in-home nursing services, while incorporating the informal supports available through family and friends. Additionally, the LIFE program integrates Medicare funding with Medicaid funding to provide a fully coordinated and comprehensive service package to their enrollees.

Personal care and related services assist frail older adults with functional limitations such as eating, dressing and personal hygiene, either in their own homes or in adult daily living centers. Protective services are provided to older Pennsylvanians who are at imminent risk of abuse, neglect, exploitation or abandonment.

This budget proposes to increase the availability of home and community-based care for persons with disabilities and older Pennsylvanians as an alternative to nursing facility care. Home and community-based services promote independence and self-reliance, and maximize opportunities for family and community involvement. This budget also increases the coordination of care for older individuals who are eligible for both Medicare and Medical Assistance services.

Program Element: Nursing Facility Services

Institutional services are provided to eligible persons by nursing facilities that are certified, in accordance with established standards, to participate in the Medical Assistance program. Nursing facility care is available to Medical Assistance recipients who are determined nursing facility clinically eligible through a level of care assessment conducted by the AAAs. Nursing facility care involves daily medical treatment and rehabilitation services prescribed by a licensed physician. The services are provided by or under the supervision of licensed professional, nursing personnel or other professional health personnel.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To assist eligible older Pennsylvanians who experience difficulty meeting the cost of prescription drugs necessary to maintain healthy lives.

Program: Pharmaceutical Assistance

The pharmaceutical assistance program provides limited pharmaceutical assistance to qualified older Pennsylvanians who are 65 years of age and older and who face the burden of the cost of drugs required to maintain healthy, productive lives. The Pharmaceutical Assistance Contract for the Elderly (PACE) program is financed by Lottery Fund and Tobacco Settlement Fund revenues and administered by the Department of Aging and Long Term Living.

The PACE program has two components, PACE and PACENET. Act 37 of 2003 expanded the income eligibility limits for both components to enroll additional consumers. PACE, the traditional, comprehensive program, is for older Pennsylvanians whose annual income is at or below $14,500 for single persons and $17,700 for married persons. The PACE Needs Enhancement Tier (PACENET) program is available for older Pennsylvanians whose annual income is between $14,500 and $23,500 for single persons and between $17,700 and $31,500 for married persons. Act 69 of 2008 enacted the PACE and PACENET moratoriums, thereby permitting seniors to maintain their program enrollment through December 31, 2010, despite increases in their overall 2008 income due to Social Security cost of living increases.

The Medicare Prescription Drug, Improvement and Modernization Act (MMA) of 2003 created a new outpatient drug benefit, Medicare Part D. An interim Medicare Drug Discount Card and Transitional Assistance program began in June 2004. Low-income PACE enrollees, not enrolled in a Medicare HMO, were enrolled in the Transitional Assistance program permitting PACE to charge to the Medicare program up to $600 per year for each enrollee's pharmaceutical expenses in 2004 and 2005.

Medicare Part D drug coverage began in January 2006. In July, Act 111 of 2006 created PACE Plus Medicare, which enables cardholders to take advantage of the features of both PACE and Medicare Part D. With the goal of providing seamless coverage, PACE Plus fills the coverage gaps encountered by cardholders in Medicare Part D, including deductibles, the doughnut hole phase of no Medicare coverage, drugs excluded under MMA, drugs not on a plan's formulary and copayment differentials between the Part D plan coverage and the PACE and PACENET copayments. PACE Plus pays the Medicare premiums for Part D coverage for PACE cardholders, while PACENET cardholders must pay the Part D premiums. Act 111 of 2006 also eliminated the monthly deductible for PACENET cardholders. PACENET cardholders who forego Part D coverage are responsible for a monthly benchmark payment based on Part D premiums ($25.59 in 2008 and $29.23 in 2009). The benchmark premium payment remains lower than the prior $40 monthly PACENET deductible.

The PACE program acts as the enrollees' representative and facilitates PACE cardholder enrollment into the Extra Help/Low-Income Subsidy offering under Part D as well as collaborating with selected prescription drug plans to facilitate enrollment of cardholders into Part D. PACE covers all medications requiring a prescription in the commonwealth, as well as insulin, insulin syringes and needles, unless a manufacturer does not participate in the manufacturer's rebate program. PACE does not cover medications that can be purchased without a prescription. In addition, PACE prohibits payment for cosmetic drugs and for less-than-effective drugs without certification by a physician. PACE cardholders are responsible for a copayment of $6 for generic and $9 for brand-name prescriptions. PACENET cardholders are responsible for a copayment of $8 for generic and $15 for brand-name prescriptions.

In accordance with Act 111 of 2006, participating pharmacies are currently reimbursed at a discounted average wholesale price (AWP) of prescription drugs plus a dispensing fee, their usual and customary charge or the most current federal upper payment limit established in the Medicaid program for generic drugs plus a dispensing fee, whichever is less.

The budget proposes to add actual acquisition cost (AAC) as the primary component of the reimbursement formula for pharmacies. The AAC is the final cost paid by the pharmacy after all discounts, rebates and charge-backs are subtracted. The new reimbursement model also provides higher dispensing fees for brand name and generic medications.

The department is responsible for ensuring compliance with the program requirements. In addition to careful review of eligibility, including income verification by matching with Pennsylvania income tax returns, the department audits providers to detect and deter fraud and has established both a prospective and a retrospective drug utilization review system to monitor and correct misuse of drug therapies.

A prudent pharmaceutical purchasing program ensures that the program receives a discount from drug manufacturers. PACE pays for drug products from manufacturers who agree to pay a rebate for brand drugs pursuant to the determination established by section 1927(c) (1) of the Social Security Act and a rebate of 11 percent of the average manufacturer price for generic drugs purchased through the program. In addition, participating manufacturers agree to pay an excessive pharmaceutical price inflation discount equivalent to the difference between the quarterly average manufacturer's price charged for a drug, excluding generics, and the average quarterly price charged for that drug one year earlier inflated by the Consumer Price Index-Urban.

Aging and Long Term Living

The department serves as the administrative and fiscal agent for other commonwealth-sponsored drug reimbursement programs. Pharmaceutical claims for the Chronic Renal Disease, Cystic Fibrosis, Spina Bifida, Metabolic Conditions (including Maple Syrup Urine Disease) and the Phenylketonuria programs (all within the Department of Health) and the Special Pharmaceutical Benefits program (Department of Public Welfare) are processed through the PACE/PACENET system. The department also adjudicates claims for the State Worker's Insurance Fund (Department of Labor and Industry) and collects rebates for the Special Pharmaceutical Assistance and the Chronic Renal Disease programs.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

The mission of the Department of Agriculture is to encourage and promote agriculture and related industries throughout the commonwealth.

The department's mission is accomplished through four major programs: consumer protection, property protection, farmland preservation and farmers and agribusiness development. The department provides a full range of services to farmers and consumers from Harrisburg and through seven regional offices located around the state.

The Department of Agriculture carries out activities to ensure wholesome and safe agricultural products for consumers; to expand existing and develop new domestic and foreign markets for Pennsylvania's farmers to compete in the global economy; to develop and encourage proper farming and conservation practices; to prevent, control and eradicate diseases among livestock, poultry and plants; to regulate the conduct of horse racing; and to improve the quality of life in rural Pennsylvania.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To strengthen the agricultural economy and related enterprises.

Program: Protection and Development of Agricultural Industries

Program Element: Protection and Development of Agricultural Industries

The stewardship and sustainability of the agricultural industry is integral to the competitiveness of Pennsylvania's overall economy and the quality of life of its citizens. The Department of Agriculture facilitates an environment in which small, medium and large farming operations can be profitable and related industries can thrive. The state's crop insurance program supports farmers as they manage crop loss risk. The Pennsylvania legislature began funding crop insurance after the devastating drought of 1999. The program provides funds if crop failures occur due to weather or other disaster-related conditions.

The Center for Dairy Excellence provides coordination of the Pennsylvania dairy industry's direction, leadership and resources to strengthen the industry and profitability of our dairy producers. The Center for Farm Transitions assists new farmers in getting started and existing farmers who wish to make changes to their operations.

This program also includes funding for the operations, maintenance and other costs of the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg.

The Agricultural Land Preservation Program, through the Agricultural Conservation Easement Purchase Fund which was created by Act 64 of 1988, purchases easements on prime agriculture land to ensure its continued use for agricultural production. Funding comes from a dedicated portion of the cigarette tax that is directed to this program. Growing Greener reestablished permanent funding for the agricultural easements by providing a yearly percentage (14.8%) of the Environmental Stewardship Fund revenues.

Agricultural research grants provide for scientific research into plant and animal health. This research identifies prevention mechanisms for disease and proactive mechanisms for enhancement of the quality and quantity of agricultural products and industry technology.

The PennSecurity Fuels program will increase the use of biofuels in retail gasoline and diesel fuel. Every gallon of diesel fuel must include an increasing percentage of biodiesel as in-state production levels increase and reach defined thresholds. Additionally, gasoline must include at least 10 percent cellulosic ethanol once production reaches 350 million gallons annually. New investments of up to $5.3 million per year are being made available to biofuel producers through June 2011 to encourage the production of biodiesel and ethanol. Developing our alternative fuel sector provides companies with the confidence they need to invest and expand and creates new markets for Pennsylvania farmers.

Program Element: Consumer Commodity Inspections

The department is committed to protecting the health and safety of the consumer and assuring the availability of quality agriculture products to consumers through regulatory efforts.

Among the department's protection activities are efforts in food safety. In 2007-08 the Bureau of Food Safety and Laboratory Services conducted 45,922 total inspections; 2,910 wholesale inspections; licensed and inspected 28,913 permanent public eating and drinking places; 2,470 retail food stores, 2,915 temporary event eating and drinking establishments, and 3,943 frozen dessert operations, inspected 4,289 unlicensed retail (mostly schools) and 533 camps and summer food sites; and permitted and inspected approximately 341 seasonal farm labor camps and 210 shellfish facilities. In 2007-08 the bureau also issued 876 milk permits and inspected 834 dairy processing, manufacturing and distribution facilities. The bureau issues approved inspector permits, approved dairy sampler's licenses and dairy laboratory director's certificates. Dairy equipment, bulk milk tank and tanker inspections are also performed. The agency inspects egg processing plants, grocery stores and warehouses in relation to eggs, fruits and vegetables grading and is a third-party monitor for the PEQAP (Pennsylvania Egg Quality Assurance Program) in the state.

The department's focus in achieving compliance has been through training and education. Training classes have been given to restaurants, schools and camps. The department has developed a food safety training course curriculum, a booklet entitled "Food, Fundraising and You" and a School Food Service Food Safety booklet. A PA Food Code Training course is offered to agencies and local jurisdictions within the commonwealth.

The agency is responsible for the regulation and maintenance of uniform standards of legal weights and measures of commonwealth products. The Weight and Measures division of the Bureau of Ride and Measurement Standards performed nearly 92,274 inspections of devices at 19,019 locations in 2007 and provided oversight in the inspection of another 96,474 devices at 13,339 locations performed by county and city programs, for a state-wide total of 188,748 inspections at 32,358 locations. Devices inspected include fuel dispensers, small/medium/large capacity scales, vehicle tanks' meters, propane meters, timing devices, scanners, UPC systems, grain moisture meters and livestock scales. The Amusement Ride division completed over 6,628 Quality Assurance inspections at

1,549 sites in 2007, overseeing the safety inspections of 7,601 rides and attractions performed by 1,412 certified ride inspectors. Additional activities guarantee the quality of animal feeds, fertilizers, liming materials, plant materials and pesticides. Act 53 of 1996 transferred the responsibility for enforcement of the Seasonal Farm Labor Act from the Department of Environmental Protection to the Department of Agriculture. Act 97 of 2001 updated the licensing and registration requirements relating to the sale and distribution of fertilizers, soil conditioners and plant growth substances in the commonwealth.

To protect the consumer and ensure the availability of quality agriculture products, the department regulates the sale of feed, fertilizer, lime and seeds by requiring certain label information and by sampling and analyzing products in its Harrisburg laboratories. During 2007-08, 2,304 agribusiness inspections were conducted, and 1,860 feed, fertilizer and lime samples were analyzed. In addition, 7,770 samples of seed were tested. The department inspects stone fruit trees for the plum pox virus to control the disease and reduce the potential harm to the fruit industry.

The department is improving the process to protect Pennsylvania's food production system from agro-terrorism. Fertilizer, feed and pesticide manufacturers, dealers and distributors will be advised on preventing the use of agricultural production tools for terrorist activities. An extensive training program for veterinarians and growers will be developed and implemented to recognize animal diseases or agents that may be used by bioterrorists.

The department inspects all ornamental nurseries and greenhouses periodically to determine the presence of new plant pests. This activity is intended to ensure correct diagnosis of the pest and to quarantine and/or prescribe proper treatment. During 2007 more than 4,000 dealer, nursery and greenhouse inspections were conducted, along with the issuance of more than 2,000 phytosanitary certificates for the exportation of plant material. The department also inspected 1,871 apiaries involving 10,101 colonies of bees owned by 1,115 beekeepers in 2007 for disease problems. The Pesticide Control Law provides for the regulation of the sale, use, handling, storage and transportation of pesticides. The department fulfills its statutory responsibilities by requiring registration of all pesticide products, testing and certification or registration of all private, commercial, and public pesticide applicators to insure minimum competency levels, licensing pesticide application business and dealers. The department periodically inspects those who manufacture, distribute, use or transport pesticides and investigates complaints about misuse. This program strives to provide for the optimum use of pesticides while minimizing their adverse effects on human life and the environment. Pesticide expenditures are reflected in this program as Other Funds.

The State Conservation Commission, whose chairmanship alternates each year between the Secretary of Agriculture and the Secretary of Environmental Protection, is the primary implementing authority for the Nutrient Management Act. The law is designed to minimize surface and ground water pollution from agricultural operations. The program provides support for plan reviews, grant applications for best management practices along with certification for nutrient management specialists. The hauler certification program for commercial manure haulers was implemented in early 2007. Act 55 of 2007 created the Resource Enhancement and Protection Program (REAP). REAP allows farmers and businesses to earn tax credits in exchange for best management practices on agricultural operations that will enhance farm production and protect natural resources.

Program Element: Animal Health

The department is committed to maintaining the health of domestic animals in order to protect human health, to protect the quantity, quality and safety of food of animal origin and to provide for the general welfare of domestic animals.

Pennsylvania agriculture is a national leader in livestock and poultry production. The Bureau of Animal Health and Diagnostic Services is responsible for the containment and eradication of livestock and poultry diseases that affect animal and human health or cause significant economic loss to agriculture.

The bureau provides services such as evaluating certificates of veterinary inspection for both interstate and intrastate movement to assure that animals in Pennsylvania have met necessary health requirements. The agency develops test programs for diseases such as brucellosis, bovine tuberculosis, pseudorabies, Johne's disease, scrapie, avian influenza and chronic wasting disease and provides quality assurance programs, including an annual diagnostic herd program for brucellosis-free herds; tuberculosis-free herds; the Avian Influenza Monitored Flock program; Johne's Disease National Status program; the Dairy Quality Assurance program; and the Chronic Wasting Disease Monitored Herd program.

The agency licenses and inspects domestic animal auctions. Promotion of animal health, public health and the production of safe animal origin products are achieved through on-farm testing enforcement of animal health regulations and ongoing communications with producers and health professionals.

The Pennsylvania Veterinary Laboratory (PVL) at the Department of Agriculture is one of three laboratories participating in the Pennsylvania Animal Diagnostic Laboratory System (PADLS). The other two laboratories are affiliated with the University of Pennsylvania and the Pennsylvania State University. The PVL is part of a nationwide network of state and federal laboratories dedicated to identifying and combating animal diseases. The laboratory provides animal health services to producers' domestic animals with emphasis on infectious, nutritional and toxic diseases.

The Bureau of Animal Health and PADLS have a joint application, known as PAHerds, which combines an animal tracking information system and a laboratory information system to allow entities to perform detailed analysis of animal disease and provides the capability to effectively locate and eradicate disease outbreaks.

The Bureau Director of Animal Health and Diagnostic Services is the State Veterinarian and is the Executive Director of the Animal Health and Diagnostic Commission. The commission coordinates and funds the PADLS, field investigations, research grants, quality assurance programs and disease surveillance programs designed to protect the livestock, poultry, wildlife, food chain and human population of Pennsylvania.

Included in this category is dog law enforcement. Primary functions include the investigation and prosecution of dangerous dog incidents, investigation of dog bites, enforcement of licensing and rabies vaccination requirements for dogs and kennels, control and regulation of the sale and transportation of dogs, annual kennel inspections, reimbursement of law enforcement agencies for the detention and disposition of stray dogs and reimbursement to owners of livestock and poultry for damage caused by dogs and coyotes.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To prevent consumer fraud in the racing industry.

Program: Horse Racing Regulation

Activities in this program area include the development and implementation of rules, regulations and procedures to ensure the public and harness and horse owners of honest, safe and competitive pari-mutuel harness and horse racing.

Horse racing in Pennsylvania is governed by Act 93 of 1983. This act merged the State Harness Racing Fund and the State Horse Racing Fund into the Racing Fund, adjusted the tax schedule and revised the distribution of funds in order to assist the racing industry by increasing the funds retained by the tracks.

The Racing Fund pays all expenses of the State Racing Commissions. After these obligations have been met, percentages of the amount wagered as specified by law are credited to the Breeder's Fund and to the Sire Stakes Fund. Act 23 of 2000 amended the Race Horse Industry Reform Act to increase the percentage credited to the Breeder's Fund from 0.7 percent to 1.0 percent of the amount wagered on thoroughbred races. The Sire Stakes Fund is credited with 1.5 percent of wagers on harness races. All remaining monies in the Racing Fund are then transferred to the General Fund in the subsequent fiscal year.

Act 71 of 2004 established the Race Horse Development Fund, which receives revenue generated by licensed gaming facilities. Proceeds are distributed to licensees conducting live horse racing. Track owners deposit 80 percent of the proceeds into a purse account. Thoroughbred tracks commit the remaining proceeds to the Breeder's Fund and a Horsemen's Organization Fund. Standardbred tracks commit proceeds to the Sire Stakes Fund, the PA Standardbred Fund and a Horsemen's Organizational Fund.

The Equine Toxicology and Research Laboratory tests for the presence of foreign substances in the blood and urine of race horses following all races to ensure that no foreign substances have been administered prior to a race.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To distribute surplus and donated food through institutions and counties or designated lead agencies to individuals and families who are dependent or disadvantaged to support minimum standards of living and economic independence.

Program: Emergency Food Assistance

The State Food Purchase Program provides state fund cash grants to counties or a designated lead agency for the purchase and distribution of food to needy individuals. Funding is allocated to each of the commonwealth's 67 county lead agencies based on unemployment and non-public assistance food stamp and medical assistance eligible individuals. County lead agencies are authorized to expend up to 8 percent of the grant for administrative costs.

Food acquired and donated by the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) is distributed through the Emergency Food Assistance Program (TEFAP). TEFAP provides USDA commodities for household use, specifically for unemployed and low-income individuals who meet established eligibility criteria.

TEFAP commodities are allocated to each of the commonwealth's 67 lead agencies based on the number of eligible participants. TEFAP administrative monies, provided by the USDA, are allocated based on each county's relative share of unemployment and poverty statistics.

DEPARTMENT OF BANKING

The mission of the Department of Banking is to ensure the safety and soundness of state-chartered deposit-taking institutions; to ensure compliance with state laws and regulations that impact other financial service entities; and to provide a regulatory environment that will facilitate development of a sound financial services industry that adequately meets the needs of industry and the public.

The Department of Banking protects the public through the supervision, regulation and examination of records, accounts and policies of state-chartered financial institutions.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To ensure the maintenance of an economically sound and competitive system of state-chartered financial institutions.

Program: Financial Institution Regulation

This program involves supervision, regulation and examination of the records, accounts and policies of state-chartered banking institutions, savings associations, credit unions and state-licensed sales finance companies, installment sellers, money transmitters, consumer discount companies, collector-repossessors, pawnbrokers, first and second mortgage lenders, bankers and brokers, brokers' agents and check cashers. In addition to these activities, the department responded to approximately 7,000 consumer inquiries during 2007-08.

As of June 30, 2008, there were 170 banking institutions under the department's supervision: 58 commercial banks, 40 bank and trust companies, 49 savings banks, one private bank, 21 non-depository trust companies and one foreign bank, which maintained a representative office in Pennsylvania. There were 66 credit unions and 8 savings associations chartered and supervised by the department. Also operating in the commonwealth were 103 bank holding companies.

The department renews non-depository institution licenses annually and issues new licenses upon review and approval of license applications. The 12,847 non-depository entities at the end of June 2008 included: 3,316 installment sellers; 3,764 first mortgage bankers and brokers; 3,348 second mortgage lenders, brokers and brokers' agents; 1,013 sales finance companies; and 432 consumer discount companies. The remaining 974 licenses were held by pawnbrokers, money transmitters, check cashers, limited loan brokers, loan correspondents and collector-repossessors, etc.

The Office of Financial Education was established in April 2004 to promote financial literacy and help consumers avoid financial abuse. This office has developed consumer education materials, trained teachers to incorporate financial education in the classroom, started a workplace pilot program and created a financial education website. The department provides Internet-based licensing and reporting of complaints toward institutions under the department's purview. In 2007, electronic filing of annual reports began.

Act 22 of 1998, as amended by Act 200 of 2002, requires the annual licensing, or for certain retail food stores, the registration and regulation of all check cashers doing business in Pennsylvania.

Act 89 of 2000 provides state-chartered commercial and savings banks with parity in activities permitted for national banks and federally chartered savings banks and savings associations. It also provides parity in activities permitted for state-chartered banks located in other states when the activity has been approved by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) (under Section 24 of the FDIC Act).

Act 55 of 2001, the Mortgage Bankers and Brokers and Consumer Equity Protection Act, provides the department with broad regulatory and enforcement authority over financial entities that make covered or "predatory loans" in the commonwealth; strengthens industry bonding requirements; authorizes the department to obtain criminal background information from applicants; and provides licensing exemption for religious organizations that meet certain requirements.

Act 186 of 2002, which amended the Motor Vehicle Sales Finance Act, provides increased exam and enforcement authority and additional consumer disclosures and permits incidental items relating to automobile sales to be financed under the Act.

Act 207 of 2002, commonly referred to as the Credit Union Parity Legislation, authorized state-chartered credit unions to engage in activities permitted by federally chartered credit unions subject to conditions of the department.

Act 209 of 2002, which amended the Department of Banking Code, authorized the department to receive criminal history record information from other state and federal agencies when evaluating initial applicants for departmental licensure; permitted the publishing of final orders for violation of departmental licensing statutes; clarified the department's ability to share examination and regulatory information with other state and federal securities and insurance regulatory agencies; and provided increased enforcement authority, injunctive authority, fining authority and clarification of departmental authority to promulgate regulations, statements of policy and interpretive letters.

Act 56 of 2008 (the "Mortgage Act"), created a consolidated mortgage loan industry licensing and regulatory model in Pennsylvania. The Mortgage Act combines the separate licenses required to conduct the first mortgage loan business and the secondary mortgage loan business under which both mortgage businesses can be conducted, and it requires the licensure of all "mortgage originators" employed by licensees under the Mortgage Act and the Consumer Discount Company Act.

Act 57 of 2008, which amended the Loan Interest and Protection Law (LIPL), increases the dollar threshold for LIPL coverage on residential mortgage loans from $50,000 to $217,873, which will be adjusted annually for inflation; eliminates the maximum interest rate under residential mortgage interest rates on business loans of any principal amount; and provides the department with enforcement authority under the LIPL.

Act 58 of 2008 allows the department to require licensees to use the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System (NMLS) and pay licensing processing fees associated with the NMLS; permits the department to disclose whether a licensee is subject to an issued fine or order; expands the department's ability to request and receive criminal background history information regarding licensees; and creates a new statutory framework for protest hearings regarding depository institution applications and certain notices similar to those procedures applicable to federally-chartered depository institutions.

Act 117 of 2008, known as the Debt Management Services Act, requires the department to license and regulate providers of debt management services and debt settlement services.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To provide a sufficient number of qualified, available persons to meet agency merit system staffing needs.

Program: Personnel Selection

Through this program, the Civil Service Commission provides qualified persons to meet merit system staffing needs.

The commission ensures the commonwealth merit system is in full compliance with all state laws and regulations concerning employee selection procedures and the Federal Uniform Guidelines on Employee Selection Procedures. This includes job analysis and implementation of a program to identify and correct adverse impacts of examinations on protected groups.

Goals of the commission include identification and elimination of adverse impact, development of more valid examinations, identification and elimination of discrimination in the commonwealth's human resource system, increased efficiency in meeting personnel needs of state and local client agencies, and prompt and accurate resolution or adjudication of complaints, grievances and appeals.

In recent years, the commission has increased operating efficiency with the implementation of computerized examination, imaging and workflow, and applicant self-scheduling systems. These improvements have reduced the time required to apply for and take an exam, receive an examination score, and be placed on a candidate eligibility listing. These enhancements have increased the commission's ability to provide real-time candidate eligibility listings to client agencies seeking to fill vacancies.

The funds supporting this program are received from billing various General and Special Fund state and local client agencies.

Community and Economic Development

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To utilize state economic development resources in a cohesive and cost-effective manner in order to assist in the job creation and retention process within the commonwealth.

Program: Community and Economic Development Support Services

The Department of Community and Economic Development works in partnership with hundreds of local, community and regional service providers to deliver resources to businesses, communities and individuals in need of assistance. Because of the complexity of the delivery system, the department plays a key role to ensure that the system delivers maximum effectiveness and efficiency. The department's role ensures that Pennsylvania's businesses and communities provide the opportunity for all residents to achieve a high quality of life.

The Governor's Action Team is the major component of the Support Services program. The team works directly with Pennsylvania companies to preserve and expand job opportunities and recruits out-of-state companies to locate or expand their operations in the commonwealth. The Governor's Action Team also serves as the Governor's interagency economic development group for individual projects that require the involvement of two or more agencies.

Marketing and local planning assistance efforts further supplement the daily operations of the department. Marketing promotes Pennsylvania to individuals as an attractive destination in order to maximize Pennsylvania's share of the tourism dollar as well as to companies and organizations as a preferred location with a good business climate and a vibrant place to live and work. Toward these ends, the department operates two separate extensive multi-media advertising campaigns. One targets economic development and the other targets tourism. The department also focuses on interactive marketing to highlight Pennsylvania's economy and quality of life.

The economic development marketing component includes efforts to increase foreign and domestic investments in Pennsylvania and to expand the markets for products of Pennsylvania firms overseas. Trade missions and trade shows provide venues for companies to develop their export potential and expand their export base. In collaboration with 23 contracted trade offices, small businesses are provided support to overcome the many legal, financial and logistical problems inherent in doing business internationally. The World Trade PA initiative, established in 2006, provides additional assistance to businesses that seek to enter and compete in international markets. Domestically, the current marketing program targets the promotion of Pennsylvania's Economic Stimulus Package, Energy Independence Strategy and water and sewer investments. Those programs total more than $3.4 billion in economic development funds, giving Pennsylvania a particular competitive advantage.

The tourism marketing component involves the Tourist Promotion Assistance (TPA) Grant program, which assists county and regional tourist promotion agencies in Pennsylvania by providing grants as matching assistance for advertising and promotion expenses. A key element of tourism marketing is the coordination of the commonwealth's tourism program with the TPA's efforts. Act 189 of 2002 further supports these efforts through the Pennsylvania Travel and Tourism Partnership which ensures the commonwealth's strategic tourism plan is continually evaluated and advanced. The Film Marketing Office is responsible for the attraction of film promotion companies. That office achieves its goals through incentives such as tax credits, online film database and one-on-one customer support.

Community and Economic Development

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To ensure that capital for the creation, location, retention and expansion of private business is available at each step of the business life cycle for all types and sizes of business and to make possible lower capital costs as an attraction for businesses to invest or re-invest in Pennsylvania.

Program: Business and Job Development

The department has a broad array of programs available to create the best possible climate for business start-ups and development. The newpa.com website links customers to general information, publications, specific program guidelines and the department's electronic Single Application for Assistance. The proprietary electronic single application process allows customers to apply for funds via the on-line application process.

Program Element: Economic Development

The Business Retention and Expansion Program (BREP) works with the commonwealth's 10 marketing regions to promote job retention, expansion and creation. BREP representatives contact Pennsylvania businesses to identify their needs in an effort to retain and improve their Pennsylvania operations. Information gathered is entered into a database to provide an efficient means for the development of customized action plans. The database also allows BREP to access, analyze and acquire in-depth information on Pennsylvania's community and economic assets.

The PennPorts office provides for the development of Pennsylvania's ports, which include the Erie Port, the Philadelphia Regional Port Authority and the Pittsburgh Port Commission. Funds are used to aid in the development of these assets, which not only generate port and shipping-related jobs but also assist Pennsylvania firms in the export of their products.

The PA Export Network, an integrated and customer-focused group of key export assistance partners, consolidates efforts and coordinates more effective export assistance initiatives to meet the needs of commonwealth companies. The Export Network links the regions to our overseas offices, which offer assistance to support the international trade activities of Pennsylvania businesses.

The Opportunity Grant program is a tool used by the Governor's Action Team and Business Assistance Office to secure job creation and economic development opportunities through the preservation and expansion of existing industries. The program also serves to attract economic development prospects to the commonwealth. The program's flexibility is the key to its usefulness. Eligible reimbursable costs may include job training, infrastructure improvements, land and building acquisition and/or improvement costs, machinery and equipment purchase, working capital, environmental assessment and remediation. Grants are based on the total project cost, private capital investment and job creation or retention.

The Small Business First Fund is a single multi-purpose fund that can make loans to small businesses for a wide range of needs. Eligible uses include funds for environmental needs like air quality, storage tank replacement, recycling and water quality, as well as defense conversion and hospitality industry projects. In addition, the Small Business First Fund provides financial assistance for export-related projects. Act 213 of 2002 expanded the definition of a small business to include agricultural producers. The department began the Community and Economic Development Loan program in 1999 for small businesses located in distressed areas that have social or economic disadvantage. Act 100 of 1998 allows the fund to provide pollution prevention loans. Act 213 of 2002 increased the maximum loan from $50,000 to $100,000.

The Infrastructure Development Program provides grants and loans to develop and improve business sites. Funds may be provided for specific infrastructure improvements necessary to complement planned industrial investment by private companies, to restore blighted land to productive use and to develop the restored land, or to develop local infrastructure at business sites. Local public and nonprofit sponsors may receive grants and loans on behalf of industrial, manufacturing, research and development, agriculture-related and export service enterprises for improvements such as energy facilities, fire and safety facilities, sewer and water systems, transportation and waste disposal facilities. Private real estate developers are also eligible if they develop sites for eligible private companies.

The Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority (PIDA) was established in 1956 to make long-term, low-interest business loans for job creation or retention to firms engaged in manufacturing or industrial enterprises. PIDA funds may be used for land and buildings. Current policy targets PIDA funds to small and advanced technology businesses and areas of high unemployment. A qualified business may receive up to $2.25 million at interest rates that range from 4³/₄ percent to 5³/₄ percent, depending upon the unemployment rate in the county where the project is located.

The Machinery and Equipment Loan Fund (MELF), redefined in Act 213 of 2002, provides low-interest loans to manufacturing, industrial, medical, information technology, biotechnology mining companies and production agriculture. The loans are used to acquire and install new or used machinery and equipment. Interest rates are similar to PIDA and vary depending on the county and municipality unemployment levels. The applicant must agree to create or preserve jobs as a criterion of the program.

Job Creation Tax Credits, authorized by Act 23 of 2001, provide tax credits for each approved job created. Tax credits are also approved for businesses that agree to create jobs in the commonwealth within three years. Businesses must agree to create at least 25 new jobs or new jobs to equal at least 20 percent of the current workforce. Twenty-five percent of the tax credits allocated each year are reserved for businesses with less than 100 employees and may not be utilized until the jobs are actually created. Credits not fully utilized or recaptured from any fiscal year may be reissued by the department.

The Industrial Sites Reuse Program provides grants and low-interest loans to companies, private real estate developers, and municipalities that perform environmental site assessment and remediation work at former industrial sites. Funds are not available for companies that caused the environmental contamination on the property.

The Commonwealth Financing Authority (CFA), created by Act 22 of 2004, is authorized to issue debt to support a full cadre of new economic development programs and to capitalize some existing programs such as MELF. Programs include: Business in Our Sites, which creates shovel-ready sites for business expansion; the First Industries program, which offers grant, loan and loan guarantees through several different programs to support tourism and agricultural projects; PennWorks, which provides grants and loans for water and wastewater infrastructure development; the Second Stage Loan Guarantee program which provides guarantees for successful Pennsylvania businesses that seek working capital from banks; and the Tax Increment Financing Guarantee program which enables local governments to achieve more favorable borrowing terms and allows the debt to be repaid with future revenues. Act 22 also created Building PA, the New Pennsylvania Venture Guarantee program and the Venture Capital Investment program.

Act 1 of Special Session 1 of 2008, the Alternative Energy Investment Act, authorizes the CFA to issue a total of $500 million in debt service for alternative energy development programs. Of those funds, $335 million is designated as follows: $40 million to the Ben Franklin Technology Development Authority (BFTDA) for energy-related investments to support early-stage activities such as research, incubator support and investments in companies; $165 million to businesses, non-profit economic development organizations and political subdivisions for clean and alternative energy projects such as buildings, equipment and land development activities; $25 million to individuals and small businesses for high-performance, energy-efficient building projects; $25 million for geothermal and wind energy projects; and $80 million for alternative energy production projects that involve solar technologies. In addition, another $150 million will be available over seven years to help consumers and small businesses weatherize their homes and adopt conservation tools and offer tax credits to businesses that develop and build alternative energy projects in Pennsylvania.

H₂O PA, Act 63 of 2008, authorizes CFA to issue $800 million in debt to fund flood control projects, high hazard unsafe dam projects and water, sanitary sewer and storm sewer projects. CFA will administer the programs in conjunction with DCED, DEP and PENNVEST.

The Core Industries Stimulus program, also created by Act 22 of 2004, enhances the MELF loan program. It provides an additional $75 million in revolving loan funds to increase the maximum loan amount from $500,000 to $5 million. Information technology companies and licensed hospitals are now also eligible to receive funds, and $25 million will be targeted to aid hospitals with the purchase and installation of FDA-required pharmaceutical management technology.

The Infrastructure and Facilities Grant program established in Act 23 of 2004, awards multi-year grants to debt-issuing authorities toward the payment of debt service and related costs for economic development projects. Grant awards are calculated based on the expected sales tax, hotel occupancy tax or personal income tax to be generated by the identified project.

The Pennsylvania Race Horse Development and Gaming Act of 2004 established the Pennsylvania Local Share Account program at DCED. The purpose of the program is to distribute 2 percent of gross terminal revenues of certain licensed gaming facilities to support and enhance community and economic well-being.

Program Element: Workforce Development

The Customized Job Training (CJT) program provides grant funds to new and existing Pennsylvania companies for customized or advanced training for new, entry-level employees and for retention and upgrade of existing employees to accommodate new technologies. The Guaranteed Free Training (GFT) program, a major part of CJT, provides funds to Pennsylvania companies for basic skills and information technology training. The program guarantees training to meet the standards agreed to by the company and the training provider. The GFT program is critical to ensure that highly-skilled workers are available for Pennsylvania companies. The Job Enhancement Act of 2002 redefined CJT, expanded eligible programs and included private companies and local workforce investment boards as potential applicants.

The Workforce Leadership Grants program establishes integrated academic programs in three growing industry clusters: biotechnology/life sciences, information technology/optoelectronics and advanced manufacturing and materials. The program provides grants for an integrated and seamless educational program across secondary, two-year and four-year post secondary programs as a means to create a pipeline of skilled technical workers. Designed to help Pennsylvania's existing and emerging industries compete in a technology-based global economy, the grants are focused specifically on high-technology industry clusters which include biotechnology/life sciences, information technology/optoelectronics and advanced manufacturing/materials. All programs must include a nanotechnology component.

Program Element: Pennsylvania Economic Development Financing Authority (PEDFA)

The PEDFA provides taxable and tax-exempt bond financing for economic development projects. PEDFA provides funds to finance or refinance buildings, machinery and equipment and working capital. Applications must be submitted through an industrial development authority.

Program Element: Pennsylvania Minority Business Development Authority (PMBDA)

The PMBDA offers low-interest loans to minority-owned businesses for fixed assets, working capital and other financing needs. These efforts can be particularly crucial given the difficulty minority entrepreneurs experience when they try to secure adequate funds, especially working capital.

Program Element: Capital Access Program (PennCAP)

PennCAP is a loan guarantee program designed to help small-business borrowers that don't meet a bank's normal small business lending requirements. Eligible uses include land and building acquisition, machinery and equipment and working capital. Loans may be guaranteed up to $500,000. Rates and terms are negotiated with the participant bank. The PEDFA bond program provides the guarantee for bank loans, term loans or lines of credit.

Community and Economic Development

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To promote the use of advanced technology in order to help Pennsylvania industries compete successfully in the national and international market places; to encourage research and development of new products and processes that will foster the start-up of new business within the commonwealth; and to fund research centers that will provide an incentive for indigenous business formation, as well as serving to attract investment in Pennsylvania.

Program: Technology Development

Technology-based economic development drives the development of new companies and technologies in the commonwealth. This enables businesses and individuals to develop the skills and opportunities necessary to remain competitive. Technology development allows Pennsylvania to build the infrastructure necessary to continue to grow new businesses and interconnect in a global marketplace.

The Ben Franklin Technology Development Authority (BFTDA) was established by Act 38 of 2001 to continue the promotion of advanced technology in Pennsylvania's traditional and emerging manufacturing industries, as well as small businesses. The Authority provides a vital vehicle for investment in economic, community and university-based innovation. In 2008-09, approximately $51 million has been allocated to the BFTDA. The financial and technical assistance provided by BFTDA includes: the Venture Investment program, which provides capital to venture partnerships that invest in Pennsylvania companies; the Technology Development Grant program, which helps to position groups or consortia of Pennsylvania companies at the cutting edge of emerging technologies and to establish a competitive advantage through advanced e-business systems; and the University Research Grant program, which promotes stronger synergy between university-based research and development and the transfer of technology in economic and workforce development.

Keystone Innovation Zone (KIZ) operational grants, also funded through the Authority, drive economic development partnering between universities and entrepreneurial organizations. The grant funds generate job growth through technology transfer and entrepreneurship. There are two companion programs to the KIZ program: the Keystone Innovation Grant (KIG) and the Keystone Innovation Starter Kit (KISK). KIG provides funds to encourage the technology transfer and commercialization of intellectual property between Pennsylvania's technology-oriented businesses and entrepreneurs and KIZ-participating institutions of higher education. KISK is designed to recruit new, top-level research faculty to Pennsylvania's academic medical centers and institutions of higher education to accelerate the development of a cluster of companies and employees in emerging and growing technology areas. BFTDA will also manage the deployment of energy funds to the Ben Franklin Technology Partners over the next several years.

The Broadband Outreach and Aggregation Fund, created by Act 183 of 2004, sustains activities to accelerate broadband deployment across the commonwealth for economic development purposes. The program provides grant funds for outreach, the use and procurement of broadband services, and seed grants to aggregate customer demand in communities with limited service.

The Pennsylvania Life Sciences Greenhouse Initiative, funded by Tobacco Settlement dollars, supports early-stage life sciences risk capital and is a catalyst for the development and creation of new life-sciences-related products and companies. Three regional organizations focus on increasing the formation and growth of Pennsylvania's life science companies.

The Industrial Resource Centers' focus is to improve the competitive ability of Pennsylvania's traditional and emerging manufacturing firms. This network of seven private, nonprofit economic development corporations located throughout the commonwealth assists small and medium-sized manufacturers with implementation of manufacturing technologies and sound management practices. The program has a two-fold strategy of implementing cost saving measures and enabling company growth to assist Pennsylvania manufacturers as they compete in a global economy.

The Pennsylvania Infrastructure Technical Alliance integrates university-based technology research with business and economic development. The alliance creates an environment that links Pennsylvania companies with students to create high-paying jobs and retain highly-educated students.

Community and Economic Development

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To enhance the total environment of Pennsylvania's communities through improvements in the areas of housing, community development, job training and human services.

Program: Community Development

Program Element: Housing and Redevelopment

The department administers one state and three federally-funded programs that target affordable housing for low- and moderate-income Pennsylvanians and the comprehensive revitalization of communities.

The state Housing and Redevelopment Assistance program provides grants to communities, redevelopment authorities and nonprofit organizations to improve blighted neighborhoods through redevelopment, to revitalize central business districts in aging communities and to provide low- and moderate-income housing. The program provides funds for projects that enhance reinvestment in and rebuilding of communities. Act 45 of 2005 established the Growing Greener Bond Fund, which allocates up to $5 million dollars to fund Brownfields remediation. The "Core Communities Housing" component of this program provides funds for counties on a formula basis to rehabilitate and develop housing on previously developed sites.

The federal HOME Investment Partnerships program provides funds to expand the supply of affordable housing for low-income families. A variety of options are available to meet this objective: incentives to develop and support rental housing and home ownership through acquisition, construction or rehabilitation; funds to finance relocation of displaced persons; rental assistance; and rehabilitation of substandard housing. Federal funds for both the Small Communities Development Block Grant and HOME are provided to recipients through the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development's Integrated Disbursement and Information System. Funds are appropriated to the department to administer the program.

The federal Weatherization Assistance program is designed to reduce energy costs and improve living conditions for low-income persons through the addition of energy-conservation measures to their homes. The U.S. Department of Energy component supports activities such as the installation of insulation, shell repairs and heating system improvements. The Low Income Housing Energy Assistance Block Grant funds home weatherization efforts but also supports a heating crisis program that operates during the winter in close coordination with the Department of Public Welfare's LIHEAP program.

Program Element: New Communities

The department's New Communities program provides funds for both planning and direct project grants to communities. Funds are targeted to projects that rebuild depressed inner city neighborhoods and rural areas. These projects help stabilize communities so that economic and social growth can occur.

The New Communities program includes the State Enterprise Zone, Main Street and Elm Street programs that provide flexibility to address community needs such as downtown revitalization, residential improvements or economic development. The state-funded Enterprise Zones receive grants for business development projects that stimulate private investment and create jobs in state-designated Enterprise Zones. These efforts are supported by the use of Enterprise Zone Tax Credits through the Neighborhood Assistance Act. This Act also includes three other components: The Neighborhood Assistance program, the Neighborhood Partnership program and the Special Program Priorities. The goal of these programs is to encourage investments by business firms in projects for affordable housing programs, community services, crime prevention, education, job training or neighborhood assistance in partnership with neighborhood organizations that provide such assistance.

The Main Street component of the New Communities program helps restore downtown commercial areas through a four-point approach: enhance the area's physical appearance; market the area to shoppers, businesses and tourists; create partnerships and a local organizational structure; and strengthen and diversify downtown businesses. The program helps restore the physical appearance of downtowns through Downtown Reinvestment grants and Anchor Buildings grants that reuse older buildings to draw tourists, shoppers, workers and others to downtown business districts. The Growing Greener Bond Fund, as part of Act 45 of 2005, allocates up to $50 million for main street and downtown redevelopment related to smart growth, to include improvements to existing water and wastewater infrastructures.

The Elm Street component of the New Communities program, established in Act 7 of 2004, is a Main Street companion to promote the revitalization of residential areas that are physically and programmatically connected to downtown improvement efforts. The program fosters the creation of local nonprofits to revitalize the neighborhood; the promotion of real estate and special events; the enhancement of the physical appearance of buildings; the development and implementation of a strategy for revitalization; and the maintenance of public spaces. The program also addresses threats of crime.

A related federal program under the New Communities program – the Empowerment Zone/Enterprise Community program – provides a combination of grants and tax incentives to rebuild poor inner cities and rural distressed areas. Five Pennsylvania communities are involved in this federal effort: Philadelphia, Harrisburg, Pittsburgh, Lock Haven and Fayette County.

Program Element: Pennsylvania Housing Finance Agency

The Pennsylvania Housing Finance Agency (PHFA) operates programs to increase and protect the supply of safe and affordable multi-family rental and single family homeownership housing. These programs are financed with proceeds from the sale of securities to private investors.

The Single Family Homeownership program is the PHFA homebuyer assistance program which offers below-market-rate mortgage loans to first time buyers of single-family houses. Funds to operate the program come from the sale of mortgage revenue bonds. In 2008, PHFA provided mortgage financing for approximately 5,076 families totaling $508 million and has committed $10.4 million to revitalize distressed communities through the Homeownership Choice program. In addition, PHFA has committed $27.8 million in secondary funding and $31.6 million in tax credits to finance 33 developments totaling 1,814 units. The PHFA operates the Homeowners Emergency Mortgage Assistance Program (HEMAP), a program to protect distressed homeowners from foreclosure. HEMAP was established by Act 91 of 1983 and amended by Act 160 of 1998 to protect citizens who, through no fault of their own, are in danger of losing their homes to foreclosure. Eligible applicants receive assistance in an amount sufficient to bring mortgage payments current and may also receive continuing assistance for up to 24 months. HEMAP payments are loans upon which repayment begins and interest starts to accrue when the recipient is financially able to pay. Current law requires HEMAP loan recipients to repay their loans only when the recipient's housing expense (mortgage, taxes, utilities and insurance) does not exceed 40 percent of net household income (gross income minus federal, state and local income taxes).

PHFA has channeled more than $217 million of General Fund monies and $239.5 million of repayments into HEMAP to save more than 41,000 homes from foreclosure.

Program Element: Community Development

The federal Small Community Development Block Grant program provides assistance to expand low- and moderate-income housing opportunities, enhance economic development and job opportunities for low- and moderate-income individuals, repair public facilities such as water and sewer systems and improve public facilities that affect public health and safety.

Act 92 of 1998 established the Keystone Opportunity Zones (KOZ). The KOZs are community development initiatives to revive economically-distressed urban and rural communities. These zones are defined, limited areas in communities with greatly reduced or no tax burdens for residents and businesses located within the zones. Twelve zones are designated for this one-time program. Act 119 of 2000 extended the life of a KOZ from 12 to 15 years and authorized DCED to establish 12 smaller Keystone Opportunity Expansion Zones (KOEZ). The Act extended the expiration date of the program until 2013 and increased the eligible tax-exempt activity. Act 217 of 2002 provided for designation of subzones within KOZs and KOEZs to enable acreage that remained undesignated within the original limitation to be designated for state and local tax exemption. In accordance with the act, the Keystone Opportunity Improvement Zones (KOIZ) were designated by Executive Order in 2002.

The Land Use Planning and Technical Assistance program helps communities prepare, update and implement multi-municipal, municipal and county plans to address issues such as economic revitalization and expansion; municipal infrastructure, services and transportation needs; commercial and neighborhood rehabilitation efforts; land use controls; municipal capital improvement programs and budgets; and housing solutions. The program is coordinated by the Center for Local Government Services.

The Shared Municipal Services program helps communities improve operational efficiencies through cooperative activities. Typical projects include: combined police records administration; shared data processing operations; municipal insurance pools; shared public works operations; regional recreation activities; shared uniform code enforcement activities; purchase of vehicles and other inter-municipal projects that will reduce local government costs; and implementation of more efficient and coordinated local government services.

The Early Intervention program provides grants to municipal and county governments to develop and implement multi-year financial management plans. The plans enable governments with both short-term and long-term direction to address fiscal difficulties before they reach a crisis point. Communities declared financially distressed in accordance with the provisions of Act 157 of 1988 receive assistance in the form of grants, loans and extensive technical assistance through the development and implementation of a comprehensive recovery plan.

The Job Enhancement Act, as amended by Act 100 of 1998 and by Act 29 of 2005, established and further defined the Community Development Bank program. The participant banks make capital available for community development loans and provide technical assistance grants to promote the creation and ownership of community development financial institutions within distressed communities.

The Local Government Capital Loan program provides low-interest loans for municipal facilities. The program gives small local governments that find conventional borrowing prohibitive an opportunity to secure needed funds for necessary equipment and buildings.

Program Element: Community Services

The Community Services Block Grant (CSBG) provides funds for community-based programs that offer health, nutrition, housing, employment/training and asset development services to improve the standard of living for low-income persons. Other CSBG efforts include economic development and revitalization projects that focus on neighborhood preservation and enhance the collaboration of services in communities.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To maintain and improve state parks; manage state forest lands to assure their long-term health, sustainability and economic use; provide information on ecological and geologic resources; and administer grant and technical assistance programs to benefit rivers conservation, trails and greenways, local recreation, regional heritage conservation and environmental education programs across the commonwealth.

Program: Parks and Forests Management

Program Element: Stewardship and Management of State Parks and Forests

The Department of Conservation and Natural Resources manages nearly 2.4 million acres of state park and forest lands that provide economic, recreational, ecological, geological and aesthetic values to the commonwealth. The commonwealth's 117 state parks offer a variety of outdoor recreation, environmental education and overnight accommodation options to visitors. As it manages these lands and facilities, the department endeavors to provide a high-quality visitor experience, demonstrate exemplary natural resource stewardship and provide opportunities for visitors to learn about Pennsylvania's natural heritage. In addition, the department maintains, restores and upgrades facilities, where needed, to provide quality visitor services, increase tourism and enhance revenue opportunities.

State forests are managed for sustainable timber harvest including fire suppression, insect and disease control, watershed protection and resource extraction and storage. State forests also offer outdoor recreation, environmental education and primitive camping options. The department educates the public about fire prevention and fights fires on public and private forestlands. The department also monitors forest lands for native and non-native invasive pests, including the gypsy moth, emerald ash borer and hemlock wooly adelgid, which threaten our trees.

The department's 2.1 million forest acres comprise one of the largest tracts of forest in North America certified by the Forest Stewardship Council as managed in an environmentally responsible manner. By tracking wood from forest to final product, certification enables consumers to support responsible forestry and provides forest owners with an incentive to maintain and improve forest management practices. The harvest of quality hardwood timber helps support the state's $5 billion forest products industry that employs nearly 100,000 people.

The department strives to incorporate sustainable building practices in its construction and renovation of facilities on state park and forest lands. This includes pursuing LEED (Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design Green Building Rating System®) certification for large new structures and adopting LEED standards for smaller structures. The LEED assessment framework includes site development, water savings, energy efficiency, materials selection and indoor environmental quality.

The department's biodiversity and conservation science programs support the management of state park and forests. One such program, the Pennsylvania Natural Heritage program, is the commonwealth's major program to inventory significant natural features, provide evaluation, rank species of special concern and compile natural features data.

Stewardship of Pennsylvania's state park and forest land at certain times includes acquiring lands that protect and enhance existing state parks and forests, forested watersheds and riparian corridors; conserve biologically important areas; or create connections with other public lands, open spaces and outdoor recreation and educational opportunities. Such acquisitions are carefully considered to ensure that the department can maintain its stewardship and management objectives.

Program Element: Statewide Land Conservation

The long-term sustainability of our natural resources is the responsibility of local communities, counties, state and federal agencies, nonprofit conservation organizations and private landowners. Land conservation is multifaceted, including developing greenway connectors between conserved lands and communities, protecting open space and ecologically and geologically significant lands, supporting Pennsylvania's private forest resource and encouraging more environmentally sensitive growth in developing areas.

The department helps local communities, counties, regional organizations, not-for-profit stakeholders, private landowners and other governmental entities manage growth on private lands and reduce the loss of open space by providing technical assistance, educational information and grant funding for research, planning, project development and land acquisition.

The department also provides management assistance to private forest landowners, who possess three-quarters of all forest land in the state. Conservation of these lands is important to the future health of the forests, protecting water quality and water supplies, providing recreational opportunities and maintaining the state's forest products industry.

Program Element: Sustainable and Attractive Communities

The natural, heritage and recreational resources within a community contribute to the local economy and to the quality of life of its citizens. The department serves local communities with scientific data, technical assistance and grant programs focused on these resources.

The department supports regional, county and local planning efforts with ecological and geologic information, technical assistance and funding. The department's conservation science programs and topographic and geologic resources (digital maps, data and Geographic Information Systems) help communities make land use decisions that support sustainable development, such as identifying where unique plant or animal species should be protected or where sinkhole potential might affect a development site choice.

The department offers grants through the Community Conservation Partnerships program, the Wild Resource Conservation program, and through support of the PA Urban and Community Forestry Grants program. The Community Conservation Partnerships program combines state and federal funding sources and programs to provide technical assistance and matching grants for community recreation and recreational trails, snowmobile and ATV trails and parks, land conservation, river conservation and Rails-to-Trails. The Wild Resource Conservation program directs resources and education toward endangered and threatened species, awarding grants for projects that protect or study plants, birds, mammals, fish, reptiles, amphibians and other species. The PA Urban and Community Forestry Grants program offers grants to communities and municipalities for education about trees and natural resources, tree planting and maintenance programs and developing long-term tree-care programs.

Program Element: Outdoor Connections for Citizens and Visitors

While the outdoors is an important part of many Pennsylvanians' lives, some citizens have no connection to the outdoors. The department works to increase enthusiasm for nature, provide life-long conservation learning and generate stewardship activities with our park and forest lands, greenways, heritage areas and scores of community conservation and recreation partnerships.

The department is increasing awareness of outdoor opportunities such as swimming, hiking, camping, bicycling, horseback riding, wildlife watching, skiing, boating, fishing and hunting, while at the same time encouraging responsible park and forest stewardship. The department is coordinating with tourism partners to promote the state's parks, forests, trails, rivers, greenways and heritage areas; enhance its website; advertise through events, promotions and printed materials; improve signage; develop new overnight accommodations; offer environmental education and interpretive programs; and institute guided recreation programming in concert with interpretive programming.

One example of this approach is the "Get Outdoors PA" program, which the department piloted in western Pennsylvania in 2004 and expanded statewide in 2005. Get Outdoors PA offers visitors guided programs on various recreational activities like kayaking, canoeing, fishing, hiking and biking. Experienced trip leaders teach skills and expose visitors to state parks and forests. Get Outdoors PA will continue to add programs and partners in the coming years.

These various efforts are intended not only to improve visitor experiences and encourage repeat visitation but also to communicate stewardship messages to citizens and visitors and provide economic benefit to surrounding communities. The department's outreach to communities also extends to urban and suburban environmental education outreach and educational and recreational programming.

The Department of Conservation and Natural Resources receives funding from a number of sources to support program operations, including state general funds, federal funds, a variety of user fees, lease and concession charges and revenue distributions from state special funds. A portion of realty transfer tax revenues from the Keystone Recreation, Park and Conservation Fund is used to fund state park and forest rehabilitation, facilities repairs and upgrades and land acquisition, as well as community grants for parks, river, trail and other recreation projects. A portion of landfill fee revenues from the Environmental Stewardship Fund (Growing Greener I) is used to fund state park and forest rehabilitation and land acquisition and community grants for projects such as greenways, recreational trails, various conservation projects and grants to protect and conserve biological diversity. A portion of the revenues from the Growing Greener Bond Fund (Growing Greener II) is used to fund projects to improve state parks and forests, preserve natural areas and open spaces and enhance community parks and recreation areas.

DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS

The mission of the Department of Corrections is to protect the public by confining persons committed to the department's custody in safe, secure facilities and to provide opportunities for inmates to acquire the skills and values necessary to become productive law-abiding citizens, while respecting the rights of crime victims.

The department maintains a state system for the custody and rehabilitation of convicted criminals. Included within this system are residential programs and pre-release programs to provide inmates with supervision, counseling and treatment to enable them to satisfactorily adjust to society.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To decrease the recurrence of crime by replacing criminal behavior with socially acceptable behavior.

Program: Institutionalization of Offenders

The Department of Corrections protects the public by confining law offenders in state correctional institutions for the period of time specified by the courts and the Board of Probation and Parole. The department is charged with maintaining safe and humane prisons and providing opportunities to the inmate population for growth and change. Given that 90 percent of offenders incarcerated in the commonwealth's state prisons will eventually be released into the community, the Department of Corrections emphasizes programs that prepare inmates for responsible, crime-free community living. These re-entry programs include drug and alcohol treatment, education, work skills and community corrections.

The department seeks to provide sufficient and secure permanent housing space for the inmate population. The goal is to operate the state correctional system at or below operational bed capacity, which represents the optimal number of inmates that each facility can safely house. The department considers a number of factors when determining operational capacity including cell size and security level, availability of inmate employment or programming, support services and facility infrastructure. The state-administered correctional system includes 26 correctional institutions, 51 state-operated or contracted community corrections centers and a motivational boot camp. There were 46,369 inmates housed in the state system at the end of June 2008 and an operational capacity of 41,532. Operational bed capacity is expected to increase in 2009.

Program Element: Institutional Operations

In addition to protecting the public by separating offenders from society, the department emphasizes the safety and security of its staff, volunteers, inmates and visitors to the institutions. Security operations are improved through security assessments, training, structural improvements and use of technology such as biometrics and intrusion detection systems. The department's drug interdiction program has been recognized as a best practice by the American Correctional Association. The percentage of inmates testing positive for drug and alcohol use while in prison is 0.25 percent, which is one of the lowest rates in the country for state correctional systems. The department is fully accredited by the American Correctional Association. All inmates undergo a diagnostic and classification process to determine the inmate's appropriate security classification, medical needs and programs needed for re-entry into society as well as other needs and requirements.

Two of the largest support services needed to operate the institutions are food service and facility maintenance. Staff and inmates perform most of these functions, giving them an opportunity to learn a trade, while constructively occupying their time. Another large support service is health care services. A combination of staff and contractors provides health care services. Renal dialysis, geriatric services, infectious care treatment and other necessary services are offered. Approximately 18 percent of the inmate population requires mental health treatment. To address these needs, mental health services are provided, including special needs units in most institutions and licensed mental health units in six institutions.

Program Element: Inmate Programs and Re-entry

The department releases approximately 17,000 offenders per year with 75 percent exiting to parole supervision. Population projection models predict continued growth for the inmate population, with an increasing number of offenders with shorter sentences. Research has shown that inmate participation in appropriately structured interventions can reduce recidivism. The department provides programming which will enable inmates to leave prison better prepared to adjust to life in the community. A public safety reform package was enacted in Pennsylvania in 2008 to enhance inmate participation in treatment programs to reduce recidivism and reduce the growth of the nonviolent inmate population. In order to increase public safety, the Pennsylvania Board of Probation and Parole (PBPP) has implemented certain changes in parole procedures particularly affecting inmates classified as violent. Both the department and the PBPP continue to review changes to procedures for violent offenders. These changes may increase the length of incarceration for violent offenders.

Preparation for re-entry begins when an offender enters the department's diagnostic and classification centers. The centers conduct a comprehensive assessment of the individual's risk or probability of reoffense and needs or factors related to criminality - such as antisocial attitudes, poor problem solving and decision-making skills, substance abuse and low levels of education and vocational achievement. This assessment data is used by trained staff and shared with the PBPP, which may provide additional input to develop a meaningful correctional plan. The correctional plan details the recommended treatment and education programs for each individual offender and sets expectations for behavior and work performance throughout incarceration.

Act 112 of 2004 directed the state to create an intermediate punishment program. In this program eligible inmates, including those with less serious offenses, participate in structured alcohol and other drug treatment programs while in prison, followed by treatment in the community. The results from evaluations of programs in other states show a significant reduction in recidivism and drug relapse for offenders who have completed these programs. When this program is fully utilized, it will be able to serve approximately 1,500 inmates per year.

Treatment services are designed to modify the inmate's social behavior to a more acceptable level for institutional management and reduce criminal behavior when released, thus providing a basis for better community protection. All facilities provide alcohol and other drug treatment programs. Approximately 18,900 inmates are assessed as needing alcohol and other drug treatment, and approximately 3,500 inmates currently receive treatment services. Therapeutic communities provide more intensive alcohol and other drug programming, which is more effective in changing behavior. Approximately 1,905 inmates currently receive this intensive treatment. Other counseling services and programs are available. All facilities offer sex offender treatment, some with special sex offender units.

Educational programs offer inmates the opportunity to obtain high school diplomas or adult basic education skills. A Correctional Education Association study shows that attending educational courses in prison reduces the likelihood of recidivism by 23 percent. New inmates who do not have a high school diploma or GED are required to attend classes. A total of 11,407 inmates are in GED or adult basic education classes, and 1,322 inmates received diplomas within the last year.

Vocational training is dedicated to the development of marketable job skills so that inmates are more employable upon their release. A variety of vocational programs are offered, including plumbing, auto mechanics, barbering, electronics and machinist training. The department works with the Department of Labor and Industry to match its vocational offerings to jobs available in the community. Almost 80 percent of the vocational training programs offered in institutions provide inmates completing the program and passing examinations with industry-recognized credentials.

Work is another component of inmate programming. The department is continuing its efforts to have inmates perform meaningful work. Employment in institutional jobs and in correctional industries provides inmates with the opportunity to learn responsibility, good work habits and skills that can be used to find employment after release. Approximately 83 percent of inmates assessed as being able and eligible to work are working. Community work programs in which low-risk inmates perform community service projects outside the institutions are available at most institutions.

Program Element: Community Corrections

The last step in re-entry treatment is community corrections. Community corrections centers permit highly screened inmates, who meet established criteria, to live in halfway houses in the community. At these centers, inmates receive 24-hour supervision and can utilize counseling services while working or attending school. These centers provide programming reinforcement during the inmate's transition back to the community. The centers also offer alcohol and other drug treatment services, employment assistance, specialized counseling for hard-to-place offenders and other services. Community corrections placement is also available to some parolees as either an alternative to a return to prison or as a transition from prison to the community. In 2010, there will be approximately 4,800 offenders in the community corrections centers, and approximately 51 percent will be parolees.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

The mission of the department is to academically prepare children and adults to succeed in their chosen profession. The department seeks to ensure that the technical support, resources and physical plant are in place for all students, whether children or adults, to receive a high quality education.

The department establishes standards and measures aimed at continuous improvement of school curriculum. The department manages staff development and research dissemination systems to ensure that all educational institutions can select from proven practices to boost student achievement. Local school districts, school boards and other educational institutions receive technical assistance from the department via a network of Intermediate Units. The department supports the improvement of Pennsylvania's higher education and community colleges via educational programs, funding to support students and direct resources for facility development.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To provide an effective administrative system through which the substantive programs of the agency can be achieved.

Program: Education Support Services

Education Support Services provides for the administrative and overhead systems that support the operation of programs necessary for the achievement of Department of Education and commonwealth objectives. The success or failure of these supportive efforts can only be indirectly reflected by the effectiveness of the activities they support. The department seeks to minimize these administrative costs in relation to the costs of services provided. As part of its efforts to control administrative costs, the department continues to transfer mainframe applications to client servers that permit departmental employees to perform their responsibilities in a more efficient and effective manner.

In addition to providing operational support to the executive, budget, communications and legal offices of the department, this program also provides staff support to the State Board of Education and other administrative boards and commissions. These include boards for private, academic, business, trade and correspondence schools, and the Professional Standards and Practices Commission.

This program also includes non-General Fund support from the School Employees' Retirement Fund used for administration of the School Employees' Retirement System. The Pennsylvania School Employees' Retirement Board administers the School Employees' Retirement System and provides benefits for retired school employees and counseling and information services for active employees. The School Employees' Retirement Fund is shown in the Special Funds Appendix.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To provide students with the skills, attitudes and abilities needed for effective living in our complex society.

Program: PreK–12 Education (Basic Education)

Program Element: PreK-12 Education (Basic Education)

Pennsylvania's preK-12 education system is designed to provide every child in the commonwealth with the skills they need to be active citizens and future leaders in our global economy. In 2007-08, 71 percent of Pennsylvania's students met the state standards in math and 70 percent met the state standards in reading.

In every subject and grade – and for students of every race and income level – achievement has increased since 2001-02.

Percent of PA Students Meeting State Standards in Math 2002 vs. 2008

Percent of PA Students Meeting State Standards in Reading 2002 vs. 2008

Program Element: Basic Education Funding

The commonwealth and local school districts share the financing of public elementary and secondary education in Pennsylvania. There are 501 local school districts.

The Basic Education Funding appropriation is the largest subsidy the commonwealth provides as support to local school districts. The subsidy has two core principles:

- Help communities achieve school funding adequacy. Despite significant local tax burdens, too many school districts still cannot achieve an adequate level of school funding to meet their students' academic needs. Pennsylvania's new school funding formula helps move districts towards the adequacy targets set forth in the Legislature's Costing-Out Report.
- Direct the most state resources to the communities with the greatest need. Pennsylvania's school districts have dramatically different levels of local wealth and student need. Commonwealth resources are directed to all 501 school districts but are also targeted in order to ensure that students in all communities have the academic opportunities they deserve.

In order to increase academic achievement, school districts are encouraged to invest in early childhood education and other proven programs. The Department of Education supports school improvement through intensive training and other initiatives.

Program Element: Accountability Block Grants

In 2008-09 Pennsylvania's Education Block Grant provides $271.4 million for school districts to invest in education programs that are proven to help children learn. Of that amount, $14.8 million is dedicated to the Full-Day Kindergarten Supplement which is targeted to districts that establish or expand full-day kindergarten. Out of the remaining $256.6 million, districts, for the fifth year, are choosing to invest more than $3 out of every $4 in Block Grants in early childhood education that includes high-quality pre-kindergarten, full-day kindergarten and class-size reduction in kindergarten through third grade.

The 2009-10 budget includes $271.4 million for Accountability Block Grants. This funding will be folded into each school district's basic education subsidy.

Program Element: Early Childhood Learning

Early learning for Pennsylvania's youngest children is crucial for both their long-term and short-term success. The benefits of a strong foundation in early childhood education have been touted by the Federal Reserve Bank as one of the best economic development investments that a state can make. The benefits of such programming range from $4 to $7 for every $1 invested. In recognition of the importance of early childhood education to Pennsylvania's economic well-being, in 2006, the Departments of Education and Public Welfare launched a new initiative to assure a well-coordinated, integrated approach to early childhood development and learning. The departments established the Office of Child Development and Early Learning as one office that is made up of both agencies. Some of the efforts of this office that are found in the Department of Education appropriations, include:

Pre-K Counts. From a beginning investment of $75 million in 2007-08, this program will grow in 2009-10 to provide high quality early childhood education to about 13,000 Pennsylvania children in a diversity of settings, ranging from school-based programs to Keystone STARS child care centers.

Head Start. By providing first-ever state funding for Head Start in 2004-05 and launching the Accountability Block Grant, Pennsylvania removed itself from the list of nine states in the nation that failed to provide funding for pre-school. In 2008-09, the state investment of $39.5 million is serving approximately 5,620 children.

Program Element: Science: It's Elementary

Science: It's Elementary for grades K through 6 provides resources for hands-on learning equipment and intensive teacher training to elementary schools that commit to upgrading their science curriculum. Requested funds go to ASSET Incorporated, an instructional materials resource center in Pittsburgh, which provides participating school districts with professional development, instructional materials (science kits) and reimbursement of costs for participation to support implementation of inquiry-based science instruction in grades K through 6. For 2008-09 the project was funded at $14.5 million, which supports implementation in a total of 132 districts, 141 schools, 2,700 teachers and at least 65,000 students for the Science: It's Elementary program in year three. The 130 districts returning from years one and two will receive module enrichment on the previous year's inquiry modules. The 73 districts from years two and three will receive a new module along with professional development. In year one of participation in the program, each classroom teacher receives (on a loan basis) one science kit and professional development materials necessary to teach that kit. In year two of participation in the program, each teacher receives two kits and the necessary professional development materials. In year three each receives three kits with professional development materials.

Program Element: Transforming Pennsylvania's High Schools

All Pennsylvania students must graduate from high school prepared to enter college and the high-skills workforce. According to a national report, only 44 percent of the commonwealth's high school freshmen graduate on time with a college-ready transcript.

Project 720. Project 720 – named for the number of days a student spends in high school from the beginning of 9th grade to the end of 12th grade – is helping transform Pennsylvania's high schools.

In 2008-09, Project 720 will provide grants to 75 high schools, Career and Technical Centers and charter high schools. As in 2007-08, participating high schools agreed to upgrade the high school experience, including requiring a college- and career-ready curriculum for every student. In 2009-10, Project 720 will provide approximately $10.7 million in grants.

Dual Enrollment. Fiscal year 2008-09 is the fourth year for state-supported Dual Enrollment in Pennsylvania. The commonwealth invested $10 million in this important program, which allows high school students to earn high school and college credits for courses taken through a college or university while they complete their high school graduation requirements. In 2008-09, Pennsylvania high school students are taking 25,341 college courses through this program.

Participation in Pennsylvania's Dual Enrollment Program

Career and Technical Education. Career and Technical Education, formerly known as Vocational Education, serves approximately 100,000 secondary students. Career and Technical Education provides a rigorous high school education to students while delivering skilled training in high-demand employment fields. Wherever possible, students earn real-world, industry-based certifications at the end of their programs. To upgrade Career and Technical Education, Pennsylvania launched a multi-million dollar program to enhance equipment and curriculum, as well as help boost the academic rigor and alignment to economic development needs in every Career and Technical Education program.

Program Element: Classrooms for the Future.

This initiative transforms the way high school teachers teach and how students learn by providing $200 million by the time implementation is complete to equip these schools' English, math, science and social studies classrooms with enhanced technology, laptop computers and other state-of-the-art resources, as well as to provide teachers and school leaders extensive training on how to best harness the power of technology to increase student achievement and ensure students are ready for college and the high-tech global job market. In 2008-09, 453 schools and 490,000 students will participate in the Classrooms for the Future program, and in 2009-10, 545,000 students are expected to participate.

Program Element: Tutoring

Pennsylvania provides tutoring support as a proven way to help students who are struggling in reading and math. The state funds local tutoring programs and holds tutoring providers accountable for student progress.

The Educational Assistance Program. Pennsylvania's state-funded tutoring initiative is targeted to struggling students in 175 school districts and career and technical centers where a school failed to make Adequate Yearly Progress in reading or math as required by the No Child Left Behind Act. The 2009-10 budget includes $65.1 million for the Educational Assistance Program. This funding will be folded into school districts' basic education subsidies or, for vocational schools, in the Career and Technical Education appropriation.

Program Element: Special Education

Special education serves approximately 272,000 school-aged students in Pennsylvania school districts, charter schools, intermediate units, approved private schools and private residential facilities (excluding gifted students).

The major special education appropriation provides support for programs for students with disabilities served by the public schools of the commonwealth. Public school special education programs are administered by all school districts and charter schools, where appropriate. These programs may be directly operated by the districts or contracted with other school districts, intermediate units or other providers. When appropriate public education is not available, Individualized Education Plan teams may determine a free, appropriate public education may only be provided by the department-approved private schools or other private agency.

Funds are also provided for Early Intervention and Approved Private Schools/Charter Schools for the Deaf and Blind.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To provide and improve library services to citizens of the commonwealth, special libraries, and government agencies and employees.

Program: Library Services

The proposed 2009-10 budget offers a variety of valued public library services to all Pennsylvanians.

The Public Library Subsidy helps defray the cost of basic operations of local public libraries. This subsidy makes it possible for Pennsylvania's more than 600 public library outlets to meet the information, education and enrichment needs of our children, students and lifelong learners. Pennsylvania is a national leader in family-focused library programming.

The Public Library Subsidy also supports 29 district library centers that are charged with providing deep resources and specialized services to the local libraries and residents of their defined geographic areas. This funding also provides every Pennsylvanian with access to the vast and historic resources of the four major research libraries in the commonwealth: The State Library of Pennsylvania, the Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh, the Free Library of Philadelphia and the libraries of The Pennsylvania State University.

Library Access. Pennsylvania is committed to ensuring that all Pennsylvanians can easily access the library resources that exist not only in their own communities, but across the commonwealth through three specific initiatives. The Statewide Library Card program allows Pennsylvanians who live in a municipality that supports a public library to borrow from any equivalent public library across the commonwealth. The Interlibrary Delivery Service makes it affordable for all state supported libraries to participate in a statewide delivery service that moves library materials across the state in a timely and cost-effective way and encourages sharing of materials. The POWER (Pennsylvania Online World of Electronic Resources) Library provides vetted online magazine and reference databases for Pennsylvania residents to use in the library or remotely from home. This program is an exceptional resource for classroom students and teachers.

The Electronic Library Catalog, also known as the Access Pennsylvania Database program, gives Pennsylvanians online access to the library holdings of nearly 3,000 Pennsylvania school, public, college, university and special libraries. Once an item is found, it can be "ordered" from the library online. This is the largest online database of its type in North America. As part of the Electronic Library Catalog, Pennsylvanians have online access to professional reference librarians 24 hours a day, 7 days a week through the Ask Here PA program. Through the 81 participating libraries, Pennsylvanians have logged more than 42,000 sessions, of which approximately half have come from schools. A second tier of service is available for academic reference. Known as a "virtual reference" service, this program, launched in 2006, has become extraordinarily popular.

Pennsylvania is fortunate to have two libraries providing invaluable services for the visually impaired and disabled. In partnership with National Library Services, recorded and Braille materials are sent by direct mail to students and residents of all ages who are blind or have a physical disability that prevents them from using regular print materials. Pennsylvania pioneered state-level library services to the blind over 100 years ago. In 2007, both of the Pennsylvania libraries for the blind and physically handicapped received national awards for their outreach and services.

The State Library appropriation supports the services and operations of the Office of Commonwealth Libraries and is a primary source of funding for the State Library. Located in Harrisburg, the State Library of Pennsylvania is a major resource library established by statute to provide reference service to all branches of state government, as well as to libraries and residents of the commonwealth. An extensive general and legal reference collection, comprehensive collections of Pennsylvania newspapers, Pennsylvania state and U.S. government publications and over 300 databases are available. The State Library is home to the Rare Collections Library, which is organized around the Assembly Collection, that was purchased beginning in 1745 by Ben Franklin when he was Clerk of the Assembly. The Collection includes newspapers from colonial times through 1860. The Rare Collections Library is the premier library environment in the nation incorporating systems and techniques to preserve historic, paper-based collections.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To fulfill Pennsylvania's requirements for graduates of higher education programs, to respond to the demands of students for higher education and to support the public institutions providing those programs.

Program: Higher Education

Higher education in Pennsylvania is provided through 277 degree-granting institutions that include the universities of the State System of Higher Education, the state-related universities, the community colleges, the commonwealth's private colleges and universities, the state-affiliated Thaddeus Stevens College of Technology and specialized associate degree-granting institutions. Funding for these institutions is through direct grant appropriations and state-funded student grant programs administered by the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency.

Program Element: Institutional Support for Pennsylvania's Institutions of Higher Education

State System of Higher Education. Funding for the 14 universities of the State System of Higher Education is distributed through the office of the chancellor to the individual universities in accordance with a formula that consists of student enrollment, programs of the school and the operational cost of the individual campuses. Although each university has an individual mission, they all provide teacher education, a broad liberal arts curriculum and most offer the master degree level of study in their programs.

Community Colleges. The funding formula for the community colleges is stipulated in Act 46 of 2005 and updated Act 61 of 2008. Funding is shared by sponsoring counties or school districts, the students, through tuition payments, and the commonwealth. Commonwealth appropriations are based on a formula that ensures predictable base operating funding, provides a supplement for enrollment growth, provides a stipend for students enrolled in economic development programs that focus on high priority occupations and recognizes the capital costs of the colleges. The colleges offer two-year liberal arts curricula, two-year programs in technologies and other programs in career areas that culminate in an associate degree or certificate and non-degree programs. Community colleges play a major role in the commonwealth's workforce development initiative.

State-Related Universities. Funding for the four state-related universities — the Pennsylvania State University, the University of Pittsburgh, Temple University and Lincoln University — provides basic support for educational programs. The first three of these commonwealth universities are major research universities that provide programs up to the doctoral level in varied academic disciplines and professional schools in podiatry, medicine, dentistry and law. The fourth, Lincoln University, provides programs in numerous disciplines at the baccalaureate and master degree levels.

Impact: Number of Degrees Awarded

The state-supported universities and colleges graduated over 87,000 students in 2007-08 with degrees ranging from the two-year associate degree to doctoral and professional degrees. Pennsylvania degree graduates from both the public and private sectors totaled nearly 140,000.

Program Element: Increasing Access to Higher Education

In 2007, of 128,603 public high school graduates, 93,879, or approximately 73 percent, planned to attend an academic degree-granting post-secondary institution. This is a significant improvement over the past decade when only slightly more than half of Pennsylvania high school graduates indicated they planned to attend a post-secondary institution. Participation rates of non-traditional students and part-time students also continue to increase. To better serve the needs of all of Pennsylvania students, the Department of Education is overseeing a comprehensive transfer and articulation system to enable all students to easily transfer credits earned at a community college or State System of Higher Education institution to any of these 32 institutions, or to any state-related or independent institution that chooses to participate in the statewide transfer system. To date, an average of 47 courses for each of the 32 participating institutions have been established as transferable statewide, for a total of nearly 1500 course equivalencies that can be transferred and counted toward graduation across all participating institutions. This total is more than double the minimum number of courses required by the legislation.

Combined with higher education enrollment size, the diversity of enrollments by discipline will shape the future of higher education. It reflects the increased choices of career-oriented disciplines with higher employment rates such as business management, data processing, health professions and majors in the STEM fields — science, technology, engineering and math. Expanding access to these professions will be vital to ensuring the long-term economic health of the commonwealth.

Program Element: Support for Educationally Disadvantaged and Minority Students

The Higher Education Equal Opportunity Program, under Act 101 of 1971, provides grants to colleges for tutorial and counseling services for economically and educationally disadvantaged students to aid them in succeeding in college. In 2007-08, the 75 higher education institutions that receive Act 101 dollars reported serving over 11,973 students.

In 1996, the Pennsylvania Department of Education and the United States Department of Education, Office of Civil Rights, embarked on a cooperative agreement designed to assess and address the continued challenges in providing higher education opportunities for African American students in Pennsylvania. Funding is included in this program subcategory and in the capital budget to further assist with the cost of recruitment and retention of minority students, to provide for an affirmative action program at the universities of the State System of Higher Education and to continue infrastructure improvements at Cheyney and Lincoln Universities. Further funding is provided for a post-baccalaureate scholarship program directed at the achievement of a terminal professional degree for recent graduates of Cheyney University and Lincoln University. Funding for scholarships is made available through a program administered at these universities and disbursed through PHEAA.

Program Element: Research

An essential ingredient for a healthy economy and the creation of new jobs in any region is the existence of vigorous research universities. Regions with the most dynamic economies are those where research and development investments have been significant. The research university not only provides new ideas, technologies and products to industry, but also educates and motivates graduates to turn those ideas, technologies and products into industry and jobs.

While the University of Pittsburgh and Temple University are also major research universities, the Pennsylvania State University is the primary recipient of direct research funds designated by the commonwealth to support research in agriculture, engineering, biological and physical sciences, earth and mineral sciences, health and human services and other disciplines. Pennsylvania State University is the commonwealth's federally designated land-grant university, and as such has received funds designated for agricultural research since 1901.

The continued state support for organized research is a means of promoting a responsive position on the constantly changing needs of the commonwealth. In this regard, colleges and universities play a major role in the economic development of the commonwealth through the creation of a climate that attracts new high-technology industries to the state.

Program Element: Community Service

Public and community services are provided by all sectors of higher education and include short-term courses, workshops and programs in the arts. The bulk of commonwealth funding in this area supports the Cooperative Extension Service of the Pennsylvania State University. This service offers consultation to any state resident on agricultural or environmental issues. It operates the Agricultural Extension Computer Network with a computer in every county cooperative extension service office and offers a statewide network of information linked to the resources of the main campus.

Program Element: Support Services

The department provides leadership and support services to all sectors of higher education. Responsibilities include liaison with the national accrediting agencies, the State Board of Education, the State Board of Private Licensed Schools and other governing boards; policy review and development based on comprehensive planning and research; and implementation of the Higher Education Master Plan. The department also partners with other commonwealth agencies on workforce development strategies. Additionally, the department awards teaching certificates to those seeking certification in Pennsylvania.

Pennsylvania has been a national leader in education reform by introducing concepts of quality performance and accountability in basic and secondary education. This budget will continue these efforts through a combined effort of elementary, secondary, post-secondary and higher education, jointly with the United States Department of Education, to fulfill the initiatives of "No Child Left Behind."

DEPARTMENT OF EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT AND HOMELAND SECURITY

This budget proposes to create a cabinet level department to be called the Department of Emergency Management and Homeland Security. Programs currently administered by the Pennsylvania Emergency Management Agency and the Office of Homeland Security will be combined into a single department.

The mission of Department of Emergency Management and Homeland Security is to develop and maintain a comprehensive plan and program for the civil defense of the commonwealth. Primarily the plan calls for the protection of life and property both prior to and in the event of natural and other disasters. The department, through the Office of the State Fire Commissioner, provides loans to volunteer fire, ambulance and rescue companies and coordinates state fire services. The Department of Emergency Management and Homeland Security also administers post-disaster aid to affected localities and citizens.

Emergency Management and Homeland Security

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To develop and maintain a statewide emergency force capable of immediate and effective action in the event of natural, technological or other man-made disasters and rapid organizational expansion to assure civil preparedness for war or resource-based emergencies.

Program: Emergency Management

The Pennsylvania Emergency Management Agency (PEMA) was initially created in 1951 to address civil defense related public planning and preparedness. Over the past half century, PEMA's responsibilities have evolved, and the agency's mission has grown into a statewide, comprehensive, all-hazards mitigation, preparedness, response and recovery effort. PEMA's responsibilities and mission have grown further following the September 11, 2001 terrorist attack on the nation. In recognition of these expanding responsibilities and to ensure a coordinated effort by commonwealth agencies, this budget proposes merging PEMA with the Office of Homeland Security to create the Department of Emergency Management and Homeland Security. This newly created department will have several goals: oversee preparedness strategies and plans within the commonwealth; coordinate federal, state and local preparedness efforts; develop and nurture private and public sector relationships in order to enhance preparedness strategies; and provide for the identification and preservation of critical infrastructures within the commonwealth. The synergies of merging the two agencies into one department will also facilitate the collection, analysis and intelligence production and sharing functions, thus providing a direct conduit for dissecting and disseminating critical information vital to mitigating the impact of natural and man-made disasters.

Pennsylvania's public preparedness program is based on inter-governmental and intra-governmental coordination, communication and cooperation and a team approach involving state, county, municipal and federal elected leaders, emergency managers and first responders. At its core is a multi-agency training program which develops and maintains a statewide emergency force composed of state, county and local units jointly capable of prompt and effective action to protect life and property; alleviates human suffering and hardship resulting from natural and man-made disasters; and deploys rapidly when required in the event of war or other resource-based emergencies.

The department's responsibilities also include programs concerning prison/community safety, 911-program implementation and maintenance, statewide chemical and nuclear power safety and hazardous materials transportation, and individual emergency preparedness.

The commonwealth's civil preparedness and emergency response capability is provided through the maintenance of a statewide system to facilitate hazard assessment, emergency planning, warning and emergency communications. A satellite-based network that monitors actual rainfall amounts provides an early warning system for flooding. To facilitate rapid deployment of resources to protect life and property, an emergency response and command center has been developed. Training and education are provided to county and local entities on an ongoing basis to maintain their civil preparedness and emergency response readiness.

Counties are required to have an approved emergency program plan consisting of a statement of accomplishments, required financial needs, hazard vulnerability and goals indicating projected activity. Federal and state laws mandate conducting exercises to test and update existing emergency preparedness and response plans. This comprehensive exercise program is an extensive and integrated training and testing program that enhances and measures the ability of county and local forces to provide a comprehensive and coordinated first line of response to emergency conditions.

The department coordinates urban search and rescue capabilities for response to certain types of disasters. Regional rapid assessment teams are trained to provide assessment of needs in disaster areas. The department also coordinates nine regional counter-terrorism task forces and incident support teams. The department acts as the federally designated State Administrative Agency and is responsible for managing congressionally mandated and first responder preparedness support programs.

The department will be responsible for activities required by the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency under the Federal Superfund Amendments and Reauthorization Act. Federal Clean Air Act amendments include upgrading chemical emergency preparedness facility plans and planning and training activities for compliance with the Hazardous Materials Transportation Uniform Safety Act. Responsibilities for preparedness involve state and county governments and chemical manufacturers.

The Public Safety Emergency Telephone Act (Act 78) as amended by Act 56 of 2003 established the Wireless E-911 Emergency Services Fund, which provides for the collection of a one dollar per device monthly surcharge on wireless telephone customers to support a statewide integrated wireless E-911 system. The wireless surcharge funds are disbursed to public safety answering points to upgrade 911 technologies by providing 911 telecommunicators with location information for wireless 911 callers. In addition, Act

78 as amended by Act 72 of 2008 established the Voice over Internet Protocol (VoIP) Emergency Services Fund. The Act provides for the collection of a one dollar per month fee for each telephone number assigned by a voice over internet provider (VoIP) to a VoIP service customer that has outbound calling capability. VoIP 911 fees can be remitted to the county or to the commonwealth's VoIP 911 Emergency Services Fund. The fee is for the purpose of assisting counties with the implementation of an agency-approved plan adopted under Section 5 of Act 78.

A recent change in state law has enhanced Pennsylvania's preparedness and response capabilities. Act 42 of 2007 increased the amount of unused appropriated funds the Governor may redirect for disaster relief. This authority increased from $10 million to $20 million in any one year. These funds are used to provide public assistance, to enable the commonwealth, local communities and municipalities to resume normal function and to assist in the delivery of emergency services and assistance to the citizens of the commonwealth.

Participants in all hazard emergency exercises are anticipated to decrease in 2008-09 due to the creation of rotational schedules for combining exercises.

Emergency exercises held are anticipated to decrease in 2008-09 due to the creation of better rotational schedules for combining exercises.

Emergency management grant funds disbursed is anticipated to decrease in 2008-09 due to the federal Homeland Security Grant having not been fully awarded. Also, the federal Public Safety Interoperable Communications Grant was only granted for 2007-08.

Federal disaster funds disbursed are anticipated to decrease in 2008-09 due to completion of available projects from prior disasters. No new disasters have occurred for the last two years.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To minimize the loss of life and property due to fire by developing and maintaining statewide municipal fire and emergency service capability.

Program: Fire Prevention and Safety

The State Fire Commissioner Act, Act 61 of 1995 places responsibility on the State Fire Commissioner for addressing the diverse training, operational and informational needs of the commonwealth's fire and emergency services community. The commissioner oversees the development and operation of the State Fire Academy's Resident and Local Level Training programs, the Volunteer Loan Assistance program, the Pennsylvania Fire Information Reporting System (PennFIRS), a public education/information program, and the administration of the firefighters' memorial flag program. Act 17 of 2003 established the Volunteer Fire Company and Volunteer Ambulance Service Grant programs which the commissioner's office manages. The State Fire Commissioner is responsible for coordinating federal, state and private fire safety funds; assisting state agencies in the development of plans related to fire safety; reviewing existing or proposed rules and regulations affecting the safety of commonwealth citizens; and providing a cost-effective fire-loss management system for the commonwealth.

Through contacts with government agencies, the business community, consumers and the fire service, the fire commissioner's office renders technical assistance; collects, reviews and disseminates pertinent information about fire death data and fire prevention and control techniques; and conducts statewide fire safety educational programs for the entire fire community.

The State Fire Academy (SFA) at Lewistown is the catalyst for training delivery to the state's fire and emergency response community. The Local Level Training program, a unique system involving the SFA, community colleges and county and local training facilities and organizations, provides a comprehensive curriculum of basic and mid-level fire, rescue, hazardous material, officer development and fire department management courses deliverable to firefighters through county and local fire department programs.

The SFA's Lewistown training facilities and staff support the Resident Training program of mid-level, advanced and specialty training in fire, rescue, hazardous material and officer development aimed at providing professional development opportunities for the state's firefighters, fire officers, the academy's cadre of field instructors and employees from other state agencies. The SFA also makes available a Firefighter Certification program that measures individual knowledge and skills against nationally accepted professional standards to assist firefighters in maximizing their training and experience credentials.

The Volunteer Loan Assistance program provides assistance to the volunteer fire fighting, ambulance and rescue community in the form of low-interest loans for the purpose of establishing or modernizing facilities to house apparatus and equipment, purchasing new or rehabilitating old apparatus, and purchasing protective, communications and accessory equipment. Funding for the loan program is reflected in the financial statement for the Volunteer Companies Loan Fund included in the Special Funds Appendix.

The most recent amendments to Act 17 of 2003, Volunteer Fire Company and Volunteer Ambulance Service Grant Program Act, extend this grant program through June 30, 2012. An annual transfer of $25 million from the State Gaming Fund to the Volunteer Company Grant program provides funds to be used for grants to volunteer fire companies and ambulance services to assist them in maintaining or improving their capability to provide fire, ambulance and rescue services.

Act 168 of 1990 provides for a flag to honor firefighters who have died in the line of duty and assigns the Office of the Pennsylvania State Fire Commissioner the responsibility to implement the provisions of the act. As part of its involvement in this program, the fire commissioner's office provides personal support and assistance to fire departments and surviving relatives immediately following such deaths and attempts to ascertain and use lessons-learned to reduce the number of firefighter deaths in the future.

Act 42 of 2008 established a new fund "Fire Prevention and Safety" within the Office of the Fire Commissioner. The fund will be credited with penalties levied under the act and will be used to support fire and safety prevention programs.

Environmental Protection

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To provide administrative and technical support for the commonwealth's environmental protection programs.

Program: Environmental Support Services

This program provides the administrative and technical systems that direct and support the department's programs. It includes the executive and administrative offices, the Office of Chief Counsel, information and data processing systems, the Citizens Advisory Council and the Environmental Quality Board.

The Environmental Hearing Board's purpose is to safeguard the environmental rights of Pennsylvania's citizens through appeals of actions taken or instituted by the Department of Environmental Protection and/or the private sector. It is included here for presentation purposes.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To protect and improve the quality of the air, water and environment for the health and safety of the citizens of the commonwealth, to protect people from dangerous or unnecessary radiation from natural and man-made sources, including occupational and medical exposure and to manage water and mineral resources in a way that protects their undue destruction and depletion while allowing economic benefits from their use.

Program: Environmental Protection and Management

This program encompasses the major program elements that help to protect the health and safety of the citizens of the commonwealth as well as the quality of their environment and economic health. These activities are all associated with the department's goals for Clean Air, Clean Water, Land Protection, Community Health and Safety and Sustainable Energy.

Act 68 of 1999, the Environmental Stewardship and Watershed Protection Act, authorized the beginning of the "Growing Greener" program. The goal of this program is to ensure citizens their rights to clean air, to pure water and to the preservation of the natural, scenic, historic and esthetic values of the environment. In the Department of Environmental Protection, a number of program elements are affected: Water Quality Protection, Water Supply Management, Regulation of Mining and Watershed Conservation. Expanded activities include the reclamation of abandoned mines, plugging of certain oil and gas wells, protection and restoration of watersheds and improvements to drinking water and sewer systems. With the passage of Act 90 of 2002, the primary revenue source for the Environmental Stewardship Fund was restructured from a General Fund contribution to a $4 tipping fee per ton of solid waste disposed in Pennsylvania's municipal waste landfills. The first $50 million of revenue from the fee was deposited into the Environmental Stewardship Fund in 2002-03, with the fund receiving all revenue generated by the fee in 2003-04 and thereafter. The act provides a specific, dedicated source of funding for the Growing Greener program and extends the $4 tipping fee until 2012. The budget includes funds from the Growing Greener II bond initiative, approved by the voters May 17, 2005. Growing Greener II will provide the department with $230 million over six years to clean up rivers and streams, take on serious environmental problems at abandoned mines and contaminated industrial sites, and finance the deployment of advanced energy projects.

The Bureau of Laboratories provides analytical data for the department that determines and identifies pollution levels in samples from any part of the environment. Samples from streams and lakes, solid wastes, drinking water, industrial wastes and fish are analyzed for toxic chemicals. Milk, food, water and air are examined for radiation. Water from supply systems, beaches and sewage treatment plants is examined for bacteria and homeowners' water is examined for potability. With the passage of the Environmental Laboratory Accreditation Act (Act 90 of 2002), an accreditation program for environmental laboratories within the department was established to assure the quality of compliance data in all program areas.

CLEAN AIR

Program Element: Protection of Air Quality

Emissions of air contaminants are closely monitored and controlled by the department to protect public health as required by the Federal Clean Air Act, the Pennsylvania Air Pollution Control Act of 1960 and regulations adopted under the acts. Pollutants of primary concern include ground-level ozone, suspended particulates, sulfur and nitrogen oxides, volatile organic compounds and toxic air pollutants. Despite progress, significant challenges remain. Only 66 percent of the population of Pennsylvania lives in counties attaining the 8-hour National Ambient Air Quality Standard for ground-level ozone. Ozone, a bluish gas, irritates the eyes and upper respiratory system. Forty-four percent of the population lives in counties which meet the federal ambient standard for fine particulate pollution. Small particles and toxic air pollutants they carry with them can aggravate or cause respiratory ailments.

Many of the volatile organic compounds and heavy metals resulting from industrial processes and combustion sources are toxic air pollutants. Emissions of these pollutants must be controlled under Federal Maximum Achievable Control Technology requirements.

The department's 55 ambient (outside) monitors measure overall air quality. Sites are chosen primarily for their proximity to populated areas. Source monitoring, by both operators and mobile teams from the department, is used to check individual sources of emissions. Certain large facilities are required to install instruments that continuously monitor emissions.

Permits and inspections ensure that sources of emissions are designed, constructed and operated in accordance with air quality regulations. The department regulates more than 3,000 sources of air emissions. The department approves plans for new construction or modification of existing facilities and issues operating permits for major sources. The department is implementing an initiative to streamline the permit process. Inspections and stack tests are conducted to assure that facilities conform to approved operating standards. The department uses compliance agreements and abatement orders to correct violations.

The department assists businesses with compliance with state rules for "area" sources such as auto body refinishing and works with other state and federal agencies and regional entities to obtain reductions from mobile sources of pollution.

The department reviews plans for the management and removal of asbestos in schools, regulates companies doing removal work and oversees the safe disposal of the asbestos.

The department provides multimedia assistance to businesses to promote pollution prevention and environmental management systems. These activities protect the environment and promote economic activity. In addition, the department provides small businesses with grants to hire consultants to assess pollution prevention opportunities and a loan program that small businesses can use for equipment that prevents pollution.

CLEAN WATER

Program Element: Protection of Water Quality

The department protects public health and safety and preserves natural aquatic systems for public use in Pennsylvania's watersheds by monitoring and assessing surface water quality, developing water quality standards, managing non-point sources of pollution, protecting coastal zone resources and regulating mining and oil and gas development.

Water quality assessments have been conducted for more than 82,300 miles of streams and 360 lakes in the commonwealth. A total of 67,883 assessed stream miles and 234 assessed lakes support the federal "fishable/swimmable" goal and the fish and aquatic life use designated in Pennsylvania's water quality standards. Each year, approximately 50 new stream miles and 10 lakes attain assessed water quality standards.

Water pollution sources are classified into two general categories: point and non-point sources. Point sources are those in which the polluting substances are conveyed into a body of water by a pipe or channel, such as sewage discharges, industrial waste discharges and storm or combined sewage drainage. Non-point sources are generally diffused discharges. Of the 16,121 miles identified as impaired by either point sources or non-point sources in the department's 2008 Water Quality Assessment, the broadest impacts were caused by non-point sources and remain abandoned mine drainage and agricultural runoff.

Over four years, funding from the Growing Greener II bond will help to restore or improve approximately 1,000 acres of wetlands, install or improve 1,100 miles of riparian buffers and improve 250 miles of streams affected by abandoned mine drainage.

Through its planning, permitting, surveillance, monitoring, enforcement and grant administration activities, the department carries out its duties and responsibilities for regulating water pollution control facilities and maintaining a statewide surface and groundwater quality monitoring program. The National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System, a delegated program under the Federal Clean Water Act, requires the commonwealth to permit and monitor point source discharges.

Under the Storm Water Management Act (Act 167 of 1978), the department ensures that municipalities develop management plans to address the quantity of and contaminants in stormwater runoff from development activities. Inadequate management of accelerated runoff from development increases flood flows, contributes to erosion and impairs stream water quality. Ninety-five percent of the commonwealth's 2,568 municipalities are designated as flood prone by the National Flood Insurance program. The department approves approximately 100 storm water management plans each year.

The department is implementing a significant effort to bring municipalities into compliance with federal combined sewer overflow discharge requirements. Approximately 90 percent of the commonwealth's municipalities are in compliance with the nine minimum controls specified by the department.

Under the Sewage Facilities Act (Act 537 of 1965), the department reviews plans from each municipality to meet current and future sewage treatment needs in coordination with their land use plans. These plans are the basis for permit decisions concerning local sewage systems. The department approves about 100 sewage facilities plans each year.

The department provides technical and financial support to Pennsylvania's 66 county conservation districts, which implement several of the water quality protection programs for the department, including erosion and sedimentation control, wetlands and stream encroachments, agricultural application of sewage sludge and dirt and gravel road maintenance.

The Clean Water State Revolving Fund (CWSRF) program provides low-interest loans to communities for construction of wastewater facilities. The department assists the Pennsylvania Infrastructure Investment Authority (PENNVEST) in implementing this program by establishing priorities for funding and managing and inspecting projects during construction. To date, more than 1,100 wastewater projects have been funded through the CWSRF.

Mining activities can degrade water quality through erosion and sediment runoff. The department requires applicants for mining permits to provide detailed information about hydrology, geology and proposed operations, in order to demonstrate that the mining activity will not adversely impact water quality.

The department also regulates oil and gas development. Through a permitting system for drilling activity, inspection of drilling and storage sites, and monitoring and enforcement actions, the department works toward protecting the environment and balancing conflicting interests among the oil, gas and coal industries.

Program Element: Water Allocation

Under the Water Rights Act of 1939, the department protects aquatic life and downstream users by providing surface water allocation permits to water suppliers. These permits, which grant water rights to public water supply agencies, contain conditions designed to ensure adequate stream flows to protect other in-stream and downstream withdrawal uses and ensure implementation of effective water conservation practices. To date, more than 200 streams have been protected.

The department coordinates interstate management of water resources with other states through agreements covered by the Delaware River Basin Commission, the Susquehanna River Basin Commission, the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin, the Ohio River Valley Water Sanitation Commission, the Chesapeake Bay Commission and the Great Lakes Commission.

The Water Resources Planning Act of 2002 requires the department to complete a State Water Plan. The plan will identify alternatives to assure adequate water supplies in watersheds where demands may exceed availability.

LAND PROTECTION

Program Element: Safe Waste Management

The department encourages waste reduction, promotes recycling and reuse of waste products and protects the public by providing for safe transportation and disposal of the remainder of the waste stream. Its principal programs concern municipal waste, residual waste and hazardous waste.

Act 101 of 1988, the Municipal Waste Planning and Recycling Act, requires mandatory recycling in 408 communities. In 1998, Pennsylvania met the goal set by Act 101 of 1988 by recycling more than 25 percent of its municipal waste. The goal was raised to 35 percent by 2003. Pennsylvanians recycled approximately 5 million tons in 2008. Act 175 of 2002 required the department to develop a plan to assist municipalities in making recycling programs under this act financially self-sufficient. This plan was completed in 2004 and is now used as technical assistance in the development of grant applications. Among the recommendations being implemented is creation of an independent Pennsylvania Recycling Markets Center to encourage the continued growth and economic health of Pennsylvania's recycling industries.

The department regulates new and existing landfills to ensure they are designed, constructed and operated with minimal risk to nearby residents and to the environment. Communities in which landfills or waste-to-energy facilities are located have taken an active role in permitting and inspecting these facilities to assure that they are operated properly.

Residual waste is non-hazardous material from industrial, mining, commercial and other similar operations. The department regulates more than 3,000 residual waste generators and treatment, storage and disposal facilities, 750 municipal waste facilities and more than 7,500 transporters. Approximately 2.7 million tons of this material is disposed in Pennsylvania's municipal waste landfills annually. The department performs permitting, closure and ongoing monitoring of residual waste management facilities. Act 93 of 1988 established a manifest system to track infectious (hospital) wastes from generation until disposal.

The department licenses hazardous waste transporters and provides permits to waste management facilities under the Solid Waste Management Act of 1980. In addition, the department tracks the movement of hazardous waste from generation to ultimate treatment or disposal through a manifest program run by the Department of Revenue. The department uses this information to identify discrepancies and take enforcement actions against violators.

Program Element: Protection of Land

The department protects land by regulating storage tanks and requiring reclamation at active mining and oil and gas operations. The Storage Tank and Spill Prevention Act, Act 32 of 1989, protects health, safety and the environment by preventing releases of dangerous materials from Pennsylvania's 43,000 regulated above ground and underground storage tanks. This is accomplished through a program of registration, permitting, compliance assistance and inspections. In addition, the department certifies storage tank installers and inspectors.

The Federal Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act established a comprehensive set of performance standards for mining and reclamation of surface and underground coal mines, coal refuse disposal and coal preparation facilities. Pennsylvania is required to follow a mandatory enforcement and civil penalty program under this law and to inspect each mining operation violator monthly until reclamation is achieved. Industrial mineral mines are regulated under the Non-Coal Surface Mining Conservation and Reclamation Act of 1984 and related statutes. The department oversees more than 1,700 coal mines and 2,000 industrial mineral mines.

The department offers mine subsidence insurance to residential and small commercial property owners. This insurance program is financially self-supporting and directed by the Coal and Clay Mine Subsidence Insurance

Board. The growth in the number and value of policies has steadily increased since the program's inception in 1961. Today, more than 58,000 policies are in effect. A cash flow statement for this fund is included in the Special Funds Appendix.

The department regulates more than 100,000 oil and gas wells and gas storage reservoirs under the Oil and Gas Act of 1984, protecting the environment through permits, inspections and enforcement. The department processed 8,091 permits in 2008.

Program Element: Restoration of Land

The department protects health and the environment and promotes community development by restoring sites contaminated by hazardous substances or affected by historic mining or oil and gas development. Just under 12,000 sites in Pennsylvania are known to be contaminated by hazardous substances. Collectively, the department completed or certified cleanups at more than 844 contaminated sites in 2008.

The department's Land Recycling program, which promotes voluntary cleanups, was established by three statutes passed in 1995: Act 2, the Land Recycling and Environmental Remediation Standards Act; Act 3, the Economic Development Agency, Fiduciary and Lender Environmental Liability Act; and Act 4, the Industrial Sites Environmental Assessment Act. The program identifies risk-based standards for cleanups, simplifying the approval process and limiting future liability. In 1999, the department created the Brownfields Inventory Grant program to encourage cleanups through grants to local government and economic development agencies for brownfields inventories. In 2004, Pennsylvania became the first state in the nation to establish a "one-stop cleanup program" creating a one-stop shop for state and federal brownfield cleanup standards. Since 1995, the department has approved more than 1,500 cleanups, creating or retaining more than 39,000 jobs.

The department's Hazardous Sites Cleanup Program, authorized by the Hazardous Sites Cleanup Act (HSCA), Act 108 of 1988, provides funding to conduct cleanups where there is no known responsible party. HSCA also provides the department with enforcement authorities to force the persons who are responsible for releases of hazardous substances to conduct cleanup actions or repay cleanup funds spent by the department. HSCA funds are also used to pay Pennsylvania's share of cleanup costs for sites in the Federal Superfund program.

Chapter 9 of HSCA established the Hazardous Sites Cleanup Fund (HSCF), which has been utilized to finance thousands of contaminated site cleanups. A portion (one-half mill) of the Capital Stock and Franchise Tax (CSFT) was deposited annually into the HSCF as the primary funding source for the program. In 1999 this tax was reduced to one-quarter mill and in 2003 the tax was diverted from the HSCF to the General Fund.

The department's Storage Tank Cleanup program, authorized by the Pennsylvania Storage Tank and Spill Prevention Act, Act 32 of 1989, oversees a corrective action program for regulated above and underground storage tanks. More than 550 tank releases were remediated in 2008.

The department's multi-site remediation agreements ensure the investigation and cleanup of the remaining sites contaminated by hazardous materials.

The department resolves environmental degradation and health and safety problems resulting from inactive and abandoned coal mines. The Reining Operator Assistance program provides assistance and funding to coal operators who mine and reclaim abandoned mine lands by paying for the cost of data collection and permit application. The department also provides direct funding from the Federal Office of Surface Mining for the reclamation of abandoned mines, abatement and treatment of acid mine drainage, control of underground mine fires and refuse bank fires and control of surface subsidence from abandoned deep mines. More than 1,300 acres were reclaimed by the department and permitted operators. There are approximately 50,000 acres in the department's inventory of high-priority abandoned mine land, posing a threat to health, safety and general welfare.

The Oil and Gas Act of 1984 requires oil and gas well operators to plug non-producing wells and authorizes permit surcharges to support the department's orphaned and abandoned well plugging program. An unplugged abandoned well can be a hazard to the health and safety of people living near it and the environment. There are approximately 8,512 oil and gas wells in the department's abandoned or orphaned well inventory. The department plugged 212 orphan and abandoned wells in 2008.

SAFE AND HEALTHY COMMUNITIES

Program Element: Safe Drinking Water

The department implements the Pennsylvania Safe Drinking Water Act of 1984 and protects public health by regulating more than 2,100 community water systems serving 10.5 million residents and 7,400 non-community public water systems generally serving restaurants, industries, schools and motels, which must comply with standards. In 2008, 98 percent of the population was served by water supply systems that met all health-based standards. The department also provides consultative services and inspections for the 700,000 residential water supplies in Pennsylvania. There have been great strides made in reducing waterborne diseases.

As a result of amendments to the Federal Safe Drinking Water Act in 1996, the department is giving increased emphasis to source water protection, operator training and certification and capability enhancements for public water systems to address technical, managerial and financial issues. Community water systems have adopted source water protection strategies covering approximately 20 percent of Pennsylvania's source water areas. The department has assessed nearly 14,000 drinking water sources for susceptibility to contamination. Source water assessments support the development of local, voluntary source water protection strategies.

The amendments also placed additional emphasis on water infrastructure financing programs like the Safe Drinking Water State Revolving Fund, which is jointly administered by the department and PENNVEST. To date, more than 181 drinking water projects have been completed through this program with another 700 projects funded through this program.

Program Element: Radiation Protection

The department protects citizens from exposure to dangerous levels of radiation through licensing and inspection of radiation source users. This includes registering radiation-producing equipment, licensing users of radioactive materials and inspecting facilities to assure compliance. The department inspects more than 10,000 users possessing approximately 30,000 x-ray units and 460 facilities utilizing accelerators and naturally occurring radioactive material. The department inspects almost 390 mammography x-ray facilities under a contract with the Federal Food and Drug Administration. This activity enhances the quality of mammograms and increases the likelihood of early detection of breast cancer.

The department also monitors the environment for radiation, primarily in the vicinity of nuclear power plants. Samples from ambient air, milk produced on local farms, surface waters, vegetation, fish and silt are collected and tested at regular intervals.

The department works with the Federal Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) to provide routine inspection and oversight for all nuclear power generating facilities in the commonwealth. The department also inspects decommissioning and decontamination activities as well as active sites regulated by the NRC for occupational, public and environmental radiation exposures. Surveys and samples are taken to ensure the cleanup levels established for the site have been met.

The department conducts a program of public education and outreach to encourage voluntary measurement and remediation of naturally occurring radon gas in private dwellings and helps to identify effective solutions. The department certifies radon testing and mitigation firms and testing laboratories to ensure accurate test results and effective construction or remedial techniques. Approximately 23,000 buildings are discovered each year in Pennsylvania with unsafe levels of radon, with department-certified firms installing more than 4,000 mitigation systems, preventing 134 potential lung cancer deaths. Up to 40 percent of the buildings in Pennsylvania may have unsafe radon levels.

The department ensures safe disposal of low-level radioactive waste (LLRW), including contaminated soils, filters, gloves and clothing from industries, hospitals and university research centers. The Appalachian Low-Level Radioactive Waste Compact Act of 1985 and the Low-Level Radioactive Waste Disposal Act of 1988 committed Pennsylvania to establish a LLRW disposal facility. The department suspended the siting process in 1998 because of the dramatic reduction in the volume of LLRW being generated in the Appalachian Compact. The department has prepared a siting re-start plan and will monitor national LLRW disposal developments to ensure adequate disposal capacity. The department will also continue to promote LLRW volume reduction during the suspension period.

Program Element: Nuisance and Vector Control

The department provides surveillance and control to reduce the threat of West Nile Virus in cooperation with the Departments of Health and Agriculture. The department monitors mosquito populations, takes steps to control mosquitoes that may carry the virus and examines unknown vectors and reservoirs involved in the transmission of the virus. The department also provides information, outreach and funding to build a long-term infrastructure for county government. In 2008, 114,828 mosquito-breeding areas were sprayed to control the threat of West Nile Virus.

The department reduces the black fly population and gives relief to citizens and visitors of the commonwealth by treating 2,500 stream miles of the Susquehanna, Delaware and Allegheny rivers and their tributaries.

Program Element: Emergency Preparedness and Response

The department's emergency response personnel are available whenever there is an immediate threat to public health, safety or the environment. Each year, the department responds to more than 4,000 environmental releases. While the department's major focus is response to spills to land and water, the department also has significant involvement with air pollution incidents (fires or industrial-transportation-related releases) and leaking underground storage tanks. In addition, the department responds to a smaller number of incidents involving public water supply shortages or contamination, mining-related discharges, oil and gas production-related discharges and waterborne illness outbreaks. The department is developing plans to address any contingencies associated with fuel supply disruptions. In addition, the department is prepared to protect the citizens of Pennsylvania in the event of an accident involving radioactive materials at a power plant or other facility utilizing radioactive materials.

Program Element: Flood Protection and Dam Safety

The department's flood protection and stream improvement programs, in existence for more than 50 years, protect lives and property through the construction of physical structures such as dams, levees, flood walls, channels, culverts and bank stabilization works. Major flood protection projects are generally designed to protect communities from damages during the 100-year flood event.

The department regulates dams and reservoirs under the Dam Safety and Encroachments Act of 1978. The department reviews plans and specifications of dam permit applications and conducts inspections of new dams under construction as well as existing dams to determine their general condition. There are approximately 3,000 dams under active regulation in the commonwealth. Of this total, there are 780 high-hazard dams and 2,370 other dams that require inspection and monitoring. High-hazard dams are inspected annually to assure proper operation and maintenance because of the significant threat posed by their possible failure. Each year, more than 30 high-hazard dams are upgraded or repaired. In addition, the department regulates construction and maintenance of any obstructions, encroachments and changes to the course and current of streams, as well as the related flood plains.

Program Element: Mine Safety

The department protects the health and safety of miners through safety programs that reduce the possibility of accidents. Mine safety inspections include technical evaluations for explosive use, subsidence, map composition, electrical installations, cleaning plant safety, active refuse banks and safety zones. The department provides safety oversight for more than 3,800 mining operations, in addition to safety and emergency medical training and certifications for underground mine workers.

In the event of an emergency, the department responds in order to rescue the affected mine workers. Additionally, the department investigates all fatal and serious accidents that occur at Pennsylvania mines. A report is made outlining the cause of the accident and possible means of preventing a similar accident. Nearly 70,000 people were reached by the department's educational information on public mine safety and awareness.

Program Element: Explosives Safety

The department regulates the use, handling and storage of explosives in mining and non-mining situations alike. The department worked with the Pennsylvania State Police and the Pennsylvania Office of Homeland Security on regulations that will greatly enhance the security of explosives storage sites from terrorism and other threats.

The department reviews and issues approximately 1,800 licenses and permit applications for blasting activities annually. The department also conducts inspections at the sites where these activities occur. Additional training and public outreach on explosives is frequently provided. In addition, the department responds to approximately 50 incidents each year involving "orphaned" explosives that are found unsecured or improperly stored. Although blasting seldom results in damage to nearby structures, its effects, such as vibrations, often concern neighbors. The department investigates approximately 400 complaints from blasting activities annually.

SUSTAINABLE ENERGY

Program Element: Advanced Energy Development

The department promotes renewable and advanced energy development through grants, financing and technical support for projects that simultaneously protect the environment and support Pennsylvania's economy. Program goals include greater energy security through a distributed power infrastructure as well as the retention of energy dollars in the commonwealth.

The department's Energy Harvest grant program has provided $21 million for more than 90 advanced energy projects. In 2004, Governor Rendell reestablished the Pennsylvania Energy Development Authority, which has provided $21 million in grants, loans and loan guarantees for advanced energy projects.

Funding from the Growing Greener II bond is expected to leverage an additional ten trillion BTUs of electricity generation per year from renewable sources by 2009-10, and additional capacity from non-renewable advanced energy sources.

The department is also playing a lead role in initiatives to support statewide net metering and interconnection, the acquisition of credit for energy efficiency and renewable energy in the State Implementation Plan and other outreach efforts to promote advanced energy development. The department is collaborating with the Public Utility Commission to implement the Alternative Energy Portfolio Standards Act of 2004 and has promoted and helped to implement the commonwealth's 20 percent green electricity purchase.

In 2005, the department intervened in the Exelon-PSEG merger and negotiated a settlement to provide $27 million in funding over four years to PEDA and more than $200 million in benefits to Pennsylvania's electricity consumers.

The department promotes the use of coal bed and mine methane and coal refuse, which are advanced energy resources. Coal bed methane has long been considered a mining and safety problem but until recently it was overlooked as a resource by the oil and gas industry. The department has issued approximately 63 coal bed and mine permits related to coal bed methane exploration, extraction or production. Coal refuse is generally reclaimed for power generation in cogeneration plants.

Program Element: Energy Conservation and Efficiency

The department provides technical support to more than 40,000 companies and other entities each year for the design and installation of technologies to promote energy conservation and efficiency. Many of these technologies originate as Federal Department of Energy Best Practices for the industrial sector. The State Energy Program (SEP) is a federal program that provides funding to promote energy efficiency and pollution prevention. SEP activities range from a Pollution Prevention/Energy Efficiency Conference that promotes technology transfer to the Governor's Green

Government Council, which commits the commonwealth to set an example by taking the lead in reducing operating costs through energy efficiency, cleaner fleet vehicles and recycling.

Act 166 of 1992 provided for an Alternative Fuels Incentive Grant program, funded by a portion of the Utilities Gross Receipts Tax. The department awards grants to school districts, municipal authorities and other not-for-profit entities to fund a portion of the expenses to purchase or retrofit vehicles to use fuels other than gasoline as well as the equipment needed to refuel these vehicles.

During 2004, the department became a partner in the Federal Energy Star program. This program provides technical assistance to the commonwealth on energy efficient buildings and appliances. The Department of General Services launched a statewide initiative to benchmark the energy performance of state-owned buildings across the commonwealth.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To conserve aquatic resources including fish and wildlife populations, to provide recreational opportunities for fishing and boating on commonwealth waters, and to promote safe recreational use of these aquatic resources.

Program: Recreational Fishing and Boating

The Fish and Boat Commission is responsible for the enforcement of the fishing and boating laws and regulations, registration of boats, the state boating and water safety education programs, and the management and promotion of recreational boating. The Boating Advisory Board, a group of knowledgeable boaters appointed by the Governor, advises the commission on boating matters.

In addition to recreational boating, the commission is responsible for recreational fishing in the commonwealth. This includes fish propagation, stocking, fisheries, environmental services, the cooperative nurseries program, research and fish management. The commission also provides for the development, improvement and maintenance of facilities for lake and access areas. As water quality is a major factor in aquatic recreation, the commission's goals are to protect, conserve and enhance aquatic resources by monitoring the water quality of many streams, lakes and rivers in the commonwealth.

The Fish and Boat Commission is currently implementing an electronic licensing (point of sale) statewide system. The cost to implement the electronic point of sale system may increase the cost to issue a fishing license. However, while the cost per transaction to sell a license may increase, the agency expects that there will be savings derived from operational efficiencies. Also, critical customer information will be made more readily available to the commission.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To establish habitats and environments which will sustain wildlife populations for recreational uses and for the perpetuation of species.

Program: Wildlife Management

The main responsibility of the Game Commission is the perpetuation of the species of wildlife found in Pennsylvania. The commission achieves its mission through wildlife research, management of game habitat, operation of programs for endangered and threatened species and enforcement of the Game and Wildlife Code. Wildlife conservation officers enforce the provisions of the Game and Wildlife Code to protect the natural balance of the commonwealth's wildlife population.

The primary means of ensuring the propagation and preservation of wildlife is properly managing land and game habitats. The commission currently administers over 1.4 million acres of State Game Lands and is judiciously acquiring additional lands, including critically important wetlands. The commission also administers cooperative programs to encourage good land use management and habitat improvement by private landowners. Wildlife habitat assessment techniques are used to develop management plans. These assessments apply to all Pennsylvania State Game Lands, Farm Game Projects and other areas actively managed by the Game Commission.

All species receive mandated protection. However, those species considered game animals, such as deer, turkey and bear, receive the most attention. The number of antlerless deer licenses available for sale is based on the deer population projections. The optimal number of deer is based on acres of forested land in the commonwealth. Hunting, while recreational in nature, is a management tool as well. Future year projection numbers indicate the number of deer that need to be harvested to sustain the population. Also protected by the commission are endangered and threatened species such as river otters, osprey, peregrine falcons and bald and golden eagles.

Development of wildlife management plans	7	4	2	2	2	2	2

Wildlife management plans are developed jointly by the commission and interest groups to assess specific game or endangered animal species in the commonwealth. The number of plans completed annually is limited due to the amount of time required to study a specific animal population.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To provide a new revenue stream that supports property tax relief, wage tax reduction in Philadelphia, economic development and the commonwealth's horse racing industry through the implementation and oversight of limited slot machine gaming.

Program: Gaming Regulation

Act 71 of 2004, the Pennsylvania Race Horse Development Act, established the Gaming Control Board to regulate and oversee the implementation and operation of limited slot machine gaming intended to create new revenue to support property tax relief, wage tax reduction in Philadelphia, economic development and the commonwealth's horse racing industry.

The Gaming Control Board consists of seven members: three gubernatorial appointees, including the chairman of the board, and four legislative appointees. The Secretary of Revenue, the Secretary of Agriculture and the State Treasurer serve as ex officio members.

The board is charged with overseeing the operation of up to 14 gaming facilities and up to 61,000 slot machines.

The State Gaming Fund was established in the act to receive all license fees provided in the act and 34 percent of the gross terminal revenue (GTR) generated by licensed gaming facilities. These proceeds are disbursed on an annual basis as follows: (1) $1,500,000 or .001 multiplied by the GTR, whichever is greater, is allotted to the Compulsive and Problem Gambling Treatment Fund in the Department of Health, (2) Payments in Lieu of Taxes by the Department of Conservation and Natural Resources, the Fish and Boat Commission and the Game Commission, (3) $25 million to the Department of Emergency Management and Homeland Security for Volunteer Company Grants, (4) $5,000,000 for Local Law Enforcement Grants and (5) 4 percent of the GTR for local share distribution where gaming facilities are located. The remaining balance is used to fund property tax relief as provided in Act 1 of Special Session 1 of 2006.

Act 71 of 2004 establishes two new funds. The Gaming Economic Development and Tourism Fund, which is administered by the Department of Community and Economic Development, receives 5 percent of the GTR and provides for additional uses of gaming revenues as specified in Act 53 of 2007 and Act 63 of 2008. The second fund established by the act, the Race Horse Development Fund, receives a maximum of 12 percent of the GTR generated at each licensed facility.

Several state agencies provide support to the Gaming Control Board. The Department of Revenue has procured and is managing a centralized computer system, which calculates the state's share of GTR on a daily basis and monitors the operation of all licensed gaming machines. The Pennsylvania State Police and the Attorney General also have responsibilities under the act. The State Gaming Fund is shown in the Special Fund Appendix section of this budget.

Program Recommendations:

STATE GAMING FUND General Operations

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To maintain the commonwealth's real property and facilities; to provide commonwealth agencies with quality commodities in a timely manner; and to settle tort claims in an equitable manner while reducing risks.

Program: Facility, Property and Commodity Management

The Department of General Services (DGS) oversees the procurement of goods and services, manages non-highway capital projects, oversees the commonwealth's minority and women-owned business program and is responsible for numerous core operations of state government, including management of the vehicle fleet, Capitol Police force and state buildings and facilities. DGS also serves as the state's real estate agent and insurance broker and oversees the Commonwealth Media Services.

Public Works

DGS's Public Works coordinates and oversees the design and construction of all non-highway capital construction projects for the commonwealth. Projects and related services include new construction, alteration and repair of commonwealth properties and capital improvement projects for all state agencies. Projects range from dams and sewage treatment plants to buildings such as prisons, offices and laboratories. General Services also administers the selection of architects and engineers, advertises projects for bid, obtains construction bids, executes construction contracts and manages budgets for construction projects.

Public Works maximizes performance through a series of measures designed to reduce change order rates, increase the number of construction projects completed on time and on budget and reduce the number of claims filed against the commonwealth.

Project priorities include the expanded use of competitive Request for Proposals or Best Value contracting to improve the timely delivery of quality multiple prime construction projects by qualified vendors and the development and annual update of the commonwealth's Five Year Capital Plan. The goal of the capital plan is to better manage limited dollars by developing a comprehensive and strategic approach to capital needs and to focus commonwealth resources to deliver projects quicker, on time and on budget.

Procurement

The Bureau of Procurement within General Services is responsible for purchasing or contracting for equipment and supplies for the commonwealth. In total, the bureau purchases more than $4 billion in goods and services for the commonwealth each year, ranging from office supplies to computers to vehicles. The department has adopted a private sector procurement methodology based on strategic sourcing. Purchasing is now negotiated on the collective volume of all agencies within the commonwealth, rather than as individual agencies. Savings thus far have amounted to more than $450 million.

Real Estate

The Bureau of Real Estate is responsible for the purchase, sale and lease of property and the portfolio management of property and space owned by the commonwealth. Serving as the commonwealth's real estate agency, the department's portfolio includes 1.5 billion square feet of owned space and 7.7 million square feet of leased space. The Leasing Division reviews, analyzes, negotiates and administers leases needed by the commonwealth. The Space Management Division analyzes space requests, prepares space allocations for departments, boards and commissions in state owned and leased facilities. The Land Management Division acquires real property for capital projects and disposes of real property owned by the commonwealth. This division performs all due diligence and recommends approval/disapproval of proposals involving real property. The division also prepares the surplus property plan and administers all leases, licenses and easements involving commonwealth property.

A program priority for the Bureau of Real Estate includes the Downtown Location Initiative to help revitalize Pennsylvania's downtown communities. DGS implemented an original set of guidelines pursuant to the Downtown Location Law and later modified and strengthened those guidelines based upon the authority granted in the Governor's Executive Order 2004-2, which authorizes DGS to take all steps necessary to ensure that the objectives of the Downtown Location Law are met.

Torts

The department handles approximately 7,800 tort claims each year, in conjunction with the Attorney General's Office, brought against the commonwealth, its officials and employees. Act 151 of 1986 reaffirmed the commonwealth's use of sovereign immunity as a defense against tort claims, but established criteria for limited amounts of liability in nine specific areas: vehicle liability, medical professional liability, personal property, commonwealth real estate, potholes and other dangerous conditions. These include care, custody and control of domestic animals, liquor store sales, National Guard activities and toxoids and vaccines. The department investigates claims in the pre-litigation stage, while the Office of Attorney General defends against those claims in litigation.

Program: Facility, Property and Commodity Management (continued)

Facilities and Energy Management

The department is responsible for the management and maintenance of 23 state-owned buildings of the Capitol complex and Harrisstown, several regional state office buildings, as well as two executive residences. These facilities contain nearly 8.1 million square feet of office space, with 117 acres of grounds, parking area and roadways. Additionally, in July of 2006, the Department of Public Welfare transferred jurisdiction and responsibility for the Harrisburg State Hospital complex to General Services. This property consists of 53 buildings on 135 acres of land.

A comprehensive energy management program for the commonwealth to conserve and reduce energy usage in commonwealth facilities has been implemented. Energy usage is measured and monitored in these buildings and is compared to usage in the previous year. The department also works with counties, schools and municipalities to give them advice and expertise on the Guaranteed Energy Savings Act programs.

Vehicles

The Bureau of Vehicle Management maintains and oversees the commonwealth automotive fleet. Among its responsibilities is the maintenance of title and registration files on all commonwealth-owned vehicles for compliance with specifications and maintenance and repair on commonwealth owned, leased and temporary vehicles.

The bureau has been spearheading the commonwealth's use of alternative fuel sources through the planned installation of biodiesel and ethanol tanks at the commonwealth garage. Unlike gasoline, ethanol and biodiesel are renewable and are more environmentally friendly. Currently, the commonwealth fleet includes 1,403 alternative fuel and 54 hybrid vehicles with the number set to increase each year.

Minority & Women Business Opportunities

The Bureau of Minority and Women Business Opportunities is focused on significantly increasing the opportunities for minority and women business owners in commonwealth contracts. Duties of the bureau include the administration of the commonwealth's certification program, training and outreach for women and minority businesses and enforcement. In addition, General Services administers the statewide contract compliance program that ensures that suppliers and contractors are not discriminatory.

Commonwealth Media Services

Commonwealth Media Services provides audio, video, photographic multi-media and broadcast services required by state agencies. Services are available on a continuous basis in the event of emergencies. News conferencing facilities are maintained at the Capitol Media Center. In addition, a full range of creative audio-video services are incorporated into the production of 200 documentaries, educational, promotional, training and public service programs annually.

Federal and State Surplus

The Bureau of Supplies and Surplus Operations administers both federal and state surplus property programs. Federal surplus property is donated to state agencies, local municipalities, nonprofit organizations and law enforcement entities for a nominal service charge. During 2007-08, federal property originally valued at $17 million was distributed to eligible organizations. The main mission of the State Surplus Division is reutilization within commonwealth and local agencies. Thereafter, goods are sold to the public through on-site auctions and Internet-based sales. This division also conducts private sales of PennDOT heavy equipment to municipalities in compliance with Title 4 of the PA Code. Revenue generated from state surplus property was $5.75 million for 2007-08.

Capitol Police

The Pennsylvania Capitol Police is responsible for protecting and serving state employees, public officials and visitors to the Capitol Complex and outlying areas, including Harrisburg, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Scranton. This mission is accomplished with security guards and sworn police officers. The Pennsylvania Capitol Police is a state and internationally accredited law enforcement agency, receiving certifications by the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies and the Pennsylvania Law Enforcement Accreditation Commission. Capitol Police Officers are certified police officers with the Municipal Police Officers Education and Training Commission.

Publications

The Bureau of Publications provides web graphics, graphic design, desktop publishing and printing services to all state agencies and commissions. Projects include annual reports, brochures, newsletters, logos, stationery and book covers. The printing operation provides lithographic offset and digital printing services as well as booklet making, binding, cutting, folding, drilling, padding and mailing. The State Sign Shop delivers signage, engraving and banner services. The bureau also produces the Pennsylvania Manual and the Commonwealth Telephone Directory.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To provide effective administration and support systems through which the substantive programs of the health delivery system and the department can be achieved.

Program: Health Support Services

Health Support Services provides administrative and technical systems that support disease prevention and treatment. Also included in this program are quality assurance activities and state laboratory facilities.

The Bureau of Health Statistics and Research is the focal point in Pennsylvania for coordinating the collection, analysis and dissemination of health statistics and information. The bureau collects statistical information on the health status of the population such as infant mortality, births to teens and leading causes of death. The bureau responds to requests for services each year and conducts an annual survey of all hospitals, nursing homes and ambulatory surgery centers in Pennsylvania to obtain information on health resources and health services availability, utilization, staffing and patient characteristics. The bureau operates several statewide data collection systems and registries, such as the Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance System, the statewide immunization registry and the Pennsylvania Cancer Registry. All of the bureau's publications and statistics are available on the department's Web site, which includes an interactive health statistics Web tool.

The Bureau of Epidemiology administers studies related to the origin, distribution and trends of major diseases. The department provides epidemiologic assessment of health problems that include environmental occupational hazards, health risk behaviors and life styles of the general public or selected populations. The department also provides professional consultation and technical support for other agencies, county health departments and local municipalities.

The Quality Assurance program conducts surveys and inspections of health care facilities, drug and alcohol programs, psychiatric residential treatment facilities and intermediate care facilities to determine compliance with state and federal standards and regulations and as a condition of receiving federal Medicare and Medicaid financial support. Act 69 of 2006 amended the Health Care Facility Act to include home care agencies as a regulated provider type in Pennsylvania. The surveys determine compliance with various standards including sanitation, fire safety, health and level of care. If deficiencies are noted, a plan for correction is required. Facilities unable or unwilling to correct deficiencies according to a plan agreeable to the department are subject to various penalties. The public Web component displays completed surveys for public access.

The frequency of inspections varies by type of facility as required by either state or federal law or regulations. Initial inspections are conducted prior to issuances of licenses. Acute care hospitals are surveyed and licensed on a two-year cycle. Nursing homes are subject to annual inspections. Home health agencies are inspected on a flexible 12 to 36 month schedule; the frequency of inspections is based on the facility's history of compliance. Hospice agencies are inspected on-site every other year. One third (33 percent) of end-stage renal disease facilities are surveyed annually. Currently, 10 percent of other outpatient facilities providing physical therapy, occupational therapy and speech therapy and rural health clinic services are inspected annually. Birth centers and pediatric extended care centers are also inspected annually. More frequent inspections are made in response to complaints or life-threatening situations. In addition to inspections of health care facilities for compliance with state licensure and federal certification requirements, the Quality Assurance program also conducts formal plan reviews and approval for new construction and remodeling of health care facility projects to assure that the projects will conform to state and federal requirements. Final inspections of the completed construction projects are conducted prior to approval for use and occupancy.

The newly created Healthcare Associated Infection Prevention program will support hospitals, nursing care facilities and ambulatory surgical facilities in reducing the occurrence of health-care-associated infections (HAIs) through implementing effective identification and reporting; reviewing and approving individual facility infection control plans; developing best practices for monitoring, surveillance and response to HAIs; and developing a reporting program that will establish benchmarks and monitor performance in hospitals and nursing homes.

The Bureau of Managed Care is responsible for oversight and regulation of managed care plans including health maintenance organizations (HMOs), gatekeeper preferred provider organizations (PPOs) and point of service products. It licenses new plans, ensures availability and accessibility of health services in plan service areas and monitors quality of care through periodic inspections and external quality reviews. It reviews and approves provider contracts and reimbursement methods. It licenses and oversees capitated dental plans (dental HMOs), traditional PPOs, nonprofit medical-surgical, vision and dental plans (including Pennsylvania Blue Shield). Under Act 68 of 1998, the bureau certifies managed care utilization review organizations and monitors compliance with utilization review standards. The bureau also reviews complaints under Act 68 and coordinates third level grievance reviews conducted by certified external review entities.

The department operates the state laboratory, which maintains a state of readiness to support the investigation of disease outbreaks or threats to public health. The Bureau of Laboratories performs approximately 185,000 tests each year for diseases including human immunodeficiency virus, rabies, meningitis, influenza, tuberculosis and botulism. The laboratory supports disease prevention through the provision of investigatory, diagnostic and confirmatory testing for both infectious diseases and non-infectious conditions including lead poisoning and West Nile Virus. The state laboratory is designated by the Federal Bureau of Investigation as the primary laboratory for the detection and identification of bioterrorism agents and is the state's reference laboratory in the National Laboratory Response Network. It establishes and monitors the performance standards for approximately 9,000 clinical and physician office laboratories in the commonwealth and recommends certification of clinical laboratories under the requirements of the federal Clinical Laboratory Improvement Amendments.

The federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and the Health Resources and Services Administration provide funding to the department to strengthen public health emergency preparedness and response capabilities through increased infrastructure and program capacity, improved scientific and technical capabilities and enhanced professional training and public education. The department created the Office of Public Health Preparedness to coordinate public health preparedness activities across the commonwealth, including hospital and workforce preparedness. The office works closely with local and other state agencies, and serves as the liaison with the federal Department of Homeland Security. The office supports the department's efforts to prepare for, protect against, respond to and recover from all acts of bioterrorism and other public health emergencies that affect the civilian population and serves as the focal point within the department for these activities. Public health preparedness activities across the commonwealth include upgrading infectious disease surveillance and investigation, expanding public health laboratory capacity, enhancing communications systems and facilitating state and regional hospital preparedness planning and response efforts.

Program: Health Research

The Division of Vital Records in the Bureau of Health Statistics and Research is the central repository for more than 32.25 million records of births, deaths and fetal deaths that occur in the commonwealth. Through automation of this operation, all Pennsylvania birth records from 1921 to the present are available through the department's computer system at the central office and all branch offices. The system processes nearly 600,000 requests annually for certified copies of birth and death records for proof of age, citizenship, litigation and genealogy. This system assists in the detection of fraudulent record usage, child support and the report of missing children. Birth and death records are stored on microfilm for preservation and are available for retrieval if required.

The bureau also operates the Commonwealth Universal Research Enhancement (CURE) program, which was established under the Tobacco Settlement Act, Act 77 of 2001. The program provides health research grants to Pennsylvania-based research institutions for biomedical, clinical and health services research designed to improve the health of all Pennsylvania citizens. Health research grants address the research priorities established by the department in conjunction with the Health Research Advisory Committee. Performance reviews are conducted to evaluate the effectiveness of each research project funded by a grant. During 2007-08, the department completed interim performance reviews on the five competitive grants initiated in June 2006 and final performance reviews for 32 grants (224 research projects) that had been completed during the prior state fiscal year.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To reduce morbidity and mortality through the early detection of disease and health defects and the promotion of sound health practices and remedial care.

Program: Preventive Health

A key to the promotion of sound health practices is ensuring that all Pennsylvanians are able to access a range of preventive health and early disease detection services. Outreach and education services facilitated by the department make people aware of the importance of sound health practices and the availability of services to meet their needs.

The department, through its network of six district offices, 60 state health centers, other public health clinical providers and 10 county and municipal health departments, provides public health services. These programs include communicable disease tracking, investigation, intervention and control services, family health and chronic disease prevention, assessment and intervention services and special environmental health services. The six county and four city health departments also provide a range of individual and environmental public health services within their jurisdictions and are funded through grants and contracts awarded by the department.

To improve the availability of health care in underserved rural and urban areas, the department has established grant programs that enhance the recruitment and retention of primary health care physicians, dentists and other health professionals. Programs include grant awards to establish medical and dental clinics (which require matching funds), awards to increase the number of dentists' student intern programs to provide clinic services, educational loan repayment and visa waivers for healthcare professionals practicing in designated shortage areas, and support for the stabilization of small rural hospitals.

In addition to these general activities to promote sound health practices, the department provides a variety of programs targeted to specific populations and diseases that represent significant health risks.

Program Element: Women and Infant Programs

The department administers the federally funded Women, Infants, and Children (WIC) program. WIC serves pregnant, breast-feeding and postpartum women, infants, and children up to five years of age who are at risk due to medical conditions and/or inadequate diet and low income. The program supplies supplemental foods that are rich in nutrients frequently lacking in the diets of the target population. The program ensures that WIC participants receive routine health care and that nutrition education and counseling are made available on a regular basis. Participants are also referred to other appropriate local medical, health and social services. Program benefits promote optimal pregnancy outcomes, improve participant use of pediatric and obstetrical services and enhance early interventions for potential health problems.

To minimize severe health risks to infants, the department conducts a Newborn Screening and Follow-Up Program. The department assures appropriate follow-up services for all newborns with abnormal or inconclusive test results. In addition, these newborns and their families are linked with treatment specialists who conduct diagnostic testing and coordinate the required care. The department also distributes specialized metabolic products statewide for children and pregnant women with phenylketonuria or maple syrup urine disease to lessen the adverse effects of those conditions.

The Newborn Hearing Screening and Intervention program seeks to ensure that all newborns are screened for hearing loss within the first 30 days, diagnosed within three months and receive prescribed treatment or intervention services within six months of birth. The department performs follow-up and tracks infants who do not pass their re-screening to assure that appropriate assessment and evaluation are completed.

The department facilitates a number of programs designed to help improve the health status of women. These programs include an HIV and pregnancy initiative and a sexually transmitted disease program targeted to chlamydia and gonorrhea. Additionally, breast and cervical cancer screening services are available for low-income underinsured and uninsured women between the ages of 40 and 49 who are at high risk for breast and cervical cancer; and to all women, aged 50 to 64, who meet certain eligibility criteria through the department's Healthy Women Project.

The department supports a special smoking cessation program for pregnant women. This includes a promotional campaign advising health care and child care providers of the availability of self-help materials and training opportunities to help women quit smoking.

Program Element: Children's Programs

The department's immunization program provides immunizations to infants, children and adolescents to reduce the incidence of vaccine preventable diseases in the commonwealth. While vaccinations are encouraged for all ages, special emphasis is placed on reaching children less than two years old. The program also coordinates the surveillance of vaccine preventable diseases, provides consultation during disease outbreaks, assesses immunization levels, conducts professional and public education programs, and initiates, processes, and evaluates the child care and school immunization reporting system. In addition, the program provides vaccine and guidance to school districts for the provision of hepatitis B, measles/mumps/rubella and varicella immunizations for school students.

The department also promotes appropriate adult immunization services. These services range from assuring that older citizens and others with chronic illnesses are given priority in accessing annual influenza and pneumococcal immunizations to providing information to fire companies, school districts, ambulance corps, corrections officials, police and other public organizations with regard to the purchase of hepatitis B vaccine at reduced rates.

The health hazards of environmental lead are addressed through the department's Childhood Lead Poisoning Prevention program. The program identifies children with, or at risk for, lead poisoning. It assures timely medical follow-up, environmental investigation and reduction of lead hazards to prevent adverse effects on intellectual functioning, behavior and overall health status attributable to lead exposure. Appropriate educational, medical and environmental follow-up is provided for the family of each child with a positive screening test result.

The School Health program supports health services for all children who are attending elementary or secondary school, either public or private. The program reimburses 501 school districts and 10 vocational technical schools for a portion of the costs associated with providing school nursing and dental services.

Program Element: Other Health Promotion and Disease and Injury Prevention Programs

The department ensures that all residents of the commonwealth are served through an infectious disease epidemiological surveillance, investigation and control system. Reported cases of infectious diseases are investigated by the department to determine the infection source, transmission mode and control measures to prevent additional cases. The department also provides a secure, confidential statewide disease surveillance system. This computerized system compares incidence and prevalence rates and identifies risk factors. Disease trends are determined and corrective action recommended to reduce or ameliorate public health risks. Diseases investigated range from giardiasis, hepatitis, salmonellosis, shigellosis, rabies and Lyme disease, to tuberculosis, AIDS and the other prevalent sexually transmitted diseases.

Chronic diseases and injuries and their associated risk factors remain the leading causes of preventable morbidity and premature mortality within the commonwealth.

The Cardiovascular Health program, including the Nutrition and Physical Activity (Obesity Prevention) Programs, promotes healthy active lifestyles through systems, policies and environmental changes in four target environments: communities, healthcare systems, schools and worksites. These changes support the development of positive individual behaviors to reduce and control diabetes and hypertension, and to prevent heart disease, overweight/obesity, stroke and related chronic diseases.

Cancer Prevention and Control programs focus on encouraging lifestyle changes to prevent the development of cancer and to support research, routine testing, screening and early interventions to improve the chance of survival for those who have cancer.

The Violence and Injury Prevention program is designed to reduce the incidence of unintentional injuries, violence and injury-related fatalities through the development of surveillance systems, education programs for at-risk populations and training of health professionals. The department provides funding to 10 county and municipal health departments and other providers to raise public awareness of childhood injuries, educate parents and caregivers about safer environments for children and provide prevention programs on fire safety, poisoning, bicycle safety, falls, firearms storage, drowning and violence prevention.

The Asthma Control program provides education and information to persons with asthma, caregivers and health professionals that support the identification of triggers and self-management of asthma.

The Arthritis program provides outreach and education as identified in the Pennsylvania Arthritis Action Plan (PAAP) by monitoring access to arthritis care and evidence-based education programs; supporting the development of regional partnerships to implement PAAP strategies; expanding and enhancing the Children's Arthritis Network to improve access to arthritis care and services; and coordinating the implementation of the Arthritis Foundation's evidence-based arthritis self-management programs.

The mission of the Diabetes Prevention and Control program is to prevent diabetes, improve the lives of Pennsylvanians with diabetes and reduce disparities related to diabetes among minorities and the underserved. The program's objectives are to increase awareness of diabetes, prevent the onset of Type 2 diabetes through the reduction of risk factors, reduce diabetes complications, increase early diagnosis of persons with diabetes, increase the availability of programs and maintain a data and surveillance system to better understand the impact of diabetes in Pennsylvania.

The department's AIDS programs are a coordinated strategy to prevent and change high-risk behaviors and provide resources and direction for sustaining preventive behavior and avoiding infection with HIV. Emphasis is placed on enhancing local decision-making processes and targeting activities to local needs through six regional planning coalitions, county/municipal health departments and other providers. The program includes on-site training, both print and electronic public information services, community intervention projects for at-risk populations and the provision of care, case management and supportive services for persons infected and affected by HIV/AIDS. Confidential and anonymous HIV testing and partner notification services are also provided at over 500 sites statewide.

The goal of the Sexually Transmitted Diseases (STD) program is to reduce the incidence of syphilis, gonorrhea, chlamydia and other STDs. The STD program supports a statewide network of clinical service sites that offer testing, treatment and risk-reduction information and conduct contact elicitation interviews and related investigative services. Special attention and follow-up is provided to those age 15 and under who have an STD or who are sexual partners of persons who have an STD and, in order to prevent medical complications among newborns, to pregnant women who have an STD or who are a sexual partner of persons who have an STD.

The Tuberculosis Control program provides outpatient examination, diagnosis and appropriate treatment for persons with tuberculosis disease and infection. Key to preventing the spread of the disease is contact examination and treatment of latent tuberculosis infection in close contacts of infectious cases or other high-risk people.

The Oral Health program assesses the status of the oral health of Pennsylvanians, and plans and implements strategies and programs to improve oral health. The program provides oral and dental health educational material primarily in schools and county health offices that are designed to encourage the prevention of tooth decay, periodontal disease and other oral diseases. The program also promotes the beneficial health effects of fluoridation of public water systems.

The focus of the Pennsylvania Osteoporosis Prevention and Education program is to raise public awareness and educate consumers, health care professionals, teachers and human service providers on the causes and effects of osteoporosis, risk factors, early detection and options for diagnosis and treatment. The program supports community-based educational outreach programs statewide and provides information to the public on the osteoporosis link of the department's Web site.

The department maintains a statewide cancer registry to provide important information to better understand and address the cancer burden within the commonwealth. Data describing the occurrence of cancer, types of cancer, extent of disease at the time of diagnosis, treatment and demographics are included in the registry database. Information derived through the cancer registry is used for planning and evaluating cancer control programs including cancer prevention and early detection, cancer research, surveillance and special studies. The department seeks to control the epidemic of disease, disability and death related to the use of tobacco products by Pennsylvania residents. The goals of the department are to change community norms through state-advised, community-driven systems that create environments where it is uncommon to see, use and be negatively impacted by tobacco products and tobacco smoke pollution, and to reduce the consumption of tobacco by youth and adults. Act 27 of 2008, known as the Clean Indoor Air Act, prohibits smoking in a public place, with certain exemptions. The act charged the department with establishing a program to investigate complaints regarding possible violations of the act and to enforce provisions of the act.

Act 77 of 2001 established the Tobacco Settlement Fund and programs to improve the health of Pennsylvanians through research and tobacco use prevention and cessation programs. The statewide Tobacco Use Prevention and Control program is consistent with best practices as defined by the Federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's Best Practices for Comprehensive Tobacco Control Programs. Seventy percent of the Tobacco Settlement funds are provided through grants to regional primary contractors (lead agencies) to implement the components of comprehensive tobacco control programs in all 67 counties. Activities include community and school programs, enforcement of Pennsylvania's youth access to tobacco law and counter-marketing to prevent initiation of tobacco use by youth; cessation programs to help youth and adults quit tobacco use; awareness education and community outreach to protect non-smokers from secondhand smoke, including surveys to determine compliance with the Clean Indoor Air Act; chronic disease programs and initiatives to address tobacco-related health disparities; surveillance and evaluation programs; and administration and management.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To maximize the individual's capacity for independent living through the provision of an array of service and support programs.

Program: Health Treatment Services

The department has responsibility for coordinating a variety of specialized medical services for commonwealth patients. The department also pays for these services in cases where all other available resources, including Medical Assistance and the Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP) have been used.

Program Element: Inpatient Services

One of the principal concerns of patient management is to provide treatment services at the least expensive level of care while remaining consistent with standards of good medical practice. Inpatient hospital and nursing care is provided for only the most acute medical conditions that require the facilities and services available in an inpatient setting. Because inpatient care is very expensive, programs providing this type of care have imposed strict controls on admissions and, where possible, are using outpatient services in lieu of hospital admissions. Inpatient care is provided for the treatment of tuberculosis, cleft palate, cystic fibrosis, spina bifida, children's cardiac conditions, speech and hearing problems and orthopedic conditions.

Program Element: Outpatient Services

Outpatient treatment services are more economical and cost-effective than inpatient care and are used whenever possible to provide needed treatment services for chronic diseases (including respiratory), physical rehabilitation and reconstruction, catastrophic blood disorders and acute conditions.

Clinical services are offered in a variety of settings, including state and community health centers, family planning clinics and participating physicians' offices. Minors may seek and receive care under the treatment of minors provisions of the Disease Prevention and Control Law.

The Bureau of Family Health facilitates connections to services for children with special needs through its Special Kids Network and supports Children with Special Health Care Needs Consultant staff in each of the department's six district offices. Special Kids Network provides families and health care providers with information and referral services and system of care activities, as well as an on-line searchable database of resources. The network is one of the information and referral help lines that constitute the commonwealth's Health and Human Services Call Center. The information and referral specialists who respond to calls are able to provide callers with access to more than 10,000 local, regional and statewide resources that serve children with special health care needs. System of care services provide community/population based and family focused services for individuals with special needs and their families by participating in and facilitating activities such as community systems development, service coordination, outreach, resource mapping, coalition building and project development and evaluation. System of care activities reside within local communities and are coordinated through one centrally managed contract. The staff in the department's district offices provide individual and family support services.

The comprehensive specialty care programs provide children and adults with a variety of services including diagnosis, direct medical care, case management, comprehensive evaluations, rehabilitative services including pharmaceuticals and blood products for certain health conditions. In a joint effort to improve utilization of state funds, individuals who appear to be eligible for Medical Assistance and CHIP are referred to those programs.

Medical payment services are available for the following conditions: cardiac, child rehabilitation, cleft palate, hearing and speech impairment, orthopedic, ventilator dependency, cystic fibrosis, spina bifida and hemophilia.

The Home Ventilator program provides statewide case management and support services to children with chronic respiratory failure who are ventilator dependent, allowing them to receive life-support equipment and in-home nursing care.

The Hemophilia program uses seven specialized centers to provide comprehensive evaluation, rehabilitation services and blood products for outpatient or home use. Patients must be registered with a center to receive these benefits and must ensure that third party resources are used before state program funds are expended.

Sickle cell disease is a genetically determined red blood cell disorder that occurs most frequently in African Americans. Comprehensive medical and psychosocial services are available to patients at different service sites.

The adult cystic fibrosis program provides comprehensive treatment and care coordination to an increasing number of adults who survive this chronic childhood condition.

The Chronic Renal Disease Program provides dialysis, kidney transplant, drugs, certain physician fees, medical supplies and transportation services to persons with chronic renal failure. The department's Health Promotion program conducts a public information and education program to encourage organ and tissue donation as one means of managing this disease and increasing the quality of life.

The department is the lead agency for the commonwealth emergency medical services system as defined in Act 45 of 1985, known as the Emergency Medical Services Act. This includes planning, developing, implementing and evaluating the system (including emergency preparedness and response) through 16 regional councils and a statewide advisory council. This program is responsible for licensure of ambulances, medical command facility accreditation, medical command physician recognition, training institute accreditation, certification of pre-hospital practitioners and distribution of funding. With the passage of pre-hospital "Do Not Resuscitate" (DNR) legislation, regulations and implementation of the DNR program are managed through this program as well.

The Head Injury program provides case management services and post-acute head injury rehabilitation services to individuals with traumatic head injury. Services are provided through contractual agreements with head injury rehabilitation providers in the commonwealth. Funding is made available through the Emergency Medical Services Operating Fund included in the Special Funds Appendix.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To provide education, intervention and treatment programs to reduce drug and alcohol abuse and dependency.

Program: Drug and Alcohol Abuse Prevention and Treatment

This program provides counties with funding to provide drug and alcohol services for Pennsylvanians who do not have insurance or resources to pay for treatment. Single County Authorities prepare prevention, intervention and treatment plans tailored to the needs of their respective geographic areas. The department approves these plans and formulates a statewide plan based on those findings.

Statewide prevention programs provide current information on the effects of drugs and alcohol and assist individuals in developing or improving skills that will enable them to choose a lifestyle free of substance abuse. This is done through educational sessions, workshops, media presentations and an information clearinghouse operated by the department. Primary emphasis has been given to youth, and a special curriculum is now used in all school districts to address drug and alcohol problems.

Intervention services provide support to those individuals affected by drug or alcohol problems. Services include information hotlines, drop-in centers, alcohol safety programs and employee assistance programs.

Treatment services are funded in hospitals, prisons, shelters, residential units and outpatient programs. Treatment often consists of short-term detoxification followed by a longer term rehabilitation. Most inpatient services are rendered in a non-hospital setting. Outpatient services may follow discharge from a residential program; however, many persons receive their initial treatment in an outpatient setting. Drug and alcohol education and training programs are provided for substance abuse and human services professionals. Issues such as prevention, intervention and treatment are addressed through a variety of educational initiatives. This program is accompanied by federal drug and alcohol programs totaling nearly $60 million.

Higher Education Assistance Agency

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To provide financial assistance to commonwealth residents in order to promote access to institutions of higher education.

Program: Financial Assistance to Students

The Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency offers financial assistance programs to students in the form of grants, scholarships and work-study awards. Disbursements for the various financial assistance programs are made by PHEAA from its Higher Education Assistance Fund. All General Fund appropriations are transferred to PHEAA's Higher Education Assistance Fund prior to distribution to students and institutions. The Higher Education Assistance Fund is shown in the Special Funds Appendix.

Direct grants to students are funded by an annual appropriation from the General Fund, interest earnings from the deposit of that appropriation in the Higher Education Assistance Fund and the Federal Leveraging Educational Assistance Partnership. The PHEAA Board annually determines by regulation the distribution of funds to applicants on criteria including family income, family size and the cost of the institution the student will be attending.

The objective of the program is to reduce financial barriers and thereby provide access to higher education for all commonwealth residents and, within the limits of the resources available, help to provide freedom of choice between public colleges and universities and private universities, colleges and post-secondary schools.

The Matching Funds program provides funds to match federal funds and work-study awards which students earn through several on-campus and off-campus job opportunities. The on-campus jobs program generally provides employment in campus services; off-campus jobs places students in career and course of study related work in local communities. Matching funds also leverage private foundation scholarships, thus providing increased awards for students.

The Horace Mann Bond-Leslie Pinckney Hill Scholarship program (formerly the Equal Opportunity Professional Education Program) provides grants to graduates of Lincoln University and Cheyney University of Pennsylvania who enter selected graduate programs or the professional programs of law, medicine or dentistry at Temple University, the Pennsylvania State University or the University of Pittsburgh.

The Agricultural Education Loan Forgiveness program provides loan forgiveness for graduates with agriculture degrees who work on family-owned farms, for teachers of an agricultural curriculum and for veterinarians whose practices include the treatment of farm animals.

The SciTech and Technology Scholarships Program, also known as the New Economy Technology Scholarship program, provides scholarships to eligible Pennsylvania students who are enrolled in an approved post-secondary science or technology curriculum. Students participating in this program must maintain all eligibility requirements and meet the post-graduation work obligation or the scholarship reverts to a loan.

The Cheyney University Keystone Academy's main purpose is the recruitment of gifted students for enrollment at Cheyney University.

Higher Education Assistance Agency

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To assist independent post-secondary institutions to maintain enrollments and stabilize their educational costs thereby promoting access to institutions in all sectors for Pennsylvania students.

Program: Financial Aid to Institutions

The Institutional Assistance Grants program, which began in 1974, provides grants to assist independent post-secondary institutions that are not-for-profit, nondenominational and non-recipients of direct state appropriations.

The program provides equal per capita grants to the schools based on the number of full-time equivalent state grant recipients enrolled during the academic year. Eighty-five institutions are expected to participate in the 2009-10 program.

The program helps to preserve and develop the diverse system of higher education in Pennsylvania by allowing Pennsylvania's independent colleges and universities to stabilize their educational costs and maintain enrollments. It recognizes the desirability of helping independent institutions remain fiscally sound and serves to promote full student access to institutions in all sectors.

The Nursing Shortage Initiative program is part of the commonwealth's workforce development efforts and helps to increase the number of nurses in the commonwealth workforce.

Historical and Museum Commission

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To manage and safeguard Pennsylvania's historic resources through a comprehensive history and museum program to educate, interpret, research and preserve all areas of Pennsylvania history.

Program: State Historic Preservation

The State Historic Preservation program administered by the Historical and Museum Commission is comprised of four major elements. These elements include Executive Direction and Administration, Pennsylvania State and Local Records, Historic Site and Museum Operations and Historic Preservation.

Program Element: Executive Direction and Administration

This element provides general policy and direction for administering the commission's operations. It includes legislative, marketing and press relations, human resources management, procurement, information technology and management of the commission's website, financial grant administration, fiscal and revenue management and other support services.

Program Element: State and Local Records

This element supports the operation of the State Archives and the State Records Center. The State Archives is responsible for identifying, acquiring, preserving and providing public access to the permanently valuable and historical records created by government. This responsibility extends to electronic records and to the use of electronic and web technology to facilitate public access. The archives maintains and preserves program files, maps, correspondence, reports, photographs, minutes, case files and various records that document the significant activities of Pennsylvania's proprietary and state governments, including the records of the land office and hundreds of existing and defunct governmental agencies. The State Records Center is the official repository for inactive records that must be maintained by state agencies for administrative, fiscal or legal purposes.

This element also administers state executive branch and local government records management programs and provides other services to state and local government offices. These services include preparation of records retention schedules, processing of records disposal requests, promulgation of standards for retention of records in different storage media and training and technical assistance to records custodians.

Program Element: Historic Site and Museum Operations

This element supports the operation of 25 historic sites and museums throughout the commonwealth that are open to the public, including the State Museum of Pennsylvania. This provides educational collections and exhibition programs and provides living history and other types of tours to interpret Pennsylvania history; it also utilizes cooperative initiatives with associate organizations to further provide for educational and public programs. This program element includes facility development and architectural and design activities as part of a preservation maintenance program funded through the Keystone Recreation, Park and Conservation Fund Grant program; collections management; and conservation of historical artifacts, papers and paintings.

In addition, this element supports a property management and lease program through cooperative agreements with management groups, for-profit and not-for-profit organizations to operate, maintain and utilize historic sites, buildings and agricultural lands under the custody of the commission.

Program Element: Historic Preservation

This element is responsible for the identification, protection and enhancement of buildings, structures and districts of historic and architectural significance within the commonwealth. It provides for the infusion of federal funds from the Department of the Interior to enhance the economic base of many communities in Pennsylvania; provides a survey and National Register nomination program; maintains an information network providing direction and assistance to local preservation organizations; administers an archaeological program to protect resources and improve policies and procedures and provide direction to the professional and advocate communities; and preserves and protects endangered historic public and private buildings, structures and landmarks through a not for profit statewide revolving fund.

Program: Museum Assistance

This program is comprised of the Keystone Recreation, Park and Conservation Fund Grant program that provides financial assistance designed to enhance the quality of history and museum activities in Pennsylvania.

The Keystone Recreation, Park and Conservation Fund Grant program is a competitive grants process created by Act 50 of 1993. Funding is available to Pennsylvania not-for-profit organizations and public agencies that operate a publicly accessible historic property listed in or eligible for the National Register of Historic Places, or to organizations that operate a contributing historic property in a National Register Historic District. Grants are awarded on a 50-50 matching basis and support projects in redevelopment, preservation, rehabilitation, restoration and other related areas.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To promote public health and a clean environment and to further economic development in the commonwealth by providing a financing program, technical assistance and administrative support for community drinking water systems, municipal sewage treatment facilities and stormwater control projects.

Program: PENNVEST

The PENNVEST Program authorized by Act 16 of 1988 provides an investment pool of capital to rebuild and expand community drinking water systems and municipal sewage treatment facilities in the commonwealth. These systems and facilities are essential for the protection of public health and the promotion of economic development. Many systems and facilities need to be repaired, upgraded or expanded to meet environmental standards and economic development goals. Act 5 of 1992 established a program to fund stormwater control projects. Funding these needed improvements has often proved difficult, especially for small communities. In 2004, the program was further expanded to include the funding of brownfield reclamation and remediation projects to further revitalize Pennsylvania's older, established communities.

Initial funding for the PENNVEST Fund came from several sources: a $300 million bond issue approved by voter referendum; the balance of approved Water Facilities Loan Fund bonds; federal seed money for a sewage treatment facilities revolving loan fund and a drinking water project revolving loan fund; and some available Capital Facilities bonds. Act 5 of 1992 authorized a $350 million bond issue, which was approved by referendum, to provide additional funding for the program. In 1990-91, the PENNVEST Revenue Bond Pool program began providing funding. Act 68 of 1999 provided additional grant funds for stormwater, water and sewer projects as part of the Growing Greener initiatives. Act 218 of 2004 established the Water Supply and Wastewater Treatment Fund and authorized an additional $50 million in funding that the authority used as grants for combined sewer overflow, sanitary sewer overflow and nutrient reduction technology projects. Act 64 of 2008 authorized a $400 million bond issue, which was approved by referendum, to provide grants and loans to municipalities and public utilities for the acquisition, repair, construction, reconstruction, rehabilitation, extension, expansion and improvement of water supply and sewage treatment systems as well as the purchase or trading of nutrient credits. Added to this are interest earnings on the fund's cash flow, interest and principal payments made on loans and grant funds received through the Environmental Stewardship Fund, which is primarily funded from tipping fee revenue.

PENNVEST funds are used for loans and grants to municipalities, municipal authorities and private firms to improve water, sewage and stormwater systems they own. Loans are available to individual homeowners to upgrade their on-lot septic systems. The Pennsylvania Infrastructure Investment Authority, supported by the Department of Environmental Protection, helps system owners apply for funding, provides technical assistance in planning and designing projects and, if necessary, reviews applicants' operations to improve efficiency.

To facilitate fund management and accounting, several separate funds have been established. The PENNVEST Fund serves as the repository of interest and investment income and loan repayments. Loans, grants and administrative costs are paid from this fund. The PENNVEST Water Pollution Control Revolving Fund combines federal seed money and the commonwealth's required matching funds to create a revolving loan fund for sewage treatment facilities construction. The PENNVEST Drinking Water Revolving Fund combines federal seed money and the commonwealth's required matching funds to create a revolving loan fund for drinking water projects and technical assistance. The PENNVEST Revolving Fund receives the proceeds from the sale of bonds mentioned above. The PENNVEST revenue bond pool is supported by loan interest and principal repayments from loans and disburses the proceeds from the sale of PENNVEST revenue bonds. The proposed Water and Sewer Systems Assistance Bond Fund will serve as the repository of interest and investment income and loan repayments related to Act 64; loans and grants will be paid from this fund.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To serve Pennsylvania's insurance consumers through fair and efficient regulation of the insurance industry.

Program: Insurance Industry Regulation

The Insurance Department's responsibilities are to protect insurance consumers by providing adequate safeguards; to ensure that appropriate products are available; to provide a fair regulatory climate that will encourage insurance companies to conduct business in the commonwealth; and to administer the Children's Health Insurance Program and the adultBasic program.

Program Element: Protection and Regulation

The Insurance Department regulates all aspects of the insurance industry in Pennsylvania. It supervises the operation of approximately 1,700 insurance companies; authorizes the admission of new insurers to the state; tests and licenses insurance agents, brokers and bondsmen; and reviews and approves 15,000 rate and policy form filings each year. It analyzes annual and quarterly financial statements and other corporate transactions filed by insurance companies and other regulated entities; conducts an average of 90 on-site financial examinations of domestic insurance companies each year; conducts adjudicatory hearings; and handles more than 250,000 consumer and producer interventions and inquiries annually.

The financial condition of insurers licensed to transact business in Pennsylvania is monitored and regulated through the department's examination and financial analysis functions. Because of the concern regarding the number of financially troubled insurers and national attention focused on the quality of state regulation and insurer solvency, the department continues to commit its resources to solvency regulation. The department has implemented risk-based capital requirements for all types of insurers and increased its use of targeted or limited scope financial examinations in response to market conditions or deteriorating insurer financial results. Resources continue to be focused on improving the effectiveness of regulatory actions taken to correct problems before they lead to insolvency.

The Federal Gramm-Leach-Bliley Financial Services Modernization Act of 1999 enables insurance companies, banks and securities firms to merge and sell one another's products. Pennsylvania is acting in concert with other states to develop a blueprint for state insurance regulation. The department is working to educate consumers with respect to the vast array of products available and provide a regulatory climate that will enable insurance companies to remain competitive in an increasingly global marketplace. Additional coordination with other states aims for more uniform and streamlined producer licensing.

The Consumer Liaison office established in 2004 enhances the department's role as an active advocate for insurance consumers. The department's three regional offices provide the public with insurance information, education and complaint resolution services. The department conducts field investigations of insurance law violations and undertakes on-site market conduct examinations of insurance company records, files and operations.

The Insurance Commissioner, by law, serves as statutory liquidator/receiver for Pennsylvania domestic insurers found to be insolvent by the Commonwealth Court and for unlicensed insurance entities.

Program Element: Consumer Insurance

The Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP) was established by Act 113 of 1992 and significantly expanded with the passage of Act 68 of 1998. CHIP makes comprehensive free or low-cost health insurance available to the children of low-income working parents. CHIP offers a comprehensive package of benefits, including well child visits, immunizations, prescription coverage, emergency care, inpatient services, mental health services and hearing, vision, and dental services. Act 136 of 2006 enhanced the program by creating Cover All Kids, which provides access to health insurance coverage for all uninsured children. There are increased income eligibility limits for subsidized coverage, with cost-sharing on a sliding scale, up to 300 percent of the federal poverty level with higher-income families able to purchase health care coverage at the commonwealth's cost. The coverage is funded from a portion of cigarette tax receipts, a state appropriation, the federal State Children's Health Insurance program under Title XXI of the Social Security Act and payments by participating working families. As of June 2008 enrollment was approximately 174,000 children.

Act 77 of 2001 established the Tobacco Settlement Fund and provided funding for programs that improve the health status of Pennsylvania citizens. A portion of fund revenues is provided for the Adult Health Insurance program, which began coverage on July 1, 2002. The program provides health care insurance for adults between the age of 19 and 65 years whose household income is less than 200 percent of the federal poverty level and who are ineligible for other insurance. The department's responsibility includes contracting with insurers for a benefit package and providing for outreach activities. Enrolled adults contribute monthly to the cost of the coverage. Additional funds for the adult health program have come from the health care industry in the form of Community Health Reinvestment funds. This budget proposes to expand the adultBasic program with new federal matching funds. Enrollment as of June 2008 was approximately 54,100 adults.

The Catastrophic Loss Benefits Continuation Fund, funded through certain motor vehicle violation surcharge fees, provides benefits to Pennsylvanians who were catastrophically injured in motor vehicle accidents prior to January 1, 1990, and incurred medical expenses in excess of $100,000. Effective January 1, 2004, the surcharge fees are deposited to the Medical Care Availability and Reduction of Error (Mcare) Fund for a 10-year period, and this budget proposes to continue these transfers for an additional 10 years to help pay down the unfunded liability of the Mcare Fund. Revenue from investment income will continue to accrue to the Catastrophic Loss Benefit Continuation Fund.

The Mcare Fund, established pursuant to Act 13 of 2002, established requirements for basic medical professional liability insurance coverage for health care providers and for their purchase of excess insurance through this program. The Mcare program is responsible for payment of claims against participating health care providers for losses or damages awarded in medical professional liability actions against them in excess of basic insurance coverage. Revenue for the fund is derived by levying an annual surcharge on health care providers and from motor vehicle violation surcharges.

Act 44 of 2003 provides for the Health Care Provider Retention Account, which receives 18.52 percent of the cigarette tax and supported a program to subsidize Mcare premiums. This program provided surcharge abatements to health care providers for calendar years 2003 and 2004. Act 154 of 2004 extended the abatement for one more year. Act 88 of 2005 added an additional year and included nursing homes as eligible. Act 128 of 2006 extended the abatement through 2007. The program abated 100 percent of the Mcare billing for providers in high-risk classes and 50 percent for others.

The Underground Storage Tank Indemnification Fund, established pursuant to Act 32 of 1989, the Storage Tank and Spill Prevention Act, provides claims payments to owners and operators of underground storage tanks. The program is funded through a fee schedule based on the type of product stored in the underground storage tank. In addition to making claim payments to eligible tank owners or operators for damages caused by releases from their tanks, programs include the Tank Installation Indemnification program in the Insurance Department, the Upgrade Loan program in the Department of Community and Economic Development and the Pollution Prevention and Environmental Clean-Up program in the Department of Environmental Protection.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To further economic development in the commonwealth by promoting the health, welfare and safety of employees and acting to maintain continuous production and employment through mediation.

Program: Community and Occupational Safety and Stability

The department is responsible for administering a wide range of laws designed to enhance income security, safeguard the health of workers and the general public, protect the rights of Pennsylvania workers and promote labor relations stability and labor-management cooperation.

Program Element: Income Security and Workers' Rights

The department monitors and enforces the Minimum Wage, Wage Payment and Collection and Prevailing Wage laws to protect the income of employees. The department also protects workers' rights by ensuring compliance with the Child Labor, Seasonal Farm Labor, Industrial Homework, Equal Pay and Medical Pay laws. The department informs employees and employers about the laws, conducts investigations and resolves disputes.

Program Element: Labor Relations

Labor relations stability is promoted through the provision of mediation services to the public and private sectors. Under the Public Employee Relations Act, parties to a contract in the public sector must notify the department if no agreement has been reached after contract negotiations have commenced. In the private sector, dispute notices must be filed with the department based on the National Labor Relations Act. Mediation services are mandatory in the public sector and voluntary in the private sector. Each year the department mediates more than 800 cases.

The Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board enforces and implements the provisions of the commonwealth's laws relating to private and public sector collective bargaining, including the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Act, the Public Employee Relations Act and acts relating to police and fire employees. The board determines collective bargaining representatives, prevents and discourages unfair practices in the public sector and contributes to the resolution of bargaining disputes by the issuance of arbitration panels and the appointment of fact finders.

The Office of Labor-Management Cooperation promotes labor-management cooperation through the support of and coordination with the area labor-management committees throughout Pennsylvania. The Pennsylvania Bureau of Mediation provides technical assistance as facilitator for cooperative programs. In addition to promoting labor-management cooperation, the office also recognizes and awards existing successful labor-management cooperation efforts in the commonwealth.

Program Element: Public Health and Safety

The Bureau of Occupational and Industrial Safety administers all the Pennsylvania Construction Code, Bedding and Upholstery, Stuffed Toy, Employment Agency, Flammable and Combustible Liquids, LP Gas, Boiler, Lead Certification and Asbestos Occupations Accreditation and Certification Acts. The bureau enforces these acts through the promulgation of regulations, plan reviews and field inspections, licensing and certification, and complaint investigation.

Act 45 of 1999, the Pennsylvania Construction Code Act, required the department to adopt the International Codes as Pennsylvania's Uniform Construction Code (UCC) in place of disparate community-based codes previously in existence. As authorized by the act, the department has established a program of training, including continuing education, testing and certification for all persons enforcing any aspect of the UCC. Buildings must comply in seven distinct areas with the approved code for occupancy approval. These areas are (1) building, (2) electrical, (3) mechanical, (4) plumbing, (5) energy, (6) accessibility and (7) fire protection. Elevators and other lifting devices must also meet UCC requirements, which are administered and enforced by the department. Department-certified inspectors ensure compliance with approved plans prior to issuance of an occupancy permit. Of the 2,563 municipalities in the commonwealth, 2,369 have opted for local UCC enforcement except where certified local code officials are not available to approve plans and inspect commercial construction for compliance with UCC accessibility requirements. The department enforces the UCC for all commercial buildings in the 194 municipalities that have not chosen to provide their own enforcement. The department has sole jurisdiction for all state-owned buildings in the commonwealth.

The Worker and Community Right-to-Know Act and the Hazardous Material Emergency Planning & Response Act (Act 165 of 1990), administered by the Bureau of PENNSAFE, requires all employers doing business in Pennsylvania to provide certain information about hazardous chemicals found in their workplace or released into the environment and ensures that on-site chemical information is available to emergency response organizations. Due to homeland security requirements, public inquiries relative to this information must meet set standards under a policy established by the Department of Emergency Management and Homeland Security. The department enforces worker right-to-know provisions for public employees and provides education and outreach programs. The Bureau of PENNSAFE also provides more than 300 training sessions annually and technical assistance to employers to assist them in establishing and renewing department-certified workplace safety committees. The department also provides training and outreach programs related to underground utility line damage prevention.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To further economic development in the commonwealth by stabilizing the incomes of employees who become unemployed.

Program: Workers' Compensation and Assistance

This program provides income and medical services security to qualifying individuals. This program includes workers' compensation, unemployment compensation, occupational disease payments and Social Security disability payments.

Workers' compensation is a system of payments made through private insurance companies, the State Workers' Insurance Fund and self-insured employers to employees who sustain injuries or diseases during their course of employment. The commonwealth's administrative expenses are funded from assessments through the insurance industry and self-insurers.

Act 57 of 1996 substantially amended the Workers' Compensation Act. The amendments addressed the high cost of workers' compensation in the commonwealth with respect to premiums, wage benefits, medical treatment and review and litigation. The amendments were intended to provide expedited settlement of issues, reduce fraud, counteract disincentives to return to work and encourage workplace safety. Their impact is a reduction of burdensomely high costs for businesses and the resultant improvement of the business climate in the commonwealth.

Act 49 of 2001 amended the Workers' Compensation Act to transfer up to $3.8 million from the Workmen's Compensation Administration Fund to the Self-Insurance Guaranty Fund's Prefund Account to pay workers' compensation benefits to eligible claimants injured prior to Act 44 of 1993. Act 44 of 1993 provided for payments to eligible claimants from the Self-Insurance Guaranty Fund. Eligible claimants are those affected by defaulting self-insured employers or defaulting members of self-insurance pooling arrangements.

Act 147 of 2006 amended the Workers' Compensation Act to create an Uninsured Employer Guaranty Fund to provide benefits to injured workers whose employers do not have workers' compensation insurance and are not approved by the commonwealth to self-insure. The benefits and claims management costs of this fund come from an annual assessment on employers. This act also amended the workers' compensation litigation process by requiring a Worker's Compensation Judge to impose specific scheduling orders at the first hearing; mandating mediation unless it would be futile; requiring a "resolution hearing procedure" to expedite consideration of settlements; providing that no Worker's Compensation Judge may receive more than 75 percent of the petitions from a particular county; and limiting claimants' counsel fees in compromise and release cases to 20 percent of the settlement amount.

The department processes applications for federal disability benefits, gathers medical evidence for each claim and makes recommendations to the Social Security Administration under the Social Security Administration's Disability Determination program guidelines.

Occupational disease payments are made primarily to victims of silicosis and related diseases, commonly referred to as "black lung." Victims of these diseases are covered based on their date of last exposure and disability.

Unemployment compensation payments are made to individuals who are unemployed through no fault of their own. The payments are funded from taxes on employers and employees paid into the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund. Tax rates vary according to the employer's experience with unemployment and the financial condition of the fund. The maximum weekly benefit rate is calculated as 66 2/3 percent of the average weekly wage for the preceding fiscal year. The maximum weekly payment during calendar year 2008 was $539 for an unemployed individual with no dependents and $547 for an individual with two dependents.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To provide meaningful job training and placement services in a coordinated role with other commonwealth agencies, the private sector and the federal government in order to secure unsubsidized employment for unemployed Pennsylvanians.

Program: Workforce Investment

The Workforce Investment program provides a range of employment and training services administered by the bureaus of Workforce Development Partnership, Unemployment Compensation, the Pennsylvania Conservation Corps and the Center for Workforce Information and Analysis. The Department of Labor and Industry is the lead agency in administering interagency employment and training programs for Pennsylvania's adult labor force and youth. Programs assist people who are looking for work, including Temporary Assistance for Needy Families clients and unemployed individuals, in skill development and in finding suitable employment, as well as assisting working Pennsylvanians with career advancements into family sustaining jobs. In addition, youth programs provide at risk youth with skill development, career education and job placement.

In 2004-05, the Department of Labor and Industry, working with the Departments of Community and Economic Development and Education, published "Pennsylvania's Targeted Industry Clusters" in order to ensure that training and education programs are driven by employer demand. Through additional occupational analysis and the creation of Industry Partnerships (a consortium of similar businesses), existing training in all programs is being better aligned to meet the demands of employers – providing a skilled workforce for the commonwealth's most competitive business sectors and opportunities for Pennsylvania citizens.

Act 5 of 2005 created the Job Training Fund to facilitate advances in workforce development in the commonwealth. This fund will award annual grants to entities in specified rural counties that run workforce education programs and services for job training assistance to incumbent workers, dislocated workers, adult and youth workers and other workforce development programs.

Program Element: Workforce Investment Act

Local Workforce Investment Boards plan and oversee the local delivery of workforce development activities and services with approval by the Governor. The boards, in partnership with local elected officials, identify eligible providers of training services, monitor system performance and help develop the regional labor market information system. The Federal Workforce Investment Act (WIA) of 1998 was enacted to improve the delivery of job training and employment services.

Funding for numerous programs has been consolidated under the WIA into three basic grants under Title I-B:

- adult employment and training,
- dislocated worker employment and training, and
- youth employment and training.

Eighty-five percent of the federal funds appropriated for adult and youth services are allotted to local workforce investment areas; the remainder is reserved for statewide activities.

In addition, the law gives states and local areas more authority and responsibility for job training needs and decisions and individuals more customer choice.

Program Element: PA CareerLink

The former Job Centers have evolved into Pennsylvania CareerLinks, a one-stop system for workforce development services. The transition has improved service for businesses, job seekers and other customers by integrating systems and coordinating services. Services available at the PA CareerLink for individuals include: job search and placement assistance (including career counseling), labor market information (which identifies job vacancies, skills needed for in-demand jobs and local, regional and national trends), initial assessment of skills and needs and information about available services and follow-up services to help customers keep their jobs after placement. Services available to businesses include: assistance in matching qualified job-seekers with job openings, identifying tax incentives/credits that the business may be eligible for by employing certain target groups, assessment for occupational and training needs, and provision of labor market information. In addition to physical locations, the PA CareerLink also offers an Internet-based system that both employer and job seeker customers can access 24 hours a day to receive available services.

The PA CareerLink system is a cooperative effort involving the Departments of Education, Labor and Industry, and Public Welfare in partnership with training providers, employers and various system users.

Program Element: Dislocated Workers

The department provides funds to assist dislocated workers through training programs, rapid response efforts, support services and needs-based payments.

Twenty percent of federal funds appropriated for dislocated workers are retained at the federal level to provide national emergency grants, dislocated worker demonstration projects and technical assistance.

Eighty percent of the funds Congress authorizes for dislocated workers are allotted to states. Of this allotment, 60 percent is allocated to local areas, and 40 percent is retained at the state level (15 percent for statewide activities and 25 percent for rapid response efforts). Local areas offer job search assistance and training services to dislocated workers.

Rapid Response is an early intervention service that assists workers, employers and communities affected by layoffs, plant closures or natural disasters. The primary objective of the Rapid Response program is to provide workers with information on the services they need to allow them to find new jobs or get the training and education needed for new careers so that they can get back to work quickly. Through Rapid Response, workers are provided information about the following services: Unemployment Insurance, training opportunities, job search assistance, Trade Act programs, health insurance and pension benefits, social services and emergency assistance. The Rapid Response program also offers referrals to state and local economic development services designed to help businesses that are at risk of closing to keep their doors open.

Rapid Response program activities are triggered when the Department of Labor and Industry learns of a planned closure or layoff either by receiving a notice under the Federal Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification (WARN) Act, through the media or by information provided by community and business leaders. Services may also be offered when Pennsylvania experiences mass job dislocation as the result of a disaster. There is no charge to the employer or employee for these services and they are provided regardless of the reason for the layoff.

Program Element: Pennsylvania Conservation Corps

The Pennsylvania Conservation Corps (PCC or Corps) incorporates a two-fold mission: raising the skill level, self-confidence and employability of unemployed young adults, along with improving the commonwealth's natural, historical and recreational resources. Corps members are enrolled for a one-year term of service and may be extended for up to two additional six-month terms. Working in teams, under the guidance of skilled crew leaders, corps members develop trails, install playground equipment, improve wildlife habitat, build cabins and pavilions and complete a tremendous variety of other projects on the commonwealth's public lands. In the course of their PCC service, members receive on-the-job training in a variety of trade skills and are offered a range of academic, technical and life-skills training geared toward their individual needs and goals. Corps members who do not have a high school diploma are required to enroll in GED-preparation classes. Those who graduate from high school or earn a GED are offered other training opportunities. A member whose assessment scores in any area are not at or above the eighth-grade level (regardless of whether or not the individual has a diploma or GED) must take adult basic education classes until his or her scores improve, at which point he or she becomes eligible for other training opportunities.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To enable eligible persons with disabilities to obtain competitive employment.

Program: Vocational Rehabilitation

The mission of the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation is to assist Pennsylvanians with disabilities to secure and maintain employment and independence. This program, conducted in conjunction with the federal government, targets the estimated 540,000 citizens of the commonwealth who have physical or mental impairments that present a substantial impediment to employment. During 2008, approximately 88,500 customers with disabilities were referred to and/or served by the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation.

The Federal Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended through 1992, established eligibility criteria for vocational rehabilitation services. Services are provided to individuals with disabilities who can benefit from services to prepare for, enter or retain employment. Primary emphasis is placed on serving individuals with the most severe disabilities. These individuals generally require extensive and varied services over an extended period of time. State and federal funds are expended through the Vocational Rehabilitation Fund. In addition, the fully state-funded Vocational Rehabilitation Services program provides training and employment services to those who qualify for the federal program but are not in the highest priority group, or who only need short-term services.

Act 15 of 1999 transferred the administration of services provided to persons who are blind or visually impaired from the Department of Public Welfare to the Department of Labor and Industry. This realignment provides more efficient and higher quality services while maintaining a distinct and specialized service model. Qualified applicants who are blind or visually impaired may receive specialized services through programs that are fully state-funded or through the Independent Living for Older Blind program within the Rehabilitation Act. Services may coincide with vocational rehabilitation services or be provided separately, depending on the needs of the individual.

To address the needs of individuals who do not meet federal eligibility criteria, state funds are provided for the Centers for Independent Living (CILs). CILs are non-residential centers that provide information and referral services, peer counseling, independent living skills training and other services to Pennsylvanians with disabilities.

The Supported Employment program improves employment opportunities for those previously considered to have disabilities so severe that they could not benefit from the traditional vocational rehabilitation program. Supported employment combines job placement in the community with job training at the job site. Full-time training and support services are provided.

Grants are provided through the Independence Capital Access Network to businesses for the purchase of specialized or adaptive equipment to employ Pennsylvanians with disabilities.

This program also includes the Hiram G. Andrews Center (HGAC) in Johnstown. The center provides a wide array of vocational rehabilitation and job training services. HGAC draws funds from the federal/state program as well as from numerous grants and special projects.

The Office for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing responds to requests for information and referral, promotes access for people who are deaf and provides public education about hearing loss and deafness.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To control the manufacture, distribution and sale of alcoholic beverages in Pennsylvania.

Program: Liquor Control

All bottle sales of wines and spirits in Pennsylvania, with the exception of sales by licensed limited wineries, are made through approximately 620 state liquor stores operated by the Liquor Control Board. This includes both retail sales to individual consumers and wholesale sales to those private establishments that make retail sales of alcoholic beverages by the drink. The state liquor stores include six outlet stores, 19 one-stop shops located in grocery stores, 74 Premium Collection stores and 154 stores open on Sundays.

Revenues from the sale of wines and spirits cover the cost of merchandise sold in the stores, all costs of operating the Liquor Control Board and the cost of operating the Office of the Comptroller for the board. Additionally, these revenues fund the costs of the Pennsylvania State Police Bureau of Liquor Control Enforcement and provide funding to the Department of Health to support drug and alcohol programs as well as supplement the commonwealth's General Fund.

The Liquor Control Board's marketing strategy is geared to offering increased service to customers of legal age while maintaining the necessary controls at the point of purchase of alcoholic beverages. In fiscal year 2007-08, more than 1.1 million documented minor challenges were performed in sales situations where store employees had concern regarding the legal age requirement of potential buyers. Recent agency initiatives to increase service include an expanded premium product selection including: the Sommelier Collection, the Chairman's Selection and the opening of Premium Collection stores. Expanded customer service has resulted from amendments to the Liquor Code which have allowed implementation of consumer-oriented changes within the store environment including trade publication and accessory item sales, in-store sampling of products, Sunday sales in up to 25 percent of the state liquor stores, gift card sales and instantly redeemable coupons.

The board licenses private establishments that make retail sales of alcoholic beverages by the drink and regulates the sale of malt and brewed beverages by licensing the distributors, restaurants, hotels and clubs that sell these items. In 2001, Act 141 revised the existing license quota system from municipal-based to county-based to allow for flexibility of licenses in developing areas most needed within the counties.

The Liquor Control Board has established an important Nuisance Bar program to ensure the safety and security of our citizens. This program supports a task force that utilizes the expertise of representatives of community affairs offices, district attorney offices, local and state police, drug task forces, local communities and the General Assembly. If it is determined that a licensed business has abused its license privilege and, through its conduct or record of violations, demonstrates a pattern of activities that threatens the health and safety of the local community, the Liquor Control Board will refuse to renew its license. Through January of 2009, the board has objected to the renewal of more than 1,344 licenses.

In 1994, the Liquor Control Board formalized its commitment to providing information about alcohol consumption by establishing the Bureau of Alcohol Education. The bureau's annual budget supports its three-fold mission of delivering a no-alcohol use or "zero tolerance" message to all citizens under the age of 21, encouraging responsibility and moderation for any adult age 21 and over who chooses to drink alcoholic beverages, and promoting responsible alcohol beverage service and practices among licensees and persons that serve beverage alcohol in Pennsylvania. The Bureau of Alcohol Education offers two grant programs related to preventing consumption by those under 21: (1) Campus-Community grants, which enable colleges and universities to work on environmental strategies to limit access to alcohol to minors and to change social and cultural norms and (2) Community grants, which provide funding for communities that target the under-21 population. Both grant programs may include law enforcement activities such as source investigation practices, controlled party dispersal and other enforcement activities. Act 141 of 2001 expanded the role of the Liquor Control Board through establishing a comprehensive Responsible Alcohol Management Program (RAMP) that offers responsible service training to licensees in Pennsylvania. The Bureau of Alcohol Education is responsible for overseeing this program, including offering owner/manager training to licensees and certifying, monitoring and tracking all server/seller training in Pennsylvania. In fiscal year 2007-08, RAMP training was provided to over 19,325 licensees and their employees.

DEPARTMENT OF MILITARY AND VETERANS AFFAIRS

The Department of Military and Veterans Affairs has two missions in state government. One mission of the department is to provide world-class service to Pennsylvania veterans, their spouses and their dependents by operating a network of veterans' assistance programs and six veterans homes.

The other mission of the department is to provide combat-ready units of the Pennsylvania Army and Air National Guard to protect the lives and property of the people of the commonwealth and preserve peace, order and public safety. The Pennsylvania National Guard has dual missions. Its federal mission is to be trained and equipped to join the active military forces in time of war or national emergency, and its state mission is to respond to the orders of the Governor in the event of natural and man-made disasters.

The Department of Military and Veterans Affairs consists of the Adjutant General, the State Armory Board, the State Veterans' Commission, the Soldiers and Sailors Home in Erie, the Veterans Home in Hollidaysburg, the Southeastern Veterans Home in Spring City, the Gino J. Merli Veterans Home in Scranton, the Southwestern Veterans Home in Pittsburgh and the Delaware Valley Veterans Home in Philadelphia.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To achieve and maintain a readiness capability in units of the Pennsylvania National Guard for quick and effective response to state or federal mobilization.

Program: State Military Readiness

This program provides the administrative, logistical and training support necessary for the Pennsylvania National Guard to maintain requisite readiness to carry out its vital federal and state missions. Such missions may result in full or partial mobilization of the Pennsylvania National Guard for state service in the commonwealth or other states in emergency situations or active federal service anywhere in the world. Costs for military equipment, supplies and training, such as monthly training assemblies and 15 days annual training, are funded 100 percent by the federal government.

The readiness capability of Pennsylvania National Guard units is evaluated according to established federal inspection and training standards. Primary efforts are directed toward having the Pennsylvania National Guard in top readiness condition in order to respond to state and federal contingencies. The training of personnel is directly dependent upon the adequacy of the operation, maintenance and repair of numerous National Guard armories, support facilities, Air National Guard bases and installations. A statewide communications network, including the Statewide Public Safety Radio System, is in operation providing a quicker and more effective response to state or federal mobilization.

Included within this program are those activities essential to operate a network of 117 community armories, field maintenance shops and 6 air bases that serve as training locations for National Guard units. The commonwealth is responsible for providing for the operation, maintenance and repair of the armories. These armories may also be utilized as mass care centers for disaster victims and to provide meeting and recreational facilities for local civic and youth organizations.

The establishment of the Horsham Joint Interagency Installation at the site of the former Naval Air Station Joint Reserve Base Willow Grove will lead to enhanced mission capabilities for national defense, homeland security and emergency preparedness.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To provide nursing and domiciliary care for veterans.

Program: Veterans Homes

The Department of Military and Veterans Affairs provides skilled nursing and domiciliary care for veterans who are in need of care. There are six veterans' homes currently providing such care: the Soldiers and Sailors Home in Erie, the Veterans' Home at Hollidaysburg, the Southeastern Pennsylvania Veterans' Center in Spring City, the Gino J. Merli (Northeastern) Veterans' Center in Scranton, the Southwestern Veterans' Center in Pittsburgh and the Delaware Valley Veterans' Home in Philadelphia.

The program receives assistance from the Federal Department of Veterans Affairs at levels of $35.78 per patient day for personal care and $77.40 per patient day for nursing home care.

Residents of state veterans homes receive a daily allowance from the Federal Department of Veterans Affairs. Residents use these funds plus their own funds to help offset the cost of their care.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To provide advisory and financial assistance to eligible Pennsylvania veterans, National Guardsmen and their dependents.

Program: Compensation and Assistance

The Department of Military and Veterans Affairs administers several activities within this program.

Program Element: Education of Children of Deceased and Disabled Veterans

Educational grants are provided for children of honorably discharged veterans who have been certified as having wartime service-connected disabilities rated as total and permanent or children of veterans who have died of wartime service-connected disabilities. Children must be between the ages of 16 and 23 years of age and living within Pennsylvania five years prior to application and must attend a school within Pennsylvania. Grants are provided up to a maximum of $500 per semester.

Program Element: Education — National Guard

Tuition grants are provided for certain members of the Pennsylvania National Guard who enroll in a Pennsylvania institution of higher learning with degree-granting status, as approved by the Department of Education. Act 11 of 2000 enhanced this educational assistance program. Act 212 of 2004 created the Educational Assistance Program Fund to dispense the grants. Grants are available for full-time students for up to 100 percent of the tuition charged (up to $2,679 per semester) to a Pennsylvania resident at a member institution of the State System of Higher Education. Act 82 of 2005 extended the eligibility time in cases of deployment. Act 44 of 2006 extended the time in case of medical discharge. Act 87 of 2006 amends Title 51 to allow for grants to part-time students. These public service educational grants not only serve as an incentive to the Pennsylvania National Guard's recruiting and retention efforts but also reward those Pennsylvanians who volunteer to serve their nation and the commonwealth.

Program Element: Veterans Assistance

The veterans emergency assistance program provides for eligible veterans, their spouses and dependent children who are in need of financial assistance. Financial assistance is authorized for food, fuel, shelter and clothing and is limited to a period not exceeding three months. Basic program requirements include honorable discharge, service during an established war or conflict period, Pennsylvania residency, no receipt of Public Assistance and an unexpected loss of income.

Program Element: Blind Veterans Pension

Pensions of $150 per month are provided for those Pennsylvania veterans who incurred functional blindness while performing active military service.

Program Element: Paralyzed Veterans Pension

Pensions of $150 per month are provided to those Pennsylvania veterans who have lost the use of two or more extremities while serving on active duty in the armed forces of the United States. Act 109 of 2001 expanded this program by eliminating the residency and wartime service requirement. Thus, former residents of Pennsylvania and those who served in the military during peacetime are now eligible for the pension if all other requirements are met.

Program Element: National Guard Pensions

Payment of a pension is provided to guardsmen, and widowed and dependent family members. A National Guardsman who is injured, otherwise disabled or dies as a result of injuries or other disability received or contracted while performing duty in active service to the commonwealth, or in the performance of other state military duty, is eligible. Current law provides for a monthly pension for dependents up to a maximum of $300 per month for a period of 10 years. In the case of children of a deceased member, the pension is paid until the child reaches 18 years of age.

Program Element: Veterans Service Outreach Program

Act 66 of 2007 created the Veterans' Service Organizations grant program to provide grants to these organizations for the improvement of the administration and delivery of services to Pennsylvania veterans.

Program Element: Persian Gulf Conflict Veterans' Benefit program

Compensation of up to $525, calculated based on months of service in the theater of the operations during the first Persian Gulf conflict (August 1990 – August 1991) is paid to eligible Pennsylvania veterans of the conflict. In addition, compensation of $5,000 is paid to eligible survivors of deceased veterans and prisoners of war. The program was authorized by Act 29 of 2006

Program Element: Disabled Veterans' Real Estate Tax Exemption Program

This program provides a real estate tax exemption for any honorably discharged veteran who is 100% disabled and a resident of the commonwealth who served during established war service dates as determined by the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs with a financial need. This exemption shall be extended to the unmarried surviving spouse upon the death of an eligible veteran provided that the State Veterans' Commission determines that such person is in need of the exemption.

Program Element: Military Family Relief Assistance Program

Act 65 of 2005 created the program to provide for short-term financial relief to families in need due to deployment of a family member. This program will be funded through contributions from state income tax return checkoffs and donations. It will last for five years.

Also, for National Guard and reservists, Act 60 of 2005 provided for deferment of automobile insurance while deployed. Act 83 of 2005 allows students to remain on parental insurance while deployed and allow others to continue their insurance voluntarily when deployed.

Act 105 of 2006 amended Title 51 to provide for tuition grants for children and spouses of deceased soldiers and insurance premium payments for eligible National Guard members deployed overseas or for emergencies.

Act 22 of 2006 provided a bonus to Merchant Marine World War II Veterans.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To maintain an adequate supply of wholesome fluid milk.

Program: Milk Industry Regulation

The Milk Marketing Board is a special fund agency financed from milk industry license fees, permit fees and fines. The board supervises, inspects and regulates the milk industry of the commonwealth and establishes reasonable trade control and marketing practices. It formulates policy, holds public hearings and subsequently issues and enforces General Marketing Orders, rules and regulations. The board also handles prosecution and levying of penalties against violators of the Milk Marketing Law, the Milk Producer's Security Act and board regulations.

The board's major function is to ensure an adequate milk supply by setting minimum prices paid to farmers, minimum prices dealers can charge wholesale and retail customers, and minimum prices stores can charge consumers. The regulation process is complicated by the existence of Federal Marketing Orders, which are prices established by the federal government that must be paid to producers.

The board has implemented an automated Milk Accounting and Regulatory System (MARS). The system values milk based on component pricing, allowing adaptation to changes in the state and federal regulatory environment. Pricing information collected through the system and from public hearings is used by the board to establish minimum milk prices.

The board had previously considered the ratio of the supply of milk fluid to demand in the regulation process, but other indicators are more relevant to the process and that ratio is no longer calculated. Factors such as the price of milk in neighboring states and the ratio of the cost of production to current or expected prices are more important to price establishment and are widely discussed at the public meetings.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To decrease the recurrence of crime by replacing criminal behavior with socially acceptable behavior.

Program: Reintegration of the Adult Offender

The Pennsylvania Board of Probation and Parole's primary goal is to protect the safety of the public through effective parole decisions and proper supervision and management of offenders who are returning to their communities. Successful reentry of an offender can reduce the likelihood that offenders will victimize anyone else and ultimately return to prison.

The responsibilities of the board are to make parole decisions and supervise adult parolees with a maximum sentence of two years or more; revoke the parole of technical parole violators who persist in continuing to violate parole conditions and revoke the parole of violators who are convicted of new crimes; and discharge from parole offenders under supervision who have fulfilled their sentences in compliance with the conditions of parole. The number of offenders projected to be under board supervision by June 2010 is 33,661, up from 32,097 in June 2008. The parole population includes offenders paroled from the state correctional system, special county probation and parole cases and offenders transferred pursuant to the interstate compact from other states into Pennsylvania. Offenders with maximum sentences under two years are supervised at the county level unless the county court certifies the case to the state for special probation supervision. Acts 81 and 83 of 2008 add the chairman of the Board of Probation and Parole to the Pennsylvania Commission on Sentencing and provide for rebuttable and administrative parole.

Program Element: Parole Decisions

Offenders must serve their minimum sentence before they become eligible for parole. To prepare offenders for reentry while incarcerated, the Department of Corrections develops a correctional plan to address drug and alcohol needs, educational opportunities, vocational training, counseling services and employment opportunities within the institution. During a parole hearing, board members consider the offender's behavior and program performance while in prison, review the offender's risk and needs assessment and consider other factors required by law to determine if the offender's reentry into the community is not likely to compromise public safety. A validated risk and needs assessment instrument is used to maintain consistency and accuracy in parole decisions and to ensure that justice is administered fairly.

Program Element: Reentry Preparation

To fulfill the mission of community safety, the Bureau of Offender Reentry focuses on preparing inmates for parole release and providing continued support during the critical period of readjustment following an inmate's return to the community. The board's institutional parole staff works with offenders while they are incarcerated to identify employment, housing and other issues that create obstacles or challenges to successful reentry. Inmates are introduced to the commonwealth's CareerLink services and given assistance with the basics of job search preparation. The parole staff provides a Parole Preparation program as part of the Department of Corrections' Community Orientation and Reintegration program to provide information and assistance with the offender's identified areas of need. When parole is granted, institutional parole staff develops an individualized Transitional Accountability Plan jointly with the offender to build upon and complement the treatment and programming the offender received in prison, bridging the gap from prison to life in the community. Upon release, an offender's needs are reassessed every six months or more frequently if deemed appropriate. Drug and alcohol programming is made available via referrals to individual county programs or while under supervision at a Department of Corrections community corrections center or other contract facility.

Program Element: Supervision and Case Management

The reentry of an offender into the community requires effective parole supervision that is a balance of monitoring and enforcement of parole conditions coupled with effective case management. As part of the board's responsibility to public safety, the field parole agent uses problem-solving case management to help the offender with challenges regarding his job, residence, continuity of care or other issues. Also key to public safety and a reduction of crime is the management of technical parole violators through alternative, community-based interventions and specialized support programs to safely and effectively allow for continued supervision in the community. The Pennsylvania Community Alternative to Prison program and Back on Track are two examples of programs that provide services to parolees struggling with their adjustment to life outside of prison. Services are administered in secure portions of Department of Corrections contract facilities throughout the state. The board has implemented a violent offender management protocol that includes a curfew and maximum supervision for all newly released offenders from state prison for 90 days. Violence prevention programming will also be provided. The board has developed and initiated these actions to aid in reducing offender recidivism.

Program Element: County Probation

In addition to operating the state parole system, the board has the responsibility of administering a grant-in-aid program to support county adult probation personnel and services. Act 134 of 1986, which amended the Parole Act, provides that counties shall be reimbursed for up to 80 percent of the personnel costs for pre-sentence investigations and for improved probation supervision and programs, provided that sufficient funds are appropriated. The grant-in-aid program provides these funds to counties based on a historically-designated staffing level established in 1991.

Program Element: Other Probation and Parole Programs

Act 35 of 1991 mandates that a monthly supervision fee be paid by all offenders under state supervision unless a waiver is granted. In addition, Act 35 requires that the sentencing judge of the Court of Common Pleas impose upon county offenders, as a condition of supervision, a monthly supervision fee of at least $25 unless reduced, waived or deferred.

Act 8 of Special Session 1 of 1995 created the Office of Victim Advocate, an independent entity within the board, to represent the interests of crime victims before the board or the Department of Corrections.

Act 24 of 1995, or Megan's Law as it is commonly known, established the Sexual Offenders Assessment

Board. This board is responsible for conducting court-ordered assessments of convicted sexual offenders. The assessments are provided to district attorneys to assist in the determination prior to sentencing of those offenders who may be found by the court to be sexually violent predators. Prior to parole considerations, the Board of Probation and Parole may request assessments of sexually violent predators and sexual offenders. Megan's Law also requires the registration of all sexual offenders and sexually violent predators. Under Act 21 of 2003, certain sexually violent adolescent sex offenders are subject to an assessment by the Sexual Offenders Assessment Board upon reaching age 20. The assessment is used by the courts to determine the need for involuntary commitment and treatment of these offenders.

The federal Adam Walsh Act of 2006 eliminated the requirement to determine which sex offenders are sexually violent predators but imposes upon certain sex offenders many of the same requirements (such as lifetime registration and community notification) that currently apply to sexually violent predators. All sex offenders will be classified into three tiers based on the sex crimes for which they have been convicted. During 2009, Pennsylvania expects to make amendments to the current Megan's Law statute to comply with the Adam Walsh Act. The impact of the Adam Walsh Act on the Sexual Offenders Assessment Board's budget and workload will depend on the changes enacted in the state law.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To ensure that safe and adequate public utility services are available to the public at fair and reasonable rates.

Program: Regulation of Public Utilities

The Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission balances the needs of consumers and utilities to ensure safe and reliable utility service at reasonable rates; protect the public interest; educate consumers to make independent and informed utility choices; further economic development; and foster new technologies and competitive markets in an environmentally sound manner.

The commission regulates about 6,200 utilities providing electricity, natural gas, steam heat, water, wastewater collection and disposal, telephone, transportation of passengers and property by train, bus, truck, taxicab and limousine and transmission of gas and oil by pipeline.

The commission is funded by assessments of public utilities. Subject to budgetary approval, the commission may assess up to three-tenths of one percent of gross intrastate revenues to cover the cost of regulation. Public utility assessments and fees are deposited into a restricted account within the General Fund.

During the past 20 years, the number of jurisdictional public utilities has increased, as have the commission's responsibilities and mandated functions. The focus of the commission has expanded from the traditional role of approving the cost-based rates and regulating the service of all public utilities to a broader mandate of also enabling and facilitating competitive markets for the electric, natural gas and telecommunications industries.

In 2008, the commission continued to experience an increase in the number of rate requests, from electric, natural gas and water companies. The requests reflect the removal of electricity rate caps, established during the advent of electric competition, as well as significant increases in infrastructure investment and inflation-driven costs. Significant rate requests are also expected in 2009. Commission approval of mergers and acquisitions is an ongoing process, especially affecting the water and telecommunications industries. The commission continues to implement three major laws:

Act 201 of 2004 established specific standards and procedures for payment arrangements, customer deposits, and termination of electric, natural gas and water service. The commission has issued numerous orders interpreting and implementing the law and is currently working to revise relevant regulations; the first biennial report on this activity has been submitted to the General Assembly.

Act 213 of 2004 established Alternative Energy Portfolio Standards, requiring electric distribution companies and generation suppliers to include electricity generated from alternative energy resources in their sales to retail customers. The commission has issued standards related to net metering, interconnection and demand side management, and is working with stakeholders and the Department of Environmental Protection to effectively carry out this law. The commission has contracted with an alternative energy credit program administrator as part of the implementation.

Act 183 of 2004 addressed the obligations of telecommunication public utilities by continuing existing network modernization plans (NMP) and providing incentives for acceleration of the deployment of high-speed internet service, while reducing filing and reporting requirements for the Incumbent Local Exchange Carriers.

The Federal Energy Policy Act of 2005 established a number of new federal mandates that state regulators are required to consider and potentially implement. These include standardizations for connecting electric generation facilities with the utility, compensation of retail customers for generated electricity sold back to the utility and policies concerning reduction or shifting of consumption from peak periods.

The commission has adopted default service regulations for electric providers and is exploring means to mitigate electric price increases when rate caps expire. In conjunction with those efforts, the commission is examining methods for enhancing consumer access to demand side response tools and energy conservation programs.

The commission has established the following goals for 2009-10 and future years:

- To ensure that necessary utility service is available to all residents of Pennsylvania.
- To foster development of competitive markets in the electric, telecommunications and natural gas industries.
- To promptly and effectively address anti-competitive activity by jurisdictional utilities or licensed competitive suppliers.
- To promote greater public awareness and understanding of the public utility industry and how it affects customers.
- To establish policies that will encourage the public utilities to operate in the most environmentally compatible, safe, fair, and cost-effective manner.
- To encourage and coordinate the upgrade of Pennsylvania's water delivery systems.
- To further economic development of Pennsylvania.
- To support Pennsylvania's environmental initiatives, particularly with respect to alternative energy portfolio standards.
- To implement the Information Management and Access Project (InfoMAP) that is comprised of Public Utility Commission technology enhancements upgrading the case management system to improve internal efficiencies, permit electronic filings and provide easier public access to information.

— To provide the Pennsylvania General Assembly and the Congress with utility policy recommendations promoting the interest of Pennsylvania consumers in state and federal regulatory forums.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To provide effective administrative and support systems through which the substantive programs of the department can be operated.

Program: Human Services Support

The Human Services Support program provides the policy direction, management and administrative systems required to implement, maintain and monitor the substantive programs of the department.

Information systems are critical to the management of human services. The technology challenge is to provide timely and accurate information that enables the integration of numerous client services and tracks individual progress toward self-sufficiency. Additionally, the managed care environment requires the department to view and monitor client profiles relative to quality of care, encounter data and eligibility data in order to manage the services and costs effectively.

The continued creation and expansion of Web-based applications allows for more online services and efficient maintenance of common client and provider databases, as well as case management systems, for use across program lines.

Also provided is the management and oversight of the coordination of benefits and recovery of Medical Assistance overpayments when a third-party liability is identified. Recoveries consist of casualty cases, the Estate Recovery program, federally mandated “pay and chase” situations and the identification and recovery of insurance payments after claims are paid.

This program also seeks reimbursement from third-party sources for services provided to patients and consumers at the state-operated mental health and mental retardation facilities.

Finally, this program ensures the quality of services for Pennsylvania residents by licensing and regulating child care and selected medical facilities.

The department continues to strive toward system enhancements that will minimize administrative costs in relation to service costs.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To support a health care delivery system that provides comprehensive health care services in appropriate settings for the eligible populations.

Program: Medical Assistance

The Medical Assistance program ensures access to comprehensive health care services for low-income individuals and families or those with medical expenses exceeding available income. Qualified individuals may receive a complete package of benefits, including cash assistance, under the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) Block Grant, Supplemental Security Income or General Assistance programs. Others who do not qualify for cash assistance grants but spend a significant portion of their income for medical expenses, qualify for Medical Assistance. A verifiable medical condition, which precludes work, will also allow participation.

Eligibility also includes women diagnosed with breast or cervical cancer who qualify for treatment within enhanced federal guidelines. Disabled workers are able to participate in the Medical Assistance program through a purchase program authorized by Act 77 of 2001, the Tobacco Settlement Act. Workers with incomes under 250 percent of the federal poverty guidelines pay a premium equal to 5 percent of their monthly income to participate in the complete package of benefits.

Program Element: Outpatient Services

Outpatient services include the majority of preventive services available to a person who does not need extended acute care in a health care facility. Some examples of medical or dental outpatient services are care in a clinic or office setting, outpatient surgery, rehabilitation, drug and alcohol treatment, pharmacy benefits, ambulance transportation, home health care, medical supplies and equipment, and prosthetic devices.

Individuals with low income and limited resources as defined by federal categorical criteria are eligible for a comprehensive array of outpatient services. Individuals with limited income and resources who do not qualify for cash payments are still eligible for all services except pharmacy benefits; dental care, except when provided in a short procedure unit or inpatient hospital; medical supplies and equipment, except when provided in conjunction with home health agency services; and prosthetic devices. Some service restrictions, comparable to private insurance, apply to adult recipients. An exception process is available for unusual circumstances.

The ACCESS Plus program is available in the 42 counties where HealthChoices mandatory physical health is not available with the following exceptions: nursing home residents, long-term care capitation enrollees, Health Insurance Premium Payment eligible members, residents of state institutions and dual eligible Medicare/Medicaid members over the age of 21. The department has placed a significant emphasis on implementing disease management programs and has developed a series of financial incentives for both the disease management contractor and primary care practitioners to focus on providing quality care and actively supporting disease management programs.

In response to the rising cost of prescription drugs, steps have been taken to better manage the pharmacy benefit program. Outpatient pharmacy services has a preferred drug list that provides for supplemental drug rebates and enforces the use of drugs considered best in class. Other efforts to control pharmacy costs include prior authorization of certain medications with high cost or health and safety risks to consumers, quantity limits and special initiatives such as the Special Pharmacy Drug program. The department's Specialty Pharmacy Drug program provides a reliable and convenient dispensing and delivery system for providers and Medical Assistance consumers through two nationally accredited specialty pharmacy providers.

Program Element: Inpatient Services

Inpatient hospital services include care for Medical Assistance patients in acute care, rehabilitation and private psychiatric hospitals.

The Inpatient Medical Assistance program provides eligible recipients coverage on a 24-hour basis for room, board and professional services. A recipient is only eligible for admission under Medical Assistance upon the recommendation of a physician, certified registered nurse practitioner, dentist or podiatrist. Medical Assistance does not cover hospital care solely for cosmetic procedures, nor diagnostic or therapeutic procedures solely for experimental, research or educational purposes.

The department uses a prospective payment system to reimburse general acute care hospitals. General acute care hospitals are paid a predetermined amount per discharge based on the patient's diagnosis, the procedures performed and the patient's age, sex and discharge status. The diagnosis related groups (DRG) system is used to classify the various diagnoses based on the amount of resources hospitals customarily use for treatment. The department's payment for compensable inpatient hospital services under the DRG payment system is the product of the hospital specific average cost per case multiplied by the relative value of the DRG assigned to the admission. The DRG system pays for cost outliers for specific DRGs when the cost of treating the case exceeds a certain threshold.

These “outlier” costs are reimbursed on an exceptional cost basis in the prospective payment to the hospital. The DRG system also pays for “day outlier” costs not covered by the above-referenced cost outlier, for exceptionally long inpatient stays that exceed predetermined lengths of stay. When professional care is provided to a Medical Assistance recipient, the department separately reimburses the health care professional who provided direct care services to the recipient and is under salary or contract with the hospital. These services are reimbursed in accordance with the fees established under the Medical Assistance Fee Schedule through the Medical Assistance - Outpatient appropriation.

Freestanding psychiatric and rehabilitation hospitals and distinct part psychiatric and rehabilitation units of acute care hospitals are reimbursed on a prospective basis through per diem payments.

Act 77 of 2001, the Tobacco Settlement Act, authorized an additional payment to hospitals to partially offset the cost of uncompensated care or extraordinary medical services provided by hospitals to individuals with no or inadequate health care insurance.

Program Element: Capitation

Alternative health care delivery systems for Medical Assistance recipients are available through managed care organizations (MCOs) that provide services utilizing a fixed rate per recipient enrolled. MCOs emphasize outpatient preventive health services and disease management as a means of controlling costs. The coordinated approach allows enhanced continuity of care, improves recipients’ access to primary physician care and specialized behavioral health programs, provides strengthened oversight of operational standards and facilitates an efficient use of limited health care resources.

Pennsylvania’s mandatory managed care is known as HealthChoices. The statewide HealthChoices Behavioral Health (BH) program is administered by the Office of Mental Health and Substance Abuse Services. The BH program is provided through contracts with counties that use an independent BH-MCO, or through contracts directly with BH-MCOs. Services provided include psychiatric inpatient treatment, partial hospitalization, psychiatric outpatient services, Early Periodic Screening Diagnosis and Treatment services for children, case management, and drug and alcohol detoxification, and rehabilitation services. Physical health managed care services are administered by the Office of Medical Assistance Programs, Bureau of Managed Care Operations. The HealthChoices Physical Health program is provided to most eligible clients in five counties in southeastern Pennsylvania, ten counties in southwestern Pennsylvania and ten counties in the Lehigh/Capital region of Pennsylvania, through contracts with six MCOs. The department also contracts with four MCOs to provide physical health services to recipients in a voluntary managed care program in 26 counties where the HealthChoices Physical Health program has not been implemented. The physical health program does not include recipients age 21 and older who are dually eligible for Medicare. Certain Healthy Horizons participants remain in the fee-for-service program in all counties.

Program Element: Medical Assistance Transportation Program

The goal of the Medical Assistance Transportation Program (MATP) is to provide efficient and effective transportation options to improve access to health care services for Medical Assistance recipients in need of transportation assistance.

The MATP provides funding to 66 counties and a transportation broker in Philadelphia County to provide non-emergency medical transportation to Medical Assistance covered services.

The program includes the following: assessing MATP eligibility and determining the level of transportation services needed, providing funding for recipients to use public transit, reimbursing clients for private vehicle mileage use, developing and managing a network of on-demand transportation providers, scheduling and dispatching on-demand paratransit trips, and capturing and providing data.

Counties are responsible for providing transportation services to Medical Assistance recipients in either fee-for-service or managed care arrangements and must transport clients to and/or from a medical facility, physician’s office, dentist’s office, hospital, clinic, pharmacy or purveyor of medical equipment for the purpose of receiving medical treatment or medical evaluation or purchasing prescription drugs or medical equipment.

Program Element: Special Pharmaceutical Benefits Program

The Special Pharmaceutical Benefits Program (SPBP) pays for specific drugs for low and moderate-income persons with HIV/AIDS disease and for limited mental health drug therapy for persons residing in the community who suffer from schizophrenia and who are not eligible for drug coverage through the regular Medical Assistance program or some other entity such as Medicare Part D. In order to qualify for this program, the applicant must be a resident of Pennsylvania, have a diagnosis of HIV/AIDS and a gross annual income of less than $35,000 for an individual and $2,893 for each additional family member. Mental health applicants with a gross annual income of less than $30,000 for an individual and $2,480 for each additional family member having the appropriate medical diagnosis are eligible for the mental health component of this program. SPBP is the payer of last resort, and all available third party resources must be used before payment is made by the program.

Program Element: Expanded Medical Services for Women

The Expanded Medical Services for Women program provides counseling services to women. Grants are provided to nonprofit agencies whose primary purpose is to assist pregnant women seeking alternatives to abortions. Services are provided up to 12 months after childbirth and include food, shelter, clothing, health care, counseling, adoption services, parenting classes, assistance for post delivery stress and other support programs.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To promote personal and parental responsibility and encourage economic independence and self-sufficiency through temporary cash assistance, job training and child care for families or individuals.

Program: Income Maintenance

The broad purpose of public assistance is to provide temporary support to families in transition from dependency to economic self-sufficiency. Support may include limited education, job training and placement assistance, child care, transportation, other support services and cash assistance.

Program Element: Income Assistance

Cash assistance is provided for a limited time to people who meet income and resource guidelines and who comply with work activity requirements.

The cornerstone of the program is an Agreement of Mutual Responsibility (AMR) established between the client and the commonwealth. Caseworkers in the County Assistance Offices (CAO) meet with applicants for cash assistance, Medical Assistance and food stamps to review financial and non-financial criteria to determine eligibility for benefits. As a condition of eligibility for cash assistance, recipients are required to sign and comply with the economic self-sufficiency plans in their AMR. The AMR outlines the steps the individual will take and the services the caseworkers in the CAOs will provide to enable the family to reach its goals. After assessing potential barriers to employment, most adult welfare recipients are required to immediately upon applying for benefits take realistic, concrete steps that will lead to increased success in the workplace. Adults are required to either work or participate in a work-related activity.

Upon application or re-determination for assistance, data is entered into the department's client information system and is available for Medical Assistance program determinations as well as cash assistance and food stamps. All final Medical Assistance claims payments and most cash grants payments are processed through the central office using automated systems.

Cash assistance is provided to persons determined by the staff in CAOs to be eligible for the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF), the state General Assistance (GA) and the State Blind Pension (SBP) programs. The TANF program provides state and federal funds for temporary cash support for families in transition to self-sufficiency. GA and SBP, on the other hand, are entirely state-funded programs. Most GA recipients are individuals or married couples with no dependent children but with disabilities that prevent employment. State Blind Pension recipients are persons who meet age, vision and personal resource requirements specified in the Public Welfare Code.

Federal regulations placed a five-year lifetime limit on cash assistance benefits for most adult recipients and allowed a hardship exemption for up to 20 percent of the caseload. The department has implemented regulations that define the hardship exemption and make provisions for extending the time period for a family with multiple barriers to employment to reach self-sufficiency.

The Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program assists eligible households by offsetting the burden of high energy costs and intervening in energy crisis situations. The eligibility standard, which is subject to annual revision based on the availability of funding, includes every household member's income. Cash payments are made to energy suppliers for persons responsible for paying heating costs or directly to those households where home heating is included in the rent. Crisis payments are made to energy suppliers and may cover heating costs as well as emergency repairs to heating systems.

The Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program provides aged, blind and disabled persons with a monthly payment based on nationally uniform eligibility standards. Presently, the monthly federal benefit rate for individuals is $674 and $1,011 for couples. Pennsylvania will contribute a supplemental grant of $27.40 for an individual and $43.70 for couples to SSI recipients. The department is responsible for directly issuing the state supplemental grants to most SSI recipients. A special monthly state supplement is paid to SSI-eligible persons in domiciliary care facilities and personal care homes. For SSI residents in personal care homes, the minimum personal care allowance is $85 a month.

The department also administers a disability advocacy program to assist mentally and physically disabled individuals in establishing their eligibility for federal SSI benefits.

Program Element: Employment, Training and Work Supports

The employment and training program known as the Road to Economic Self-Sufficiency through Employment and Training (RESET) assists welfare recipients to enter the workforce and achieve economic independence. Pennsylvania's employment and training programs for cash assistance clients include an assessment of potential barriers to employment and an initial job search. Training and education programs are designed to prepare individuals unable to secure employment to get and keep available jobs. Job retention, advancement and case management services are also offered to help individuals retain employment. Initiatives are continued but modified due to new federal TANF regulations to provide access to a broad range of educational activities, making it more likely that individuals who are placed in jobs will keep them and be able to advance including programs offering adult literacy services, such as GED preparation, job-specific literacy and English as a second language. In recent years, the department has renamed the Single Point of Contact program to Employment, Advancement, Retention Network as a more accurate description of efforts to assist clients gaining employment and help them attain and retain better jobs to move toward self sufficiency. The department partners with the Department of Labor and Industry and the Department of Education to offer subsidized employment and other education and training programs that respond to the needs of the local business community. The Industry Specific Initiative provides collaboration and partnerships with employers regarding the development of customized training and direct job placement. In addition to training for welfare clients, programs to assist noncustodial parents to enter and advance in the workplace are provided to improve family economic viability. Participants are offered supports such as child care, transportation and clothing assistance to remove any barriers to work or training and ensure on-going success and avoid a return to cash assistance.

Program Element: Child Support Enforcement

Child Support Enforcement program services are provided at the local level through cooperative agreements between the department and the domestic relations section of the Courts of Common Pleas. The services include the establishment of paternity for children born outside of marriage; the determination, establishment and enforcement of a financial child support obligation paid by a noncustodial parent to meet the ongoing daily needs of the children; the procurement of medical support including health insurance and/or the reimbursement of uninsured medical expenses for the children; and child care support designed to help offset the cost of child care if the custodial parent works or is enrolled in an education/training program to secure employment.

Child support enforcement services are available to children from birth to age 18 or until the child graduates from high school or becomes emancipated. The courts may require child support to be paid for an individual over the age of 18 if extraordinary needs – excluding college tuition – exist. A designated portion of child support paid on behalf of children receiving TANF benefits is passed through to the custodial parent and any residual amount is assigned to the department to reimburse cash assistance benefits issued to the child's family.

Federal funding of the state's Child Support Enforcement program is based on its performance in establishing paternity and court orders for support, as well as collecting child support amounts ordered. Pennsylvania's program exceeds federal standards for establishing paternity and court orders for support: collection of current support and cases paying on arrears are 80 percent and 79 percent, respectively – the highest percentage of any state in the nation.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To maximize the individual's capacity for independent living through the provision of an array of service and support programs.

Program: Mental Health

This program provides for an integrated behavioral health system addressing mental health treatment and support services as well as substance abuse services. The objective of these services is to promote individual movement toward recovery. The department seeks to ensure that there is a combined approach to the delivery and the financing of behavioral health services. The department administers community mental health funds, Behavioral Health Services Initiative funds for both mental health and substance abuse services, Act 152 funds, which provide non-hospital residential substance abuse services, and federal grant funds. The department oversees the Medicaid HealthChoices Behavioral Health Managed Care program either through county contracts or by direct contract with a behavioral health managed care organization. The department manages the delivery of community mental health services administered by counties under the Pennsylvania Mental Health and Mental Retardation (MH/MR) Act of 1966 and the Mental Health Procedures Act of 1976. Direct mental health treatment services are provided through seven state-operated hospitals and one restoration (long-term care) center.

outpatient care, partial hospitalization, emergency and crisis intervention, peer to peer support and after care. Community residential services consist of housing support, residential treatment, inpatient care, crisis services and mobile therapy. Services are administered by single counties, county jointers or through contracts with private, nonprofit organizations or agencies. Services, with some exceptions, are funded with state, federal and/or county matching funds.

Program Element: Substance Abuse Services

The department is responsible for the oversight and administration of Behavioral Health Services Initiative (BHSI) funding. Substance abuse treatment services are provided to individuals with severe addictive disorders (including co-occurring mental health disorders) who are uninsured, who do not have insurance that covers the service needed or who cannot obtain Medical Assistance benefits. Services available include the full continuum of treatment, as well as case management services, to assist this population with access to and retention in treatment to promote recovery.

Program Element: Community Mental Health Services

The MH/MR Act of 1966 requires county governments to provide an array of community-based mental health services, including unified intake, community consultation and education, support for families caring for members with mental disorders and community residential programs. Community services are targeted to adults with serious mental illness and children and adolescents with or at-risk of serious emotional disturbance. Key provisions of service include recovery-oriented treatment, community care and support services that enable individuals to return to the community and lead independent and productive lives. Non-residential services include family-based support,

Program Element: State Mental Hospitals

State mental hospitals provide long-term inpatient care for individuals who require intensive treatment. Additionally, they provide specialized inpatient care for the adolescent, criminal and elderly (long-term) populations. A unit for the treatment of violent sexual predators, whose commitment in the Youth Development Center system terminates at age 21, was established as mandated in Act 21 of 2003. To move individuals into the most integrated setting, efforts continue to assess and transfer individuals to community mental health programs, where services are provided in a less restrictive level of care through the Community/Hospital Integration Projects Program (CHIPPs).

As more people receive mental health services in the community, the population at state mental hospitals has declined by 837 or 26%, since July of 2001.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To maximize each individual's capacity for more independent living and participation in community life by providing needed training and support services.

Program: Mental Retardation

The Department of Public Welfare supports a comprehensive array of services for people with developmental disabilities including community residential and non-residential programs, which are provided through the counties by community-based providers, state operated institutions and private intermediate care facilities for the mentally retarded providers (ICF/MRs). In addition to state and federal funding, local funding is provided for community programs as required by the Mental Health and Mental Retardation Act of 1966.

The mental retardation program has evolved from a system of large congregate residential facilities to a flexible and dynamic system of community supports and services tailored to the needs of persons living in the community. The trend toward enhancing the natural supports that exist in the family and the community continues to define services.

In response to the recommendations of Pennsylvania's Autism Task Force, the Bureau of Autism Services was established in February 2007. Autism is a lifelong neurobiological disorder. The mission of the Bureau of Autism Services is to develop, coordinate, integrate and establish policies and services that effectively enhance the quality of life and promote independence for Pennsylvanians living with autism.

Program Element: Institutional Services

The department provides institutional care funding for people with developmental disabilities. Services are offered through five state centers whose primary goal is to develop residents' abilities to function more independently in preparation for living in a less restrictive environment. All facilities are currently certified for Medical Assistance (MA) under standards established by the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services. Private Intermediate Care Facilities for the Mentally Retarded provide intensive habilitative services to persons with developmental disabilities. Large facilities are single or multiple buildings on campus-like sites accommodating more than eight persons while small facilities may be located in the community and serve eight persons or less.

Program Element: Community Mental Retardation Services

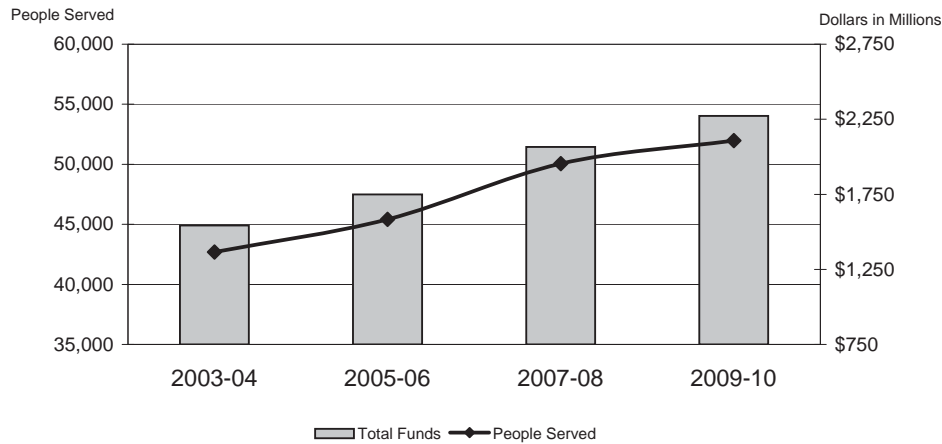

The Mental Health and Mental Retardation Act of 1966 provides the statutory basis for the development of community-based services for people with developmental disabilities. Community living arrangements include group homes, apartments with or without a roommate and life-sharing settings with family or friends. Day services such as supported employment, pre-vocational programs, adult training and home and community habilitation are provided for people living in the community, based on individual need. Other services available include transportation, home finding, environmental accessibility modifications, adaptive appliances/equipment, specialized therapies and nursing, and educational support. Respite services are also available for families of people with developmental disabilities.

Program Element: Services for Individuals with Autism

The department provides funding for a statewide program to support the needs of Pennsylvanians living with autism spectrum disorders. The department is developing two delivery systems to provide services for adults with autism—the Adult Community Autism Program (ACAP) and the Autism Waiver. ACAP is a pilot program for individuals age 21 or older with a diagnosis of autism spectrum disorder. Services will include behavioral supports, physician services and a wide array of community-based and institutional services that build independence while maintaining cost effectiveness. The Autism Waiver has been designed to provide behavioral supports and community-based services tailored to individuals with autism. In addition, the department is working to increase the capacity of service providers and health care professionals by providing statewide training, technical assistance and cross-system collaboration; providing support and information to families; developing models for best practices and crisis response; and establishing regional autism centers.

Community Mental Retardation Services

Funding for the expansion of the community program has increased by nearly $726 million since 2003-04, providing services to an additional 8,642 people. Over the same period, the state centers' population will have decreased by 20%.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To enhance the social and economic well-being of families and individuals through the provision of an array of services and support programs.

Program: Human Services

The department operates a variety of programs designed to provide supportive services to people while they overcome an adverse behavior or circumstance that has affected their lives.

Program Element: Family Support Service

The Department of Public Welfare and county governments are jointly responsible for providing services to children who are in need of care and protection. Each county is responsible for developing and administering a program of services designed to treat and prevent child abuse, neglect and exploitation, and to provide services that reduce dependency and delinquency. The County Children and Youth program includes services to parents and children to enable children to remain in their own homes and communities; however, the safety of children is a paramount concern of this program. Policies and procedures have been instituted to protect children from harm and to minimize time in foster homes and institutions. Court oversight for children who have been abused and neglected has been increased and new emphasis has been placed on parental responsibility for children.

Counties provide services including temporary placement for children who cannot live with their own families, assistance to provide a permanent legal family for children who cannot be returned to their own families, adoption assistance, day treatment services, child protective services, emergency shelter, counseling and juvenile detention.

Special programs have been developed to support the delivery of services by county child welfare agencies. One program provides equalized access to adoption or permanency services for all eligible children through a statewide adoption network. This program includes services to children who are in foster placement and cannot be returned to their natural parents. Community-based family centers also provide coordinated services to children and their families in a neighborhood setting.

The courts may order any service or care for children who have been adjudicated dependent or delinquent. This may include youth adjudicated delinquent but remanded to private residential treatment programs. Treatment is reviewed on a periodic basis.

Program Element: Youth Development Service

Pennsylvania's juvenile justice system is designed to minimize institutionalization while recognizing that confinement in a treatment environment is necessary for certain juveniles who pose a threat to themselves or others. The court may sentence youth to either the Youth Development Center and Youth Forestry Camp (YDC/YFC) system or a private facility. Both systems provide residential programming in secure settings for Pennsylvania's serious juvenile offenders and those with serious at-risk behaviors. The purpose of the system is to bring about positive changes in the juveniles by helping them to develop skills and attitudes that will enable them to become responsible, productive members of society.

Total Current Program	579	616	623	618	100.8%

The YDCs/YFCs expect to maintain capacity at 618 youth. Included in the system are specialized treatment services for sex offenders, arsonists, drug and alcohol abusers, emotionally disturbed youth and those with developmental disabilities.

The Master Case Planning System guides treatment of youth within the YDCs/YFCs. This system requires comprehensive diagnosis and assessment of each youth in care, development of an individualized treatment plan, implementation strategies, periodic reviews and revisions of each plan, and identification of aftercare needs. Individual and group counseling forms the core of the treatment process.

The YDCs/YFCs emphasize programs and activities designed to promote youth competency, victim awareness, social and financial restitution, and public safety and protection. Each program provides training and education in daily living skills. Many YDCs/YFCs also provide actual job training and work experience opportunities where youth may be paid. Youth are required to use a portion of their earnings for restitution.

Education is a major component of the YDC/YFC system. Each program includes both academic and vocational curricula. Educational diagnostic testing precedes all academic placements and is used in the development of Individual Education Plans for each youth.

Program Element: Family Planning and Breast Cancer Screening

Family planning clinics provide educational, medical and social services to persons over age 16 to address contraceptive or infertility issues. Grants are provided to 200 clinics in the state.

Breast cancer screening for low-income women is directed toward those at high risk of developing breast cancer. The target group is new family planning clients, women 35 years and older, and women with a family history of breast cancer.

Program Element: Legal Services

The department contracts with the Pennsylvania Legal Aid Network, a private nonprofit corporation, to provide low-income persons assistance with family, consumer, employment and other civil legal problems. The emphasis of the service delivery is to provide emergency legal services in situations that threaten the basic needs of individuals. These services do not include political activities or services in criminal matters.

Program Element: Domestic Violence and Rape Crisis

Domestic violence services are provided through a contract with a statewide coalition, which in turn, subcontracts for services at the local level. The services to victims of domestic violence include crisis intervention, counseling, victim advocacy, information and referral, and temporary shelter for victims and their dependent children. Prevention and education programs are provided by local groups to lessen the risk of domestic violence in the community.

Rape crisis services are provided through a contract with a statewide coalition, which in turn, subcontracts for services at the local level. Rape crisis programs provide crisis intervention services, counseling, victim advocacy, information and referral, and accompaniment through police, medical and judicial systems. Educational programs are provided to lessen the risk of sexual assault for adults and children in the community.

Program Element: Homeless Assistance

The Homeless Assistance program operates through counties to provide temporary shelter to homeless individuals and rental assistance to those in immediate danger of becoming homeless. Shelter may be provided in large mass shelters or in hotels and motels through a voucher system.

Housing assistance can include a cash payment to an individual or family to prevent or end homelessness, or intervention to prevent homelessness where an eviction is imminent. In addition to preventing homelessness, housing assistance is available to move people out of temporary shelters into permanent housing.

Case management services are used to assure ongoing coordination with the client and to assist the client with activities needed for self-sufficient living.

Specialized residences for the mentally ill homeless are provided in a small number of counties with concentrations of these individuals. The program provides housing for an indefinite period of time, coupled with supportive services that will enable the client to move to a long-term semi-independent or independent living situation.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To promote opportunities for all Pennsylvania children and families by building systems and providing supports that help ensure access to high-quality child and family services.

Program: Child Development

The Department of Public Welfare promotes opportunities for all children and families by helping to ensure access to high-quality child and family services. The focus on effective prevention strategies and high-quality early childhood programs will help Pennsylvania mitigate the social and educational disparities of young children that influence their ability to attain economic independence and self-sufficiency as adults.

Recognizing that child care is a consumer driven system, the department developed standards by which families can select high-quality child care. Keystone STARS is the largest, most comprehensive, voluntary quality rating program in the nation. The department wants every child care setting to meet and exceed the STARS standards and offers technical assistance, financial incentives for staff development and additional staff compensation to enhance salaries for teachers who have achieved credentials in early childhood instruction. All child care facilities serving four or more children must meet health and safety standards and participate in the department's certification program.

The subsidized child care program allows children of families receiving cash assistance through the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) program, families formerly receiving TANF and low-income families to access child care while their parents are attending training or working. The subsidy program uses both state and federal funds to supplement parental co-payments and encourages families to be self-supporting and self-sufficient. Families can select subsidized child care from various facilities including licensed centers, group child care homes, registered family child care homes and relatives or neighbors. Local child care information service agencies offer families a choice of child care services and provide information/counseling on how to select quality early childhood services.

The Early Intervention program, for children from birth to age three, provides services and supports including health care, skill development and social services. These services and supports are intended to minimize developmental delay, decrease the need for special education, and enhance the growth and development of children in the context of the child and family in natural environments so that children are well prepared for school and life success.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To assure the availability of resources for the commonwealth's programs through the equitable and efficient administration of Pennsylvania's revenue system.

Program: Revenue Collection and Administration

This program administers the commonwealth's revenue statutes by assessing and collecting various taxes. Major revenue sources for the General Fund include corporation, personal income, inheritance, sales and use, cigarette, beverage and realty transfer taxes. Tax revenue is also collected for the first and second class county sales taxes and for the Motor License, Racing and Gaming Funds.

The department continues to expand the use of automated procedures thereby permitting quick deposit of funds and review of a tax return's accuracy. It has added automated processes that assist taxpayers in filing accurately and more efficiently. These include the Electronic Tax and Data Exchange System (E-TIDES) and an Internet system for filing business taxes such as sales tax, employer withholding tax, liquid fuels tax, fuel tax and corporation tax extensions and estimates. There are also three electronic systems for filing and payment of personal income tax: by Internet (PA Direct File) by federal / state e-file which allows for the simultaneous filing of federal and state returns; and by telephone (Telefile). Revenue collection efforts are being enhanced to improve violation enforcement and improve business practices. This has permitted the department to keep the cost of collection at approximately $1.00 for every $351.21 in current taxes collected and $1.00 for every $14.44 of delinquent taxes collected.

To ensure fairness in tax administration, the department audits and verifies tax returns to detect fraud and non-filers. In addition, there is an extensive delinquent tax collection effort that involves automation as well as traditional tax collection methods.

This program is responsible for the administration of the State Lottery. Through a network of private retailers, the commonwealth sells lottery tickets, the proceeds of which support programs for older Pennsylvanians. Recent expansions include participation in the multi-state Powerball Game, mid-day drawings and Player-Activated Terminal installations.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To equitably distribute the Public Utility Realty Tax to all reporting local taxing authorities.

Program: Community Development and Preservation

A 1968 amendment to the state constitution exempted public utilities from locally administered property taxes and authorized the collection of a similar statewide tax known as the Public Utility Realty Tax. The proceeds of the tax are distributed to each local taxing authority thereby providing local revenue while ensuring fair treatment for utilities. Act 4 of 1999 revised the definition of public utility property and specifically removed, after December 31, 1999, electricity generation facilities from the definition. This was done in conjunction with electric deregulation which opened market competition and moved away from previous public utility definitions for power generation.

The distribution is based on the ratio between the total tax receipts of a local taxing authority and the total tax receipts of all reporting tax authorities. This ratio is then applied to the total amount of taxes that reporting authorities could have collected had they been able to directly tax public utility realty.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To increase economic stability by assisting eligible Pennsylvania citizens to maintain their homes.

Program: Homeowners and Renters Assistance

This program allows Pennsylvanians 65 years of age or older, surviving spouses over 50 and permanently disabled citizens 18 years of age or older to lead fuller lives by restoring a portion of their income through property tax and rent rebate assistance.

Act 53 of 1985 set the income ceiling for program eligibility at $15,000 per household. The assistance declines from a maximum benefit of 100 percent of the tax or $500 whichever is less. Act 30 of 1999 excludes 50 percent of Social Security Income and Railroad Retirement Benefits from the income eligibility calculation. In 2007-08, the average tax assistance payment was $388.78, and the average rent rebate was $522.90.

Act 1 of Special Session No. 1 of 2006 dramatically expanded the current Property Tax / Rent Rebate program to give more Pennsylvanians a rebate while also increasing the amounts of the rebates. The expansion includes increasing the household income limit from $15,000 to $35,000 and increasing the maximum rebate from $500 to $650.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To reduce fraud and to protect public investors involved in securities transactions as well as to facilitate legitimate capital formation in the state.

Program: Securities Industry Regulation

The primary function of the Pennsylvania Securities Commission is to encourage the financing of legitimate business and industry in the commonwealth while protecting the investing public from fraudulent and unfair practices in the securities industry.

The commission protects the investing public through the registration and regulation of salespersons and companies dealing in securities. It also issues cease and desist orders to persons and corporations attempting to sell securities without approval, as well as pursuing prosecution of violators of the Pennsylvania Securities Act.

The commission works with other state, federal and independent regulatory agencies and the various stock exchanges to develop uniform filing requirements to eliminate duplicative state and federal examination and registration requirements. The commission is increasing the use of information technology to monitor the offering and sale of securities via electronic means. Fees collected from the securities industry support compliance and enforcement activities, as well as a portion of ongoing operations of the commission.

Acts 125 through 132 (inclusive) of 2004 made changes to the Securities Code to clarify, expand and update language to be consistent with current federal statutes and the practices of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission. The acts also allow the Pennsylvania Securities Commission to enhance consumer protection operations and securities regulation.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To protect the consumer from fraudulent solicitation and unqualified professional and occupational practitioners and establishments.

Program: Consumer Protection

The Department of State administers several program elements within the Consumer Protection program.

Program Element: Protection of the Electoral Process

This program element is directed toward ensuring efficiency, honesty and uniformity in the administration of the Election Code. Act 25 of 1995, the Pennsylvania Voter Registration Act, integrated voter registration into driver's license applications and made other voter registration changes to comply with the National Voter Registration Act. Nomination petitions for statewide and legislative offices are reviewed for compliance with statutory standards and are processed for inclusion on the ballot. Campaign expense reports are filed and reviewed as required by the Election Code. The public is provided the opportunity to review the reports. The department tabulates, publishes and disseminates statistics for both voter registration and all elections; it also serves as the repository of the maps and descriptions of the commonwealth's approximately 9,300 election precincts.

Act 61 of 2001 amended the Pennsylvania Voter Registration Act and requires the department to develop a Statewide Uniform Registry of Electors (SURE) – an integrated voter registration database containing all electors in the commonwealth. The act also created an advisory board to establish the requirements of a SURE system.

Other functions in this program include commissioning gubernatorial appointees to boards and commissions and preparing commissions for judges, magisterial district judges and notaries public, as well as enforcement of the Notary Public Law. In addition, a record of all legislation passed by the General Assembly is maintained by docketing the bills and assigning act numbers.

Act 134 of 2006, the Lobbying Disclosure Act, assigns registration and monitoring duties to the department. The act requires that the department receive filings and reports from lobbyists, make this information available to the public, have the information on a Web site, produce annual reports and a biennial directory, conduct audits and provide administrative assistance to the regulating committee.

Program Element: Protection of Professional Licensing

The focus of this program element is on assuring acceptable professional and technical services to the commonwealth's residents. To accomplish this, 29 boards of the Bureau of Professional and Occupational Affairs utilize licensing, enforcement and administrative authority to regulate and service the various professions. The department investigates complaints against licensees for legal or ethical violations that may result in disciplinary action by the boards.

Mechanisms used in controlling the quality of practitioners include regulating education; experience and degree of technical expertise demonstrated through applications; and subsequent written examination and/or demonstrated practical ability. Requirements for continuing education also serve as a means of meeting the constantly changing developments in the various professions and occupations.

Act 124 of 1978 created a restricted Professional Licensure Augmentation Account enabling this program to be funded from fees and fines collected by the Bureau of Professional and Occupational Affairs. Thus, the bureau operates entirely out of restricted funds, considered for budgetary purposes as Other Funds, rather than from a General Fund appropriation.

Act 13 of 2002, the Medical Care Availability and Reduction of Error Act, further provides for medical malpractice liability insurance, tort reform, mandatory reporting by and to state licensing boards and continuing medical education.

Fees are revised according to the specific enabling legislation for each board.

Program Element: Regulation of Consumer Products and Promotion of Fair Business Practices

This program element encompasses the activities of the Corporation Bureau, the Bureau of Charitable Organizations and the State Athletic Commission.

The Corporation Bureau is responsible for both profit and nonprofit business incorporation filings and submission of Uniform Commercial Code (UCC) filings. There are approximately 2.6 million corporate entities in the database and the bureau processes approximately 143,793 new corporations annually. It also registers approximately 66,000 trademarks and fictitious names as well as 129,729 UCC filings annually. The primary goals of the Corporation Bureau are to make the registration process as efficient as possible and to enhance public access in order to promote a more favorable business climate within the commonwealth.

Act 198 of 1990 established a restricted account with funding levels to be executively authorized by the Governor to fund the Corporation Bureau.

The Bureau of Charitable Organizations is responsible for the registration of charitable organizations, professional fundraisers and solicitors, as well as regulation of the actual solicitation and distribution of collected funds. The major objective of the bureau is to increase the awareness and understanding of the Charitable Solicitations Act among Pennsylvania consumers and charitable organizations.

Act 55 of 1997 increased the number of charities required to register with the Department of State and established a system of mandatory arbitration to resolve complaints of unfair competition filed by small businesses against charities.

The State Athletic Commission monitors and regulates all professional and amateur boxing and kickboxing, amateur wrestling contests, and the licensing of all persons who participate in these events. There are 11 categories of licenses issued by the Athletic Commission. These categories include announcer, agent, boxer, judge, manager, matchmaker, physician, promoter (including those promoting professional wrestling), referee, timekeeper and trainer. For the new Mixed Martial Arts (MMA) regulations, SAC is adding several additional licensing categories as follows: MMA boxer, both professional and amateur MMA promoter, MMA referee and MMA judge.

State Employees' Retirement System

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To provide an effective administrative system for the operation of the retirement system for state employees.

Program: State Employees' Retirement

The State Employees' Retirement System was established to administer the pension system created in 1923. Contributions by the employees and the employing agencies are made to the State Employees' Retirement Fund that uses those moneys and interest earnings for payment of annuities and disability benefits and for administration of the system. The State Employees' Retirement Fund is shown in the Special Funds Appendix.

The net assets available for benefits are in excess of $33 billion dollars. The system is funded in accordance with generally accepted actuarial standards; the funding is reviewed annually by a contracted actuarial firm and an experience review is completed every five years.

The three major sources of current income for the system are earnings from investments and employer and member contributions. The employer contribution rate is established annually by the board upon the recommendation of the actuary. Employer contribution rates differ in accordance with the class of employees for which they are contributing. There is additional cost for employees in safety positions, the Legislature and the Judiciary. As a result of Act 9 of 2001, effective January 2002, most system members contribute 6.25 percent of pay to the system, depending upon individual employee election of membership. Normal retirement from the system is at age 60, age 50 for safety employees and members of the Legislature or at any age with 35 years of service. Retirement before those times is possible after five years of service but is actuarially reduced to the equivalent of the annuity which would have been payable at superannuation retirement. Act 40 of 2003 changed the funding period for most of the system's actuarial liabilities from 10 years to 30 years, effectively spreading out the payment of its costs and liabilities. Act 8 of 2007 added a minimum employer contribution rate of 4 percent.

The State Employees' Retirement Board is responsible for the administration of the commonwealth's Deferred Compensation Program that allows commonwealth employees to defer a portion of their salaries to a retirement savings account. The Deferred Compensation Fund is shown in the Special Funds Appendix.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: The State Police enforce the law and preserve the peace through detection of crime and apprehension of criminals, patrol of highways and enforcement of the Vehicle and Liquor Codes.

Program: Public Protection and Law Enforcement

Program Element: Management

This program element provides direction and coordination for all line and staff activities of the State Police, including administrative and overhead systems for the operation of various law enforcement programs. Protection for the Governor and visiting dignitaries, security of the executive residence and background investigations on state job applicants are components of this program.

State-of-the-art technology continues to automate a broad range of State Police functions. The Commonwealth Law Enforcement Assistance Network (CLEAN) is currently being upgraded. CLEAN is used by the commonwealth's criminal justice agencies to access driver license and motor vehicle information, state criminal history record information maintained in the Pennsylvania State Police Central Repository, the commonwealth's central registry for Protection from Abuse orders, "hot" (stolen and wanted) files, law enforcement messaging capabilities, and a host of other services. CLEAN is Pennsylvania's conduit to NCIC, the FBI's National Crime Information Center, and to NLETS, the National Law Enforcement Telecommunications System. Approximately 1.5 million criminal justice information exchange transactions take place via CLEAN daily. In 2003, the Pennsylvania Criminal Intelligence Center (PaCIC) was implemented. The PaCIC provides analytical assistance to Pennsylvania law enforcement agencies. Trained, professional intelligence analysts supply law enforcement agencies with various intelligence/information products needed for tactical and strategic planning. Intelligence analysts also offer access to archived public information, investigative information and intelligence information from a multitude of statewide and national databases.

The State Police operational resources are coordinated through the Problem Specific Policing (PSP) initiative. The PSP is an incident analysis and police management tool that utilizes case data mapping with the goal of reducing traffic crashes and criminal activity. Its aim is to improve the quality of life of citizens. The PSP is built on the principles of accurate and timely statistical data, effective tactics, rapid deployments of existing resources and follow-up assessments.

Program Element: Vehicle Standards Control

The vehicle inspection program within the commonwealth is conducted jointly by the Department of Transportation and the State Police. This program was established to provide vehicle safety through periodic inspection of motor vehicles and removal of unsafe vehicles from the commonwealth's highways. The administrative supervision of motor vehicle safety inspection stations, emissions inspection stations and motor vehicle dealers was transferred to the Department of Transportation on January 1, 1998. State Police continues to administer the school bus and mass transit vehicle inspection function and investigate complaints of improper practices by official inspection stations and motor vehicle dealers.

Program Element: Traffic Supervision

Enforcing the commonwealth's traffic laws is a major responsibility of the State Police. The department emphasizes reducing traffic crashes and bringing the motoring public into voluntary compliance with all traffic laws through patrol and enforcement activities. Traffic patrol and enforcement is provided by the State Police in those municipalities where there are no full-time police departments and on interstate highways. Traffic assistance is also provided, upon request, to municipalities with full-time police departments.

The State Police utilizes various patrol and enforcement techniques; however, the very presence of visible police patrols continues to have the greatest impact on reducing traffic crashes. In this regard, the State Police attempts to allocate patrol activities to those areas and locations with high traffic and crash volume. Supplemental patrolling is provided in construction zones for the safety of motorists and construction workers. Aircraft piloted by State Police troopers routinely monitor the speeds of vehicles on interstate and secondary highways. This method of speed enforcement is especially effective against commercial vehicles and other vehicles equipped with citizen band radios, cell phones and radar detecting devices. Enforcement efforts continue to be concentrated in areas identified by the PSP initiative.

The department continues the use of DUI Sobriety Checkpoints to combat drunk driving. Operation Nighthawk was initiated as a statewide training and enforcement program providing legal updates, development strategies and operational tactics combined with saturation DUI enforcement teams.

The Commonwealth Commercial Vehicle Enforcement program is a responsibility of the Pennsylvania State Police. One permanent facility along Interstate 80 and 26 mobile weight teams throughout the state enforce the commonwealth's vehicle weight and size limitations, as well as safety enforcement. The State Police also conducts the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Assistance Program (MCSAP). MCSAP consists of troopers and civilian enforcement officers throughout the state enforcing federal motor carrier safety regulations. These regulations pertain to drivers, equipment, documents, loads and hazardous materials transportation. Federal regulations are applicable to both interstate and intra-state motor carrier vehicles. In addition, the State Police aggressively conduct a program to reduce the number of truck crashes occurring in Pennsylvania through the Troop Truck Crash Prevention Initiative (TTCPI). TTCPI concentrates on the detection and enforcement of moving traffic violations committed by commercial motor vehicle drivers. The operations are directed toward reducing crashes on specific highways and areas that have been identified as having a high number of commercial vehicle crashes.

In a program sponsored by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, 250 Pennsylvania State Troopers are currently certified as child passenger safety technicians. The State Police maintains permanent child safety fitting stations. Each station conducts inspections on a designated date at posted times at least once a month.

Program Element: Crime Prevention

Combating crime is not the responsibility of police alone. It requires the active, organized involvement of the public if any significant results are to be realized. The State Police crime prevention mission is to reduce the incidence of crime through citizen involvement and educational crime prevention techniques. This includes programs such as neighborhood crime watch groups, block parents and crime stoppers.

The State Police provides assistance to municipalities in suppression of violent crime through the Operation Triggerlock program. Under this program, the State Police work hand-in-hand with federal and local law enforcement officials to purge violent crime from urban neighborhoods. Community involvement, intelligence gathering, the tactical mounted unit and saturation patrols are essential components of this operation.

The Citizens' Police Academy program offers a 10-12 week seminar providing members of the public with an opportunity to learn about various law enforcement issues and resources. Speakers from the Pennsylvania State Police and federal and local agencies discuss a wide range of law enforcement topics.

Program Element: Criminal Law Enforcement

The majority of State Police efforts in criminal law enforcement are performed at the station level and consist of investigations of violence and property crimes. At the statewide level, there are special investigations involving drugs and narcotics, organized crime, terrorism, white-collar crime, public corruption, arson, computer crime and criminal personality profiling.

State Police troopers, along with local, state and federal agencies, target major drug trafficking organizations utilizing a comprehensive strategy that involves intelligence gathering, financial background information, criminal investigation and asset forfeiture proceedings.

The Pennsylvania State Police oversee and coordinate a non-family child abduction alert notification system called the Pennsylvania Amber Alert Plan. This utilizes the Emergency Alert System to inform the public of an abduction of a child under the age of 16 or under the age of 18 with a proven mental or physical disability and, in certain instances, which the police believe the child is in danger of serious bodily harm or death.

A Computer Crime Unit provides investigative assistance to all local, state and federal law enforcement agencies in cases where a computer has been utilized for a criminal purpose. The unit is equipped with the newest technology and is comprised of several full-time and part-time computer crime investigators assigned at strategic locations throughout the state. The Computer Crime Unit also provides educational information for local law enforcement agencies and prosecutors.

Program Element: Emergency Assistance

The State Police are normally called upon whenever any emergency situation occurs within the commonwealth. The department has primary police jurisdiction in 83 percent of the commonwealth's land area, comprising 27 percent of its population and also provides assistance to a variety of local and state agencies, particularly law enforcement agencies. The department classifies emergency assistance into two separate categories: civil disorder and emergency management.

Civil disorders are incidents that may become criminal in nature in such categories as prison disturbances, labor disorders, strikes, campus-school disorders, youth group disorders, terrorism and hostage situations. Emergency management deals with prevention, mitigation and response to natural and/or man-made hazards to prevent loss of life or property, economic loss and disruption of normal living conditions.

The Domestic Security Office (DSO), formed in October 2002, administers and coordinates numerous homeland and domestic security responsibilities. DSO has four primary missions: emergency planning and preparedness, liaison to the Governor's Office of Homeland Security, facility security for department installations, and risk and vulnerability assessments for facilities and critical infrastructures.

The Special Emergency Response Team (SERT) is comprised of carefully selected, uniquely trained and specially equipped troopers responsible for an incident-specific approach to high-risk and special emergency situations. Specially trained K-9 dog teams provide drug, arson and explosive detection during emergency incidents. The department's fleet of eight helicopters and seven airplanes are frequently called upon to provide assistance during emergencies. The State Police have also established a Hazardous Device and Explosive Section as a response to bomb threats and similar security issues.

Program Element: Liquor Control and Gaming Enforcement

The Bureau of Liquor Control Enforcement directs and controls a coordinated enforcement effort toward violations of the Pennsylvania Liquor Code and related sections of the Crimes Code. Operations include covert and overt investigations, assisting municipal police agencies, conducting routine license investigations and performing establishment audits and border patrols. The State Police have implemented a high school and middle school education program to deter minors from using alcoholic beverages. The State Police also conduct the Enforcing the Underage Drinking Laws program to effect a change in the culture of college students to reduce binge drinking and deglamorize underage drinking. The project consists of establishing partnerships with college administrators, college students, the alcohol industry and community members to determine and implement effective measures to reduce the harmful consequences caused by underage and binge drinking.

Act 71 of 2004, the Pennsylvania Race Horse Development and Gaming Act, established the Gaming Control Board to regulate and oversee the implementation and operation of limited gaming activities within the commonwealth. The Pennsylvania State Police responsibilities under the act include investigating and prosecuting criminal infractions, conducting various background checks, and, with the Gaming Control Board, enforcing gaming laws, including a presence at all gaming facilities.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To provide an effective administrative system to assess taxable real property value which is the basis for an equitable distribution of tax funds to support education services.

Program: Education Support Services

The Tax Equalization Board is an independent administrative board created to ensure equitable distribution of tax funds among the state's school districts. The board, in accordance with Act 147 of 1947, determines annually the aggregate market value of taxable real property in each of the more than 2,500 municipalities and 501 school districts in the commonwealth and certifies the market value to the Secretary of Education. The results are used in determining distribution of state subsidies to school districts and local libraries, limitations on real estate taxes in school districts located in more than one county, tax limitations in financing community colleges and overall tax limitations for political subdivisions and school districts. The program includes holding hearings and analyzing real estate values and transactions. Act 267 of 1982 requires the board to establish annually a common level ratio of assessed value to market value in each county for the prior calendar year.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To provide an effective administrative system supporting both non-highway and highway transportation programs.

Program: Transportation Support Services

This program provides for administrative and overhead services that support the operation of programs necessary for the achievement of commonwealth objectives and strategic focus areas.

Highway-related activities include developing basic guidelines for all highway programs. This includes directing and coordinating specific construction, maintenance and safety and licensing activities. Support is also provided in legal counsel, budget, policy, personnel, procurement, information systems and public relations matters. The work of the Inspector General's Office, the State Transportation Commission and the Transportation Advisory Committee is also included here.

The non-highway related activities include providing administrative coordination, planning and support for all urban, rural and intercity mass transit and rail freight transportation. This program also provides oversight of the Public Transportation Assistance Fund created by Act 26 of 1991 and the Public Transportation Trust Fund created by Act 44 of 2007. To promote efficient and effective urban mass transit, the program conducts analyses of local transit operations and procedures, coordination and funding of urban planning and study projects and reviews of local operating subsidy and capital grant projects. Activities designed to continue and improve rail and bus service between Pennsylvania's urbanized areas and bus service in rural areas include preparing and coordinating needs studies, analyzing existing and proposed service levels and evaluating the overall effectiveness of the program.

Also funded within this program are various initiatives to pilot and test new technologies, material and equipment to achieve a broad range of goals including improved traffic congestion and safety, longer life cycles for pavements and road markings and improved efficiency in winter maintenance operations. The Agility program, which fosters new, innovative road improvements through interaction between the department and local governments, is being expanded to include metropolitan and rural road networks.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To provide a safe and efficient state-administered highway network through road and bridge improvements, as well as through ongoing maintenance activities including winter traffic services.

Program: Highways and Bridges

Program Element: Highway and Bridge Construction/Reconstruction

This program contributes to the economic vitality of the commonwealth and to the mobility of its residents through major construction or reconstruction of highways and bridges on the state-owned network.

Work is performed on heavily traveled interstate and primary routes, as well as on state roads and bridges that are not part of the federal aid system. With funding available from federal aid, local construction contributions and state revenues, the Department of Transportation has the responsibility of developing and executing a program that will correct the most critical deficiencies on the state-administered roadway network, including projects to enhance safety and mobility.

Recognizing the importance of highway bridges to Pennsylvania's transportation infrastructure, the General Assembly created a special bridge program in Act 234 of 1982. Projects to rehabilitate and replace structures are listed in the Highway, Railroad and Highway Bridge Capital Budget Act for 1982-1983 and its subsequent amendments. Currently, the commonwealth maintains approximately 25,000 state-owned bridges that are more than eight feet in length.

Decisions on regional allocations and project selection for construction and reconstruction investments are determined through two public processes. State law (Act 120 of 1970) requires that a Twelve-Year Transportation program be developed and updated every two years. The Twelve-Year program is divided into three four-year sections with projects in the first four years of the Twelve-Year program considered to be "active" projects. Federal surface transportation legislation that authorizes grants to states also addresses planning, program development and management. This federal legislation and its implementing regulations require regional Metropolitan and Rural Transportation Planning Organizations to be partners in the development of fiscally constrained transportation programs. The department, the State Transportation Commission and the Metropolitan and Rural Transportation Planning Organizations closely coordinate public input and public comment efforts during the biennial transportation program update. All regionally developed Transportation Improvement programs are combined to form the federally mandated Statewide Transportation Improvement program, which is then considered to be the first four-year segment of the commonwealth's Twelve-Year Transportation program. This constitutes a mutually agreed upon list of priority projects for each region of Pennsylvania.

Current Four-Year Project Distribution
(October 2008 – September 2012)

A base level of state highway and bridge improvement activity is funded by annual appropriations from the Motor License Fund. These appropriations are supplemented by a series of dedicated revenue sources approved by the General Assembly. The first of these was created in Act 234 of 1982, which established a separate account within the Motor License Fund to be used exclusively for highway bridge rehabilitation and replacement. Bridge improvements are funded through a portion of the annual registration fees for commonwealth-registered vehicles having a gross weight in excess of 26,000 pounds and through a 55 mill Oil Company Franchise Tax. Additional dedicated revenue sources were provided in Act 26 of 1991 and Act 3 of 1997. The Act 26 Oil Company Franchise Tax is allocated among several programs including a portion for state highway and bridge improvement and a portion for bridge rehabilitation and replacement. Most of the Act 3 vehicle registration fee increases are directed toward state highway and bridge improvement. The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission receives funding from both Act 26 and Act 3 for use on toll road expansion projects.

Act 44 of 2007 provides additional revenue for this program from a lease agreement with the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission. The legislation specifies that funding be provided each fiscal year for an expanded highway and bridge program. These revenues are deposited in the Motor License Fund and will be appropriated annually by the General Assembly. All funds will be spent for project work with priority on preserving and rehabilitating bridges, resurfacing roadways, improving safety and using technology to improve traffic operations.

Program Element: State Highway and Bridge Maintenance

Pennsylvania, with the fifth largest state-owned roadway network in the nation, experiences high volumes of interstate traffic and is subject to severe winter weather. These factors contribute to significant highway and bridge maintenance challenges.

Road and bridge repairs, as well as preventive maintenance activities that prolong the useful life of existing infrastructure, are performed by department forces or by private contractors. Roadway treatments range from crack sealing and patching to more extensive surface treatment that may include resurfacing, stabilization and lower-cost betterment projects. Bridge activity ranges from deck washing and cleaning drainage outlets to repair and preventive maintenance of deck surface and structural components.

The department emphasizes durable resurfacing of high-volume routes that serve interstate and regional commerce, intermodal transportation facilities and major population centers. Bridge activities focus on ensuring the safety of the motoring public and minimizing closures or weight restrictions by performing repairs and preservation work. Winter snow and ice control require considerable resources to keep routes under the jurisdiction of the department in a safe and passable condition. Other routine maintenance and betterment work includes safety improvements such as skid resistant pavement applications, left turn lanes, intersection sight improvements, shoulder and curve upgrades and guiderail updates. Maintenance work not directly involved with the roadway surface itself includes activities such as pipe replacement, ditch cleaning, mowing, vegetation control and tree trimming.

Unscheduled maintenance services must be performed in response to flooding, wind storms, landslides, sinkholes and similar acts of nature. These include clean-up and repair of storm damage, which can range from isolated low-cost work to significant restoration projects across many counties. An event that is declared a national disaster becomes eligible for federal assistance which typically covers about half of the total costs incurred. Owners of motor vehicles that cause damage to bridges, guiderails or other transportation assets are required to reimburse the maintenance program for the costs incurred as a result of an accident.

The condition of highways and bridges is monitored on an ongoing basis to ensure safety and to assess needs. Highway pavement conditions on the National Highway System are reviewed each year while less traveled routes are evaluated every other year. Under the National Bridge Inspection Standards program, the commonwealth is responsible for reporting the status of all Pennsylvania highway bridges greater than 20 feet in length. Bridges must be inspected at least every two years, but more frequent inspections are scheduled as warranted by the condition of individual structures. The department conducts a bridge inspection training and certification program while contracting with an external consultant to certify and enhance the quality of inspections. Some local bridges are inspected by the department, and the cost is deducted from Motor License Fund grants to these political subdivisions as has been authorized by the General Assembly.

The department issues special permits to truck operators for the use of certain highways and bridges with weight or operating restrictions. By issuing these permits, the department is able to facilitate the movement of goods over Pennsylvania's roadways without adversely affecting the structural integrity of highways and bridges or the safe and convenient passage of traffic.

An accident analysis program uses computer programs to identify those highway locations that have experienced statistically more accidents than similar roads with similar traffic volumes. Another program identifies locations that have had an inordinate number of accidents in which vehicles ran off the road or hit fixed objects. These programs provide a systematic means of selecting the highest priority sites for maintenance and reconstruction work.

A base level of state highway and bridge maintenance activity is funded by ongoing annual appropriations from the Motor License Fund. These appropriations are supplemented by a dedicated share of Oil Company Franchise tax rate increases enacted in Act 26 of 1991 and in Act 3 of 1997. In addition, the General Assembly has approved special maintenance-related appropriations for accelerated restoration, preventive maintenance and emergency repair based on the financial status of the Motor License Fund.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To assist local governments in the maintenance and construction of their portion of the total highway and bridge system.

Program: Local Highway and Bridge Assistance

The commonwealth provides a number of programs to assist municipal and county governments in the maintenance and construction of their roads and bridges. The majority of state funds are distributed by statutory formula, while federal funds are allocated in partnership with metropolitan and rural transportation planning organizations.

A portion of the revenues from motor fuel taxes is directed by law to municipal payments. Of the flat 12 cent tax on gasoline and diesel fuel, 20 percent is set aside for local governments. The Oil Company Franchise Tax which was created by Act 35 of 1981 provides a 20 percent share to municipalities. Act 26 of 1991 and Act 3 of 1997 provide a 12 percent share of the revenue received from those increased tax rates. The distribution of funds to the commonwealth's 2,563 municipalities is made in accordance with a statutory formula established in Act 655 of 1956 based on 50 percent road mileage and 50 percent population. Grants may be used for a broad range of highway and bridge activities as set forth in the 1956 legislation. The department provides technical assistance to local governments and is responsible for assuring that expenditures are made in accordance with Act 655.

Municipalities benefit from the receipts generated from three other revenue sources. The funds are distributed to municipalities using the same 50 percent road mileage and 50 percent population distribution formula. The largest of these is a $30 million annual appropriation created in Act 44 of 2007 with funding from the lease agreement with the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission. An additional $14 million per year comes from the collection of certain Vehicle Code fines that are split between the state and local governments. The third revenue source is a $5 million Supplemental Local Roads Maintenance and Construction Payments appropriation which was established by Act 68 of 1980.

The General Assembly authorized improvements to both state and local bridges through the Highway, Railroad and Highway Bridge Capital Budget Act of 1982-1983 and subsequent amendments. A restricted account was established in the Motor License Fund which receives revenue from a portion of the Oil Company Franchise Tax and annual registration fees from commonwealth-registered vehicles having a gross weight in excess of 26,000 pounds. For the local program, both municipalities and counties are eligible for grants on the more than 6,300 bridges greater than 20 feet long that are owned by these political subdivisions. Projects are selected by metropolitan or rural planning organizations and must be approved in the commonwealth's capital budget.

The highway transfer program began with Act 32 of 1983 to restore and turn back local service roads. A restricted account was created in the Motor License Fund which receives a portion of Oil Company Franchise Tax receipts. At the onset of the program, approximately 12,000 miles of roads on the state-owned system were identified as candidates for return to local government control. This is a voluntary program in which the department pays to upgrade a road segment to acceptable standards, transfers ownership to the political subdivision and provides a $4,000 per mile per year subsidy for future maintenance. Since inception of the program in 1983, more than 4,700 miles of these roads have been returned to local government control.

There are three programs specifically directed toward county governments. The largest of these goes back to 1931 with the creation of the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund from a half cent of the 12 cent flat tax on gasoline and diesel fuel. About $33 million is distributed to the 67 counties each fiscal year based on a statutory formula. A second program of about $4.6 million is funded from a share of the Oil Company Franchise Tax which was set aside in Act 26 of 1991 to assist economically distressed counties in funding the local share of bridge improvement projects. A third program was added in Act 44 of 2007 for maintenance and construction of county bridges with funding from the lease agreement with the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission. Act 44 specifies the distribution of the $5 million annual appropriation be calculated based on the percentage of bridge deck area in each of the 67 counties compared to the total for all counties in the state.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To support public transportation, intercity bus, intercity rail and aviation options that improve the mobility and the quality of life for urban and rural Pennsylvanians, and enhance economic activity throughout the commonwealth.

Program: Intermodal Transportation

Act 44 of 2007 significantly changed the way public transportation is funded in Pennsylvania. The foundation of the law rests on providing dedicated and predictable funding through the Public Transportation Trust Fund, which is linked to need and performance. This law also repealed and replaced much of the public transportation provisions enacted in Act 3 of 1997, Act 26 of 1991 and Act 10 of 1976. It strengthened the department's oversight authority and requires transit agencies to be more accountable.

The Public Transportation Trust Fund consists of five separate accounts. The Transit Operating Assistance account provides grants to service providers for transit operations. Capital assistance comes from three accounts: the Asset Improvement program, the Capital Improvements program and New Initiatives (for fixed guideway systems such as commuter rail or dedicated bus lanes). The Programs of Statewide Significance account supports a variety of programs including Rural Transportation for Persons with Disabilities, intercity bus and rail, Welfare to Work and Job Access Reverse Commute, technical assistance and demonstration projects and rail safety oversight.

Primary revenue sources for the Public Transportation Trust Fund are a 4.4 percent share of the state sales tax, proceeds from the lease agreement with the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission and transfers from the Lottery Fund. Transit agencies receive additional state funds from the Public Transportation Assistance Fund and from Capital Facilities Fund bond proceeds. Urban systems receive federal funds directly from the Federal Transit Administration, while federal grants to rural service providers are administered by the department and are reflected in commonwealth budget totals.

Program Element: Public Transportation

Public transportation service within Pennsylvania is provided by 36 transit systems. Operating grants to these organizations are determined by a base allocation calculated on pre-Act 44 subsidy data and supplemental funding coming from four performance factors. The factors are total passengers, senior passengers, revenue vehicle miles and revenue vehicle hours. In order to be eligible for operating assistance, transit agencies eventually will be required to collect a 15 percent local match.

Three capital assistance programs are available to transit operators. The Asset Improvement program is discretionary and requires a local match of 3¹/₃ percent. The Capital Improvements program is allocated by formula to transit systems based on the number of passengers and requires no local match. Finally, the New Initiatives program may be funded at the discretion of the department by transfer of monies from the Asset Improvement program. New Initiatives may include new or expanded fixed guideway projects with a local match of 3¹/₃ percent.

In addition to traditional transit operations, the commonwealth supports affordable access to designated groups whose mobility would otherwise be limited. This includes programs for persons with disabilities, older Pennsylvanians (discussed under the Older Pennsylvanians Transit program element) and workers who can benefit from welfare to work or reverse commute services.

The Persons with Disabilities program provides discounted fares on shared ride services to individuals who do not have access to other publicly funded transportation. Act 44 authorized expansion of this programs to all eligible counties. Allegheny and Philadelphia counties, with their extensive fixed route networks and complementary paratranservice, are not included. In 2007-08, individuals with disabilities scheduled more than 242,000 shared ride trips at discounted fares.

Welfare to Work and Job Access Reverse Commute were originally created as federal programs to connect workers to their place of employment. As federal grant amounts declined, continued service was in jeopardy without additional state support. Prior to Act 44, the commonwealth reallocated resources to maintain these programs. Funding through the Public Transportation Trust Fund now provides a reliable, long-term mechanism to address program needs.

Program Element: Older Pennsylvanians Transit

The commonwealth's older citizens have benefited from greater mobility through the implementation of the Free Transit program in 1973 and the subsequent addition of the Shared Ride program in 1980. Both programs are funded from a portion of the revenues received from state lottery sales.

Under the State Lottery Law, Pennsylvanians who are 65 years of age or older are eligible for free rides on participating local fixed route operations. Act 44 eliminated peak travel time restrictions so that free service is now available during all operating hours. Proceeds from the Lottery Fund are transferred to the Public Transportation Trust Fund for distribution by the department to transit systems as part of their annual operating assistance grant.

The Shared Ride program for older Pennsylvanians, authorized by Act 101 of 1980 and amended by Act 36 of 1991, enables citizens 65 years or older to use demand responsive service at a significant discount of fares. The department contracts with shared-ride service providers who operate on a non-fixed route basis. Riders pay 15 percent of the applicable fare for their respective trips. This program continues to be administered directly from the Lottery Fund, which reimburses shared-ride transit operators the remaining 85 percent of the shared-ride fare.

The Free Transit and Shared Ride programs recognize the limited availability of private transportation for older Pennsylvanians and their reliance upon public transportation. Given that many retired persons must live within a fixed and limited income, these programs enhance the ability of older Pennsylvanians to remain connected with local services and community life.

Program Element: Intercity Transportation

This program element includes intercity bus service operated by private bus companies and intercity rail passenger service operated by Amtrak.

The commonwealth's intercity bus program supports operations on routes where, without state assistance, essential service would be terminated. In 2007-08, over 432,000 passengers utilized commonwealth subsidized intercity bus services. As private operators propose termination of such services, the department evaluates the economic and social impacts of service termination and determines the merits of public subsidy. Federal funds also are used to support intercity bus operations and supplement the existing state-sponsored program.

Intercity rail passenger service in Pennsylvania, as distinguished from local or regional commuter service, is presently provided by the National Railroad Passenger Corporation (Amtrak). The majority of the service is operated as part of Amtrak's national system without financial assistance from the commonwealth. To provide additional service, the department has contracted with Amtrak to supplement Amtrak's national system schedule in the Harrisburg to Philadelphia Corridor (Keystone Corridor). This financial assistance helps to support 79 one-way trains per week on the Keystone Corridor, with over a million passenger trips expected through this service in 2008-09.

Program Element: Rail Freight

Commonwealth involvement in rail freight began in the mid-1970's as a result of the bankruptcy of seven northeastern and midwestern railroad companies. Congress provided interim federal funding to help states retain service and preserve track on priority routes slated for abandonment. Act 119 of 1984, the Rail Freight Preservation and Improvement Act, established an ongoing state program in recognition of the economic impact of rail freight service on local communities. Short line railroad corporations were formed to acquire and operate these lines so that businesses would continue to have access to low-cost, bulk commodity shipping. Act 119 authorized the department to issue grants to these entities for acquisition, accelerated maintenance and new construction. Pennsylvania now has about 65 short line and regional railroad corporations, which is more than any other state.

To address the fact that many rail lines throughout the commonwealth were in a state of disrepair, two programs were initiated to assist railroad owners with infrastructure improvements. The Rail Freight Assistance program is funded from an annual General Fund appropriation, and the Transportation Assistance program is funded from Capital Facilities Fund bond proceeds. Grants may be issued to private railroads, companies utilizing rail in their shipping process, and public authorities or municipalities that are conduits for rail activities. The Rail Freight Assistance program and Transportation Assistance program have been used to improve track, make acquisitions and construct new rail facilities. The benefits from these programs include economic development (private investment and associated jobs), environmental quality (fuel efficiency with low emissions), less congestion on the highways (an alternate mode for goods movement), and land use opportunities (redevelopment of existing commercial sites).

Program Element: Aviation

Aviation plays a major role in the movement of passengers and cargo throughout the commonwealth, with 134 public use airports and heliports. These include 15 with scheduled passenger service, all of which are operated by local governments or authorities. In addition to facilitating the movement of people and goods, aviation facilities bring substantial economic benefits to the state. According to a 2002 study, aviation contributes over $12 billion of economic benefits to Pennsylvania annually and is responsible for over 280,000 jobs, representing $5.6 billion in payrolls to Pennsylvania workers.

The department provides programs to improve the safety and effectiveness of the commonwealth's aviation network, including an airport inspection and licensing program.

The department administers federal and state grant programs for the commonwealth's public use airports. Two state funded grant programs are funded from the Aviation Restricted Revenue Account, into which taxes on jet fuel and aviation sold in the commonwealth are deposited.

These grant programs include:

- An airport development grant program for public use airports to meet safety, security, capacity, environmental and planning needs.
- A real estate tax rebate program for public airports, funded from the statewide aviation fuel tax.

The commonwealth is one of only nine states chosen as a federal block grant state. The commonwealth, through the department, is receiving approximately $18 million each year from the Federal Aviation Administration to distribute to qualifying airports throughout the commonwealth.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To minimize traffic accidents attributable to driver error and mechanically defective vehicles and to promote highway safety programs.

Program: Safety Administration and Licensing

The Safety Administration and Licensing program is responsible for a number of front-line customer services that affect most of Pennsylvania's adult population. The department is responsible for processing applications and collecting fees for all vehicle registrations, titles and operator licenses. Last year, over 11.2 million vehicles were registered under Pennsylvania's annual renewal cycle. This total included over 196,000 heavy trucks greater than 17,000 pounds and more than 162,000 trailers greater than 10,000 pounds. The number of licensed drivers has remained consistent over the past few years at 8.6 million, including 426,000 commercial drivers. The four-year driver's license expiration cycle is staggered so that about 2.1 million renewals are processed each year. The Safety Administration and Licensing program oversees operator and vehicular licensing activities such testing, inspections and revocations. The department also operates the Driver's License Examination program. Over 840,000 driving knowledge and skills tests were conducted in 2007-08, to certify applicants to operate passenger and commercial vehicles and motorcycles. A statewide network of facilities conducts written, oral and skills tests. Generally, around 310,000 new drivers are licensed each year, either as first-time drivers or drivers from other states.

The safety inspection program for the commonwealth's more than 11 million motor vehicles is intended to minimize traffic accidents due to mechanical failure. As required by the Federal Clean Air Act amendments of 1990, the commonwealth operates an annual Vehicle Emissions Inspection program in 25 counties affecting approximately 6.6 million vehicles. These counties are: Allegheny, Beaver, Berks, Blair, Bucks, Cambria, Centre, Chester, Cumberland, Dauphin, Delaware, Erie, Lackawanna, Lancaster, Lebanon, Lehigh, Luzerne, Lycoming, Mercer, Montgomery, Northampton, Philadelphia, Washington, Westmoreland and York. In the remaining 42 counties not required to participate in the emissions inspection program, the annual safety inspection program incorporates a visual anti-tampering check for the presence of federally-required emission control components that were installed on the vehicle by the manufacturer. Pennsylvania enforcement officials are responsible for the issuance of citations for Vehicle Code violations. Over one-half of the 1.7 million citations issued annually result in the department having to take some action against a driver or vehicle record. In addition to assigning points for driver infractions, the department suspends or recalls driver's licenses for an accumulation of points. Commercial drivers may be sanctioned by having their commercial driving privilege revoked for certain offenses if committed in a commercial motor vehicle.

The Safety Administration and Licensing program also administers provisions of the National Voter Registration Act of 1993, better known as "Motor Voter," and the commonwealth's Organ Donor program.

The department also processes cancellation notices received from insurance companies. Notification of cancellation prompts the department to have registrants revalidate proper insurance coverage for the vehicle. This process combined with the authority granted to enforcement officials to cite motorists detected as not having insurance can result in a revocation or suspension of vehicle registration. A total of 152,000 vehicle suspensions were imposed during fiscal year 2007-08 for insurance infractions.

The department currently has 98 offices statewide that offer driver examination and/or photo licensing services and is working with private business to further decentralize its driver and vehicle services to improve access. In 2007-08, 2.3 million customers visited driver license centers and over 3 million customers came to get their pictures taken for their photo license and photo ID cards. The computerized online messenger program, which connects the private business with the department, has been the cornerstone of the decentralization effort. Currently there are 243 messenger sites, processing 1.3 million driver's license and motor vehicle transactions annually. Other efforts to improve service include more efficient linkage between the department and automobile dealers, leasing and rental agencies and fleet owners for the immediate processing of registration and titling transactions. Customers can also process transactions on the department's Internet renewal system. During 2007-08, 2.8 million customers renewed their non-commercial driver's license, photo identification card or vehicle registration via the Internet.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE: To provide the citizens of the commonwealth with prompt and equitable justice.

Program: State Judicial System

The judicial power of the commonwealth is vested in a court system consisting of the Supreme Court, Superior Court, Commonwealth Court, Courts of Common Pleas, Philadelphia Municipal Court, Pittsburgh Municipal Court, Traffic Court of Philadelphia and Magisterial District Judges (formerly termed “District Justices”).

At the first level in the court system are the special courts. In counties other than Philadelphia, these courts are presided over by Magisterial District Judges who have jurisdiction over summary criminal cases, landlord-tenant matters and other civil actions where the amount claimed does not exceed $8,000. They also have jurisdiction to issue warrants, hold arraignments and preliminary hearings in all criminal cases and accept guilty pleas under certain circumstances.

Although Magisterial District Judges need not be lawyers, they must complete an educational course and pass a qualifying examination administered by the Minor Judiciary Education Board (MJEB) in order to be certified. They must also participate in one week of continuing education each year.

In Philadelphia, the minor courts are the Municipal Court and the Traffic Court. Municipal Court is a court of record whose 25 judges must be lawyers. Its limited jurisdiction is analogous to that of the Magisterial District Judges. The Philadelphia Traffic Court, composed of seven judges who need not be lawyers, has jurisdiction over all summary offenses under the Motor Vehicle Code and related city ordinances. Like Magisterial District Judges, Traffic Court judges must complete the certifying course and pass the qualifying examination administered by the MJEB and fulfill the annual continuing education requirement.

The Supreme Court established by Order an administrative judicial unit within the Fifth Judicial District (Allegheny County) known as “Pittsburgh Municipal Court.” The court was created in January 2005. Most matters that were previously assigned to Pittsburgh Magistrates Court have been assigned to this court. The Pittsburgh Municipal Court is staffed by Magisterial District Judges from districts throughout Allegheny County (including the City of Pittsburgh) who are assigned to sit on the court by the president judge of this Fifth Judicial District.

The second level in the court system are the Courts of Common Pleas. These courts are the courts of general trial jurisdiction. They have original jurisdiction over all cases that are not exclusively assigned to another court. Appellate jurisdiction extends to appeals from final orders of the lower courts and appeals from certain state and most local government agencies.

In general, at the third level of the court system are appeals from the Courts of Common Pleas. These appeals are taken to one of the two lower level appellate courts. Commonwealth Court has jurisdiction over appeals involving government agencies and officials, as well as many matters involving not-for-profit corporations. It also has original jurisdiction over Election Code matters and cases involving state officials. Superior Court has jurisdiction over all direct appeals that are not within the specific statutory jurisdiction of another appellate court.

There are two appellate courts in Pennsylvania at this third level. The lower level consists of the Superior Court and the Commonwealth Court.

At the highest level is Pennsylvania’s court of last resort: the Supreme Court with seven justices including the Chief Justice. The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania was established by the Pennsylvania Provincial Assembly in 1722.

In accordance with the state constitution and statute, there is a two-tiered independent judicial disciplinary system. The role of the first tier, the Judicial Conduct Board, is to investigate complaints regarding the conduct of judges. Hearings are conducted by the second tier, the Court of Judicial Discipline, to determine whether a sanction should be imposed upon a member of the Judiciary.

As defined by the state constitution, statute and court rule, the Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts (AOPC) is the administrative arm of the Supreme Court, assisting that Court in its oversight responsibility of the Commonwealth’s Unified Judicial System. The AOPC provides services for approximately 2,100 members of the judiciary and staff, including budgeting, accounting, benefits and retirement counseling, legal representation, policy guidance, technical advice, education, research, legislative affairs, communications, administration and judicial automation.

The Supreme Court has initiated a number of programs in recent years to facilitate the administration of justice within the commonwealth. Among the more recent of these is the creation within AOPC of the Office for Children and Families in the Court, which assists courts statewide in providing neglected and abused children with safe and permanent homes in as brief a time as possible; the court interpreter program; an assistance program for judicial districts engaged in the process of starting, expanding or maintaining special problem-solving courts, such as drug courts; and an expanded education program for judges. Responsibility for these programs is vested in the AOPC.

The Judicial Computer System has the ultimate goal of computerization of the entire judiciary. Automated systems presently in place are the Magisterial District Judges System which serves the 548 Magisterial District Judge offices; the Pennsylvania Appellate Courts Case Management System, which is the integrated, automated case management system that serves the three appellate courts; and the Administrative Services Application Program which serves the court's administrative needs, including accounting, budgeting, payroll and human resources functions. The Common Pleas Criminal Case Management System (CPCMS), which automates the trial courts throughout Pennsylvania, was completed in September 2006. The next phases will extend automation to the civil courts. The Judiciary has been an active participant in the commonwealth's multi-agency Integrated Criminal Justice Network (commonly known as JNET) from its inception and provides it with important data from its automated systems.

CAPITAL BUDGET Program Summary

This section contains the 2009-10 Capital Budget and Five Year Capital Program. The proposed funding sources and amounts needed to support capital programs are projected for five fiscal years.

All projects are grouped by categories regardless of the source of funding. The categories, as explained below, are consistently used for projects which are to be funded by commonwealth debt obligations, current revenues and funds received from other jurisdictions. Funding source distinctions are clearly noted throughout the section which itemizes the recommended capital program.

Public Improvement Projects — This category includes various types of new buildings and renovation projects. Also included are nonstructural improvements and the acquisition of land. The design and construction for the majority of these projects is administered by the Department of General Services. However, Keystone Recreation, Park and Conservation and the Environmental Stewardship Projects are administered by the Department of Conservation and Natural Resources.

Public Improvement—Original Furniture and Equipment Projects — This category provides for the equipping of newly completed public improvement projects by purchasing original movable furniture and equipment through the Department of General Services. Replacement furniture and equipment to be used in existing buildings are purchased as fixed assets through agency operating budgets.

Transportation Assistance Projects — These projects include: (a) the purchase of rolling stock and construction or improvement of facilities operated by mass transportation agencies throughout the commonwealth; (b) the acquisition, construction and equipping of rural and intercity common carrier surface transportation systems or any components thereof; and (c) air transportation systems. These projects are administered by the Department of Transportation.

Redevelopment Assistance Projects — This category provides grants for the acquisition of land and the construction of buildings and other property appurtenances for municipal agencies and authorities for economic development and the prevention and elimination of blight.

Flood Control Projects — This category provides the state's share of federal flood control works and improvements to prevent floods and to preserve, control and regulate the flow of rivers and streams in the commonwealth. These projects are administered by the Department of Environmental Protection.

Highway Projects — This category includes the design, purchase of rights-of-way, construction, reconstruction and other improvements to highways and bridges on the state highway system. These projects are designed and constructed by the Department of Transportation.

Capital Budget Financing — As is indicated wherever necessary, many capital projects are financed by current revenues either from dedicated sources or appropriations through operating budgets. However, most of the authorizations recommended in the capital budget are debt financed for varying terms by General Obligation Bonds. See the Public Debt Section (Section G) for further discussion of Debt Policy.

2009-10 New Project Authorizations — This section itemizes and describes the new capital projects recommended for authorization in 2009-10 and their proposed source of funding. The projects are listed by department and capital project category.

Impact on Operating Costs — The description of each capital project recommended for authorization contains a statement concerning the impact on program operating costs expected from the implementation of the capital project. With certain exceptions, the statement indicates little or no effect on operating costs. This is due to the fact that most capital projects involve the renovation or replacement of existing facilities. Consequently, any operating cost impact is derived from such items as efficiencies in energy consumption and avoided maintenance. These items, when viewed in terms of the total agency or program budget, generally tend to be negligible. An exception is when a very large scale project is implemented which will dramatically change these and other elements of an operating budget. In these cases, the expected change in operating expenses is quantified. An additional case in which the net change in operating cost will be quantified is where new construction will result in a significant increase in the capital asset base. In this case, the estimated effect on operating costs will be shown with the capital project when recommended for authorization. A more precise figure will be recommended in the agency's operating budget when the project has been completed which is usually several years after a capital project is authorized.

There are several categories of capital authorizations for which no estimate of operating cost impact is provided. Among these are the categories of Redevelopment Assistance, Flood Control, Transportation Assistance and flood protection projects undertaken as part of the Public Improvement category. These projects constitute improvements to the property of other entities, primarily local jurisdictions such as cities, boroughs townships, etc. Any change in operating costs will, therefore, be borne by an entity other than the commonwealth. One other category of capital authorizations which will not provide a statement of operating cost impact is Highway and Bridge projects. This is because the bulk of capital spending in this category is for the rehabilitation of the existing highway network rather than the addition of new mileage. As rehabilitation takes place, previously high maintenance costs are avoided. These avoided maintenance costs are then shifted to other segments of roadway where repair needs are relatively great. As a result, the total highway operating budget experiences very little net change.

Forecast of Future Projects — This section contains a dollar forecast of new capital projects to be requested during each of the fiscal years 2010-11 through 2013-14. The projections are grouped by department and capital project category.

Estimate of Capital Expenditures — This section provides an estimate of expenditures for capital projects during each of the next five fiscal years. Since design, acquisition and construction of a project are not generally completed during the fiscal year in which the project is initiated, actual expenditures usually occur over several fiscal years. The estimated expenditures determine the amount of bonds which must be issued or the current revenue appropriations required in each fiscal year. The projections are listed by capital project category and agency and are further subdivided by currently authorized projects, new projects proposed for 2009-10 and projects which will be authorized in the future(2010-14).

PUBLIC DEBT

This section presents data on the debt obligations of the commonwealth. Debt financing is used by the commonwealth to finance its capital programs, finance voter-approved bond referendums, and fund certain disaster relief programs. Most long-term financing by the commonwealth is provided by the issuance of general obligation debt. Appropriation-backed debt has been used in limited instances for capital purposes. Data on such debt is included in this presentation only in the calculation of the debt ratios shown.

The Commonwealth Constitution permits debt to be issued for (i) capital projects in approved capital budgets; (ii) purposes approved by voter referendum; and (iii) response to disasters. The following items are guidelines the commonwealth follows in executing its capital and other debt financing activities:

- Referenda to authorize additional debt should be submitted to the voters only for critical needs when sufficient other resources are not available.
 - The general obligation pledge of the commonwealth is the preferred source of security for commonwealth debt.
 - A moral obligation pledge of the commonwealth should not be given beyond those already given.
 - Revenue pledges are to be used only by independent agencies and authorities that cannot pledge the commonwealth's general obligation.
 - Lease revenue debt should be used only when budgetary restraints prohibit current revenue funding for assets that are infrequently obtained and do not meet capital project definitions.
 - Debt should be structured to mature within the useful life of the projects being financed.
 - All long-term financing should be sold by competitive bid.
 - Short-term borrowing should not comprise a majority of outstanding debt.
 - Debt service paid by the General Fund should not exceed five percent of revenues.
 - Capital projects addressing health, safety and public protection receive top priority for activation. New construction projects have the lowest priority.
 - Highway capital projects should be funded from current revenues of the Motor License Fund.

DEBT AUTHORIZED, ISSUED AND OUTSTANDING

The following statement reflects the debt of the commonwealth as of December 31, 2008. Issues for which all authorized debt has been previously issued and for which said debt has been completely redeemed are not included. The Constitution permits capital budget debt to be issued without voter approval but subject to a debt limit. Except for debt issued for disaster recovery purposes, all other debt requires voter approval.

TRENDS IN DEBT SERVICE AND DEBT RATIOS 2007-08 Through 2013-14

The charts portray projections for indicators of the cost of projected annual debt service and the burden of projected debt outstanding. Debt service and outstanding debt includes general obligation debt and debt secured by lease rental payments or operating subsidies from various commonwealth departments.

General Fund debt service as a percent of revenues remains below Standard & Poors criteria of 5% for issuers considered to have a "low debt burden."

Per capita debt levels remain relatively low, although the lack of population growth in the commonwealth affects per capita levels.

Growing personal income keeps the planned bond issuance affordable.

OUTSTANDING INDEBTEDNESS OF PENNSYLVANIA AGENCIES AND AUTHORITIES

The indebtedness of the following agencies and authorities is not an obligation of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania but represents the debt of those agencies and authorities created by the Commonwealth for a public purpose. These obligations are not considered as debt under Article VIII of the State Constitution.

OTHER SPECIAL FUNDS

This appendix contains a brief presentation of all active commonwealth funds not given an expanded treatment in the other sections of the budget. In a limited number of cases certain expenditures from funds presented in this section are included in other presentations.

Generally, the commonwealth uses a modified cash basis of accounting for financial reporting where certain revenues are reported when collected and, for certain taxes, when accrued and expenditures are reported when disbursed or committed. Unless otherwise noted in the fund description, all financial data shown herein is on a cash basis, which means that the beginning and ending balances include cash plus investments. Receipts include only those items actually received and credited to the funds by the Department of Revenue. Disbursements represent checks issued or transfers made by the Treasury Department and do not include commitments, encumbrances or vouchers payable.

Several funds carrying long-term investments show an adjustment to reflect the current market value of those investments as of June 30, 2008.

This format for displaying financial data was chosen for its simplicity and easy adaptability to all funds. As such, the data may not present the best statement of the funds' condition nor accurately describe the operating characteristics of the funds.

The vast majority of the commonwealth day-to-day activities are financed from the General Fund; however, over time a large number of other funds have been created to more closely relate specific revenue sources to specific programs or to identify particular government programs or activities. These special funds are categorized into groups to aid in identifying their purpose. These groups are defined below.

Governmental Funds: Collectively these funds account for and report activities that are associated with routine, ordinary governmental functions and are financed largely by tax and grant revenues. The group includes the General Fund, Special Revenue Funds, Debt Service Funds and Capital Project Funds.

Special Revenue Funds — These funds are used to account for revenues from specific taxes or other earmarked revenue sources, which by law are designated to finance particular functions or activities.

Capital Project Funds — Bond funds are used to account for the receipt and disbursement of bond sale proceeds that normally finance the construction or acquisition of designated fixed assets.

Debt Service Funds — These funds account for the accumulation of resources, principally from transfers from other funds, for the payment of general long-term debt principal and interest.

Proprietary Funds: Include Enterprise Funds and Internal Service Funds. Such funds account for and report activities the way a private business or industry would. They include such activities as sale of goods or services, and lending and other financing activities where purchasers or customers pay a charge or a user fee.

Enterprise Funds — These funds accommodate the operation of public service programs financed wholly or mostly by user charges, or where the periodic determination of net income is deemed appropriate.

Internal Service Funds — These funds account for the financing of goods or services provided by one department or agency to other departments or agencies of the commonwealth, or to other governmental units, on a cost-reimbursement basis.

Fiduciary Funds: These funds are used to account for assets held by the commonwealth as trustee or agent for individuals, private organizations and other government units.

Acid Mine Drainage Abatement and Treatment Fund

This fund was created in 1992 to receive money authorized by Title IV of the Federal Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act. This fund receives up to ten percent of the commonwealth's federal Title IV grant for abandoned mine reclamation. Funds are used for acid mine drainage abatement and treatment.

The income derived from the investment of the monies in the fund plus appropriations which may be made from time to time by the General Assembly serve as revenue to the fund. Monies in this fund can be disbursed only for use by the officially designated land grant college (Pennsylvania State University) for the benefit of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts.

Agricultural Conservation Easement Purchase Fund

This fund was created by Act 64 of 1988 to implement the referendum approved by the electorate November 8, 1988. That referendum authorized the commonwealth to incur indebtedness of $100 million to be used for farmland preservation through the purchase of agricultural conservation easements. Act 23 of 1992 increased the annual ceiling on easement purchases from bond sales from $20 to $25 million. All bonds authorized have been issued.

Act 89 of 2002 changed the annual transfer of cigarette tax revenues from the first two thirty-firsts of the cigarette tax to $20,485,000 to be made in two equal payments by July 15th and January 15th. Act 15 of 1999 created a supplemental program for farmland preservation, and Act 1-A of 1999 appropriated $43 million from the General Fund for that supplemental program. Beginning in 2005-06 the program receives a set percentage (14.8%) of the Environmental Stewardship Fund for the continued purchase of agricultural easements.

Act 46 of 2006 provides up to $200,000 which can be used to offset local conservation organizations for incidental costs related to easement purchases. Up to ten percent of these funds also may be used by the Department of Agriculture for administrative expenses incurred under this act.

Budget Stabilization Reserve Fund

This fund was created on July 15, 2002 by Act 91 of 2002 to replace the Tax Stabilization Reserve Fund. The fund provides financial assistance to minimize future revenue shortfalls and deficits, and promote greater continuity and predictability in the funding of vital government services. It minimizes the need to increase taxes to balance the budget of the commonwealth during periods of economic distress. Act 91 provides revenue through an annual transfer of twenty-five percent of the General Fund's fiscal year ending surplus. If the fund's ending balance would equal or exceed six percent of actual General Fund revenues for the fiscal year in which the surplus occurs, the General Fund transfer would be reduced to ten percent. Act 53 of 2008 suspended the transfer of surplus funds for 2007-08. Appropriations from the fund require approval by two-thirds of the members of the General Assembly. This budget proposes transfers from the Budget Stabilization Reserve Fund to the General Fund of $250 million in 2008-09 and $375 million in 2009-10.

The revenue for the Fire Insurance Tax Fund results from the 2 percent tax paid upon premiums received from foreign (out-of-state) fire insurance companies on business done within the commonwealth. The funds are distributed based on the population and market value of real estate of each municipality. Industrial Development Fund

Periodic General Fund appropriations made by the General Assembly to the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority (PIDA) are credited to this fund. From 1992 to 1994, these appropriations were replaced by an annual $70 million transfer ($17.5 million per quarter) of Corporate Net Income tax revenues as provided by Act 22 of 1991. This transfer ended at the close of the 1993-94 fiscal year as part of the PIDA recapitalization.

The fund makes loans to local industrial development agencies to stimulate economic activity in areas of high unemployment. Repayments of loans and other revenues, generally not credited to this fund, are used by PIDA to make additional loans.

Industrial Sites Cleanup Fund

Act 2 of 1995 created the Industrial Sites Cleanup Fund to provide grants and loans to political subdivisions, local economic development agencies and others who as part of an economic development strategy undertake voluntary cleanup of property contaminated by industrial activity. Act 6 of 2000 allows the Department of Community and Economic Development to provide performance-based loans, which may be forgiven if performance measures are met. Also, Act 6 expanded the program to include remediation of non-hazardous waste or debris. Revenue to the fund consists of transfers from the Hazardous Sites Cleanup Fund, any funds appropriated by the General Assembly, interest earnings and loan repayments. Grants and loans are prioritized based on the benefit of the project to the public health and safety, the cost effectiveness of the project, the economic distress of the area and the potential of the project to result in economic development.

Liquid Fuels Tax Fund

The Liquid Fuels Tax Fund was created in 1931 by an act of the General Assembly to assist in funding the local roads system. One-half cent per gallon of gasoline and diesel fuel taxes is deposited into the fund for semi-annual distribution to county governments and to pay registration fees for vehicles operated by mass transportation systems. After payment of fees, remaining funds are allocated to the counties on a three-year average refund to total refund formula and must be used for highway purposes. Since the majority of counties have direct jurisdiction over a limited number of roads, a large portion of these funds are further allocated by the counties to their political subdivisions. To streamline payments to counties the Department of Revenue delegated the authority for these payments and attendant expenses to the Department of Transportation effective in 1999-00.

This fund was created in 1990 to assist municipal governments in acquiring equipment and facilities by providing low-interest loans to those governments which find conventional loan costs to be prohibitive. Loans are provided at a rate of 2 percent for periods not to exceed 10 years. Revenues received from loan repayment and interest accrual are returned to the fund on a revolving basis. Act 58 of 1996 transferred this program from the Department of Community Affairs to the Department of Community and Economic Development. Act 46 of 1997 extended this fund indefinitely.

Low-Level Waste Fund

This fund was created by Act 12 of 1988 to finance the selection, licensing, regulation and long-term care of a low-level radioactive waste disposal facility. Revenue is derived from fees for licenses and permits to generate, store and transport waste, surcharges on the disposal of waste, and fines and penalties for violating the provisions of the Low-Level Radioactive Waste Disposal Act. The siting process was suspended in 1998 because of a dramatic reduction in the volume of low-level radioactive waste being generated in the Appalachian Compact and the availability of out-of-state disposal capacity. Expenditures reflect the continued activity by the department to oversee Pennsylvania's generation of low-level waste and to reduce the waste stream.

Act 53 of 2008 stipulated the transfer of moneys from this fund to an account within the Tobacco Settlement Fund in support of biotechnology commercialization.

Act 13 of 2002, known as the Medical Care Availability and Reduction of Error Act, established the Patient Safety Trust Fund for the purpose of independent review of medical facilities which will result in ensuring patient safety and reducing medical errors. Revenue to the fund includes a surcharge on medical facility licensing fees. Pennsylvania Municipal Retirement Fund Act 15 of 1974 created the Pennsylvania Municipal Retirement System which replaced the Municipal Employees Retirement Law and the Municipal Police Retirement Law and combined all employees covered under both into a state-related municipal system. The fund established under Act 15 provides for payment of retirement allowances to officers, employees, firemen and police of political subdivisions (counties, cities, boroughs and townships of the first and second class). Any municipality may elect by ordinance to join the system. Revenues are generated from the contributions of the members of the system and investment earnings. The board established under Act 15 has control over the system's operation. The net investment adjustment shown below is to reflect carrying value of long-term investments as of June 30. A municipality may, upon meeting the requirements set forth in Act 15, elect to withdraw from participation in this fund. Withdrawals may substantially increase the level of disbursements reflected in this presentation.

Act 71 of 2004, the Pennsylvania Race Horse Development and Gaming Act, established the Pennsylvania Race Horse Development Fund to support and advance the commonwealth's horse racing industry. Operating tracks receive a daily assessment as determined by the Department of Revenue. The daily assessment from each licensed gaming entity is based on a formula established in the Act, which is capped at 12 percent of an entity's gross terminal revenue for that day. Proceeds are distributed to licensees conducting live horse racing. Track owners deposit 80 percent of the proceeds into a purse account. Thoroughbred tracks commit the remaining proceeds to the Breeders' Fund and a Horseman's Organization Fund. Standardbred tracks commit proceeds to the Sire Stakes Fund, the Pennsylvania Standardbred Breeders Development Fund, and a Horsemen's Organizational Fund.

School Employees' Retirement Fund

The Public School Employees' Retirement Fund provides for receipt and accounting of member and employer contributions, investment of those funds and payment of benefits to retired school employees.

According to the provisions of Act 29 of 1994, starting with the employer contribution payment for the third quarter of 1995 (school salaries paid from July 1, 1995 to September 30, 1995), employers defined as school entities (school districts, intermediate units, and area vocational technical schools) pay 100 percent of the employer share of contributions to the fund. The commonwealth pays school entities a portion of these costs from appropriated funds based on a statutory formula. Commonwealth contributions of the employer share for non-school entities are also paid from appropriated funds. These contributions are paid directly to the fund.

Earnings from investments provide additional revenue and pay for the expenses of the Public School Employees' Retirement Board. The board is responsible for management of the fund and payment of benefits. The employer contribution rate is determined by the fund's actuary and adopted by the board.

Act 40 of 2003 changed the retirement system's amortization period from ten years to an actuarially acceptable thirty year basis thus lowering employer contribution costs. Act 40 also added a minimum employer contribution rate.

The cash balance shown in the statement includes substantial investment assets. The net investment adjustment item is included to reflect the carrying value of long-term investments as of June 30.

School Retirees' Health Insurance Fund

This fund was created by Act 9 of 2001. The fund is used to establish and maintain a reserve sufficient to pay the expected claims experience of the Health Options Program (HOP). The HOP is a Public School Employees' Retirement System (PSERS) sponsored voluntary health insurance program for the sole benefit of PSERS retirees, their spouses or surviving spouses, and their dependents. The revenue for HOP is from premiums paid by its participants for the benefit coverage they elect and, beginning in 2006, federal funds to subsidize Medicare Part D prescription drug benefits for HOP participants enrolled in that program. The May 2002 initial transfer consisted of funds paid in by those insured and associated investment revenue in the amount of $27.340 million that had accumulated in the Public School Employees' Retirement Fund prior to the creation of the separate health insurance fund.

This program provides low-interest loans for small businesses of 100 employees or less. Eligible projects include land and building acquisition and construction; machinery and equipment purchases; working capital; compliance with environmental regulations and municipal or commercial recycling. In addition, companies eligible to participate in this program are those impacted by the reduction in defense-related activities and those involved in exports, advanced technology and the hospitality industry.

State Employees' Retirement Fund

This fund was created in 1923 to accumulate reserves for the payment of pensions to eligible former state employees. Money in this fund is used to pay retirement, disability and death benefits to members of the State Employees' Retirement System and their beneficiaries. Membership in the system is mandatory for most state employees and available to employees of non-state entities, such as the Pennsylvania State University, the Turnpike Commission, the Delaware River Port Authority and other public and quasi-public institutions authorized by the Retirement Code.

The fund receives revenue from employee contributions, employer contributions and income derived from its investment portfolio. Employer contributions are an actuarially determined percentage of payroll sufficient to fund current and future benefit payments. Investment income is used to credit interest to each member's account; to pay the administrative expenses of the retirement system; and to accumulate monies for the payment of future benefits. Management of the fund and payment of benefits are overseen by the State Employees' Retirement Board.

Act 40 of 2003 changed the retirement system's amortization period from 10 years to an actuarially acceptable 30 year basis thus lowering employer contribution costs. Act 8 of 2007 added a minimum employer contribution rate.

The cash balance shown in the statement includes substantial investment assets. The net investment adjustment item is to reflect the carrying value of long-term investments as of June 30 and is estimated for 2008-09 and 2009-10.

State Gaming Fund

Act 71 of 2004, the Pennsylvania Race Horse Development and Gaming Act, established the State Gaming Fund to receive all license fees provided for in the act and 34 percent of the gross terminal revenue (GTR) generated by licensed gaming facilities. The fund will also receive four percent of the GTR to be distributed to counties and municipalities as specified by the act. Proceeds from the State Gaming Fund will be disbursed on an annual basis as follows: (1) the greater of $1,500,000 or .001 multiplied by the GTR, to the Compulsive and Problem Gambling Treatment Fund in the Department of Health, (2) Payments in Lieu of Taxes by the Department of Conservation and Natural Resources, the Fish and Boat Commission, and the Game Commission, (3) $25 million to the Department of Emergency Management and Homeland Security for Volunteer Company Grants, (4) $5,000,000 for Local Law Enforcement Grants, and (5) four percent of the GTR for Local Share Distribution where gaming facilities are located. The remaining balance in the State Gaming Fund will be transferred to the Property Tax Relief Fund (including those funds transferred to the Lottery Fund) in order to fund property tax relief as provided in Act 1 of Special Session 1 of 2006.

Each Category 1 and Category 2 slot machine licensee is required to pay a one-time $50 million fee in advance of beginning operations. Each gaming facility is also required to deposit and maintain $5 million into a restricted account within the State Treasury to fund the regulatory and administrative costs of authorized agencies. This budget recommends the following administrative appropriations to be funded through these restricted accounts: Department of Revenue $9.959 million, State Police $18.274 million, and the Attorney General $1.068 million. This budget recommends a $25.197 million appropriation from the State Gaming Fund for the Gaming Control Board. In addition, it recommends $8.113 million from a separate restricted account.

State Insurance Fund

Act 227 of 1915 created this fund which finances expenditures related to the rebuilding, restoring or replacing of buildings, structures, equipment or other property owned by the commonwealth that have been damaged or destroyed by fire or other casualty. This includes natural or man-made disasters. Revenue is derived from interest earned by the fund, interest received from the Fire Insurance Tax Fund and from reimbursements by insurance companies. If needed, money may also be directly appropriated to this fund. Receipts of the fund include reimbursement from the commonwealth's excess insurance policy, which is responsible for damages for any occurrence in excess of $1 million. This fund satisfies the requirements of the federal government for the Disaster Insurance Program.

State School Fund

This fund was established in 1911 and is funded primarily by the sale of escheated estates and other nonpublic real estate and interest earnings of the Sinking Fund. Changes in the escheat law and lack of interest earnings from the Sinking Fund or investment of monies in the State School Fund have resulted in a low revenue level. The fund is active in only a limited sense.

The original purpose of the fund was to equalize educational advantages across the commonwealth; to provide advancements to school districts temporarily in need of aid; and to promote education in the conservation of natural resources, forestry, agriculture and other industrial pursuits. The law was amended in 1960 to change the purpose of the fund to equalization of educational opportunities, and to pay part of the cost of repair or alteration of local public school or state college buildings when required to satisfy requirements of the Department of Labor and Industry or other relevant governmental agencies. Currently, the State Board of Education periodically uses the interest earned to fund research and small projects.

Expenditures from the fund are made at the direction of the State Board of Education.

State Worker's Insurance Fund

The State Worker's Insurance Fund (SWIF) was created by Act 338 of 1915 and operates within the Department of Labor and Industry. It is a self-sustaining fund providing workers' compensation insurance to employers, including those refused policies by private insurance firms. SWIF is subject to underwriting rules, classification and rates promulgated by rating bureaus authorized by the State Insurance Commissioner. Premium rates are established by them based on the history of accidents by industry. Administrative costs are paid from the fund including expenses related to Insurance Department and Auditor General examinations.

Act 68 of 1990 provides for the transfer of money from SWIF. Annual payments are made to the General Fund equal to the amount which would have been paid in taxes had SWIF been subject to taxes. The act also established an Advisory Council to recommend the amount of surplus in SWIF, if any, that could be distributed without jeopardizing its legal obligations to policy holders. If such a surplus exists, the SWIF Board may then recommend distribution of the surplus as refunds to current or former policyholders. The funds recommended by the board to be transferred or refunded to policyholders must be approved and appropriated by the General Assembly.

Underground Storage Tank Indemnification Fund

The Storage Tank and Spill Prevention Act, Act 32 of 1989, as amended, established the Underground Storage Tank Indemnification Fund to administer a program to provide claim payments to owners and operators of underground storage tanks who incur liability for taking corrective action or for bodily injury or property damage caused by a release from underground storage tanks. Expenses for administration of the fund are also covered. The fund is administered by the Insurance Department in conjunction with a nine member Underground Storage Tank Indemnification Board.

Act 32 authorized the board to establish, by regulation, fees to be paid by underground storage tank owners and operators to fund the program. Effective January 1, 2004, tank owners pay a gallon fee of $0.011 per gallon. Owners of diesel fuel and heating oil tanks pay a capacity fee of $.083 in lieu of the gallon fee. These regulatory fee increases are ten percent over the previous fees and are necessary to maintain the actuarial soundness of the fund as prescribed by Act 32.

Act 13 of 1998 established a new loan program to assist owners of regulated underground storage tanks to upgrade their underground storage tank systems to meet federal Environmental Protection Agency upgrade requirements or to remove them from service. Act 100 of 2000 expanded the upgrade loan program to include the removal of underground storage tanks. The Department of Community and Economic Development administers the loan program as part of its business loans program. The act also established an environmental cleanup program and a pollution prevention program that are administered by the Department of Environmental Protection. The net investment adjustment is included to reflect the current market value of long-term investments as of June 30. A loan of $100 million was made to the General Fund on October 15, 2002 in accordance with Act 91 of 2002 and is to be repaid over 10 years beginning in 2004.

Workers' Compensation Security Fund

The purpose of this fund is payment of valid claims for compensation provided by the Workers' Compensation Act to individuals who are insured by an insolvent stock company. Expenses for administration of the fund are also covered.

Through June 30, 2000, payment equal to one percent of the net written premiums received for workers' compensation insurance policies written in the commonwealth by stock companies, mutual carriers and reciprocal exchanges during the preceding annual reporting period were credited to the fund. Such payments were required only if the balance less known liabilities of the fund was determined to be less than five percent of the loss reserves of all such companies for payments of benefits under the Workers' Compensation Act.

Act 49 of 2000 removed the statutory annual assessment procedures in conjunction with giving prudent person investment authority to the Insurance Commissioner jointly with the State Treasurer for the investment of moneys in the fund. This change was expected to generate increased earnings to the fund, thereby reducing the frequency of the assessment. The act requires the Insurance Department to manage the fund to maintain its actuarial soundness and a minimum balance of $500 million as of December 31 of any given year. If the fund balance falls below $500 million by calendar year end, the department will assess contributions to restore the balance in the fund in a timely manner.

The net investment adjustment shown below is to reflect the current market value of long-term investments as of June 30.

Workmen's Compensation Administration Fund

This fund was created by Act 2 of 1976 to finance the expenses of the Department of Labor and Industry in administering the Pennsylvania Workers' Compensation Act and the Pennsylvania Occupational Disease Act. Act 44 of 1993 and Act 57 of 1996 amended the Workers' Compensation Act, expanding the administrative responsibilities of the department. The fund is supported by annual assessments on insurers and self-insurers under the act. These administrative funds are approved by the legislature for expenditure through the appropriation process. Administrative funds are also provided to the Office of the Small Business Advocate (OSBA) through the Department of Community and Economic Development to represent the interests of the employers in workers' compensation rate filings before the Insurance Department.

STATISTICAL DATA

This section contains historical data for various Pennsylvania economic indicators. Data is obtained from published sources noted on each page. Additional data is available from the Penn State Data Center through their homepage at (www.pasdc.hbg.psu.edu/).

SELECTED DATA ON THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

General

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is one of the most populous states, ranking sixth behind California, Texas, New York, Florida, and Illinois. Pennsylvania is an established state with a diversified economy. Pennsylvania had been historically identified as a heavy industrial state. That reputation has changed over the last thirty years as the coal, steel and railroad industries declined. The commonwealth's business environment readjusted with a more diversified economic base. This economic readjustment was a direct result of a long-term shift in jobs, investment, and workers away from the northeast part of the nation. Currently, the major sources of growth in Pennsylvania are in the service sector, including trade, medical, health services, education and financial institutions.

Pennsylvania's agricultural industries remain an important component of the commonwealth's economic structure, accounting for more than $5.2 billion in crop and livestock products annually. In 2007, agribusiness and food related industries had export sales surpassing $1.3 billion in economic activity. Over 58,000 farms form the backbone of the state's agricultural economy. Farmland in Pennsylvania includes over four million acres of harvested cropland and three million acres of pasture and farm woodlands - nearly one-third of the commonwealth's total land area. Agricultural diversity in the commonwealth is demonstrated by the fact that Pennsylvania ranks among the top ten states in the production of a variety of agricultural products. Agriculture exports have grown by more than 5.3% since 2003.

Pennsylvania's extensive public and private forests provide a vast source of material for the lumber, furniture, and paper products industries. The forestry and related industries account for 1.5% of employment with economic activity of nearly $5 billion in domestic and international trade. Additionally, the commonwealth derives a good water supply from underground sources, abundant rainfall, and a large number of rivers, streams, and lakes. Other natural resources include major deposits of coal, petroleum, and natural gas. Annually, about 77 million tons of anthracite and bituminous coal, 168 billion cubic feet of natural gas, and about 3.6 million barrels of oil are extracted from Pennsylvania.

Pennsylvania is a Mid-Atlantic state within easy reach of the populous eastern seaboard as well as a gateway to the Midwest. A comprehensive transportation grid enhances the commonwealth's strategic geographic position. The commonwealth's water systems afford the unique feature of triple port coverage, a deep-water port at Philadelphia, a Great Lakes port at Erie and an inland water port at Pittsburgh. Whether by air, rail, water, or road, Pennsylvania is easily accessible for both inter and intra state trade and commerce.

Population

The commonwealth is highly urbanized. Of the commonwealth's 2008 mid-year population estimate, 79 percent resided in the 15 Metropolitan Statistical Areas ("MSAs") of the commonwealth. The largest MSAs in the commonwealth are those that include the cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, which together contain almost 44 percent of the state's total population. The population of Pennsylvania, 12.4 million people in 2008, according to the U.S. Bureau of the Census, represents a population growing slower than the nation with a higher portion than the nation or the region comprised of persons 45 or over. The following tables present the population trend from 1998 to 2008 and the age distribution of the population for 2007.

Unemployment

Pennsylvania's annual average unemployment rate was equivalent to the national average throughout the 2000's. Slower economic growth caused the unemployment rate in the commonwealth to rise to 5.7 percent in 2003. The resumption of faster economic growth resulted in a decrease in the commonwealth's annual unemployment rate to 4.4 percent in 2007. As of November 2008, the most recent month for which figures are available, Pennsylvania had a seasonally adjusted annual unemployment rate of 6.1 percent. The following table represents the annual non-adjusted unemployment rate in Pennsylvania, the Middle Atlantic Region, and the United States from 1998 through 2007.

Market and Assessed Valuation of Real Property

Annually, the State Tax Equalization Board (the "STEB") determines an aggregate market value of all taxable real property in the commonwealth. The STEB determines the market value by applying assessment to sales ratio studies to assessment valuations supplied by local assessing officials. The market values certified by the STEB do not include property that is tax exempt but do include an adjustment correcting the data for preferential assessments granted to certain farm and forestlands.

The table below shows the assessed valuation as determined and certified by the counties and the market value and the assessed to market value ratio determined by the STEB for real property over the last ten years. In computing the market values for uneven-numbered years, the STEB is statutorily restricted to certifying only those changes in market value that result from properties added to or removed from the assessment rolls. The STEB is permitted to adjust the market valuation to reflect any change in real estate values or other economic change in value only in even-numbered years. This restriction accounts for the two-year pattern of market value changes apparent in the data below.
